PRICE FIVE CENTS

Votes Are In and Counted

It Was a Glorious Day and of Course the Winners Say a Glorious Victory

There was a time when some kinds of weather was called Democratic weather and some kinds called Republican weather, but Tuesday last was good enough for anybody and more than 80 per cent of the voters of Weymouth went to the polls in the several precincts. Voting began early and for the first three hours went with a rush and then steadied down a little but there was quite a little doing up to 1 o'clock, when the counting began, ending with the following result:

NORTH WEYMOUTH HAPPY.

First Fruit of Our Improved Fire Department Ripens.

One of the most interesting town meetings ever held in Weymouth was that held on the night of July 22d when from all parts of the town people crowded Odd-fellows opera house in East Weymouth to discuss a Warrant which contained Articles calling for three new pieces of fire fighting apparatus. The discussion at times was quite spirited and at one time the entire lot of articles were turned down and many of the advocates of improvement lost heart.

A few however had the courage of their convictions and renewed the fight with the result that the town voted to purchase three pieces of apparatus and chose a committee to carry the same into effect.

After much discussion this committee decided upon placing a contract with the Knox Motor Co. of Springfield for a combination hose wagon for North Weymouth and two triple combination pump-engines for other parts of the town.

The first part of the contract was finished last Saturday and the combination hose wagon is now a real addition to the fire department regularly installed in the Engine house, Athens street, North Weymouth.

Saturday was a gala day at North Weymouth everybody was on hand to greet the new machine which outside of its utility as a fire fighter is a thing of beauty admired by everyone who saw it.

As a fire fighter in good hands it is out to do good service and fill a long felt want in Ward One.

The machine when loaded weighs 6 ton of 48 horse power, a self starter requiring little or no time to be on the road gauged for 40 miles an hour, carries 2 pump tank, 140 gal. chemical tank with 150 feet hose, 1200 feet 2 1/2 inch water hose, 30 foot extension ladder, 15 foot roof ladder, axes, crow bars, 8 men with individual lockers for each which contain cap, boots and rubber coat.

The machine is delivered in charge of Frank Green, an expert of the Knox Co., who will remain with Edwin A. Stone, the permanent man of the department, until he is familiar with the working of the machine.

The upper story of the Engine house is being somewhat remodelled to meet the needs of the new situation and Mr. Stone has there a commodious and well equipped sleeping and toilet room.

Engineer Wolfe has had a busy time in working out the changes but feels that his department is now on a good working basis.

W. R. C. Notes.

Corps Member Mrs. Elizabeth Berry has the sympathy of all in the death of her husband.

The president and several members attended inspection at Hingham Corps, Thursday.

Several members attended the Hallow'een party given by the Braintree Corps.

Chairman Mrs. Ellen Kiddo and the Executive Board are to be congratulated on the success of the sale.

Assistant Inspector, Annie F. Langdon, will inspect Corps No 102 next Tuesday.

The regular supper will follow at 6.30 and Corps members are requested to donate a generous supply of pastry, etc., for the supper.

Mrs. L. V. Prescott Dead.

After a long illness, Mrs. L. V. Prescott of Wilton, Maine, passed away at the residence of her sister, Mrs. W. M. Tirrell, Hawthorne street, East Weymouth, last Sunday.

She was born in Roxbury, January 6, 1884, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Tucker, and up to 15 years ago, when she married Mr. Prescott, passed her life in East Weymouth.

She graduated from the Weymouth High school and later from the Salem Normal school. She taught school in this town and in Waller Walls, Washington.

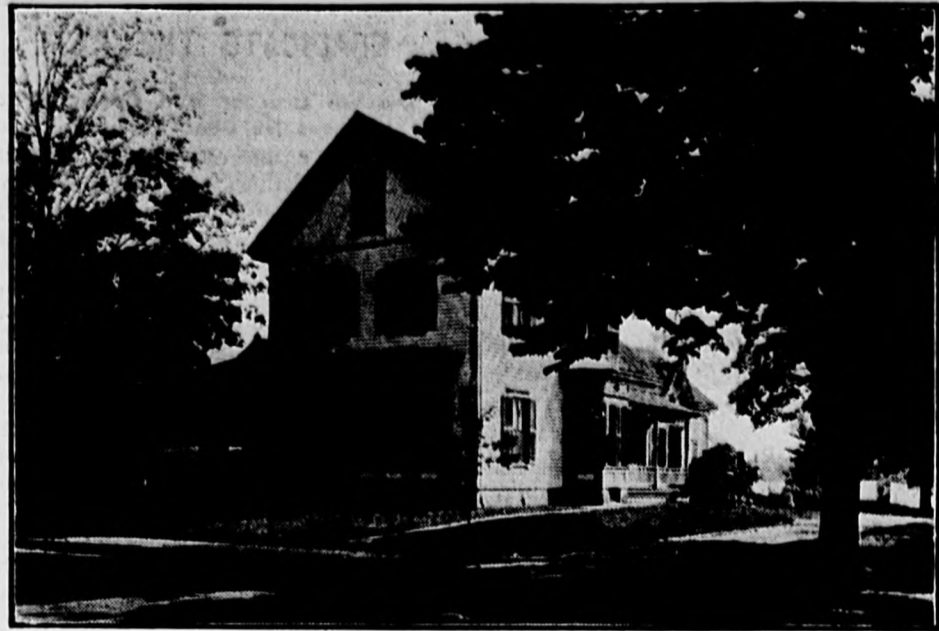

Besides her husband, she leaves a sister, Mrs. W. M. Tirrell of East Weymouth and a brother, Frank Tucker.

Funeral services were held last Tuesday from Mr. Tirrell's home and were conducted by Rev. Edward T. Ford of the East Weymouth Congregational church. Burial was in Fairmount cemetery.

Appreciative Spectator!

Lawyers are not the only class in which a sense of the pecuniary value of their attentions is well developed. It is recorded of a famous actor that in the course of a tour he rewarded the politeness of a waiter at his hotel with a pass for the theater to which all the town was crowding to see the stage favorite in a great play. The next day the actor asked the man how he had enjoyed the visit to the theater. "Oh, it was very nice, I enjoyed it very well, indeed—but—who is to pay me for my time?" was the disconcerting reply.

ILLUSTRATED SERIES OF WEYMOUTH HOMES

HOME OF DR. W. A. DRAKE, NORTH WEYMOUTH

Dr. W. A. Drake, whose home in North Weymouth we present this week, is not a native of Weymouth but he has been a resident long enough to have been an active promoter of our first street car service, render to the town many valuable years of labor on the School Board and also more locally helped in making his adopted village a place of which every citizen should be proud.

Town Business.

At the meeting of the Selectmen on Monday a gasoline petition was filed by L. B. Holbrook and a hearing will be had by the Board on Monday, the 23d.

Frank A. Richards tendered his resignation as Warden in Ward 1 and David Dunbar, the deputy filled his place on Tuesday.

The Panama Exposition managers ask for pictures illustrating Weymouth and its business interests to be placed in the Massachusetts building and the same will be furnished.

The remodeling of the building of Frank E. Loud, corner of Pleasant and Union streets calls for relocation of street lines and a survey will be made and hearing held at the meeting of the Selectmen on the 16th.

Considerable business was cleared up at the monthly session of the Board of Fire Engineers last Tuesday evening. A large batch of bills for fires the past month were approved. Fourteen fires were reported, the record being considerably larger for the month than usual.

In the matter of fire apparatus, Ralph Bacon of Weymouth Landing, was appointed permanent man at South Weymouth and Harold Hawes for East Weymouth. Lewis Blanchard was appointed as substitute in South Weymouth. Mr. Bacon has handled the Ward 3 auto combination the past few years and Harold Hawes has had considerable experience with auto trucks at the Old Colony Gas Co. and with H. K. Cushing.

"From Niagara To The Sea."

One of the finest entertainments ever given in town will be presented in the Pilgrim church North Weymouth next Wednesday evening at 7.45 o'clock under the auspices of Squad 6 of the Pilgrim church, when Mr. D. W. Howard will recite the story of the tour "From Niagara to the Sea." Mr. Howard will be assisted by Edna Knight, who will give recitations and also by the famous Acadia trio.

"From Niagara to the Sea" is a grand tour, told in Mr. Howard's wellknown and popular style, of the St. Lawrence and Saguenay Rivers. He described the wealth of natural attractions, the grandeur of Niagara, the picturesque 1000 islands, the enchanting and wonderful scenery, all of which is profusely illustrated with superb stereopticon pictures. This entertainment should not be missed by anyone. The combination of songs, stories and pictures will make the evening of much more than usual interest and pleasure to all.

Monday Club.

A large gathering of guests and members attended the dramatic afternoon of the Monday club at Odd Fellows hall, Monday afternoon, November 2. There was a plea from Mrs. Larz Anderson and also from the Red Cross Sewing Circle for aid for the Belgian refugees and it was decided to co-operate with the Co-chato club in their efforts for the purpose. The National Longfellow Association asked for one dollar toward preserving the birthplace of Longfellow. This was given.

Mrs. Alice B. Merrill, soprano soloist, gave two selections in a very pleasing manner. Miss Maud Sheerer gave a dramatic reading, "The Melting Pot," by Israel Zangwill, presenting the sad and tragic story in a most lifelike manner. The subject was particularly appropriate at the present time.

A very successful cake and candy sale was held during the afternoon, the supply of candy being early exhausted.

COUPON CONTEST.

Increased Interest Being Manifested.

The figures this morning are as follows with Miss Bearce still in the lead and McRea and Loud changing positions, but both with material gains.

Jennie Bearce	8800
Phyllis Palmer	8015
Mildred Gibson	4425
Lewis S. Loud	4275
Harold McRea	3935
Helen Gorman	2080
Russell Riley	510
Dorothy F. Rea	510
Ellis Williams	505
Margaret Schell	30

Hallow'een Party.

The Hallow'een party by the Guild of Trinity church at Pythian Hall, Monday evening was a great success.

It was very largely attended and much enjoyed by all. The supper was excellent, the Old Folks' concert very fine and most excellent music for dancing was furnished by Neagles' orchestra of Quincy.

The hostesses for the supper were Mrs. Charles Beltring, Mrs. Thomas Lilley, Mrs. Sarah Lilley and Mrs. Charles Hoffes.

The sales committee was Mrs. Thomas Hallan, Mrs. Alice Northrop, Elizabeth Hyde, Mrs. Frank Peyton and Mrs. John Lutton.

The candy table was in charge of Miss Edith Conlain and Mrs. William Adams; and Charles Beltring, Mrs. Alice Northrop and Elizabeth Hyde were the committees on entertainment.

The Old Folks' concert was given by the choir of Trinity church and others. Miss Nelly Chase was pianist and Charles Beltring made a most excellent music director and conductor.

J. C. Chandler at Rest.

Job Cole Chandler passed away at his home on Sea street, North Weymouth, on Monday, October 26, 1914, after several weeks' illness. Mr. Chandler was born in Carver, Feb. 27, 1838. He enlisted at Plymouth as private, Aug. 14, 1862, in Co. G, 38th regiment. He was promoted to Sergeant June 11, 1864, discharged Sept. 12, '64, and re-enlisted in Co. F, 1st regiment Louisiana Cavalry and made 2d Lieut., Sept. 13, 1864. He was discharged from U. S. service, Dec. 18, 1865 at the close of war.

Funeral services were held from his late residence on Thursday morning, conducted by Rev. Charles Clarke. Members of Post 58 acted as bearers. The body was taken to Lakewood cemetery, No. Carver for burial. Services at the grave were conducted by E. W. Pierce of Post 8, G. A. R., Middleboro, of which deceased was a member. Two children survive him, Alton Cole Chandler of East Carver and Mrs. Henry A. Farrington of North Weymouth, with whom he had made his home for 15 years.

Salvation Army Band.

In the series of Sunday evening talks and lectures at the Baptist church under the auspices of the Community Service union the meeting of last Sunday was a well attended one and the audience got enlightened on Salvation Army work.

Twenty-five members of the Salvation Army band were in attendance and provided a miscellaneous program of instrumental and vocal sacred music. Maj. Sheppard of the Salvation Army delivered an address on "The Work, Objects and Life of the Salvation Army." Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Clarence Underhill, pastor of the church, and there was an organ recital by Mrs. Frank M. Bryant. Previous to the evening's program the band and speakers were entertained at dinner in the church vestry by the Forum management.

JOSEPH N. BERRY, DEAD.

Another Veteran Surrenders After a Hard Battle.

After several years of suffering from a heart difficulty the end came to Joseph N. Berry at his home, 110 High street in East Weymouth last Thursday morning.

Mr. Berry was a native of East Weymouth and with the exception of his service at the front during the Civil War it has always been his home. He heard the echo of the shots fired on Fort Sumpter, the call of Lincoln for defenders of the flag and was among the first to respond to the call.

Mr. Berry was of a quiet unassuming character and never sought the "lime light of publicity" and yet was not unmindful of his duty as a citizen and member of society. For many years he was a member of the Congregational church, Crescent Lodge I. O. O. F. and Wompatuck Encampment and until failing health compelled his retirement was always at his post of duty, whatever that may have been.

ON THE FARM

Read this column and you can have it delivered at your house with something new every week for a full year by sending $2.00 to this office now.

The potatoes and apples should not be allowed to freeze, cull out the rotten ones and save the rest.

Plant not less than one apple tree of at least half a dozen of the summer, fall and winter varieties. You can increase or double the number of trees upon the same size plot of ground that apples will occupy.

Apples are very healthy and can be used in more ways than any other fruit. It is hard to puzzle the cook for dessert when there are any apples in the house. Much trouble is also saved in putting up lunches for the workers.

Young geese should be marketed before cold weather sets in. It is much harder to dress a gosling in cold weather. The feathers set tighter, and in picking them the flesh is torn.

Farmers report a very fine harvest. Potatoes well dug, apples well picked and other fruits well gathered. And fruit and vegetables are of a good quality. The supply upon the markets should put the price at a normal figure, within the reach of the oftentimes harassed buyer.

Gather the eggs frequently in cold weather and keep at a temperature of not more than 60 nor less than 40 degrees. We like a wooden bowl of bran to keep the eggs in. In an earthen or metal vessel the walls are too subject to changes in temperature.

To make high-grade butter calls for scientific methods. As a rule, the farmer's wife has this particular task to perform and when we find one who understands the principles of good butter-making we find her surrounded with conditions that enable her to make better butter than any creamery butter-maker under creamery conditions.

One of the principles of farm management is to "take time by the forelock," or in other words, to keep up with the necessary work as closely as possible so that one may be better prepared for contingencies.

Producing as great a variety as possible of foods to be consumed at home is wise and legitimate business of every farm family. Selling one directly usable food or feed to purchase another, unless it be a positive surplus does not look like good business in the average case. Some farmers will actually sell barreled apples in the fall of the year and purchase back canned apples in the winter when they become scarce.

Plant a peach tree or more in the doorway for beautiful foliage, fragrant bloom and luscious fruit. The fruit garden for the home must be just as near the house as is possible, beginning at each exit of it and continuing just as far and near as our respective space or plans will permit.

Following extensive experiments begun last spring, the head of the fruit and vegetable utilization laboratory of the department has applied for a public-service patent covering the making of a new form of table sirup from apple juice. This patent will make the discovery, which the specialists believe will be of great value to all apple growers as a means of utilizing their culls and excess apples, common property of any cider mill in the United States which wishes to manufacture and sell apple cider sirup.

During the next decade there will probably be an increased demand for American horses in the countries now engaged in the European war. The demand may even continue much longer, as not only will horses be needed for armies, but when peace is restored more will be needed for agriculture. Already European agents are said to be endeavoring to purchase horses in this country and Canada, and there is an increased interest in many sections in horse breeding.

Proof of Affection.
A man doesn't really love women or children unless he lets them impose on him.—Aitchison Globe.

Commercial Spies.
Spring is as prevalent in the commercial world as in the political world, though the existence of these commercial spies is not nearly so well known. There are certain classes of manufacturers, however, who habitually employ a regiment of spies—competent men, whose business it is to go to other lands and spy out the new enterprises and inventions being made by the various traders. Individual methods vary very greatly, and are often so subtle as to make it difficult to tackle them.

ERADICATE THE RAT!

A Disease Breeder and Carrier That Serves No Good Purpose.

Rats are dangerous. They have no legitimate business, nor can they serve any good purpose in any community. Sanitarians are well agreed that rats are a serious menace to health. They are so filthy in their habits as tenants of the sewers and as feeders on everything dirty and diseased that it is no wonder they are carriers of disease, parasites and plague infection.

That rats are afflicted with many diseases more than bubonic plague is confirmed by Dr. Rupert Blue, surgeon general of the United States public health service, who, speaking on this point, says: "Other infections of the rat are trematodes, or flukes; cestodes, or tapeworms; nematodes, or round worms; protozoa, insects and vegetable microbes." Of the rats examined in San Francisco 84 per cent were infested with tapeworms.

Plague is primarily a disease of the rat. It is communicated from the plague stricken rat to other rats and from rats to man by means of fleas, as the principal agent, yet it has been determined many times that handling a rat that has been dead of plague only a few hours gives the infection almost instantly. Two small boys while playing in an unused cellar found the body of a dead rat. The corpse was buried with unusual funeral honors. In forty-eight hours both were ill with bubonic plague. A laborer finding a sick rat on the wharf picked it up with the naked hand and threw it into the bay. He was seized three days later with plague. But the flea is the chief inoculator. Fleas abandon a rat dead of plague and go in search of living beings who still have warm blood circulating in their veins. Biting man they inoculate into him the living virus which starts the disease.

Since plague is a disease due to rats and rat fleas and not to filth or dirty habits, there's only one thing to do to avoid plague, eradicate the rats. This can be done by making war on them with traps, poison and starvation, and by "rat proofing" against them; that is by building them out. As a result of the Chinatown plague epidemic in 1907, so efficient was the ratproof construction that followed, that rats and plague were entirely "built out" of that part of the city.

FIRST CATCHER'S PAD.

It Was Worn by Charlie Bennett of the Old Detroit Team.

Charlie Bennett, the noted catcher of the famous Detroit team of 1886-7, often told with delight the story of how he and his wife made the first catcher's breast protector.

It was a constant source of worry to Mrs. Bennett to watch her husband being made a target for the speed merchants of thirty years ago. And she fully realized the pressing necessity of some kind of armor to prevent the hot shot sent through by these speedy slabmen from caving in a rib or two which belonged to her better half.

After much deep thinking and considerable labor the Bennetts shaped out something that had a faint resemblance to the protector worn today.

In a private trial it worked fine, and in the tryout Charlie would let the ball slip through his hands and bang up against his chest without experiencing the slightest jar. After Bennett got used to it he wore it in a regular contest, and, with the eyes of thousands of spectators upon him, he would let a fast one hit him square on the chest. The ball would rebound back almost to the pitcher.—New York World.

Deaf Mute Church Work.

Religious work among deaf mutes was established in 1849 by Dr. Gallaudet, who started a small Bible class for them in a room in the University of New York. The Churchman, an Episcopal weekly, says that at the present time there are thirteen ordained clergymen, twelve of whom are themselves deaf, ministering to the spiritual needs of 35,000 deaf mutes in the United States of whom there are fully 20,000 in the southern section. The salaries of the missionaries to the deaf range from $1,000 to $1,800 annually, and a very few of them have their expenses, in addition, provided.

They Seldom Do.

A half witted fellow living in one of our country villages makes it his business to attend all funerals and comment on them for days afterward. Recently he received an invitation to the wedding of a relative. The next day after the wedding a neighbor asked, "And how did the wedding go off, Jim?"

"Oh, there was a pretty fair crowd turned out considerin' the weather." Jim answered solemnly. "Mary, she looked right nice, but I didn't think Bob looked very natural."—Indianapolis News.

Fashionable Fainting.
In an old English scrap book is the following clipping, dated June 1, 1790: No Woman can now discover her Distinction of true Breeding better than by a well-timed Faint at the musical Festival in Westminster Abbey. The Noble Managers fly from their Box to her Assistance. "Who is she?"—"Lovely Girl!"—"Feeling Creature!" Instantly reverberates from one Aisle to another. But like all tonish Ails, this, it seems, is now descending to inferior Ranks; for no less than three City Ladies were among the five female Fainters of Saturday last. To prevent therefore the further Extent of this fashionable Influenza the Managers, we learn, intend issuing something like the following Notice, in Imitation of the Lord Chamberlain's Notice to the Courtly Dancers, viz: "Such Ladies who intend to Faint at the next Abbey Performance, are desired to send their Names, Rank, and Places of Abode to Mr. Ashley, on or before 12 o'clock to-morrow; that a sufficient Proportion of Bars Rest may be set apart, in Order to give to the whole Performance the desired Effect!"

Equality of Sex.
There is a little girl in Springfield, Mass., who, like many of her sex, represents the imputation that the feminine mind is not so strong as the masculine. One day her mother remarked on the apparent lack of intelligence in a hen. "You can't teach a hen anything," she said. "They have done more harm to the garden than a drove of cattle would. You can teach a cat, a dog or a pig something, but a hen—never!" "I'm!" exclaimed the child indignantly. "I think they know just as much as the roosters!"—Youth's Companion.

Mystery of the Stomach.
"Why does not the stomach digest itself?" is a question often asked. The Journal of the American Medical Association confesses that the reason has not yet been found. There are many theories, but not one of them is entirely satisfactory, and we are still unable to say more than Hunter said more than a century ago, "that these living cells remain intact under such circumstances because they are alive."—New York World.

Honesty the Best Policy.
Doubtless the sorriest man in the United States today is the fellow who dropped his purse, containing $90, while he was robbing a chicken coop, and who is afraid to claim his property. Verily, honesty is the best policy.—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Something Learned.
Farmer Clapole—Has that city feller who bought Stone's farm learned anything yet? Farmer Sauts—Wail, he's learnt it don't do no good ter try ter make apple butter in a churn.—Judge.

A Missing Man.
"What has become of the old fashioned man?" asks the Cincinnati Enquirer, "who used to wear a yard of crape on his hat?" Perhaps he's married again.—Toledo Blade.

Following Are a Few of the Items Which Appeared in the Gazette Years Ago This Week.
THIRTY FIVE YEARS AGO
Florida hotel keepers are hunting the snakes from their bedrooms, driving out the alligators from the diningrooms and dusting the centipedes from the closets, preparatory to reopening for the winter.

The fair in aid of the Church of the Immaculate Conception closed last Friday evening. The fair has been quite a success financially, considerable money being realized by subscription books and by the voting, which taken in the aggregate will amount to more than two thousand dollars.

Mutual Library Association will be held on Friday evening, Nov. 14, when a proposition will be made to the shareholders to offer the library to the town, on condition that it shall establish a branch Town Library here in South Weymouth.

The returns of the count of ballots cast in Weymouth at the election last Tuesday, are as follows:

Governor.
John D. Long, of Hingham	837
Benjamin F. Butler, of Lowell	786
Daniel C. Eddy, of Hyde Park	44
John Q. Adams, of Quincy	35

THE ELECTION OF JOHN D. LONG FOR GOVERNOR OF THE GOOD OLD COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS HAS BEEN ACCOMPLISHED, and the public mind will now subside to customary quiescence, while political leaders must wait the events of another year's campaign before they can have opportunity to discharge their broadsides into ranks of political foes.

TWENTY-SEVEN YEARS AGO.
Cards are out for the marriage of Miss Fannie W. Sprague and Mr. Chas. T. Foster at the Union Cong'l church, Tuesday evening, Nov. 15, at 6.30 o'clock. A reception follows from 7 to 8, at the residence of James Tirrell.

Surveyor Cushing, of East Weymouth informs us that he carted about 300 loads of gravel and dumped 300 loads of stone for the 600 yards of filling at the Washington street widening, near the Samuel Read place. At one point of the widening the solid ledge was blasted 14 feet inward from the street.

The following officers of South Shore Commandery, K. T. were duly installed at Masonic hall, last Monday evening, by Em. Sir Charles Harris, assisted by Em. W. H. Soule;—Em. Com., A. J. Garey; Generalissimo, T. H. Humphrey; C. Gen., George Cushing; Prelate, C. H. Pratt; S. Warden, Leavitt Bates; J. Warden, H. E. Raymond; treasurer, E. G. Bates; Recorder, C. M. Marsh.

Registration.—At the close of registration last Wednesday night, the number of voters this year was found to be 2288, an increase of 205 over last year. The following shows the total by wards for 1887: Ward 1, 341; 2, 706; 3, 534; 4, 310; 5, 397.

Weymouth Gazette

FRIDAY, NOV. 6, 1914

A word in regard to our illustrated Weymouth homes. In starting this series we had, in but a single instance any particular home in view but to add an interesting feature to our paper and have had many encouraging words in regard to it and shall continue. We are however nearly at the end of our first lot of pictures and have hardly touched the field as there are so many hundred beautiful or otherwise historic places. We are open to suggestions of places or if there is any one who has a fine photograph of their home and would like to help the work along we will take the same, make a fine half-tone cut from it, and return it in good condition.

President Wilson has issued a proclamation designating Thursday, Nov. 26, as a day of Thanksgiving and Praise and among other good and sufficient reasons for the same, he cites the following which at this time, looking at the horrors of war in the European countries, should make every American truly thankful for our condition.

"It has been vouchsafed to us to remain at peace, with honor, and in some part to succor the suffering and supply the needs of those who are in want. We have been privileged by our own peace and self-control in some degree to steady the counsels and shape the hopes and purposes of a day of fear and distress. Our people have looked upon their own life as a Nation with a deeper comprehension, a fuller realization of their responsibilities as well as of their blessings, and a keener sense of the moral and practical significance of what their part among the Nations of the world may come to be."

Sunday School Convention.

The twentieth annual convention of the Norfolk East District Sunday School association was held at the Union church of Weymouth and Braintree, Tuesday afternoon and evening with good attendance from the several churches in the district.

Topics for the afternoon were: Address, "Junior Work in the Sunday School," Mrs. F. E. Ware.

Address, "State Convention News," H. S. Conant.

Address, "The Missionary Responsibility of the Sunday School," Miss Mary Preston.

Address, "The Sunday School Teacher's General Preparation for His Task," Rev. M. Oakman Patton, Braintree.

Consecration Service, "The Teacher and the Master Teacher," Rev. Nelson A. Price, East Braintree.

Supper was served at 6 o'clock and at 7 o'clock the Department Conference and a General Session were held with the following order of exercises:

Department Conferences:

Adult, led by Rev. Charles Clark, secretary, North Weymouth.

Teacher training, led by Rev. A. D. Smith, secretary, Milton.

Secondary, led by Mrs. R. M. Chamberlain, East Milton.

Elementary, led by Mrs. C. B. Hall.

Home, led by Miss L. C. Tower.

Address, "The Bible in the Home," Rev. L. L. Howard, Randolph.

S. S. Secretaries, led by Supt. R. E. Whitman, South Braintree.

Address, "The Bible in the School," Rev. Benjamin A. Willmott, Quincy.

Citizens' Association.

The Citizens' Association of Weymouth and East Braintree has a live topic on its hands and will hold a special meeting at Pythian hall next Wednesday evening to discuss it.

The idea is not an entirely new one but within a short time it has taken on a new growth and is fast spreading.

Shall the "Old Town Meeting" and old methods of doing town business be abolished and a government by commission with a business manager at the head of the entire system take its place, is the question of the hour. The experiment is being tried and no doubt some improvement may be worked out.

"Voluntas Sororitas" Girls Entertain.

"The Betty Wales Girls and Mr. Kidd," a drama in three parts was successfully presented by the "Voluntas Sororitas" girls in the vestry of the M. E. church, East Weymouth, last Friday evening.

The characters were: Betty Wales, Grace Carleton; Helen Chase Adams, Naomi Wheaton; Madeline Ayres, Olive Sylvester; Mary Brooks, Beatrice Raymond; Bob Parker, Elsie Nickerson; Babe Henderson, Ruth Joy; Roberta Lewis, Viola Plummer; Miss Priscilla Hicks, Mildred Bates; Georgiana Ames, Hilda Tomlinson; The Real Georgia Ames, Marlon Bowker.

The parts were all well taken and much credit is due Mrs. Stephen Joy, who directed the performance.

Before and after the entertainment, a candy sale was held in charge of the Misses Lillian Chandler and Una Carlton.

—At the Pilgrim church next Wednesday evening, November 11, "From Niagara to the Sea," a grand tour of the St. Lawrence and Saguenay Rivers, recited by D. W. Howard, with beautiful stereoptical pictures. Assisting artists will be Miss Edna Knight, reader, and the Acaia Trio. Tickets may be secured from Squad 6 of the Pilgrim church and at the door.—Advertisement.

—Annual Fair of the Ladies' Social Circle of the M. E. church of East Weymouth, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons and evenings, November 11 and 12 in the church vestry. Wednesday evening, those well known entertainers, the University Trio of Boston, consisting of bell ringers, harp and violin. Thursday evening, "Tommy's Wife," a drama in three acts by local talent, assisted by Hough's orchestra.—Adv.

—F. A. Bicknell has moved to Mr. Gorham Walkers' tenement on Athen's street, where he will make his home.

—Miss Mae Coleman left Sunday for St. Margaret's Hospital where she will take a course of training.

—While playing football on the Weymouth high school team last Monday afternoon, Warren Clark received several injuries to his head, but he is now able to be out again.

—Mrs. E. J. Jordan of Green street is spending a few days with relatives in New York.

—The Vehenmaedove club met with Mrs. Nathaniel S. Ford on Monday evening of this week.

—The two children of George White of Norton street are ill with scarlet fever.

—Mrs. Irene A. Lee of North Scituate is the guest of her niece, Mrs. F. C. Fisher of Curtis street.

—The Athens school was closed on Tuesday afternoon in order that the school rooms might be fumigated.

—As a result of a staging breaking while painting in Boston last Wednesday, Carlton Tyler received a sprained wrist. His uncle, Herbert Tyler, with whom he was working, sustained a fractured skull and died a short time after the accident. Funeral services were held on Wednesday and interment was in the North Weymouth cemetery. Mr. Tyler was a son of the late Rev. Mr. Tyler, pastor of the Pilgrim church, and a brother of W. M. Tyler of North Weymouth. He leaves a wife and three small children.

—The store of J. W. Bartlett & Co' will be closed on Wednesday afternoons during the winter.

—For second hand pianos see Wilder's ad.—Adv.

—The teachers of the Pilgrim Congregational Sunday school held a meeting on Wednesday evening, to discuss plans for the coming winter.

—The regular monthly meeting of the Men's Brotherhood was held in the Pilgrim church on Monday evening, November 2d. A supper was served to the members and friends at 6:30 o'clock. The speaker of the evening was Frederic C. Folsom of Braintree who spoke upon the "Investment in Boys' Work Does It Pay?" John Melville of Quincy also spoke about boys' work.

Neal—McDonald.

A wedding of much interest in this section took place on Wednesday afternoon in the Sacred Heart church in Weymouth, when Miss Mary E. McDonald, daughter of James McDonald of East Braintree became the bride of John H. Neal, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Neal of Kensington road, Weymouth Landing.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. John B. Holland, pastor of the Sacred Heart church. The best man was Francis Neal, a brother of the groom, and Miss Alice McDonald, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's home. A wedding luncheon was served.

At a late hour Mr. and Mrs. Neal left on a wedding trip and on their return will reside on Pleasant street, East Weymouth. Mr. Neal is a conductor on the local street railway and is an esteemed member of the Hingham Aerie No. 1677 F. O. E.

Hasty Sightseeing.

Europeans are wont to talk of Americans who rush through Europe with a guide book in one hand and a railroad timetable in the other, but an Englishman overheard on a New York bus the other day was in a class by himself for speed. "I've been up to the Metropolitan museum," he volunteered to a seatmate. "Bally fine place, but big. Took me an hour to see everything in it."

WEYMOUTH HEIGHTS

—The Wide Awakes held a sewing meeting with Miss Muriel Gladwin on Wednesday afternoon.

—Miss Daisy Michelson of Somerville spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bicknell.

—The W. C. T. U. held a meeting with Mrs. Stoddard on Wednesday afternoon.

—A very successful food sale was carried on in W. J. Sladen's store Tuesday afternoon under the auspices of the Ladies' Benevolent Society.

—A surprise party was tendered Miss Louise Briggs last Saturday evening by a few of her friends in honor of her birthday. An appetizing lunch of clam chowder, cakes and candies was served and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

—The members of Hose 7 enjoyed a supper in the Hose House on Saturday evening.

—Rev. Edward Yeager will conduct the services at the Town Home next Sunday afternoon at 8 o'clock. The Wide Awakes will take part in the service by singing and Miss Bertha Nash will render a solo, "Abide With Me."

—Mrs. William Humphrey of Dansville, N. Y., is visiting her mother, Mrs. L. A. Humphrey.

—Mrs. R. I. Steele was pleasantly surprised on Monday evening by a number of her friends and neighbors, the occasion being her birthday. Refreshments were served and a pleasant evening was spent by everybody.

—The Wide Awakes held a Halloween party on Saturday evening with Miss Doris Winters. The committee in charge of the party was the Misses Isabel Jones, Helen Ries and Marion Hunt. A jolly evening was spent in playing "Halloween games." The feature of the evening was the comic costumes in which each guest came. Refreshments were served.

—Mrs. James B. Jones pleasantly entertained a number of her friends by giving a Halloween party at her home last Friday evening. After playing several interesting games, the hostess served a delicious luncheon of salad, cakes and candies. The table was artistically decorated with Halloween decorations, which with the burning embers on the fireplace, made a most attractive picture.

—The Uwikana Club enjoyed their first party of the season on last Friday evening when Mrs. John B. Merrill and Miss Florence Nash gave a Halloween party at the home of Mrs. Merrill. A jolly program of games appropriate for the occasion was indulged in, prizes being awarded to the winners, after which all adjourned to the dining room, where a dainty Halloween luncheon was served from a beautifully decorated table. The centerpiece of chrysanthemums, from which yellow streamers of ribbon extended to each place, bearing a Halloween charm for the guests, was most effective.

Evolution.

If the theory of evolution "has been overthrown" the fact is not generally known. So far from being "overthrown" the theory is stronger today, say the leading scientists, than it ever was. Indeed, so these scientists inform us, the theory of evolution is now accepted by the faculties of the great learned institutions of the world and is taught as part of the general education.—Chicago Examiner.

Thornedale

Or an Inglorious Flight

By EDITH V. ROSS

A young man fashionably dressed alighted from a train at a station in the country and called an auto cab.

"Drive me to the Thornedale House," he said, "but first—handing the driver a baggage check—'get my trunk.'"

The gentleman seated himself in the cab while the cabman went for the trunk. The latter was new to the place and, not knowing any such hotel as the Thornedale House, made inquiries of the station agent.

"He must mean Thornedale, the residence of Mr. Edward Thorne. It is up the road about a mile. You'll know it when you come to it, for it is a fine place between the road and the river."

The cabman juggled the trunk to the auto, deposited it therein, then started for Thornedale. On reaching it he pulled up under a porte-cochere, near which on the veranda sat a young lady reading a novel. The gentleman stepped out of the auto. The cabman dumped the trunk on the veranda and drove away. The stranger walked past the young lady through the open front door into the house. Seeing no such place as a hotel office or any one to receive him, he went back on to the veranda, raised his hat deferentially to the young lady and said:

"Beg pardon. Can you tell me where I'll find the landlord?"

"The landlord? Oh, yes, this is Thornedale."

"I was recommended to come here by a lady. She is here, is she not—Mrs. Overaker?"

"Mrs. Overaker is expected. She has not yet arrived. You are—"

"Mr. Wingate—John Wingate."

"Oh, Mr. Wingate. I've heard Mrs. Overaker speak of you. Be seated, Mr. Wingate. There's no one about just now but myself. I'll get some one to show you to your room and take up your trunk."

"Please don't incommode yourself. I am in no hurry."

The young lady, who had half risen, seated herself.

"Quite likely," said the young man, fishing for the young lady's name, "I have heard of you through Mrs. Overaker."

"I am Luella Humphrey."

"Humphrey," meditatively, "I don't know that I have heard her mention any one of that name."

"Have you known Mrs. Overaker long?"

"Only a few months. She came east last spring and visited some friends of mine—the Grosvenors."

"I was quite surprised to hear that Mrs. Overaker was coming back this season. It's a long journey for her to take."

"It's an equally long journey from here to her home."

An imperceptible smile flitted across the young lady's lips. She knew why Mr. Wingate was there and why Mrs. Overaker was coming there. The former was a bachelor, the latter a widow. A courtship between them had been made easy by the lady, and an engagement was to be expected. But, since it was difficult for Mr. Wingate to go to the widow, the widow had made an excuse to go to Mr. Wingate. She had written him that she would be at Thornedale early in October. The lady wrote an illegible hand, and Mr. Wingate read "the Thornedale." Supposing the place to be a hotel, he had gone there to make her a proposal.

Mr. Wingate was a good catch. The widow was ten years older than he and had set her cap for him. Miss Humphrey was a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Thorne and of an age when young ladies are usually on the lookout for husbands. Here was an opportunity—an opportunity that had been enhanced by the widow's bad handwriting in another way than in leading Mr. Wingate to think she was to stay at a hotel. She had written him and the Thornes as well that she would arrive on the 10th of October. He had read it the 1st. Miss Humphrey, if she played her cards well, might have ten days to get a matrimonial hook into Mr. Wingate's mouth.

After Mr. Wingate's remark that it was an equally long journey to the widow's home Miss Humphrey sat listening to what he said further, but intent on what immediate action she would take. Presently she excused herself, and a maid came and showed Mr. Wingate to his room. His trunk followed later. While he was making his toilet an automobile pulled up under the porte-cochere and a gentleman and lady alighted. They were Mr. and Mrs. Thorne. Miss Humphrey told them of the guest who had arrived and the mistake he had made, suggesting that it would be amusing to permit him to continue to be deceived. Thorne, who was ready for anything whereby to make his stay in the country endurable, fell in with the plan enthusiastically.

When the guest came down just before luncheon he was received by Mr. Thorne, who said to him cheerily:

"Sorry not to have been here to receive you, sir. Fact is, we have room for very few guests at any time, and now those who have been here are all returned to the city. So I don't trouble myself to stay about the place much. My niece tells me that she took care of you. Do you like your room?"

"Very much."

"Well, come in to luncheon. Since our guests are all gone it would be lonely for you to eat alone, so we will take you in with us."

"That's very kind of you."

The party, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Thorne, Miss Humphrey and Mr. Wingate, sat down to table in a dining room handsomely furnished and partook of a luncheon which the guest pronounced equal to any he had ever eaten in a private house. What puzzled him was that both the landlord and landlady seemed to be to the manner born, while their niece was evidently every inch a lady. True, the landlord talked a great deal about the fine season they had had and the money they had made out of their guests. This seemed to be mortifying to his wife and niece, for during these boasts they both concealed their features behind their napkins. When they had finished the meal and were rising from the table Mrs. Thorne said to her niece:

"Luella, I think you had better take Mr. Wingate out for an auto ride this afternoon. This is a dull place, Mr. Wingate, but we'll do the best we can to keep you from being lonely."

"I shall consider myself under deep obligations," replied the guest.

When an hour later a runabout was brought to the porte-cochere Miss Humphrey took the wheel, and she and Mr. Wingate sped away merrily. They returned only in time to dress for dinner.

"Please charge up all the extras," he said to the landlord privately, "the auto and any wine I order, and I'll pay when I settle my bill."

"You'll find everything charged," said Thorne, "even the cigars."

Mr. Wingate was so delightfully entertained that he didn't fret about the delay in the widow's coming. He played tennis with Miss Humphrey in the morning and rode in the auto with her in the afternoon. In the evening the four occupants of the house played cards, and the days sped by merrily. One day Miss Humphrey said to her companion:

"When do you expect Mrs. Overaker?"

"Mrs. Overaker? Why, I expected her on the 1st of the month. What's this—the 3d?"

"This is the 9th."

"You don't mean it. I wonder what is delaying her?"

"Delaying her? You don't expect her at all now, do you?"

Mr. Wingate hoped in his heart that she would not come, but he said that something might have occurred to change her plans. That evening it was evident to all except Mr. Wingate that something of importance was at hand. A delicious dinner was served. Miss Humphrey was clad in a costume that the guest pronounced a "blue dream of heaven." After dinner the landlord and landlady excused themselves and left the place, leaving Mr. Wingate and their niece in the drawing room. A perfume of flowers came in from the conservatory adjoining. Mr. Wingate forgot all about the widow, and—well, when Mr. and Mrs. Thorne returned he was engaged to Miss Humphrey.

A supper was set in the dining room, to which the four persons adjourned. Mrs. Thorne and her niece hung back for a few whispered words. Then there was the popping of a champagne cork, and Mrs. Thorne, holding her glass high, proposed the health of the newly engaged couple. Mr. Thorne kissed his niece and, slapping his guest on the back, said vociferously:

"This is no hotel. This is the residence of your humble servant, Edward Thorne, banker. But you've been welcome, my boy, and we give you our little Lu gladly. We've heard lots about you from Mrs. Overaker, and all to your credit."

The expression on Wingate's face was a mingling of surprise, shame and happiness.

"When do you expect Mrs. Overaker?" he asked.

"Tomorrow afternoon."

"I regret that my limit of time to be absent has expired and I shall not have the pleasure of meeting her after all. I must go back to the city in the morning."

"So soon?" exclaimed the host and hostess in a breath.

"Don't detain a man from his business," said Luella. "I think Mr. Wingate is perfectly excusable in going, and if I don't complain no one should."

"We'll all go," said the host.

The next morning an automobile containing Mr. and Mrs. Thorne, Miss Humphrey and Mr. Wingate pulled out from under the porte-cochere destined for the city. Mr. Thorne at the wheel. They had been gone only a few minutes when a train passed on the railway track beside them.

"Supposing," said Mr. Thorne, "that Mrs. Overaker should be ahead of time and on that train."

Mr. Wingate shuddered.

"Such a thing is possible," said Mrs. Thorne. "If Mrs. Overaker is on the train we shall meet her coming from the station."

Mr. Wingate shuddered again.

"It will be embarrassing for me," continued the speaker, "since I agreed to keep her during her stay here."

"I'll turn off by this road," said Mr. Thorne.

He did turn off, and Mr. Wingate breathed a sigh of relief.

Mrs. Overaker did arrive by that train, and when she reached Thornedale she found it deserted. Mrs. Thorne made an excuse to the widow such as ladies of breeding know how to manufacture. Mr. Wingate needed no excuse. How could he meet the widow at the Thorne's when the Thornes were not at home?

C. A. Peabody Co., 5 Main St., Brockton, Mass.

Dear Sirs:—In reply to your favor I want to say that the "Peabody" piano that was offered by Mr. George R. Kempl two years ago and won by me is more than satisfactory in every way. The tone is beautiful and seems to grow better as I use it. I would certainly recommend this piano to anybody who wants a first-class instrument.

Yours very truly,

CONFESSIONS OF A FOOL

By M. QUAD
 Copyright, 1914, by Associated Literary Press

As a boy, born in the town of Colville, of parents in moderate circumstances, John Williams was called dull. When he had reached his majority he was accounted "light in the head." He was a butt of ridicule for years and years, and no one could ever remember that he resented it. When he was told, as was often the case, that he was only half witted he laughed in a good natured way. If people laughed at him he laughed back, and if the joke was on him it seemed to please him as much as if some one else had been hit. There was only one thing about the town fool which was not as plain as day. From the time he was eighteen years old he kept a diary. It was often wondered what he wrote down, but no one ever had a chance to see. The diary didn't take in daily events, as was one day discovered, but in the course of twelve years an abundance of things were jotted down. At the age of thirty John Williams was fatally injured by the kick of a horse. When it was given out that he had only three or four days to live the public had no sympathy to waste. Perhaps the town fool didn't expect any. From time to time the doctors told him he was a doomed man, and he began to set his house in order—that is, he had his diaries brought to his bed and sent for a justice of the peace and a worthy witness. He had a few deathbed confessions to make. No. 1 went back twelve years. A sawmill in the town had been destroyed by fire. The day after the fire a man named Thompson had put a red hot cent on the sidewalk for the town fool to pick up. The diary recorded both events. The confession was to the effect that John Williams had seen Thompson set fire to the mill. It was written out and sworn to and witnessed, and then came confession No. 2. In that same year some one had stolen three smoked hams from the cellar of a villager. Following close upon the loss of the hams, as duly recorded in the diary, the village blacksmith had ducked the town fool in his water tub for a joke. The confession was to the effect that Williams and the blacksmith stole the hams and that the latter was the only one to profit by the theft. The two confessions implicated men who had always been considered upright, and the justice felt it his duty to say: "John, this is serious business. You know you have only three days to live."

"Yes, I know," replied John, "but we have hardly begun yet. I've got to get a whole carload of things off my mind before I go."

No. 3 dated back eleven years. A horse had been stolen from a nearby farmer, and about the same date a village painter named Swayne had painted the town fool's boots a bright red by way of a joke. The confession solemnly confessed that the painter and Williams had stolen the horse and turned him over to a stranger to be run out of town and sold. Many little details were put down, and as it was solemnly sworn to, the justice heaved a sigh over the deceit and wickedness of a man who had always been looked up to as full of integrity.

Confession No. 4 went back ten years. A church edifice belonging to the Methodists had been set on fire and partly destroyed. It had been pretty well settled that it was the work of tramps who had broken in, but no one had been arrested. Williams now confessed that the Widow Davidson had hired him for $5 to set the fire.

Confession No. 5 was a corker. Some seven years previous there had been a local election in which party feelings ran high. Just before the election came on one of the candidates for mayor had been badly shocked by a bolt of lightning which struck the house. Nobody had ever questioned the fact that it was a straight case of thunder and lightning, but now the dying man wanted to wash his conscience. He named four prominent men in the village who were in a conspiracy, the murder of the candidate. They hadn't let him in on the ground floor or any other floor, but he had been abroad the night of the storm and had seen one of the conspirators strike the candidate with a bludgeon and then leap out of the window. The would be murderer believed he had accomplished his purpose, and there was great rejoicing as he rejoined his fellow conspirators.

The justice hesitated, questioned and protested, but the town fool was firm. He insisted that everything should go down and be sworn to. He died declaring that he had signed nothing but what was true, and the justice felt that he had to move in the matter. The whole town was by the ears at once. Those six confessions included everybody who had ever cracked a joke at the town fool's expense, and that meant seven-eighths of the population. Although the doctors certified that Billy's mind was clear to the last, it was too big a bite for the law. After three or four warrants had been issued the whole affair was dropped—that is, was legally dismissed—but it wasn't the end of it by any means. Everybody swore to his own innocence and declared his belief in the guilt of everybody else, and in one year there were a score of damage suits. It was five years before the affair finally sank out of sight. The town had a heap of fun at the expense of the town's fool, but in dying he had more fun than squared the account.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

From now on The Hague conventions will become back-numbers. These conventions were designed primarily to protect the non-combatants, but at this distance from the seat of war in Europe it looks as if the non-combatants were getting the worst possible treatment.—Dedham Transcript.

Newspaper advertising makes it possible for the man on the side street to compete on equal terms. People enjoy going a few steps out of the way, on the track of a bargain. They are pleased to be able to boast to their friends that they saw advertisements and found just around the corner good values for only a little money.—Natick Bulletin.

The unprecedented shooting of pheasants threatens to result in their extermination. In eight days of shooting over 4000 have been killed in the commonwealth and the end of the season is three weeks off. With nearly a hundred hunting licenses issued by the town clerk, it is safe to say that the woodlands of this town have been well shot over.—Belmont Courier.

The game of whist seems to have lost none of its popularity in town and most of the clubs devoted to the pastime are in full swing while the others will doubtless join the process of gavity very soon. The public whist parties will also flourish as usual and attract their full quota of devotees. Much has been said and written concerning the evils of playing for prizes but that is too big a subject for discussion here.—Braintree Observer.

The town meeting on Monday night was certainly another demonstration of the fact that it is almost impossible to get efficient government in Revere in the old town meeting form. The long time spent at the meeting by a large number of people did not result in a single positive action on any article in the warrant, and several hundred voters went away from the hall more convinced than ever that Revere should become a city at an early date.—Revere Journal.

Frank Fessenden Crane of this city, who sought the Republican nomination to Congress from the 14th district and lost out to Harry Howard of Brockton, expended $345.91 according to a statement of his expenditures filed at the office of the City Clerk today. The biggest item was traveling expenses which totaled over $200.—Quincy Ledger.

FAIR EXCHANGE.

A New Back for an Old One—How a Weymouth Resident Made a Bad Back Strong.

The back aches at times with a dull indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame that to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back if the kidneys are weak. You cannot reach the cause. Follow the example of this Weymouth citizen.
Calvin D. Packard, 143 Washington street, Weymouth, says: "My kidney trouble was caused by jarring and riding. The kidney secretions passed too frequently and annoyed me at night. I suffered from pain across my back and felt tired nearly all the time. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. In a short time I could see a marked improvement, and I continued using this remedy until I was relieved. I always have Doan's Kidney Pills on hand, and occasional use keeps me in good shape. You may continue to publish my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills as in the past." Price 50 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Hewitt had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

WEYMOUTH BEATS HINGHAM.

Local Aggregation Wipe Out Sting of the Tie Games a Few Weeks Ago in Hingham.

In the best game thus far on the local gridiron this season, Weymouth High school pinned a 13 to 0 defeat on their bitter rivals, Hingham High school last Friday afternoon at the Clapp Memorial grounds, East Weymouth.

Some weeks ago on a rainy, muggy day, the two teams played a 0 to 0 tie at Hingham, and both teams were out to show which aggregation was the better in the game last Friday.

Weymouth's team work was excellent and showed the fine results Coach Whittemore has obtained from the squad this fall. Captain Connie Condrick was back in the fray after a few weeks' absence and his presence inspired the Weymouth boys to even stopping Hingham from scoring. Borlengh, Rand, Whittle and Condrick all starred during the game, while the line held like a wall at all times.

For Hingham, Thaxter, Knowles and Ross excelled. This victory gives Weymouth seven victories, no defeats and one tie. The team has scored 169 points to their opponents' 6 this season, Abington being the only team to score on the Weymouth squad. The summary of last Friday's game:

WEYMOUTH	HINGHAM

Public Winter Meeting.

The Massachusetts State Board of Agriculture will hold its annual Public Winter Meeting for lectures, discussions and exhibits in Horticultural hall and the Chamber of Commerce, Worcester, Massachusetts, December 1, 2 and 3, 1914. The first day will be given over to the poultry, market-garden and apple growing interests. The raising of beef cattle, milk production, household accounting, a canning demonstration, and exhibit of canning outfits will be the subjects presented for discussion the second day. On the last day, the New England Alfalfa Growers' Association will hold its annual meeting. There will be a lecture on alfalfa growing in the morning and in the afternoon the Worcester State hospital will be visited.

Entertainment in Tufts Course.

The second in the series of the Tufts Free Lectures will be held on Friday evening, Nov. 20, at Fogg's opera house, South Weymouth. Charles W. Furlong will speak on South America, illustrating his lecture with his own lantern pictures. This talk will deal particularly with the Guianas and their people, and he will open up to us a new view of these wonderful countries, destined soon to be more closely connected with American trade.

Mr. Furlong has travelled extensively throughout the world and speaks interestingly and with authority. He is at present giving these same lectures before the 20th Century club of Boston and we may consider ourselves fortunate to have him.

Vinal-Heald.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Heald announce the engagement of their daughter Margaret, Dana Hall 1912, to Mr. Albert Vinal of Newton Center.

Mr. Vinal is a graduate of Williams college, class of 1914.

He was captain of the football team, a member of the Sigma Phi fraternity and of the Gargoyle society.

The announcement was made on Sunday at a week-end party given in honor of the event to classmates and college friends of the young people.

Annual Inspection.

In G. A. R. hall, East Weymouth, last Thursday night the annual inspection of Dorothea L. Dix Tent, Daughters of Veterans was held. Besides a large gathering of members of the tent there were delegations present from Post 58 G. A. R. and General James L. Bates Camp S. of V.

The inspecting officer was Miss Agnes E. Barry of Roxbury, Department Inspector. She was assisted by Mrs. Mabel Fuller of Somerville chief aid.

A class of candidates was installed and a social hour was enjoyed by all. During the evening a delicious luncheon was served by tent members.

PASTOR INSTALLED.

Rev. Edward Torrey Ford Installed Pastor of the Congregational Church, East Weymouth.

Following the resignation of Rev. Walter H. Commons, which was formally tendered the Congregational church at East Weymouth, on Sunday, Sept. 14th, 1913, the church and society began to look for a successor. The committee got busy and visited a number of places to hear desirable ministers in their own pulpits and also procured supplies for the home pulpit, and on Nov. 28th, 1913, the following was a part of the notice of the Congregational church published in these columns:

"Next Sunday the services, morning and evening, will be in charge of Rev. Edward T. Ford, who comes as a supply and not as a candidate. Mr. Ford was a Brockton boy and has recently returned East from Tacoma, Wash., where he has been pastor of the First Congregational church for the past twelve years. He is considered a minister of considerable ability."

REV. EDWARD T. FORD, D. D.

The result was that Mr. Ford was invited to again supply the pulpit and at once became the only man to be considered by the people, and on Feb. 3d, at a meeting of the church, and Feb. 4th, at a meeting of the society, unanimous votes were passed to extend a call to Mr. Ford to become the pastor of the church and society. In the mean time other desirable fields were opened to him but the call to East Weymouth was accepted and on Sunday, March 15th, he entered formally on his duties as pastor of the church.

Mr. Ford's household goods being still in Tacoma and the formality of establishing his home in the parsonage being a question of remote distance the matter of installation was postponed until a new season should begin and owing to sickness of one or two of the desired participants has been delayed until the present time and on Tuesday last took place with the following exercises:

Soloists, Edith Cary Page and Stephen F. Pratt.

The council which convened in the afternoon to review the situation consisted of the pastors of the First Church of Weymouth, Old South, Union, South Weymouth; Pilgrim, North Weymouth; Union, Weymouth and Braintree; Congregational, Cohasset; Congregational, Hingham; Bethany, Quincy; Washington St., Quincy and Porter, Brockton. Also Rev. D. W. Waldron, D. D., Rev. Daniel Evans, D. D., Rev. F. A. Poole, Rev. E. L. Bradford, Rev. W. H. Commons, (former pastors of the East Weymouth church) Rev. H. Cavell and Rev. Walter Nutting, D. D., which council organized with the choice of Rev. D. W. Waldron as moderator, and Rev. Harry Grimes, scribe.

At 6 o'clock, under the immediate supervision of Miss Janet Harlow, a bountiful supper was served to members of the council, delegates from the several churches and others to the number of about 89.

Deacon C. B. Cushing was master of ceremonies and interesting post-prandial remarks were made by Messrs. Waldron, Evans, Bradford, Poole and Commons. As we have said, Mr. Ford is a native

OBITUARY.

J. Clarence Howe Passes Away in California, Prominent Man in Weymouth Town Affairs.

Word was received in town the first of this week of the death in Los Angeles, California, of J. Clarence Howe, a well-known resident of South Weymouth.

Mr. Howe went to the Pacific coast a few weeks ago, intending to pass the winter there, believing that the western climate would benefit his health. He was taken ill there and had decided to return home the middle of this month.

He was a native of this town, being a son of the late J. B. Howe. For some years he conducted a bakery business and for the last few years has been identified with the Fleischman Yeast Co. in this section.

He served as a member of the board of selectmen for several years and no man has been more interested in town affairs than the ever genial "Cad" Howe, as he was familiarly known. His wit and interesting discussion will indeed be missed at Weymouth's future meetings in the interests of the town.

He is survived by three brothers and two sisters.

The body will be brought to this town for burial.

Town Business.

At the Monday meeting of the Selectmen two gasoline hearings were in order but as neither petitions or remonstrants showed up no action was taken.

Francis Hutchins was notified that his dog, which has caused some disturbance, must be muzzled or kept under restraint.

The New England Stone Crushing Co. having use for 50 tons of No. 3 stone have entered into contract with the Selectmen to use the Weymouth crusher at the seam face granite quarries, they taking the No. 3 stone for building purposes and the town taking the Nos. 1 and 2 for road use.

A communication was received from the Mayor of Chicago asking the town to send delegates to the American Good Road Convention to be held in that city from Dec. 14th to 18th and Engineer R. H. Whiting and Superintendent J. L. Maynard were elected delegates.

There was also a communication asking for delegates to the National River and Harbor Congress to be held in Washington, D. C. on Dec. 9, 10 and 11 and Albert P. Worthen, Charles Q. Clapp, Prince H. Tirrell, Dr. R. O. Clark and W. A. Wheaton were appointed.

Old Colony Ladies' Club.

A very interesting session of the Old Colony Ladies Club of South Weymouth was held in the Universalist church auditorium in South Weymouth last Thursday afternoon with Mrs. William Wagner presiding.

Mrs. Sidney R. Cook delightfully entertained with a group of songs, with Mrs. L. W. Atwood at the piano. Howard H. Joy gave an interesting address on "America's Uncrowned King" and Mrs. Frederic G. Bauer read a well prepared report on the recent Federation at Norwood. Mrs. Wilton Hawes was hostess at the social hour. As this was the District Nurse Supply Day, much needed material was obtained.

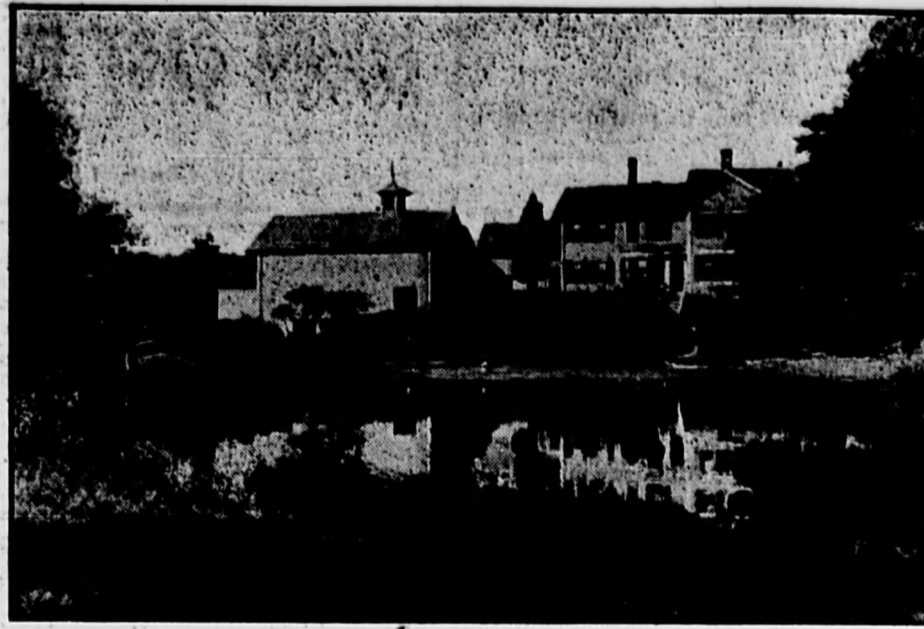

Bowling Notes.

Bowling is again in full swing in town after the summer's lay off. The Norfolk club rollers have been busy in the bottle pin league for several weeks and the Clapp Memorial bowlers will probably start a two men league in candle pins or Boston pins on next Monday night. With much increased interest in all the alleys in town, the season promises to be a very successful one in the game.

At the Norfolk club alleys last Thursday night Team 8, Elliott Veazie as captain, defeated Team 6, Charles Larry as captain, taking two out of three strings and total, with a pinfall of 2248 against 2194. Captain Veazie was high man with a single of 230 and three strings of 573.

of Brockton and in his boyhood and early manhood had some training in the industries of the "shoe city," with a desire for college education and possibly the law as profession, but later decided to take up the ministry as a larger field of usefulness, studied at Amherst, later at Andover and Yale, graduating from the latter, and had his first pastorate at Harwichport where he remained for two years and then went to the Pacific coast and after 13 years of successful work as pastor of the Congregational church at Tacoma, returned to the East to be nearer an aged mother and other relations.

HOME OF ROBERT S. HOFFMAN, EAST WEYMOUTH

We give this week the picture of one of the best known places in Weymouth, built and developed by M. C. Dizer and after his death purchased by Robert S. Hoffman, who, although a busy Boston business man, has found time to more than maintain the standard of his home and also to take an active interest in town affairs, especially in the water and fire departments.

THIRTY-SECOND ANNUAL FAIR.

Good Weather, Attractive Entertainments and Good Sized Audiences Make Event Very Successful.

An event of considerable interest to Weymouth and East Braintree people is the annual fair each November of the Ladies' Cemetery Improvement association. The 32nd annual event was held this year, last Monday and Tuesday nights in Bates' opera house, Weymouth and pleasant weather, good sized audiences and high class entertainments as well as large and attractive sales tables full of good things, puts the fair on record as one of the best ever held.

The officers of the association are Miss S. Jane Clapp, honorary president; Mrs. A. E. French, active president and Mrs. Annie E. Jordan, treasurer. These officers, with Mrs. William Aitken as chairman and Mrs. D. G. Doane assistant chairman, were directly in charge of this year's event. These officers with their able corps of assistants are to be congratulated on the success of the affair this year.

All the tables were beautifully decorated and very well stocked and all received a fine patronage from the audiences on both days.

The fancy table, beautifully trimmed with polonettes and red and green crepe paper, was in charge of Mrs. William E. Pray, Mrs. Edward Senior, Mrs. Percy Cook, Mrs. G. D. Niles, Mrs. Harry Drown and Mrs. Albert White, Mrs. Benjamin Wilkins and Mrs. Granville Field.

Mrs. C. T. Crane was chairman of the domestic table, which was arrayed in green and white. Mrs. Crane was assisted by Mrs. J. F. Sheppard, Mrs. Eunice Rowell, Mrs. D. J. Pierce, Mrs. William Bond and Miss Lucy M. Crane.

A profusion of roses and pink and white streamers, made the cake table a most attractive scene indeed. Miss Helen Loud, Miss Dora Cate, Mrs. William Beach and Miss Susan Avery were in charge.

Chrysanthemums, the flower of the season, with yellow and orange surroundings comprised the color scheme in the decoration of the candy booth, which was presided over by Mrs. John O. Bicknell. Mrs. Bicknell was assisted by Mrs. Herbert C. Poore, Mrs. Harry South, Mrs. Edward W. Hunt, Mrs. Wallace Bicknell, Mrs. Bert Nash, Mrs. Charles Miller, Mrs. Fred Harris and the Misses Esther W. Bicknell, Grace M. Bicknell, Louise Harris Helen Hunt, Bessie Miller, Madeline Hunt and Lillian Harlow.

Mrs. C. W. Baker was chairman of the ladies in charge of the children's booth. Mrs. Baker's table was tastefully decorated with Dutch girls and pink and white crepe paper. Assisting ladies on this table were Mrs. E. T. Barraud, Mrs. J. Clifton Barker, Mrs. C. E. Mayo, Mrs. J. F. Price, Mrs. Guy Fletcher, Mrs. J. B. Williams, Mrs. R. B. Worster, Mrs. Frank Peyton and Mrs. Grace Radcliffe.

Little Red Riding Hood, pictured as just leaving the forests and carrying a generous supply of mysterious packages for the young people, was looked after by Miss Emma Harris, Mrs. Fred Nichols, Mrs. Harold South, Mrs. H. C. Poore, Miss Agnes Baldwin, Miss Nellie Howe, Miss May Chessman and Miss Jennie Aitken.

Of much interest was the plant table decorated in white and green in a most pleasing manner. Mrs. David Doane, Miss Vesta Raasch, Miss Amelia Raasch, Miss Alice Doane, Miss Alice Smith and Miss Ethel Doane attended to this table.

The vegetable table, with every kind of vegetables on it, ever dreamed of, was presided over by Fred Thayer, assisted by James Wilson and W. S. Our. Red, green and white crepe paper was used in the decoration on this booth.

Mrs. Annie E. Jordan, assisted by J. Rupert Walsh, Edward Drown and Harry Drown dispensed ice cream from the balcony.

Rev. Albert Watson of the Union Congregational church in Weymouth and East Braintree welcomed the good sized audiences present on Monday and Tuesday evenings and spoke briefly on the good work done by the Improvement Association of the Village Cemetery. He introduced, as the entertainer on Monday evening, Miss Lucia Persis Hutchins of Fitchburg, a dramatic reader of decided pleasing personality, and ability. Miss Hutchins presented "Peg O' My Heart" in a most able manner and was roundly applauded at the close of her reading.

On Tuesday evening the drama "My Brother's Keeper" in three acts was presented by home talent, with the following cast:

Abel Benton, a merchant Joseph W. Blanchard Matthew Allen } his } A. Murphy
Richard Carnes } clerk } R. Dexheimer
Charles Benton } } F. P. Whitten
Job Layton (Scrap) } } Lyman C. Williams
Grace Benton, Abel's daughter Mildred Dyer
Rachael Allen, Matthew's sister Florence Thompson
Betsey Benton, Abel's sister Mrs. A. D. Tirrell

All the parts were well acted and the amateurs were well rewarded for their long rehearsing, by a burst of loud applause from an appreciative audience.

On both evenings of the fair Richard's orchestra rendered a program of selections. The orchestra is composed of Miss Marjorie Keith, piano; Miss Theodora Keith, hornet; Miss Catherine Pratt, violin and Howard Richards, leader and traps.

The ushers were Thornton Niles, Edward Hunt, Edward Drown and Edward Sweet.

Henry L. Thayer.

Henry L. Thayer, one of the best known citizens of the town, died at his home, 530 Washington street, Sunday after a long illness. He was born in Braintree 62 years ago and was a son of the late Gideon and Sarah Thayer. For many years he conducted a hack and livery stable on Washington square and about 15 years ago started in the ice business which he continued up to the time of his illness, two years ago.

He was of a genial disposition and together with his strict business integrity won him a host of friends. He leaves a widow and two sisters, Mrs. Almira Peniman of South Braintree, and Miss Hannah Thayer of Boston. The funeral took place from his late residence Tuesday afternoon and was attended by many of the friends and late business associates of the deceased. The service was conducted by Rev. C. J. Underhill, pastor of the First Baptist church. Many beautiful floral tributes testified to the esteem in which he was held by his many friends. Interment was in the family lot at Pond street, South Braintree.

Mrs. Eliza M. Young Dead.

Eliza M. Young, aged 92, widow of Thomas P. Young, died Saturday at the home of her niece Mrs. A. C. Thomas of Pleasant street, South Weymouth.

She was a native of Nantucket and had been a resident of this place for several years.

Funeral services were held last Monday afternoon with a large attendance. The services were conducted by Rev. Henry C. Alvord, pastor of the Old South church. Burial was in the Mt. Hope Cemetery, South Weymouth.

SEVENTIETH BIRTHDAY.

Commander Culley of Reynolds Post 58 G. A. R. Surprised, Draped and Receives Gifts.

One of the most enjoyable times that G. A. R. hall ever witnessed was held Tuesday evening when Reynolds W. R. C. 102, at the invitation of Patriotic Instructor Mrs. Margaret C. Culley, celebrated the 70th birthday of her husband, the commander of Reynolds Post 58. All Post and Corp members, officers of the Sons of Veterans, the auxiliary, Daughters of Veterans, relatives and neighbors were invited.

It was intended as a surprise to Com. Culley, and it was a surprise in every way. The first and biggest surprise was when the four color bearers of the Corps marched in, carrying a large 8 x 10 bunting flag, which Mrs. Culley in choice words presented to her husband, while the color bearers completely folded it around the Commander, while the strains of the "Star Spangled Banner" was wafted through the hall by Flint's orchestra.

The next presentation was a lovely leather travelling bag and money from the relatives and near neighbors, then money from the Corps members. The Sons of Veterans officers presented a gold coin, and the president presented a large bouquet of chrysanthemums. The Daughters of Veterans officers gave a gold coin and silver, also a large bouquet of chrysanthemums was presented to the Commander at the supper table, from a neighbor and personal friend. A cigar holder filled with cigars from Past Commander Pierson of Braintree Post came next, and then the President of the Corps presented the Commander with a gift of money sent from New York State, from his little great granddaughter, Florence Margaret Cole.

Among the special invited guests were Adj. Gen. Weatherbee, P. D. P. Mary E. Holbrook, Dr. Marstin Commander of Quincy Post, Mr. Pierson Past Commander of Braintree Post, Mrs. Loring president of Norfolk County, Commander of the Sons of Veterans, President of Auxiliary, President of Daughters of Veterans and Mabel V. Redway, daughter of Commander Culley and chairman of Executive board Dept. of N. J. W. R. C.

The President of Corps 102, Mrs. Baldwin, presented the guests and after extending a welcome to all, then kindly turned the evening over to Mrs. Culley and family, who after the speeches were made, invited all to retire to the lower hall, where dancing was enjoyed by all and refreshments of ice cream and cakes were served and all left voting a glorious time and many happy returns.

Monday Club.

A meeting of the Monday club will be held in Odd Fellows hall, Nov. 16th, in charge of Mrs. Walter Thompson, chairman of the arts and crafts committee. Mrs. Grace A. Chase will speak on the subject of "Old China." It is requested that members will bring any articles of old china, glass or metal ware that they may have for Mrs. Chase to use in illustrating her talk. A piece of Dresden china is particularly desired.

The subject of new By-Laws will be discussed at the meeting.

Mrs. Harold Joy, soprano soloist, will sing, report of Current Events will be given by Mrs. E. E. Leonard, and there will be a social with Mrs. William A. Wheaton as hostess.

Celebrate Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Ferguson celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage at their home 231 Washington street, Tuesday evening. Mr. Ferguson is a native of Vermont and Mrs. Ferguson before her marriage was Miss Philena Baker of Hyannis, Mass. The couple were married in Boston, Nov. 10, 1864 by Bishop Malleneau and for many years resided in Charlestown. About twelve years ago they came to this town where they have since resided. They have two children Albert E. Ferguson of Atlanta and Mrs. C. F. Lord of Wrentham.

Guests were present from Boston, Winchester, Jamaica Plain, Somerville, Franklin, Quincy, Belmont and other places. Two grandsons Charles E. Lord of Wrentham and Harry E. Ferguson of Franklin were ushers. Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson received their friends under a bower of flowers. They were the recipients of many handsome gifts including a purse of gold. During the evening there was vocal and instrumental music and a lunch was served.

 Get your bulbs in.
 Push the ploughing in fair weather.
 Fix house and outbuildings for Winter Better get some protection about the young trees.
 Cracks ought not to take the place of ventilators.
 This is a good time to provide bedding for the horses.
 Save the middle grains of the finest ears of corn for seed.
 Anyone who tries to get along without a good sponge in his stable does not realize what he misses.
 If all of the garden space is to grow profitable crops, no large trees must stand closer than thirty to fifty feet from the garden fence.
 Prune out old canes of raspberries and blackberries and burn them. Thin the hills to three or four shoots. Cultivate, and add some manure to the soil.

There will be a general increased demand in this country, due to greater shipments of meats to Europe. In fact, Europe will become largely dependent on America for her food supply, which fact will raise the prices of food in general.
 Poultry foods will have to be relied on largely to make up the deficiency here.
 The "balanced ration" is the ration for hens as well as for cows, and it is the cheapest. Any ration that contains an excess of any particular food will be fed at a loss. The safest plan is to feed a variety, for than fewer mistakes in feeding will be made, and hens will be better supplied.

On many farms the teams are often changed by sale of old and purchase of new but the old harness is retained.
 Many think the essential point in fitting a collar is to have it go easily over the animal's head. Each horse should have his own harness and when he is sold his harness should go in the bargain.
 Mites are easily exterminated by applying kerosene to all infested parts of the building. They become numerous as soon as warm weather comes. As prevention is better than cure, it pays to paint your roosts once every four to six weeks in winter time and once every two weeks during the warm weather. You will probably never see a mite in a house so treated.

It is now an exploded theory that the egg-laying type, if there be such a thing, must not possess shapeliness or beauty of plumage. Experience has taught that a high-bred flock with regard to form, plumage and egg-production, is the most profitable. Breeding alone for egg-laying is apt to result in inferior other qualities.
 Progressive breeders today are producing the best-looking and best-laying types at the same time.

Cows when dry will consume almost as much roughage as when milking. Silage may well form the principal ingredient of the ration, in fact, with 25 to 40 pounds of silage and a small supplementary feeds of clover, cowpea or alfalfa hay, say 5 to 6 pounds a day, the cows will keep in flesh and even make some gain. Cows in thin flesh should receive in addition a small amount of grain. Silage will tend to keep the whole system in a state of healthy activity and in this way lessen the trouble incident to parturition.

It seems that the Hollander in developing the Holstein cow followed the same system as he does in all his lines of agriculture; namely, making things produce for all they are worth. On his small farm he can not keep many animals, hence he must make the individual produce the equivalent of many. He has fed and handled his cows for large development and heavy milk-production. The Holstein cow is the largest animal of all the dairy breeds, and she is by far the largest milk producer. Although her milk is not as rich in butterfat as that of the Jersey and some other cows, yet through yielding a larger quantity of milk, her cream production exceeds that of other breeds.
 She is a good butter cow and an extraordinarily good milk cow.

ROUGH CAST BUILT ON A HILLSIDE.
 Design 608, by Glenn L. Saxton, Architect, Minneapolis, Minn.

This design makes a home complete in every appointment. By being built on a hillside it gives space to drive an auto in on the level under the sun room for a garage, thus eliminating the necessity of a separate building. The broad projection of the eaves, substantial detail of the construction and a combination of white cement for the rough cast and Washington fir for the window and door frames and cornice make an attractive exterior. By careful examination of the floor plans the reader can see what an exceptionally convenient home this design affords. Size, 34 feet wide, exclusive of sun parlor and sleeping porch, and 26 feet deep. Full basement 8 feet in the clear. First story, 9 feet; second story, 8 feet. Red oak throughout first story, mahogany finished doors in second story, with white enamel casings and bases, making a very charming combination. Cost to build, exclusive of heating and plumbing $5,800.

THIRTY FIVE YEARS AGO.
Shoe business is again beginning to revive. The cutters have resumed work, both in Messrs. Canterbury & Haskell's and M. C. Dizer & Co.'s factories, and it is probable that within a few weeks business in both of these large establishments, as well as in several of the smaller ones, will be "booming." The prospects of a good season's work are, indeed, flattering to the manipulators of "the leather and the knife."

THE WEATHER has been of a decidedly capricious nature the past week, the thermometer ranging from the twenties to the seventies. Wednesday night a very respectable sized thunder-storm added to the variety of changes, but the amount of rain was small. Water is getting to be scarce all over this region, and many mills are greatly embarrassed in their operations.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY will be open for delivery of books before many weeks have elapsed, and already the youthful portion of the community are impatiently awaiting the time when they can cram with literature to their heart's content, free of expense. The catalogue will probably be a pamphlet of about 50 pages, embracing 2500 volumes, and the selection of works for the library is considered to be a very judicious one.

TWENTY-SEVEN YEARS AGO.
Endeavor to be always patient of the faults and imperfections of others; for thou hast many faults and imperfections of thy own that require a reciprocation of forbearance.

THE ANNUAL CONCERT and ball of Division 9, A. O. H., announced for Wednesday evening, Nov. 23, promises to be the most successful affair ever held by the society.

THE INCREASE in the vote over that of last year is probably due to the change from the old method to precinct voting. This change is generally favorably commented upon, and the citizens of Weymouth would undoubtedly raise an emphatic no if a return to the old system should be advocated.

THE ANNUAL MEETING of the American Band was held Tuesday evening and the following officers were elected: Conductor, J. M. Whitcomb; leader, M. S. Orcutt; clerk and treasurer, G. R. Bowker; librarian, C. Elmer Hollis. The financial report was very gratifying and the business prospects of the band for the coming year are unusually good.

ARBITRATORS, consisting of Henry A. Noyes of Abington, Joseph Totman of Weymouth, and DeWitt C. Bates of Hingham, met recently in Holbrook, to decide on the case of Fred Gardner's claim for damage, on account of change of grade of street in front of his residence on Union street. After viewing the premises and hearing the evidence, they awarded him $453.33.

TWENTY-FOUR YEARS AGO.
A well known shoe manufacturer of North Weymouth is reported to have said that he has not seen the shoe business look so favorably for five or six years as it does now.

THE DEMOCRATIC CELEBRATION and Love Feast at East Weymouth, Wednesday night in honor of their recent victory at the polls, was quite the event of the campaign.

THE FORMAL OPENING of the People's Institute and Gymnasium will take place in the lecture room of Union church next Wednesday evening. This room is selected on account of the limited accommodations of the Institute rooms.

RT. HON. J. FOSTER GRAY, who for so many years has furnished the power for turning out the Gazettes, stood last week and saw the papers run off by steam for the first time; and as the last sheet went through in good time and shape, his colloquy was, "That beats hand work."

THE CONTRACT for building the M. E. church at East Braintree has been awarded to Hayward Brothers, and ground has been broken for its erection. The building will consist of two rooms; the main audience room will be 28 by 38 feet, the lecture room 12 by 24 feet connected by folding doors. The windows will be cathedral glass. It will be a very pretty edifice and one that the citizens may well be proud of.

A DESERTED BRIDE

By DONALD CHAMBERLIN

Edward Warbeck went to Rome to see the Coliseum, the palace of the Caesars, the column of Trajan, the Arch of Titus. He saw all these antiquities and many more, but they were of small importance compared with something else he saw, not an antiquity by any means; on the contrary, very young and tender. It was an Italian girl with a pair of black eyes, a long, thick rope of hair hanging down her back and a figure that rivaled the famous Venus di' Medici's in Florence.

Lita Caracola spoke and understood just enough of English to enable Warbeck to make love to her, which she is not saying much, for there may be more love expressed in one look than in a thousand words. Signorina Lita Caracola's father was poor in funds, but rich in blood, for he claimed descent from Marcus Tullius Cicero, who shook Rome with his eloquence. Caracola's principal business was sitting on the Piazza Colonna at a sidewalk cafe drinking liters of Italian wine.

Warbeck was obliged to settle 50,000 lire ($10,000) upon Signorina Caracola before being permitted to marry her, which she divided with her father that he might continue to drink wine on the Piazza Colonna. The rest she kept for an emergency. Warbeck was a stranger to her, and she was taking a matrimonial leap in the dark. Besides this, she was to sail with her husband for a distant country, which was as remote and uncertain to her as it had been four centuries before to Christopher Columbus on setting out on his voyage of discovery.

There was a gay wedding in a side street on the Esquiline hill, where Signor Caracola lived, after which a party of the bride's friends accompanied her to the railway station, where she and her husband took a train for Naples, and the next evening a ship sailed over the beautiful bay of the same name, like a white bird, bearing the happy couple, happy in their love, though little Lita wept at leaving her beloved Italy.

In three days the ship stopped at Gibraltar. The bride was laid up with a headache and kept her stateroom, while the groom went ashore to visit the famous rock. Falling in with a British army officer whom he had met before, he was introduced at the club, lunched, drank several bottles of champagne and fell asleep on a lounge.

The steamer passed out to sea through the strait, and Signora Warbeck was surprised that her husband did not come to their stateroom to see her. Finally she called the room steward and asked him to find Mr. Warbeck and tell him his wife would like to see him. The steward hunted the ship through, but did not find the gentleman. After a diligent search it became evident that he was not aboard.

Signora Warbeck's worst fears that she had entertained before her marriage were realized. An American had married her and deserted her at the first stop made by the ship. She kept her room for the rest of the voyage, holding tight her share of the money that had been settled on her that she might return to Rome the moment she reached New York. After inquiry she learned that a steamer sailed for Italy the day she would arrive in America, and by wireless telegraph she engaged passage for Naples.

When Mr. Warbeck awoke in the Officers' club at Gibraltar and through a window saw the moon peacefully shining down on him he was seized with horror, for he knew that the steamer bearing his bride was well out at sea. No steamer for New York was due for three days, but when it came he boarded it. After passing ten worrying days he reached port, but not his bride. Why should he? Thinking that he had deserted her, she took no pains to discover his American connections. She simply sailed for Italy the same day she arrived in New York. Warbeck was in agony. To have his beloved bride landed without a protector on a shore foreign to her and no means of tracing her was excruciating. The only comfort he had was the $5,000 she had with her. He cabled to her father to report the misfortune and ask if Lita had communicated with him. Lita had done nothing of the kind.

In a month after her departure the bride turned up in Rome. The matter of her husband's apparent desertion having been explained to Signor Caracola, he sent his daughter back on a steamer sailing the next day, cabling Warbeck of her departure. When the cablegram reached the groom's office he was sailing along the Long Island coast bound for Italy. Thinking his wife might have returned to her home, he had searched the passenger lists of outgoing steamers and found her name.

Signor Caracola's cablegram was repeated by wireless to Warbeck, who sent a wireless message to Gibraltar to stop his wife there. On his arrival he found her, and great was the happiness of this reunited bridal couple. They took the next steamer for America, both having crossed and recrossed the Atlantic since they had been at Gibraltar before.

At Madeira Warbeck proposed to go ashore.

"No, no," said his wife: "I do not wish for you to desert me another time."

The young husband gave a sickly smile. Since then she has never permitted him to leave a train when they travel together.

FRIDAY, NOV. 13, 1914

Can we make any improvement on the present form of town government seems to be one of the vital questions of the hour. The old Town meeting system with its attendant multiplicity of town departments seems to be hardly adapted to modern conditions which have grown up with the larger towns with constantly changing populations. Many of these towns have passed on and adopted city rules regulations and customs but in nearly every instance has resulted in larger expenditures and higher taxes.

The new movement which has been adopted by a few cities and towns creates a material reduction in city and town costs, wipes out departments and commission and places the affairs in the hands of a so called business manager with large powers.

These questions are now up to the people of Weymouth and should be studied carefully by every thinking man.

No doubt there is a chance to get better results in many of our affairs but our motto should be go slow until we hear from the committee on revised by-laws and also the new Planning Board.

TUFTS LECTURE COURSE.

First Concert Last Saturday Night Attracts Large Audience.

A large number of townspeople availed themselves of the opportunity to listen to a fine concert free of all charge, given in the High School Building auditorium East Weymouth last Saturday night. The concert was the first of the Tufts Course of free lectures and it was highly enjoyed by all who attended.

An orchestra of ten pieces under the leadership of William Howard of Boston gave the concert, assisted by J. W. Calderwood, supervisor of music in our public schools who gave interesting explanations of the make-up and value of the several pieces in the modern orchestra.

King Cove B. C. Auxiliary Notes.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the King Cove Boat club met in the club headquarters at North Weymouth last Wednesday and held an all day sewing meeting.

Gentlemen's night of the auxiliary this year turned out to be one of the most successful gatherings ever held by the organization. The affair was held in the club headquarters and nearly a hundred members and their gentlemen friends were present.

At 6.30 o'clock the members and invited guests sat down to a delicious banquet.

At 8 o'clock, after all had appeared the "inner man," Halloween games were indulged in, with the following winning prizes in the laugh producing events:

Fish game, won by F. Miller, J. F. Loud second; apple bobbing contest, won by Irving Morgan, Charles Pratt second; the swinging apples were captured by J. Wolfe and Lester Culley; Edward Parker captured the mystery package, after which various mysterious articles were sold from the witch pan by ancient damsels.

A kitchen orchestra entertained with various selections. At a late hour John W. Wolfe, president of the King Cove Boat club, arose and called for three rousing cheers and a vote of thanks from the gentlemen present. For the ladies' auxiliary who had so royally entertained them.

The singing of "Auld Lang Syne" concluded the evening's program.

ENTHUSIASTIC MASS MEETING.

Norwood Men Talk on Town Manager System and Charter at Meeting of Citizens' Association Wednesday Night.

The meeting of the Citizens' association of Weymouth and East Braintree, held in Pythian hall, Weymouth, on Wednesday evening, was one of the largest attended meetings in the history of the association. Besides a large number of association members, delegations were present from the Weymouth Board of Trade and the South Weymouth, North Weymouth, Lovells Corner, Pond Plain improvement societies.

The object of the meeting was to obtain an expression of opinion from the townspeople and of men of other towns, whether a change of government would benefit the town as a whole and show a saving of money in several departments. The "town manager" system was the one discussed at length.

President George Downing of the Citizens' association called the meeting to order and after stating the object of the gathering, introduced William P. Nickerson of Norwood, a man well versed in the idea of town manager and his duties. He spoke at length concerning the matter and kindly answered all questions at the close of his talk.

Mr. Downing next introduced James M. Folan, also of Norwood, who took up the point of the town charter. His talk was of unusual interest to all and his enthusiasm might well be copied by the citizens of this town in regard to town affairs. Mr. Folan answered all questions asked and at 10.30 the gathering adjourned, after extending a rising vote of thanks to Mr. Folan and Mr. Nickerson for their clear talks on the subject. The Citizens' association earnestly hopes the matter will be taken up at some future meeting of other societies in town and the matter thoroughly talked over.

Miss Ruth Blake of Newtonville spent a few days of this week with her sister, Miss Olive Blake of Curtis street.

The Ladies' circle of the Universalist church will hold its regular meeting in the church parlor next Wednesday afternoon, November 18th. Supper will be served in the vestry at 6 o'clock.

Miss Addie Hunt of North street is visiting in Laconia, N. H.

The regular monthly business meeting and social of the Young People's Christian Union will be held in the parlors of the Universalist church this (Friday) evening.

The Ladies' circle of the Universalist church held a very successful food sale in the vestry last Friday afternoon. Everything was sold and a good sum realized to go into the treasury of the circle.

In accordance with the plans of the Women's clubs in town, a special offering will be taken at the Pilgrim Congregational church next Sunday morning for the Belgian sufferers.

The Junior Brotherhood of the Pilgrim church will meet this (Friday) evening in the club rooms. John Melville of Quincy, the new director of the Brotherhood, will have charge of the meeting.

Rev. Charles Clark and Deacon Wilson E. Beane attended the New England Congregational Congress at Park street church, Boston, on Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

The Pilgrim Circle held its regular meeting on Wednesday afternoon of this week. Supper was served at 6.30 o'clock.

F. M. Robbins was in charge of the Thursday evening meeting at the Pilgrim church this week in the absence of the pastor.

Rev. Charles Clark and Deacon R. S. Gilmore as delegates from the Pilgrim church, attended the installation services of Rev. Edward T. Ford, D. D. at the Congregational church East Weymouth, last Tuesday evening.

Rev. and Mrs. Charles Clark, Miss Anna Alden, Miss Alice Nason, and Deacon R. S. Gilmore are attending the Annual State Convention of Sunday Schools being held at Worcester this week.

Last Wednesday evening, November 11th Squad 6 of the Pilgrim Circle conducted a very successful entertainment in the Pilgrim Congregational church. A stereopticon lecture entitled "Niagara to the Sea" was given by Mr. D. M. Howard. During the lecture at what was supposed to be the end of each day at such places as the tourists would stay over night if actually making the trip, the Acadia Trio sang and recitations were given by Miss Edna Knight. A good sum was realized which will go to swell the repair fund.

High School Notes.

The honor list at the school for the first two months this year includes the following students: freshman, Miss Evelyn Bergeron, Francis Sprague; sophomores, Napoleon Bergeron, Malcolm Canterbury, Wallace Whittle; juniors, Fred Abele, Miss Ruth Ford, Miss Mildred French, Miss Dorothy Halnan, Arthur White; seniors, Miss Olive Sylvester, R. W. Bates and Miss Avis Loud.

"The greatest exhibition of school spirit that I have seen for a long while" was the way one teacher characterized a meeting and discussion of some of the Senior boys, on Tuesday afternoon. What was the meeting? Its purpose? It was to put the dignity of the Senior class on a firm and sure basis, to revive the tone of the school, to bring back public speaking and other lost arts and create a distinctive school spirit. More will be heard from the movement.

A rumor is going the rounds at school that sweaters are to be given to all the members of the football team at the end of the season. The fellows deserve something after the grand playing they have been doing. They are yet to be defeated.

ANNUAL FAIR.

Ladies' Social Circle of M. E. Church East Weymouth Nets Large Sum for Treasury.

The Ladies' Social Circle of the M. E. church of East Weymouth held its annual two days' fair in the church vestry on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons and evenings of this week. The event opened on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock with excellent weather conditions, well stocked tables and a good audience in attendance on the first day. The sales tables and booths were in charge of the following chairmen:

Candy, Mrs. B. Frank Lane; cake, Mrs. Melzar Burrell; punch, Mrs. F. W. Preston; soap, Miss Olive Sylvester; harvest and flowers, Mrs. Charles Harrington; post card, Miss Georgia Cushing; domestic, Mrs. D. P. Tilden; fancy, Mrs. Chas. R. Denbroeder; dolls, Mrs. Frank Eldredge; ice cream, Mrs. Leonard Cain and supper, Mrs. William Wilder. The above ladies were ably assisted by a large number of assistants and all report large sums netted on all the tables.

The entertainment on Wednesday night was one of the best seen in East Weymouth for some time. The University Trio, consisting of bell ringers, harp and violin artists gave a very pleasing program of selections.

On Thursday night a drama "Tommy's Wife" was given by local talent. The parts were taken by C. Lewis French, Ralph Young, Mrs. Harry Mattson, Mrs. William Preston, Mrs. Charles Denbroeder, Miss Mary McIssacs, Mrs. Myron Ford and George Webber.

On each evening Hough's orchestra of three pieces entertained with selections. The affair goes on record as one of the most successful ever held.

Arrangements are being made for the annual fair of the Universalist Society to be held the first week in December. Entertainments for the three nights are in charge of Miss Annie Deane, Mrs. Percy Bicknell and Mrs. Elbert Ford.

The monthly supper of the Universalist church Social Circle was held last night in the church vestry. Mother Goose tableaux, enacted by the Kindergarten department, and songs by Mrs. Little, made up the evening's entertainment.

Mrs. Mary Carney of this place has been spending a few days with Miss Hannah Ryan of Holbrook.

An interesting service was held at the Pond Plain chapel last Sunday. B. J. Manuel gave the address.

A very interesting and well attended lecture, illustrated with many fine pictures on "Belgium, Holland and the Rhine" was given in the Universalist church by Rev. W. W. Rose, pastor of the church last Sunday evening. Preceding the lecture, Miss Mildred G. French played the National airs of the countries named.

Rev. D. H. Corley, a member of the senior class of Andrew Theological seminary supplied the pulpit of the Union Congregational church.

George Goodney and family have gone to Bridgewater to reside.

Citizen from Brockton, Abington and South Weymouth interested in the building of a street railway line from Brockton to this village, by the way of Abington and Pond Plain, have mapped out a very interesting seasons campaign for the winter. President A. H. Andrews after a careful study stated that it will cost $100,000 to construct the line.

At the educational council of the Congregational churches of South Weymouth, Brockton, North Abington, Whitman, Rockland and Bridgewater held last Monday afternoon in the First Congregational church in North Abington, Rev. Henry C. Alvord of this place was elected as moderator for the gathering.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Bayley returned last Tuesday from their wedding trip to New York, Philadelphia, Atlantic City and Washington D. C. Mr. Bayley's "sanctum" in N. E. William's store was tastily decorated with confetti etc. for Mr. Bayley's return.

The body of J. C. Howe, who died last Saturday in California is expected to arrive here to-day. Funeral service will probably be held Sunday.

Arrangements are being made for the annual sunset party at Fog's Opera house on Thanksgiving eve.

In the chapel of the Union Congregational church at South Weymouth on Wednesday night, the Ladies Social Union connected with the church provided a supper, held a social hour and presented an entertainment. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. J. Forrest Torrey, Mrs. Marshall P. Sprague, Mrs. J. F. Robinson, Mrs. Charles Sturtevant, Mrs. Frederick Howard, Miss Maria Nash, Miss Mahel Pierce and Mrs. Edward Griffin. The candle girls connected with the Second Universalist church enacted "Hiawatha" as a special entertainment.

The regular monthly meeting of the South Weymouth Improvement society was held in the Fog library building last Friday night. It was an open meeting and a general discussion was held on the effect of high taxes on the town.

Old South Church Notes.

Service of worship with preaching by the pastor at 10.30. C. E. Meeting at 6 o'clock subject, "Magnifying the Christian Endeavor Pledge". At 7 o'clock familiar lecture by the pastor on the epistle to the Galatians "The Authority of Paul's message".

Preparations are being made for an attractive Thanksgiving service the evening before Thanksgiving Day, with Rev. Dr. Edward T. Ford of East Weymouth the speaker of the evening.

Universalist Church Notes. Morning service at 10.30. Sabbath school at 11.45. Music by the vocal and choral choir under the direction of Miss Annie Deane. A cordial welcome awaits the visitor and stranger. The pastor will preach Sunday, topic "Can a Christian Remain Neutral?" This is not a sermon upon the War.

W. R. C. Notes.

Although visitors were present from Hingham, Norwell, Braintree, Cambridge and other places, at the meeting of the Reynolds W. R. C. 102 last Tuesday, to witness the inspection of the corps, it had to be put off owing to the absence of A. I. Mrs. Langdon.

At this meeting Mrs. Mary Holbrook P. D. P. was warmly welcomed after being absent several meetings on account of illness.

Mrs. Mabelle Redway, Chairman Executive Board of Dept. of New Jersey was received with due honors and welcomed. Corps No 102 will visit the Soldiers' home, Chelsea on November 18th. Philosophy and Religion. Philosophy says a writer, is a bully that talks very loud, when the danger is at a distance; but the moment she is hard pressed by the enemy, she is not to be found at her post, but leaves the brunt of the battle to be borne by her humbler but steadier comrade, religion.

The Pearl Scarfpin

It Proved a Dead Giveaway.

By WILLARD BLAKEMAN

Jack Herkimer was a very pleasant fellow. He was popular with both men and women. Flaxen haired, blue eyed, a boyish face on a massive figure, good natured, careless of everything except the feelings of others, he drew about him so many friends that he found it difficult to avoid distressing them from an inability to accept and return all the favors they lavished upon him.

One day Jack was sitting in a street car when a young lady got in. She sat for a few moments oblivious to the fact that persons are not expected to ride in street cars for nothing, then made a dive for her portmanteau, supposed to be contained in the bag she carried. There was a succession of dives, each more spasmodic than the last; then she arose and started to leave the car without stopping it.

Jack interposed. "Pardon me," he said, placing himself in front of her, lifting his hat and smiling benignly; "if you are without change for your fare I will pay it for you. There is no need to get off."

He held in his hand a quantity of large change and picked out a nickel from among the coins. The young lady, apparently reassured, refrained from her attempt to commit suicide for the want of 5 cents and sat down. But she was still too flustered to thank Jack for the loan. The conductor received the fare, passed on, and the young lady sat trying to regain her equilibrium. Presently a thought struck her all of a sudden. It was that it behooved her to make some arrangement for the payment of the debt. She was a young woman and had not the experience adequate to the occasion.

"How am I to—get it back to you?" she asked Jack.

"There's no need to get it back to me at all," he replied, with that winning smile of his. "But if you insist upon doing so"—He hesitated. He would have liked to add, "I'll call for it if you'll give me your address," but it occurred to him that if the young lady did not consider this taking an advantage of her youth there were doubtless members of her family who would, so he finished the sentence by giving his own address, at the same time begging her not to take the trouble to return so small an amount.

By this time the girl had so far recovered her composure as to say, "Thank you very much." She would have liked to return Jack's smile, for it was catching, but she was only sixteen years old and had been brought up to give no encouragement to a stranger.

Jack, who was feasting his eyes on her beauty, passed far beyond the point where he had intended to leave the car. When the girl arose to alight she was apparently in doubt whether or not it would be proper for her to nod an adieu to the handsome young fellow who had befriended her. She decided in the negative, and Jack, who was about to go out before her in order to hand her off the step, sat still. The episode was ended, but left a very pleasant sensation in the young man's breast.

That night when Jack went to sleep he was paying the girl's fare again and again and assuring her that a nickel was of no consequence and she must not think of returning it to him.

The next day Jack received an envelope addressed in a man's handwriting containing a bit of paper and postage stamps to the amount of 5 cents. On the paper within in the same hand as the address was the word "Thanks." Evidently the girl's father or brother had taken the matter off her hands. Jack felt sorry. He had hoped to receive from the young lady something that would have given him the semblance of an excuse to take another step toward an acquaintance. This return of his loan by one other than the creditor herself ended the matter. And in a week Jack, who had bouquets of smiles thrown at him from pretty girls, forgot all about it.

One day a little box, addressed in a feminine hand, came for Mr. Herkimer by post. Jack was the recipient of so many favors from young ladies that he naturally supposed it to be from some girl with whom he was "spoons." He did not recognize the handwriting, but quite often his favorers who wished to conceal their identity had addressed him through an amanuensis, and he thought nothing of it. Opening the box, he found nestling in cotton a scarfpin set with a single pearl.

Jack ran over all the girls to whom he had recently made love—that is, all he could remember—with a view to getting a clue as to the sender. He formed an opinion that she was one of "free," but he could not tell which one. He would await developments, being well aware that no woman was likely to so favor him without in due time getting credit for her gift. Whenever he met a suspect he would put out feelers with a view to testing her as to whether she had sent the scarfpin. But week after week passed and there was no clew. Jack wore his pearl ornament for several years, studying the face of every woman who fixed her eyes upon it, hoping for a betrayal, but found no one who gave any indication whatever that she had bestowed the favor.

One September day Jack, who had gone to Europe with the American summer begonia, was in a compartment of a railway carriage in Germany on his way to Hamburg when an elderly man handed a lady into the car, then got in himself. The girl was a beauty, and it seemed to Jack that he had seen her before. It was some time before the gentleman got his hand baggage stowed away in the racks and the lady had settled herself in her seat. Then she looked about among her fellow passengers. Jack from the time he had received the mysterious scarfpin had never worn any other. He saw the girl's eyes hovering upon him and finally light on the ornament. Immediately the blood left her cheeks, then rushed back a crimson flood.

There was no more doubt in Jack's mind that the young lady was the donor of the scarfpin than that she was present before him. But who was she? Certainly not one with whom he had been on intimate terms. He was quite young enough to remember faces, especially of those with whom he had an acquaintance. But no racking of his brain served to bring forth the identity of this lady who had sent him an anonymous gift. And yet something had passed between them, for he was sure he had seen her before.

The train was an express and connected. As soon as it was well under way the conductor came through for tickets, and the first person he approached in the compartment was the young lady in question, who referred him to the gentleman who accompanied her.

If it were not for suggestion our world would be a very dull one. Seeing the girl ask for her ticket brought back to Jack Herkimer a picture of her when, three years younger, she had started to leave a street car in America for lack of fare. The riddle was solved. She had rewarded him for what she doubtless considered a favor of importance, sending the reward anonymously.

Jack was a man of quick resource. What he would do flashed upon his brain with electric rapidity. He began to fumble in his pockets for his ticket—that is, in every pocket except where it was. The conductor stood before him, waiting. Jack continued the search until, pretending that the ticket was not forthcoming, he said to the conductor in the only language he knew, English:

"I've lost my pocketbook, with my money and my ticket as well."

Naturally, every eye in the compartment was turned to the unfortunate man, the girl's included. She was not the unsophisticated creature she had been when Jack had paid her fare, and it did not take long for her to become aware that he was enacting this scene on her account. To conceal a smile she turned her face to the window.

"You are an American, are you not, sir?" said the young lady's companion. "I am."

"If you will tell me what you require I will be happy to oblige you." "I need only my fare to Bremen, where I will take steamer for home." "In that case the matter is simple. I sail on the Crown Princess tomorrow morning."

"I go by the same steamer. I have the documents by which to obtain all I need from the purser."

The gentleman paid Jack's fare. Jack asked for his name and address and was given a card bearing the name of Farnsworth. Then the passengers, having lost all interest in the matter, settled down to their various ways of passing the time. There was one person who, not being deceived by this audacious imposture, continued to look through the window at the scenery as though she would not lose any of it for a fortune. At last she turned, but carefully abstained from meeting the gaze of the unfortunate man who had lost his valuables.

Americans abroad come at once to a friendly footing. Jack Herkimer was profuse in his thanks to Mr. Farnsworth and, taking a seat opposite him, talked about everything he could think of, expatiating especially on that confidence those born under the stars and stripes have in one another, and so ingratiated himself into the favor of the old gentleman that the latter at last said, "Permit me to introduce you to my daughter, Mr.—"

"Herkimer. I am John Herkimer of Troy, N. Y."

That was the trying moment of Miss Farnsworth's life. She felt a great impulse to fix her eyes on Jack's scarfpin, and Jack threw open his coat that she might get a good view of it. A half veiled, half amused smile played over her features like a stifled breeze among flowers. Jack gave no outward sign of ever having met her before, but there was a happy triumph within that was as plain to Miss Farnsworth as it was unobservable to the others present.

As soon as the steamer was reached Jack, after a pretended visit to the purser, paid his indebtedness and tipped the head steward to put him at table beside the Farnsworths. After such adventures with a young lady and a week's voyage ahead of them it would be absurd to suppose that the principal actors would cross the Atlantic ocean without a love affair. Indeed, the gift of the scarfpin made it plain to Jack that a conquest had been made long before, and he found love-making dead easy. Fortunately he had found a girl he wanted and, as he expressed it, "wanted her bad." An engagement occurred on the steamer, and the wedding followed in due course of time.

A TESTIMONIAL

WEYMOUTH, MASS., August 8, 1914

C. A. Peabody Co., 5 Main St., Brockton, Mass.

Dear Sirs:—In reply to your favor I want to say that the "Peabody" piano that was offered by Mr. George R. Kempf two years ago and won by me is more than satisfactory in every way. The tone is beautiful and seems to grow better as I use it. I would certainly recommend this piano to anybody who wants a first-class instrument.

Yours very truly,

ALICE G. CORRIGAN.

Black Men in the World.

Africa is the second largest continent in the world. There are perhaps 150,000,000 people, of whom, while 50,000,000 are Mohammedans, not over 1,000,000 are Christians. Every tenth man in the United States is a black man. Every seventh man in the world is a black man.

Famous Paris Shopping Street.

That wonderful street of shops in Paris, known as the Rue de Rivoli, was begun in 1802 and was named in honor of Napoleon's victory at Rivoli, in 1797, during the Italian campaign. The Farmer's Daughter

By JOHN Y. LARNED

I was peddling tinware on the Massachusetts coast, driving a pair of horses attached to a wagon on which I carried my merchandise. I stopped at a farmhouse at noon and exchanged some kitchen utensils for a dinner. The farmer's wife did the cooking, and his daughter waited on the table. Another stranger besides myself partook of the meal—a short thickset man with a bushy beard. We peddlers are usually gifted with a good deal of talk, which we find essential in selling our goods. I rattled on at the farmer, and he appearing to be taciturn, I let fly at the stranger, who sat opposite me, asking where he had come from, where he was going, what business he followed and other questions usually attributed to the curious New Englanders. But this idiosyncrasy was assumed, I having been born and bred in Maryland. The truth is I began by asking him which way he was going, thinking that if his direction and mine were the same I would give him a lift for company's sake. He seemed to be averse to telling me of his movements, and I noticed that his reluctance interested the farmer's daughter, who at the time was standing behind him. On her account I pursued my questions till the man abruptly arose and left the table. A few minutes after this, looking through a window, I saw him riding on horseback the same way I intended to go.

Having finished my dinner and turned over in payment to the farmer's wife a washboard and a dozen tin pie plates, I got into my wagon and drove on. About a half hour after starting I heard the sound of a horse's hoofs behind me and, looking back, saw the farmer's daughter coming. She was so intent on her own thoughts as she passed me that she was not conscious that I had dined at her home. Her gait being faster than mine, I joggling along behind a pair of horses drawing a heavy load, was soon left in her rear. As I drove on I was thinking about the man I had questioned and the girl's interest in his answers, or want of answers, and wondered if her coming had anything to do with him. The anxious look on her face both in the farmhouse and on the road caused me to think that he might be bent on something she wished he wouldn't do.

I saw nothing more of either of them during the afternoon. I stopped at several houses, plying my trade, and about dark, reaching a point where the road passed within a hundred feet of the ocean, I came upon a house in which I thought I would ask for lodging during the night. But, unfortunately, I found it closed. I was about to drive on when it occurred to me to see if I could effect an entrance to the barn. I pulled out a rusty staple, thereby opening the barn door, and driving my team in, unhitched the horses, fed them and went to the house.

I had no more difficulty in getting into the house than the barn. I was awakened in the middle of the night by a shot. I listened and heard another and another, the second and third seeming to come from directly above me. Then there was another from the outside. Next I heard the sound of a pair of heavy boots, followed by a pair of light ones, rapidly descending a staircase from the second floor and continuing down into the cellar. Soon after this the front door of the house was smashed in, and several men rushed into the room where I lay and flashed a bullseye on my face.

"By thunder!" exclaimed one of them. "If it isn't that confounded Yankee peddler!"

I recognized the voice of the man I had questioned so closely at dinner the previous day.

"Are you one of the gang?" he asked.

"What gang?"

He told me that smuggling had been going on at some point near where we were, and they had located it in the house where I had told him how I happened to be there, and he believed me. Then he explained to me that my questions had annoyed him because he wished to keep the object of his presence in the neighborhood a secret. Then it occurred to me that the farmer's daughter was interested in the smugglers, had suspected the man's errand and had ridden on to warn them. I hurriedly told him of my having heard footsteps going downstairs, and the party rushed to the cellar expecting to find her quarry.

We found a lot of goods, but no living person. Opening a door, we stood in a tunnel which we followed and came to a recess in the rocks on the shore. Hearing the sound of oars, we knew that the smugglers had escaped.

I said nothing of my suspicion of the farmer's daughter, since I had no wish to implicate her. The next time I went her way I stopped and told her that I was in the house when the revenue officers had attacked it. After I had won her confidence she told me that there was but one smuggler, her husband, and owing to my inquiries of the man she had served at dinner she suspected his errand and had ridden on to give him warning. She was with him at the time I entered the place and saw me come in. She had gone down the staircase and escaped with him. He had since abandoned smuggling and had gone west, where she was soon to join him.

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Amos C. Humphrey and Frederick Humphrey to the Standard Beef Company, a corporation, dated August 20, A. D. 1909, recorded with Norfolk deeds Book 1119, Page 161, and Plymouth Deeds Book 1030, Page 578, duly assigned by said Standard Beef Company, by an instrument in writing dated August 25, A. D. 1913, to William A. Lynde, George Hotchkiss and E. Hubbell Hotchkiss, recorded with Norfolk Deeds Vol. 1291, Page 45, and with Plymouth Deeds Book 1107, Page 512, said William A. Lynde, by an instrument in writing dated December 2, A. D. 1913, having assigned all his right, title and interest in and to said mortgage deed, real estate thereby conveyed and the note and claim, contained in George Hotchkiss and E. Hubbell Hotchkiss, which instrument is recorded with Norfolk Deeds Vol. 1293, Page 46, and with Plymouth Deeds Book 1107, Page 512-512, the said George Hotchkiss and E. Hubbell Hotchkiss having assigned the said mortgage deed and the note and claim, certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situated on Madison street at the junction of Broad street in that part of said Weymouth in the County of Norfolk known as East Weymouth and containing one quarter of an acre more or less being nearly triangular in shape and bounded and described as follows: viz, northeasterly by land now or late of Charles H. Mathewson there measuring one hundred and eighteen (118) feet; southeasterly by said Charles H. Mathewson there measuring one hundred and twenty-two (122) feet; westerly by land now or late of Augustus Bailey there measuring one hundred and ninety-one (191) feet to land now or formerly of said Charles H. Mathewson the point of beginning; subject to a mortgage to the Hingham Co-operative Bank dated December 29, 1908 to secure the payment of $3,000 payable $28.13 monthly also a certain other parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated on North street in the town of Hingham, County of Plymouth and said Commonwealth described as follows, southerly by said North street westerly by land formerly of Rufus W. Lincoln deceased, northerly by land formerly of Theodore Glover, easterly by land of David Cushing, then again northerly by land of said David Cushing, then again easterly by the heir's land of David Andrews, then again southerly, easterly, northerly and again easterly by land of said David Cushing, then again southerly by land formerly of Mary Dunn, now land of Charles Burke, then again easterly by land formerly of said Mary Dunn now land of said Charles to said North street the place of beginning, however otherwise the same may be bounded intending hereby to convey so much of the lands lying in Hingham as stand in the names of the grantors; the foregoing description of the last described parcel varying somewhat on account of conveyances made by the grantors from time to time, but being in the main as above described.

The latter parcel being now subject to a mortgage for the sum of $2,500 to the East Weymouth Savings Bank and a second mortgage to the New England Beef Company on which there is due about $500.

The premises will be sold subject to the taxes for the year 1914. $100 will be required of the buyer at the time and place of sale, balance within ten days thereafter, other terms at sale. Hingham and Weymouth, October 19, 1914.

CLARENCE C. PUFFER, Assignee, holder and owner of said mortgage.

OPEN HOUSE.

Ward 1 Firemen Celebrate Arrival of New Auto Combination.

The firemen of Ward 1 held open house at the Engine House, North Weymouth, last Tuesday night, the occasion being the celebration of the arrival of the auto truck for the village.

An oyster stew supper was served under the direction of T. Smith and Stanley Torrey.

District Engineer Philip Wolfe presided. Speeches were made by members of the Board of Selectmen, other Town officials and the Board of Fire Engineers. The auto truck was sent out during the evening in response to an alarm sent in to test the new truck's ability in getting out. The alarm was not expected by anyone except the engineers and the "boys" made fast time on the get-a-way.

Foolish to Skimp on Sleep.

It takes from seven to eight hours of sleep for adults to permit the system to scour out the clogging poisons. To skimp on necessary sleep is as bad for efficiency as it would be to allow grit to accumulate in the bearings of an engine—and for the same mechanical reason.

Fire in East Braintree.

A bold attempt was made early Sunday evening to burn the building on Allen street East Braintree owned by J. F. Sheppard & Sons and occupied by them for the storage of hay. Charles Torrey and his son Harold had just come up from down the river and saw a sheet of flame through a window of the storehouse. Mr. Torrey ran and pulled in an alarm from box 26 and with the aid of his son and Charles Daley succeeded in putting out the fire. The building is situated within a few feet of the large barn also owned by J. F. Sheppard & Sons and in which were 25 horses and a hundred tons of hay and the quick discovery of the fire was all that prevented a serious fire. District chief Frank O. Whitmarsh made an investigation and found that a quantity of kerosene had been sprinkled over the hay. A pane of glass broken out of one of the windows and a rag saturated with kerosene thrown in to the building. This is the third incendiary fire in East Braintree within a few weeks. A short time ago the blacksmith shop of W. J. Jordan was burned and a shed belonging to the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R. also two attempts were made in one night to burn the old building on Quincy avenue formerly occupied as a waiting room. Fortunately an early discovery prevented a serious fire in each instance. The local and state police are at work on the case and it is said they have a strong clue to the one who is setting the fires.

HELPFUL WORDS.

From A Weymouth Citizen.

Is your back lame and painful? Does it ache especially after exertion? Is there a soreness in the kidney region? These symptoms suggest weak kidneys. If so there is danger in delay. Weak kidneys get fast weaker. Give your trouble prompt attention. Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys. Your neighbors use and recommend them. Read this Weymouth testimony. Mrs. J. P. Burns, 12 Granite street, Weymouth, says: "My back and head ached and my kidneys were weak. I also had dizzy spells. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they soon made me strong and well. I never tire praising Doan's Kidney Pills in return for the good results they brought me. I cheerfully confirm my former endorsement." Mrs. Burns is only one of many Weymouth people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Burns had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50 cents, all stores. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. "When Your Back is Lame—Remember the Name."

For Painful Burns.

A paste of common baking soda and water spread on a burn will stop the pain and inflammation almost immediately.

Really Not Her Fault.

Little Jane is implish, lovable and very ingenious in the matter of excuses for her frequent wrongdoing. Reproached, the other evening, for an ill-spent day, she waxed gently defiant. "Yes, I know I've been naughty, but really, I couldn't help it. I specially asked God to make me good today, but he didn't choose to do it."

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, ss. PROBATE COURT. TO all other persons interested in the estate of DAVID W. BATES late of Weymouth, in said County, deceased: Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Harry L. Bates of Quincy in said County without giving a surety on his bond. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, on the ninth day of December, A. D. 1914, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Weymouth Gazette, a newspaper published in said Weymouth, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court. Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eleventh day of November, A. D. 1914. J. R. McCOOLE, Register.

All the parts showed careful rehearsing and the audience was in an uproar from start to finish. Music was furnished during the evening by Mrs. G. E. Ellsworth, piano; Samuel M. Ellsworth, violin; and A. A. Ellsworth, violin and cello.

A candy sale was held during the evening. The presentation of the comedy was under the personal direction of Mrs. G. C. Danforth.

HARVEST BAZAAR.

Ladies' Aid Society of Old South Church, South Weymouth Holds Two Days' Sale and Provides Entertainments.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Old South church of South Weymouth, a harvest festival was held in the church vestry on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon and evenings of this week. Large crowds were in attendance on both days. The affair was directly in charge of Mrs. David N. Crawford and Mrs. Richie T. Howe.

Situated about the hall was various well stocked sales tables presided over by the following ladies of the society: Fancy, Mrs. H. C. Alvord, Mrs. E. S. Barrett, Miss Lina Loud, Miss Nannie Torrey and Mrs. J. W. Kohler; cake, Miss Anna Cady, Mrs. Elmer Millett and Miss Stella Fearing; ice cream, Miss Emily Loud and Miss Janie Loud; domestic, Miss Fannie Paine, Mrs. A. S. Marsh, Mrs. George Hiatt, Mrs. Frank Tribou, Mrs. L. W. Callahan; candy, Mrs. A. B. Tirrell, Mrs. Wendell Joy, Mrs. Ernest Thayer, Mrs. George L. Barnes, Mrs. Merton Loud and Miss Lillian Blanchard; vegetable, Mrs. G. C. Torrey, Mrs. C. W. Fearing, Mrs. A. O. Crawford, Mrs. M. R. Loud and Mrs. H. L. Freeman; children's, Mrs. C. A. Torrey, Mrs. Harry Alvord, Mrs. Lester Gardner, Miss Mattie Sampson, Miss Elsie Munroe and Miss Emily Sampson; bread, Mrs. Susie Loud, Miss Ruth Shurtleff and Miss Mary Barrict.

Tuesday afternoon a baby party was held with 29 children under 4 years of age holding a reception from 3:30 to 5 o'clock. Twenty boys and nine girls made up the "receiving" party and each received a souvenir. Music for the party was provided by Miss Nannie Torrey.

The Tuesday evening's entertainment was in charge of the Y. P. S. C. E. of the church. It consisted of music, readings and impersonations by Mattie Sampson, C. W. Fearing, Emily Sampson, Stella Fearing, F. E. Loud Jr., Allen Fearing, Ethel Marsh, Marion Loud, Flora Bienes, Inez Allen, Etta Bienes, Molly Fitts, Esther Graham, Ralph Morrison, Leon Marsh, Florence Monroe, Julia Kohler, Ruth Monroe, Alida Monroe, Marjorie Monroe and Mrs. Harry B. Alvord.

On Wednesday evening the drama "Getting an Education" was presented by home talent.

SUNDAY NIGHT FORUM.

Community Service Concert and Lectures.

The audience which assembled at the Baptist church Sunday night to listen to Stanton H. King had an evening of rare enjoyment, as Mr. King is in a class by himself as an entertainer, full of anecdotes of sailor life and also zeal for the Sailors' uplift.

Seating and standing room was at a premium Wednesday evening as everybody was anxious to listen to the Sextet Club in its fine program of vocal and instrumental music and all expressed pleasure at the close as the several artists sustained their well earned reputation.

GOOD FELLOWSHIP CLUB.

Season of 1914 and 1915 Opened on Wednesday Evening.

The first meeting of the season of 1914 and 1915 of the Good Fellowship club of the Congregational church of East Weymouth was held in the church parlors on Wednesday evening.

George M. Hoyt, president of the club, was master of ceremonies. At 6:30 after Grace had been asked by Rev. Edward Torrey Ford, D. D., the gathering sat down to one of A. L. Russo's roast beef banquets.

Mr. Russo, assisted by W. C. Earle, Ralph Bates, Arthur Corthell, James French, Elmer Salisbury and Charles Dunbar, served roast beef, mashed potatoe, peas, cabbage salad, ice cream, rolls and coffee, and the supper was voted one of the finest ever tasted.

At the close of the banquet Mr. Hoyt welcomed the new members into the organization and then introduced as the speaker of the evening, Mr. John B. Hebbard of Newton, Deputy Prison Commissioner of Massachusetts.

Mr. Hebbard spoke at length on "The Parole System and Prison Management of Massachusetts." He took up the questions of "Why have we sent men to prison in the past?" and "Why do we send men to prison now?" He discussed the "life termers" and of the ones who have been "sent up" for short terms and are now serving their 200th or 50th sentence, etc.

Next Mr. Hebbard spoke on the treatment accorded the prisoners in the different institutions, of the religious side, of the financial side involved in keeping the unfortunates. He said the question of vital importance to improving the conditions in our penal institutions were as follows: how to dress the prisoners, how to house them, how to feed them, how to work them and what to do in regard to religion. Each of these questions the speaker gave very clear information on and at the close of his remarks kindly answered several questions asked by the interested listeners.

Mr. Hebbard brought with him many pictures of the types of our inmates in our penal institutions. These pictures were very interesting indeed. At the end of the address a vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Hebbard for his address. The club decided to postpone the meeting of December, on account of the annual fair and other affairs in connection with December and Christmas, therefore the next meeting will take place in January, when it is hoped to give an illustrated lecture on a subject of much interest.

Bowling at East Weymouth Alleys.

The first rolloff of the season at the East Weymouth bowling alleys on Commercial street, was held last Monday evening. The employees of the car barns at East Weymouth succeeded in walking away with the honors, defeating the East Weymouth post office clerks in every string. Gill of the Carmen's team was high man in both single and three-string total. There was a large gathering of rooters on hand to cheer their favorite bowlers.

There is to be a big Turkey roll off Wednesday evening, the six men with highest honors for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, will roll for the birds, of which there are two. A lively time is anticipated and there is much friendly rivalry.

Sale and Entertainment.

The members of the Ladies' Aid society of the East Braintree Methodist church held a sale and entertainment in the church vestry on Wednesday evening. A sale of fancy and domestic articles, ice cream and candy was held by members of the society.

The entertainment consisted of the drama "Packing the Missionary Barrel" with the following taking part: Miss Gertrude Torrey, Miss Evelyn Smithers, Miss Agnes Marr, Miss Mattie Deland, Mrs. Clagston, Mrs. Margaret Johnson, Miss Mary Storm, Miss Myrtle Howe, Mrs. Marion Rideout and Miss Clara Klay. A program of vocal and instrumental music was also enjoyed.

Daily Thought.

True happiness consists not in the multitude of friends, but in their worth and choice.—Ben Jonson.

OUR VOTING SYSTEM.

Is It The Best There Is And How Did We Get There.

We are often asked questions as to the origin of our present system of nominating and electing our town officers: In answer to the inquiry we will not go back the nearly three centuries of the Town existence but use our own memory and our more than valuable file of the Gazette, the latter covering a period of nearly half a century and our memory extending much farther back.

We begin with the time when every faction, and in fact, every individual if he chose, made up his own ticket and they, in various colors and sizes, were distributed at the town meeting.

The polls were opened and men proceeded to vote with no check list and in many instances no restraint. We have heard it said that some men voted two or three times.

The writer is not sure of that, but this he knows, that he was once on the committee for assorting and counting of votes and we found them cast in bunches of two, three or five and at the end had many more votes than there were people in the hall and the entire process gone over again. In those days the election and town business was done in the same day, provided the day was long enough, which was not always the case and then of course there was an adjourned meeting.

In process of time the town was divided into wards when a new system was inaugurated. There were no party caucuses held but each Ward held a people's or citizens' caucus and made nominations for so-called local officers and suggestions for Town officers such as clerk, treasurer, etc. Following these Ward caucuses a general caucus was held at the Town Hall and a ticket made up from the action of the several wards. This process continued until 1893 when the following selectmen were elected: Henry A. Nash, Hiram E. Raymond, John F. Dwyer, Leonard V. Tirrell and J. Clarence Howe, which was a democratic "land slide" and it goes without saying that there was music in the air.

Now we come to the present system. Following the land slide the Town adopted the Australian ballot system and precinct voting with the election on the Monday following the first Tuesday and the Town Meeting for business the Monday following it as at present.

For this first election under the new order of things the Republicans held primaries in all of the Wards and then a general caucus for the purpose of completing the list, at the same time a citizens' caucus was held for a similar purpose and since then each year, there have been other than Republican caucus but not always with the same label on them. All the while however both and all parties have stuck to John A. Raymond as town clerk and John H. Stetson as treasurer.

The first board of Selectmen under the present system was Henry A. Nash, Jacob F. Dizer, Charles E. Bicknell, Bradford Hawes and Gordon Willis.

Monday Club.

The regular meeting was held Monday afternoon, November 16, at Odd Fellows' Hall, with Mrs. Edwin R. Sampson in the chair.

A circular was read, sent out by the Consumers League reminding us that the grocers' rush season comes not only at the holidays but also every Saturday in the year, and asking us to help him by sending in our orders as early as possible to be delivered at his convenience.

It was decided not to take up sewing for the Red Cross Society as most of the ladies are affiliated with some body already doing that work.

The new "Constitution and By-Laws" as reported by Mrs. Voorhees for the committee, were adopted. Mrs. Leonard had a very interesting paper on current events. She began by saying that she considered current events as the every day expression of our lives. She divided her subject into four parts—Twilight Sleep, Montessori Method, Ether and War.

Mrs. Percy Ames, accompanied by Mrs. Merrill, gave a violin solo which was very finely rendered.

Mrs. Thompson of the Arts and Crafts committee had charge of the afternoon entertainment which was a talk on "Old China" by Mrs. Grace A. Chase. Members of the club furnished a beautiful collection of rare old china, many of the pieces heirlooms, to illustrate the talks. Mrs. Lorraine spoke a few words on "Bennington" china.

A social with Mrs. William A. Wheaton as hostess, closed the afternoon.

At the board meeting it was voted to invite the teachers to the meetings to be held December 7 and 21. One new member was added to the club.

HOME OF ALBERT P. WORTHEN, WEYMOUTH.

Mr. Worthen, whose home on Front street we present this week, is not a native of Weymouth but most people who are under thirty years of age and many others think he must be, because of his deep interest in the affairs of his adopted town. While something of a politician and worker in his party which honored him with election to the State Legislature, he is broader, higher and deeper than politics when town matters are considered. At present he is active on the committee revising the town by-laws, chairman of the new Planning Board and, as Town Council, is of incalculable value to all the departments. Our next will be an East Weymouth home and one of historic fame.

ORPHANS' HOPE LODGE A. F. & A. M.

Transact Routine Business, Hear and Act on Reports, Elect and Install Officers.

The annual meeting of Orphans' Hope Lodge A. F. & A. M. was held in Masonic building, Wednesday night with a somewhat protracted session.

Lodge was opened at 7 o'clock and following ordinary routine monthly business was the annual meeting. Reports of secretary, treasurer, trustees and auditors were read and accepted and then the election of officers followed with these results: Wor. Mas., Geo. F. Farrer; Sen. War., Stanley T. Torrey; Jun. War., Charles H. Chubbuck, Jr.; Treas., Frank H. Torrey; Sec., T. J. Evans; Chaplain, M. E. Hawes; Marshal, Leavitt W. Bates; Sen. Dea., Henry P. Tilden; Jun. Dea., J. Lawrence Bicknell; Sen. Steward, Everett T. Gardner; Jun. Steward, Lawrence A. Drew; Organist, B. W. Maxim; L. S., W. Lincoln Pratt; Tyler, Leon M. Brooks; Trustee for three years, Henry P. Tilden; Associate Member Board of Masonic Relief, Gardner R. P. Barker; Representative of the Lodge in South Shore Masonic Association, Sherman P. Troy; Proxy to M. W. Grand Lodge, Charles W. Cunbar.

These officers were installed by Wor. Bro. Frederick L. Putnam, Grand Lecturer assisted by Wor. Bro. Alvin S. Pease as Grand Marshal.

The installing ceremony was one of especial interest to the fraternity and everyone inspired with new zeal by the eloquent address of Mr. Putnam at the close of the installation.

WEYMOUTH 27, ABINGTON 0.

Local Boys Outplay Coach Morse's Charges.

The Weymouth High School football eleven easily defeated Coach Morse's Abington team on the C. M. A. field East Weymouth last Friday afternoon and incidentally won their eighth consecutive victory. The team has yet to be beaten this year and has been tied but once, Hingham holding the locals to a 0 to 0 tie at Hingham a few weeks ago in the mud and rain.

Last Friday's game was devoid of feature plays, as Abington never had a chance with the locals. To-day the local eleven will face the hardest team on its schedule, Milton High at Milton, but the local aggregation is confident of returning home a winner.

Score: Weymouth High 27; Abington High 0. Touchdowns, Rand 2, Deane, Condrick. Goals from touchdowns, Talbot 3. Umpire, Cassesse. Referee, Robinson. Linesmen, Nugent, Smith and Knowles. Four 10m. periods.

CLAPP MEMORIAL WINS TOURNAMENT.

Beverly Y. M. C. A. Succumbs To East Weymouth Team's Agility and Skill.

In the first wrestling tournament of the season, the Clapp Memorial Association wrestling squad defeated the Beverly Y. M. C. A. aggregation in the C. M. A. gymnasium last Friday night before a large crowd.

A special bout for the 158 pound wrestling championship of the Clapp Memorial association was won by Haigas Siroon from Price in 15 minutes by decision. The other classes resulted as follows: 125-Pound class—Atkins of Beverly beat M. Zeoli of Clapp Memorial in 5 m. 2s. by a fall.

130-Pound class—F. Zeoli of Clapp Memorial beat Nick Georges of Beverly in 12m on a decision.

135-Pound class—Ovajlan of Clapp Memorial beat Fielding of Beverly in 2m. 24 s. by a fall.

145-Pound class—Churchill of Beverly beat Alamlan of Clapp Memorial in 12 m. on a decision.

Heavyweight class—Warren of Clapp Memorial beat Ozsol of Beverly in 12 m on a decision.

OLD COLONY CLUB DRAMA.

"Mrs. Bumpstead Leigh" Presented By Club Members in Fogg's Opera House South Weymouth Yesterday Afternoon.

An event of considerable interest to the ladies of the town each year is the annual dramatic presentation by the Old Colony Ladies club of South Weymouth.

The annual event this year, occurred yesterday afternoon in Fogg's Opera House, and before the curtain went up, nearly every seat in the spacious auditorium and in the balcony was taken by club members or their friends.

The club selected as this year's presentation, the drama by Henry James Smith, entitled "Mrs. Bumpstead Leigh."

The cast of characters in this popular drama was as follows:

Justin Rawson	Mrs. G. W. Conant
Miss Rawson	Mrs. Walter R. Fields
Geoffrey Rawson	Mrs. George Eck
Anthony Rawson	Miss Ruth Tower
Stephan Leavitt	Mrs. Fletcher Howe
Mrs. Stephen Leavitt	Mrs. W. Barnard
Peter Swallow	Mrs. William Wagner
Kitson	Mrs. Frederic G. Bauer
Mrs. DeSalle	Miss Annie Deane
Mrs. Bumpstead Leigh	Miss Marion Tirrell
Violet DeSalle	Mrs. Carl Gridley
Lina	Miss Hester Swan

All the parts were very well enacted and the play was voted by all to be one of the finest in the history of the club. Miss Marion Tirrell was chairman of the play committee.

During the afternoon a candy sale was held in charge of Mrs. Raymond Proctor.

Daily Thought.

We may build more splendid habitations, fill our rooms with paintings and sculptures, but we cannot buy with gold the old associations.—Longfellow.

G. A. R. VETERAN PASSES AWAY.

Charles J. Morrill Dies at age of 75 years. Served in Co. H. 35th Regt. M. V. M.

Charles G. Morrill, age 75, died at his home 34 Tower avenue, South Weymouth last Friday morning. He was a veteran of the civil war, having served in Co. H. 35th Regiment M. V. M. He was a member of Post 58 G. A. R. joining the Post on October 20, 1868.

Funeral services were held at his late home Sunday afternoon. Rev. Harry W. Kimball, a former pastor of the Union Congregational church of South Weymouth conducted the services.

Chester Miller of Brockton sang. Reynolds Post 58 G. A. R. attended and the Grand Army service was conducted by Waldo Turner, P. C.; and J. L. Spear, chaplain. Interment was in Mt. Hope cemetery, where three volleys were fired over the grave by the color guard of the G. A. R. and taps were sounded by Miss Theodoro Keith, bugler of Post 58. The bearers were A. B. Vining, A. H. Wright, Waldo Turner and Franklin Derby.

J. C. HOWE AT REST.

Ex-Selectman And Highly Respected Citizen Passed Away On November 7, in California.

Funeral services of ex-selectman J. C. Howe, who passed away a week ago last Saturday in California, was held last Sunday at his home 634 Main street South Weymouth.

Rev. W. W. Rose, pastor of the Second Universalist church officiated. Interment was in the Highland cemetery.

A. B. Raymond, R. W. Hunt, E. J. Pitcher, F. W. Thomas, Henry Kohler and W. D. Birnie were pallbearers. Willey Lodge I. O. O. F. of South Weymouth, of which Mr. Howe was a member, attended and the Odd Fellows service was read at the grave by Noble Grand R. E. Sherman and Rev. W. W. Rose chaplain of the lodge.

Town Business.

At the meeting of the Selectmen on Monday it was voted that no more tickets would be issued for the Tufts Lecture Course. The entertainments are absolutely free to all comers.

There will be a hearing by the Board at the town offices on Monday, the 30th, on a petition to straighten out the dangerous curve on Pleasant street, near the property of Steven French.

Selectman Hanley was appointed as a committee to make grade and sidewalk improvement at the police station in Ward 2 and $50 was voted for that purpose.

Sophia M. Orcutt was granted a gasolene license.

Mrs. Louise M. Polly was granted a permit to hold dancing parties in Music hall, South Weymouth, until May next.

The second piece of fire apparatus in the additions being made to our fire service, will be that for East Weymouth which will be shipped from Springfield on Monday, and present indications are that it will be formally received and installed on Saturday, the 28th. Harold A. Hawes has been secured as the permanent man and has moved with his wife and daughter from Lovell's Corner to a cottage within a stone's throw of the engine house.

High School Notes.

The results of the efforts of the members of the Domestic Science class are going to be put on sale in the near future. Then it will probably be hard for the students to obey the saying, "Judge not that ye be not judged."

The movement to give sweaters to the football team went up in smoke at a meeting of the Athletic association the other day. A banquet instead of sweaters was offered the team.

The second meeting of the newly organized Literary society was held Thursday. A constitution was adopted and the following officers elected:—President, Talbot, '15; vice president, Dizer, '15; secretary, Martin, '15, and treasurer, Rea, '15.

The pictures of the football squad and team were taken on Friday, no serious effects to the camera, resulting.

Richardson, the Tufts Varsity center, came out and coached the football team Tuesday. Coach Whittemore is determined to have the squad in the best possible shape for the Milton game today.

They Don't Know.

Men talk about what they would do if they had $1,000,000, but nine out of ten lie about it. If they had $1,000,000 the first thing they would do would be to lay plans and concoct schemes for getting two.—Toledo Blade.

ON THE FARM

Read this column and you can have it delivered at your house with something new every week for a full year by sending $2.00 to this office now.

Provide a dry and comfortable shelter for calves.

Charred corn on cobs is a good way to feed charcoal to fowls, and nothings is better for bowel trouble.

Breeding in will ruin the best flock ever seen. Get new blood, and have it good blood, too, every year.

If the most prolific hens are retained and the worthless ones marketed a great improvement will soon result.

Hens may be fed a much larger ration than they need, for they will eat as long as they can swallow—their craws not seeming to have any feeling of repletion.

The best breed of poultry is the one you like the best, because you will take the greatest interest in it and care for it accordingly.

The farmer who sends his corn to market in the shape of fat oxen, sheep and pigs, is always sure of getting paid for his crop. The manure pays for the cost of feeding. The man who sells his grain direct enriches another man's farm at the expense of his own.

Do not expect too much from the breeder you buy eggs from; eggs may be fertile, but from some unknown cause they fail to hatch. Very often the cause is due to the low vitality of the hen—often the result of irregular temperature if artificially incubated.

Any one of the hundred reasons may be back of the failure of the hens to lay when they should and as they should. Take the one reason of old age, for instance. A lot of us manage our birds in such a hap-hazard way that we are never very sure of just how old all our hens are.

Pumpkins and squashes should be stored with their stems on. They differ from most fruits and vegetables in that they keep best in a rather warm place. The temperature should be at least 50 degrees. The ordinary cellar will do if it is fairly dry. Only those pumpkins should be stored which are well ripened and in no way bruised.

Sows and boars from their earliest days should run out as much as possible and have abundant exercise enforced in winter. They will take it if they have to root for whole oats sprinkled on a big floor and well covered with litter. Instead of stuffing them upon corn they should have roots and alfalfa hay and in addition may have slop, of which digester tankage may well form ten per cent.

It is sometimes an advantage to plow the ground and spread the manure in the fall, but the kind of land and circumstances of local nature must be considered. If the manure is thoroughly worked into the soil with the harrow there will be little risk of loss of the soluble matter. Manure, as a rule, is mostly solid material, and the frosts and moisture will assist in disintegrating it. There will also be a saving of time in spreading the manure, as less work will be required during the busy season.

The introduction of the Pekin duck, together with rapid strides in artificial hatching, has made duck raising a profitable industry. Ducks are very hardy, entirely free from vermin, and liable to few diseases. They take to confinement much better than fowls, and a cheap (very low) fence is sufficient to keep them in the desired place. They stand transportation better, either alive or dressed, than most kind of fowls. They are great egg producers, and their feathers are of considerable value.

The Dexter is a breed of little cattle; a full-grown cow is only 3 feet in height and can thrive in a fair sized back yard and give twenty quarts of rich milk a day.

An American herd book classification has been granted to the Dexters, which are declared by prominent livestock breeders in this country to possess a number of particularly valuable points. The cattle, it is stated, will wax fat and yield large quantities of fine milk on pastures where other cattle would starve to death. Furthermore, it is said, the Dexters possess extremely hard constitutions and the utmost vigor, and are absolutely immune to bovine tuberculosis. This trait, it is believed, has been attained by the conditions under which the breed has been developed in its native hills.

Difficulties of Astronomy.
"Is it hard to learn the use of a telescope?" asked the student. "Not very," replied the candid professor. "The hardest thing about astronomy in guessing what something is after you manage to see it."

BEARDS IN BATTLE.

And Why Clean Shaven Men Became Prized as Warriors.

The habit of shaving is not of a very ancient origin. According to James Stephens in "Here Are Ladies," when humanity lived a quiet, rural and unambitious life men did not shave; their hair was their glory, and if they had occasion to swear, which must have been infrequent, their hardest and readiest oath was "By the beard of my father," showing clearly that this feature was held in veneration in early times and was probably accorded divine honors upon suitable occasions.

With the advent of war came the habit of shaving. A beard offered too handy a grip to a foe who had not got to close quarters; therefore, warriors who had no true hardness of soul preferred cutting off their beards to the honorable labor of defending their chins.

Many ancient races effected a compromise in order to retain a fitting military appearance for a bareheaded warrior has but little of terror in his aspect. The ancient Egyptians, for example, who had cut off or could not cultivate or had been forcibly deprived of their beards, wore wigs to go into battle clad in heavy false whiskers, which, when an enemy seized hold of them, came off instantly in his hand, and the ancient Egyptian was enabled to dispatch him while in a trance of stupefaction and horror.

Clean shaven men became by this cowardly stratagem very much prized as fighting men, and thus the foundation of the shaving habit was laid.

Names of Nations.

The names of the great nations of Europe set many puzzles to the philologist. There is no doubt that France is the country of the Franks, the free men, or that Austria is the eastern empire. But one would not so easily guess that "Russians" means rowers or seafarers—a word of Swedish origin commemorating the Scandinavian vikings. The Britons have been supposed to take their name from a word signifying variegated, in allusion to their staining their skins with woad. Most puzzling of all is "Germans," which is not the Latin "germanus," own brother, but of Celtic origin, and has been variously interpreted as meaning "the people" or "the shouters."—London Chronicle.

Taken at Her Word.

A Bloomfield woman looked across her lawn to where passersby were breaking off the blossoming twigs of her favorite quince tree.

"We might as well cut the tree down as let it stand for people to destroy," said she.

Half an hour later the tree lay on the ground beside a little hatchet, while around behind the house the small boy of the family was getting a switching with one of the branches.

This teaches us that we should be sure of our audience before we employ hyperbole in our speech.—Newark News.

Artificial Pepper.
The common nettle is now being used in the preparation of artificial pepper. In its preparation the nettles are harvested just before flowering, and dried. After drying they are ground, and then boiled for a couple of hours with 20 per cent of their weight of alcohol, three per cent of vinegar, ten per cent of water, five per cent of oil and two per cent of salt. When the greater part of the liquor has evaporated, the remaining mass is dried and pulverized.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the subscriber has been duly appointed executrix of the will of FERDINAND CUSHING late of Weymouth in the County of Norfolk, deceased, testate, and has taken upon herself that trust by giving bond, as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to ISABELLA CUSHING, Executrix, Cushing House, Hingham, Mass., October 24, 1914. 33-35

Following Are a Few of the Items Which Appeared in the Gazette Years Ago This Week.

Forty-seven Years Ago.
M. C. Dizer & Co. of East Weymouth, in October, did the largest month's work ever done in this part of the county, finishing 632 cases of calf boots, worth $30,084.

Silver Wedding.—The silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Hollis, took place on Friday evening, Nov. 8th, at their residence on Randolph street. Their relations and friends to the number of about sixty gathered there, and the presentation was made by N. B. Derby, accompanied by a few remarks, which were appropriately replied to by Mr. Hollis.

The Ladies' Sewing Circle connected with the Methodist church of East Weymouth had a fair and supper Tuesday evening of last week to raise money to help pay for the parsonage now building. The amount realized was about $250, and at the close the provisions were sold for good prices, while the fancy articles were auctioneered by Mrs. Geo. Hunt, her success in that line being proved by obtaining over a dollar for articles marked 10 cents.

Twenty-seven Years Ago.
The ladies of the Social Circle of the First Universalist Society have aided largely in the recent work of improvement of the church interior, their contributions amounting to between $500 and $600, and they also propose to pay the bill for re-shingling the south side of the roof and also for new lamps, which will increase their offering to over $800.

A dealer in ice who lives on Middle street, was driving along Broad street one morning last week just as two school girls, were ascending the steps of the Franklin school. Turning to Dyer Linscott, who sat on the box beside him, he asked:—"Why am I like those teachers?" "I give it up," said Dyer. "Because they keep school, and I keep's cool," was the reply.

Fifty of the fifty-one teachers of the public schools of Weymouth were present at the teachers' meeting held by Supt. Fisher at the new school house in East Weymouth, Tuesday last, commencing at 3.30. Supt. Nash of Hingham and others who were visiting schools in Weymouth that day, were also present. Supt. Fisher announced that he desired to hold a series of meetings, the object of which would be to show wherein the schools of Weymouth could be improved by making them more normal—less routine.

Twenty-one Years Ago.
By invitation of Rev. J. V. Clancy, Wilsey Lodge, I. O. O. F., and Abigail Adams Lodge, D. of R. will attend church next Sunday evening at the Union church. The services will be held at 7 o'clock and the public are cordially invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Kidder celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage Wednesday night. A large number of friends brought congratulations and substantial tokens of regard and the evening was spent in a very agreeable manner.

While the work on the electric road was being pushed on Union street, the company lost seventeen lanterns. Since work has been going on between Columbian square and the depot they have lost about twenty-five more. The company are quite anxious to know where these lanterns have disappeared to.

There are few houses in the country of which it can be said that within their walls have been held the golden weddings of two generations of the same family, yet the residence of Wilmot Cleverly, Green street, North Weymouth, won that distinction last night and several guests were present who attended both.

BALLADS OF BOSTON.

Lovers Of Peace.
(A Prayer)
God of our Fathers! Taught of Thee in life, and love, and liberty,
A people chosen but to bless,
To serve in peace and righteousness;
To Thee we cry, that Thou be near
To keep us in the hour of fear;
Lord God of Hosts! Behold! and see
The nations strive for mastery!

Strong to defend, and stern to strike
The foe of God and man alike,
Who tramples on the souls of men
To crush them down to earth again;
Guide Thou this people in the stress,
Spare them the pain and bitterness;
Lord God of Might! Make clean the hand
To hold, or smite, at Thy command!

Tender of heart, and quick to feel,
Eager to help and swift to heal,
Send us, O Lord, who owe so much,
To pay the debt, with kindly touch,
With gentle word and Christlike deed,
To soothe the ache of human need!
Lord God of Love! Uphold! increase
The lovers of aiding peace!

God of our Fathers! Through the deeps
Thy hand has led us up the steps
To visions of a fairer day
When human hates shall pass away,
And justice and the common good Shall seal a royal brotherhood!—Truth

END OF THE EARTH.

The Latest Figuring Puts It Only Two Million Years Away.
Scientists tell us that life on the earth began about 2,000,000 years ago. It has generally been accepted that life will last for 35,000,000 years. Ninety-five million years is a fairly long time. None of us who are alive today need worry about what will take place 95,000,000 years hence. Even the most altruistic can scarcely be inspired by love for an inconceivably remote posterity.

But the French savants are altogether disturbing. Here comes one, M. Veronet, who says that the earth will permanently freeze within the next 2,000,000 years and that life will vanish. This is bringing the tragedy nearer home. We would gladly accept the older reckoning.

Veronet places mankind of today about midway between the beginning and the end. He computes that in the future life will exist as long as it has already existed. He specifies only one forty-eighth as long a life as those who have studied in the past.

HIS TWO TENSE MOMENTS.

One Was a Ninth Inning and the Other at a Dinner Table.
I heard a prominent Cambridge man tell of the two most tense moments of his life yesterday. But the tension in each case was different.

"I doubt if I ever shall forget either occasion," he said reflectively. "They were big moments.

"The first was when I was in college. I was captain of the baseball team that year. We came to the end of the ninth. We needed one run to tie the score and another to win the game. Two men were down and two on the sacks when I came to bat. And for once in my career I did it. I lined out a three bagger, right over the railroad track. When I felt it go—well, that was one occasion.

"And the other." He chuckled, but a slow flush crept over his cheeks. "It was thirty years ago, soon after I left college. I went over to see a girl I thought was pretty nice and to meet her folks for the first time. I went on a Sunday. All the men were away. And they had duck for dinner." He stopped. "Ever carve a duck?" he asked meaningly. "No, neither had I before. Nor have I since." His flush deepened. "I never even went to see that girl again," he added plaintively.—Boston Journal.

Men and Oaks.

Once as I was botanizing under an oak I found among a number of other plants of similar height one that was dark in color with tightly closed leaves and a stalk that was very straight and stiff. When I touched it, it said to me in firm tones: "Let me alone. I am not for your collection, like other plants to which nature has given only a single year of life. I am a little oak."

So it is with a man whose influence is to last for hundreds of years. As a child, as a youth, often even as a full grown man—nay, his whole life long—he goes about among his fellows, looking like them and seemingly as unimportant. But let him alone. He will not die. Time will come and bring those who know how to value him.—Schopenhauer.

View From Mount Rigi.

The mountain of the Rigi, in Switzerland, commands a panorama of 400 miles in circumference, which includes the lovely lake of Lucerne, and is unsurpassed for beauty. The Rigi was known to only a few travelers in the eighteenth century, but after the peace of 1815 it became a resort for the curious, the first dwelling having been erected in 1814. Now many hotels are in a flourishing condition, and it is popular even in winter. There is a little chapel, with its walls covered with votive tablets, for many have been the victims in the ice gorges of this lofty peak.

Pipefish.

The pipefish take care of their young in a manner that is entirely peculiar. The newly laid eggs are taken care of by the male, which has a sort of fold on each side of its body. Beneath the "flaps" he keeps the eggs until the young are hatched and sufficiently grown to take care of themselves. While in the "flap" they are fed by the mother, upon whom falls the duty of foraging around for food.

No Postmortem Touch.
"Loan me $5 until Thursday, old man. If I live till then I'll surely pay you."
"All right. But if you succumb don't send anybody around to touch me for the funeral expenses."—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

One For the Witness.
Lawyer (stereely):—Are you telling the truth? Badgered Witness (wearily):—As much of it as you will let me.—Detroit Free Press.

Contradictory.
This is the note the cook left: Dear Madam—I am leaving, but beg to remain yours, Sarah Briggs.—Lippincott's.

The future belongs to him who knows how to wait.—Russian Proverb.

Can't Afford It?
Let's figure it out and see
How much would you charge to go to the grocer's or the provision dealer's?
How much would you give, on a stormy day, to be able to visit a distant friend?
How much would it be worth, in case your child were taken suddenly ill at night, to be able to summon the doctor at once, and, perhaps by special instructions from him by wire, to be able to give temporary relief pending his arrival or even to save it's life?
The expense of a telephone, is not figured by what it costs for a whole year, but how much it saves each time it is used. Therefore, with all these things in mind, ask yourself
Can I Afford to be Without a Telephone?

The Gazette & Transcript is printed and mailed Friday afternoons, and is for sale at all News-stands in the Weymouths
 and at the South Terminal, Boston.

All communications must be accompanied with the name of the writer, and unpublished communications cannot be returned by mail unless stamps are enclosed.

Notices of all local entertainments to which admission fee is charged must be paid for at regular rates, 10 cents per line
 in the reading matter, or regular rates in the advertising columns.

Next Thursday will be Thanksgiving day and having many things to be thankful for, we will devote the day to that special duty which necessitates closing up shop of ordinary every day affairs. This means one day less in the week to handle ads. and copy, therefore we ask correspondents and advertisers to get copy in early in the week as our time on Friday will be limited.

Battle Field Statistics.

The result of careful observations made at battle-field hospitals by one of the leading surgical authorities of the French gives the relative frequency of wounds not instantaneously mortal as: Slight, 60 per cent; serious, 15 per cent; very serious, 25 per cent. The experience of recent wars shows the head and the right arm as the most frequent lodging places of projectiles.

Mason and Dixon's Line.

For a long time there was a bitter dispute between Pennsylvania and Maryland as to the boundary line between them. The dispute was settled by two surveyors, Mason and Dixon, who, in 1763-7, ran the line as it now is between the two states. "Mason and Dixon's Line" the southern boundary of Pennsylvania—afterward became famous as the division between freedom and slavery.

Former Town Home Superintendent Dead.

William T. Brown, warden of the City farm and superintendent of the City Scavenger department of Brockton, died in that city yesterday after an illness of but ten days of pneumonia. Mr. Brown was superintendent of the Weymouth town farm for five years leaving here to accept the Brockton position ten years ago.
 Previously he had been superintendent of the Town farm at Hopkinton for five years and Framingham for ten years. Mr.
 Brown was highly regarded while in charge of the Weymouth farm. He is survived by his wife, two sons, Forest L. of Brockton and Bert G., warden of the Bridgewater farm and three daughters,
 Miss Grace Reidy of Brockton, Mrs. Flossie Carrole of Boston and Mrs. Bessie Carmichael of Dorchester and a brother,
 John Brown of New Hampshire. Mr.
 Brown was a great lover of horses and took great pride in his private stepper.
 He was a member of the Old Colony Driving Club of South Weymouth.

Increased Interest Being Manifested.

The figures this morning are as follows with Miss Bearce still in the lead with others in the same relative position and the two leaders passing into the fifth column of figures. But the gap between the different contestants has been changed, Miss Palmer is a more close second and Loud has made the largest gain of any.

Marjorie's Good Wishes.

Marjorie's father was away on a journey, and Marjorie deemed it her duty to send him a bulletin as to home affairs. After the expenditure of much labor and ink she produced the following paragraph: "My Dear Daddy —Mother is well. I am very well. The baby is very well, and has a lot more sense now. Hoping you are the same."

SOUTH WEYMOUTH

—The Bassobee club met last Monday night with Mrs. Arthur Gerstley at her home on Bates avenue.

—Ernest Trussell of the retail department of the Stetson Shoe Co. factory, is enjoying his annual two weeks' vacation.

—The large plate glass windows have arrived for the new stores of the Elbridge Nash Drug Co. and M. R. Loud Co. and have been put in place. The new stores will be ready for occupancy in about two weeks.

—At the offices of the Stetson Shoe Co last Thursday night, Miss Dora Pratt, an esteemed member of the office department was tendered a party in honor of her approaching marriage to Hosea Hyland of Weymouth. All day Thursday, the last of Miss Pratt's employment with the company, her desk was covered with white streamers, bunting, and other decorations becoming to a bride-to-be. Miss Pratt was the pleased recipient of a purse of money from the Stetson Shoe Co.

—The weekly dancing party of the Norfolk Club in Fogg's opera house, Saturday night, was well attended. Cuff's orchestra furnished music.

—A large addition is being erected at the shipping department end of the Stetson Shoe Co. The new section is to accommodate the electric express business.

—A delegation of Wilsey lodge, I. O. O. F. attended the meeting in Rockland Wednesday night of Standish lodge of that place. The second degree was exemplified by the Rockland degree staff.

—Miss Marjory Wentworth of this village gave an address on "Prayer and Missions" at the annual thank offering meeting of the Woman's Board of Missions Auxiliary, held at the home of Mrs. J. S. Smith of Rockland on Wednesday.

—A delegation of dancing lovers from this place attended the Social club dance held in Arnold's hall, West Abington last Thursday night.

—Painters have been at work the past ten days, giving the Stetson Shoe Co. plant a new coat of paint.

—An alarm from box 54 at 3.30 o'clock last Friday afternoon called the local department to take care of a stubborn fire in the ruins of the South Boston Ice Co. plant which burned a few weeks ago. The fire was so difficult to get at, that the department was forced to spend several hours extinguishing the blaze. While the local department was at the fire, the ward 3 auto truck came to the ward 5 house to cover South Weymouth, while Ross South had a pair of horses attached to the ward 3 horse carriage to respond to any fire in that district.

—A rummage sale was held in Engine hall last Friday afternoon by a committee of ladies of the South church. The affair was held for the benefit of the fair.

—The Harvard vs Brown football game in the Harvard Stadium last Saturday attracted quite a number from this section. —State Cattle Inspectors visited the Wessagusset Farm in this place a few days ago and found everything about the place in first class condition and no sign of the hoof and mouth disease.

—The Norfolk club held a smoke talk at headquarters last Monday night. A large number of members and friends were present. The Old Colony orchestra gave a program of selections and light refreshments were served.

—A new large gilt sign has been placed on the south side of the Fogg opera house building to indicate the location of the South Weymouth Savings Bank.

—Mrs. Lois B. Holbrook left on Wednesday for Columbus, Ohio, where she will visit her son until after Christmas.

—The Old Colony Library Club consisting of librarians in this section, met at Hanson last Friday. Miss Ruth N. Tower of this place is vice president of the club.

—David Crawford has been on a gunning trip in the Maine woods.

—New heating apparatus is being installed in the Engine house in this place.

—Wildely lodge I. O. O. F. attended the union degree meeting of the Hingham, East Weymouth and South Weymouth lodges at East Weymouth last Thursday night.

—Mrs. E. F. Ferguson has been visiting friends in Lowell.

—Thayer McBride has gone to Rochester, N. H., where he has accepted a position.

—Llewellyn Sawyer of Philadelphia has been visiting his niece, Mrs. Edwin Cushing.

—Among the new houses being erected about town is one on Park street by Edward Griffin.

—The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William Whalen passed away last week on Wednesday night. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon and burial was in St. Francis Xavier cemetery.

—South Weymouth Grange P. of H. attended the meeting of the Mayflower Pomona Grange at Hingham last Saturday.

—The next meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Pond Plain Improvement Association will be Sewing day on December 1 with Mrs. H. W. Brown.

—The first in the series of pool, billiard and bridge whist games between the Union Glee club of Rockland and the Norfolk club of this place will take place tonight at the former's headquarters in Rockland.

—Miss Annie Deane of this place is conducting rehearsals in Whitman for the annual dramatic of the Whitman Woman's club.

—The first dancing school assembly of Mrs. Polley's dancing class was held in Music hall South Weymouth, last Monday night with an extra large crowd present. Richards' orchestra furnished music.

—John Shores of Union street passed away the middle of last week after a short illness. The funeral was held last Saturday with Rev. W. H. Germany, pastor of the Hatherly M. E. church officiating. Burial was in the Elmwood cemetery in this place.

—Charles H. Humble, aged 77 years, died at his home last Tuesday afternoon after a lingering illness. He was a son of Major Humble and a native of Abington. He has been a resident of this town for several years and was a shoemaker by trade. He leaves a daughter, Mrs. Eva L. Doble. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon.

—The Village Study club met in the Fogg library building last Monday night. Prof. Richard Jones of Tufts college, talked on Robert Browning: "His Social and Religious Ideas and Ideals." Mrs. Warren Simpson had charge of the program.

—The first in a series of entertainments to be given this winter by Wilsey Lodge I.O.O.F. was held in Odd Fellows' hall, South Weymouth on Tuesday night. Reno B. Washburn gave a talk on "Marvels and Mysteries of Modern Science" and illustrated his talk with various experiments. A good sized crowd attended.

Old South Church Notes.

Rev. Edward Torrey Ford, D. D., who was installed last week as pastor of the East Weymouth Congregational church is to be the preacher at a Thanksgiving service to be held next Wednesday evening in the church at 7.45 o'clock. In addition to music by the choir, a chorus of little girls will sing. A committee of the C. E. society is actively co-operating to secure a large attendance. All in the community are cordially invited to hear Dr. Ford and join in the service.

Rev. John W. Lees represented the church, with the pastor, at the Congregational Congress in Boston last week.

The Old South auxiliary of the W. B. M. held an enjoyable social and thank offering meeting last Friday at the home of the president, Mrs. A. O. Crawford.

New furnaces have recently been installed for the main auditorium of the church.

Universalist Church Notes.

Morning worship at 10.30. Sabbath school at 11.45. Illustrated lecture at 7.

We invite you to a Thanksgiving service Sunday at 10.30. Special music by the vested chorus choir; Athens, "I will magnify Thee O God," (Churchill), "Thou Grace Divine," (Pflueger), "Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem," (Maunder). Sermon with Thanksgiving theme, by the Pastor. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Lecture at 7; subject, "With the Allies," third in the series upon "The Nations at War." Seats free, silver offering.

HELPFUL WORDS.

From A Weymouth Citizen.

Is your back lame and painful? Does it ache especially after exertion? Is there a soreness in the kidney region? These symptoms suggest weak kidneys. If so there is danger in delay. Weak kidneys get fast weaker. Give your trouble prompt attention. Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys. Your neighbors use and recommend them.

Read this Weymouth testimony. Mrs. J. P. Burns, 12 Granite street, Weymouth, says: "My back and head ached and my kidneys were weak. I also had dizzy spells. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they soon made me strong and well. I never tire praising Doan's Kidney Pills in return for the good results they brought me. I cheerfully confirm my former endorsement."

Mrs. Burns is only one of many Weymouth people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mrs. Burns had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50 cents, all stores. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. "When Your Back is Lame—Remember the Name."

Where Some Reformers Err. A reformer usually has big ideas. Frequently he insists on proceeding on a wholesale basis instead of running a small but active business regulating his own faults.

Annual Slaughter of Elephants. Africa is the chief source of the world's supply of ivory, and it is estimated that 70,000 elephants are annually slaughtered for their tusks. But not more than 20 per cent of this ivory is represented in the total imports to Europe.

The Counterfeiter
By JOHN TURNLEE

John Roelf, detective, was called upon by the manager of the Third National bank to ferret out the perpetrators of spurious ten dollar bills on their bank. He began by making a thorough examination of the bills. It would seem that a good engraver could make a duplicate of any bank bill that would be practically perfect. But no matter how much care he puts on it there will be differences. On these bills there was a miniature likeness of the then secretary of the treasury. There was a difference between the valid and spurious pictures in the right nostril, the left eyebrow and a line running between the nose and the left cheek.

But this was of no moment to the detective except to enable him to spot one of the counterfeiters when he saw it. It did not help him in running down the counterfeiter. He knew that certain persons were going about buying articles worth various sums from 50 cents to $2 or $3, offering one of the counterfeit ten dollar bills and receiving the change in good money.

Roelf interviewed several of the persons on whom these spurious bills had been passed—a young woman cashier in an ice cream saloon. She said that a young man had brought in a girl, ordering ice cream, cake and other articles for both of them; had paid for what he bought with a ten dollar bill and received $9.15 change. After the departure of the couple the bill was found to be counterfeit.

The only person who saw this young man and woman was the cashier herself, who waited on them, no other person connected with the saloon being present, but her description tallied with that of others—that is, the description of the young man, for this was the only time he was reported in company with a girl.

Roelf gave a telephone number to the proprietors of a certain store on the main shopping street of the town and asked them, if any one passed the spurious bills, to call him up and hold on to the person who had offered it. Then he took a novel, sat down by the instrument, read and waited.

On the third day of his waiting he was rung up from a cigar store. A young man had called, bought a handful of cigars, offered a counterfeit ten dollar bill, received $8 and some silver in change, lighted a cigar and gone out smoking. The proprietor had telephoned Roelf and sent a boy to shadow the young man. Roelf went to the cigar store, and when the boy returned he showed the detective a house which the young man had entered.

Roelf remembered that there were different possibilities connected with this young man. The bill might have been passed on him, he being entirely innocent of the matter. He might be passing the bills for the maker. The house he entered might be in no way connected with the counterfeiting. It might be the place where the bills were made. It behooved Roelf, therefore, to be careful in his investigations lest he either come down on innocent persons or frighten the counterfeiters away with all their paraphernalia.

What he did was to observe the house. He loitered near it for half a day to see who came from and went to it. No one entered it, but a woman came out.

The usual way for detectives to watch a suspected house is to hire a room opposite. Roelf did this and kept close observation on the house the young man had entered. Within a few days another case of passing the bills was reported to him. A young man—very likely the same person as before—had bought a hat with one of them. The bill had been detected, the purchaser had been followed and had entered the house Roelf was watching.

This removed all doubt that the guilty person occupied the house in question. Roelf made arrangements to raid it, but concluded to get what additional information he was able to fore doing so. He kept up his watch, but the only person he saw come out or go in was a young girl. It seemed to Roelf that there was something familiar to him about her, but he could not tell what it was. He never caught a fair glimpse of her face, for whenever she emerged from the house, if the weather was fair, she put up a parasol and if it rained an umbrella.

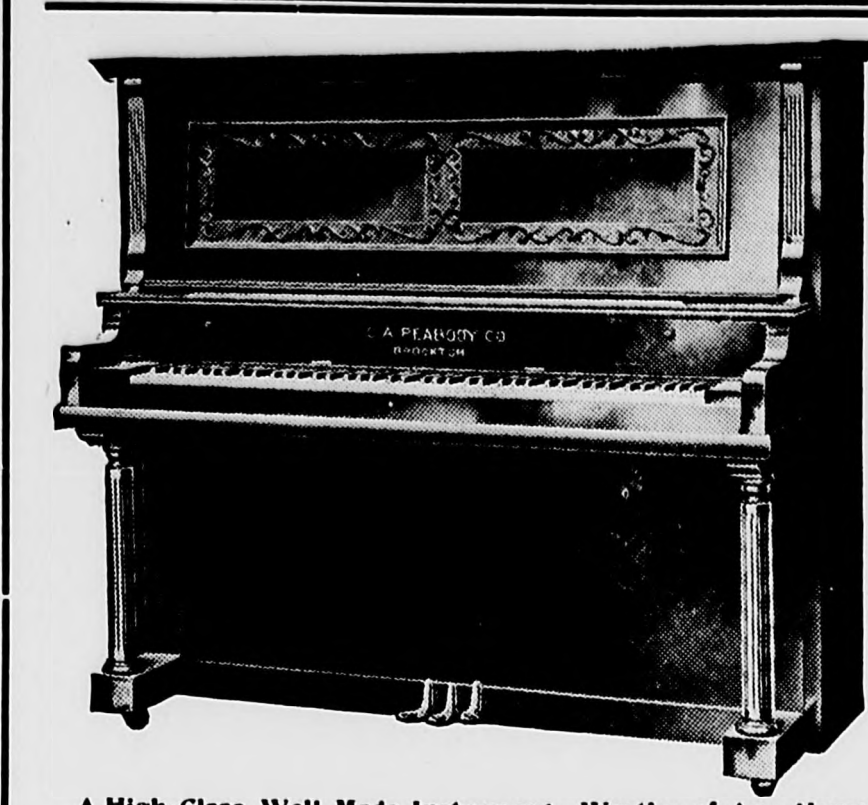

Roelf now gave orders among the shops that if any one passed one of the spurious bills and it was detected before the person passing it got away he was to be detained. If this was not possible Roelf was to be telephoned of the fact and he would arrest the counterfeiter if he returned to the house.

One afternoon he received a telephone call that a young man of effeminate appearance had entered a drug store, bought a pair of hairbrushes and passed a counterfeit bill. Roelf went out on the street and walked back and forth for some time, when he saw a young man who answered the description of the counterfeiter making for the suspected house. As he was about to enter Roelf clapped a hand on his shoulder with a gruff "I want you."

He was startled by a shriek such as might come from a woman. And it did. When the person arrested was brought to face accusers she turned out to be the cashier of the ice cream saloon who claimed to have had one of the counterfeit bills passed upon her.

Judging Religious Sincerity.
"Brother Philander," said I to our head deacon the other day, "how do you judge a man's religious sincerity?" "Well," replied the old fellow with a smile, "if they belong to our church I consult my ledger. If they belong to some other church I go to the treasurer of that church." Philander is our church treasurer.—Kansas City Star.

The Actor's Mistake.
Toole, the English actor, used to get off a good thing occasionally. At dinner at a country hotel he was sitting next to a gentleman who had helped himself to an extravagantly large piece of bread. Toole took it up and began to cut a slice from it. "Sir," said the indignant gentleman, "that is my bread." "I beg a thousand pardons, sir," replied the actor, "I mistook it for the loaf."

Fried Chicken.
A Tennessee preacher says that a man who would eat a fried chicken that had been stolen is as guilty as the thief who stole it. There must be some difference in culpability. A man can certainly resist the temptation to steal a chicken, but it would be some job to pass up the bird after it had been nicely fried and served with a hoccake on the side.—Houston Post.

A Greenhorn

By F. A. MITCHEL

Johnny Ormsby was walking on the street one day when he was accosted by a man, who said to him:
"Young man, would you like to make some money?"
"I certainly would."
"Give me your name and address."
Johnny gave both, and the stranger made a note of them.
"Can you keep a secret?"
"I think I can."
"Well, here's a twenty dollar bill for you and a box. Take care of the box for me till I call for it and I'll give you another $20. Don't you give the box to any one else."
Johnny made the required promise; the man gave him the box and went his way.

The transaction had taken place within less than a minute, and Johnny was left looking after the man, who was walking away from him. Johnny was about eighteen, but not yet well versed in the ways of the world, especially of the commercial world. He thought at first he would open the box at once, but concluded to take it to his room. He was a country boy who had come to the city to find a job and lived in a lodging house.

As soon as he was alone Johnny unrolled the bill, and, true enough, it was a twenty dollar note. Being pretty near out of money, it was very acceptable to him. Of course he wondered why the man had hired him to take care of a box and was curious to know what was in it. It was about an inch and a half square and covered with blue plush. Opening it, there nestled a ring set with two diamonds, each as big as a large pea.

Naturally Johnny was very much astonished. Not being used to city ways, he did not reach a conclusion that the thing had been stolen and the thief had found it best to get rid of it. What object could any one have in asking him to take care of property so valuable? Johnny racked his brain for some time, then gave it up. There was a cornice in his room, and standing upon his bureau, he put the property on the cornice. Descending to the floor, he was satisfied that it could not be seen. Probably it was in about as safe a place as it could be put.

Not finding a position, Johnny lived on the $20 that had been given him. When it was all gone he began to get hungry. The longer he went without eating the weaker he became. At last he took to his bed.

One day there were sounds of footsteps coming up the stairs and a rap at Johnny's door. He said "Come in" so faintly that he was not heard, but this made no difference to his callers, for they entered anyway, a well dressed gentleman and a policeman.

"Are you John Ormsby?" asked the gentleman.
"Yes, sir."
"Did a man some time ago give you a box containing a diamond ring to keep?"
"Yes."
"Well, I want it."
"He told me to give it to no one but him."
"Oh, he did, did he? Well, young man, that ring was stolen. The man has been arrested for other thefts and to secure immunity has agreed to return every article he has taken. He told me to come to you and get the ring."
"I don't know what he told you," said Johnny. "He gave me a twenty dollar bill to take care of the property and said I was to give it to no one but him."
"Come off, young man," said the policeman. "You can't make the gentleman believe you're so green as all that."
"Why are you lying in bed?" asked the gentleman. "Are you sick?"
"No, I haven't had anything to eat for several days."
"What's become of the money the man gave you?"
"All gone for food."
"Have you got the ring?"
"Yes."
The gentleman looked at the boy in wonder. "Why didn't you get some money for it?"
"I don't own it."
The gentleman looked at the policeman; the policeman returned the glance. "He is a greenhorn and no mistake," said the latter.

"Do you mean to tell me," asked the gentleman, "that you're lying here starving with a diamond ring worth $500 in your possession?"
"That's about it, sir."
"Well, here's a dollar; go get something to eat, but first give me the ring."
"I couldn't give it to any one except the man that left it with me."
"Don't bother with him, sir; I'll run him in," said the cop.
"No, you won't. I know an honest face when I see one. Take the cab to the jail and bring the crook here. I'll wait for you."
Within half an hour the man who had entrusted Johnny with the ring appeared in care of the cop and told Johnny to give it to the gentleman.
"Not till I get the other $20 you promised me," said Johnny.
There was a burst of laughter, and the owner of the ring produced the money, and Johnny told them where to look for the ring.
John Ormsby was taken into the employ of the owner of the ring and now has charge of all his securities.

MRS. MARTIN KILLORY AT REST.

Resident of East Weymouth For Years Passed Away Last Tuesday Morning.

Mrs. Martin Killory, widow of Martin Killory, passed away early last Tuesday morning, at her home on Broad street near Essex, East Weymouth, after a short illness. She has been a resident of this town about thirty-five years.

She is survived by seven sons, Dr. George Killory of Boston, John and Thomas Killory of Brockton, Martin, Joseph, James and Michael Killory of this town.

Funeral services were held yesterday morning in the Immaculate Conception church in East Weymouth. Rev. James W. Allison was the celebrant of the Solemn High Mass. Burial was in St. Francis Xavier cemetery.

BOWLING AT C. M. A.

Mrs. Augustus Conathan and Arthur Cunningham Capture Turkeys.

Bowling is booming this week at the Clapp Memorial association in East Weymouth. The prizes of two turkeys offered for the highest single string rolled, were awarded Mrs. Augustus Conathan in the Ladies' club, with a score of 96, and the men's turkey went to Arthur Cunningham with a single of 135. Several of the ladies secured the use of the alleys last Saturday night, in an attempt to beat Mrs. Conathan's mark of 96, but they rolled in vain.

The two-men Boston pin tournament began this week Monday night with 12 teams out for the prizes. With the arrival of cold weather, the interest in the league is increasing considerably. The make up of the teams in the league are as follows: 1, Preston and Conroy; 2, Cunningham and McGrath; 3, Loring and Newcomb; 4, H. Bates and Walker; 5, Elkington and Reamy; 6, Doucette and Godin; 7, F. Nolan and Blackwell; 8, Fred Drinkwater and J. Nolan; 9, Yaeger and Pratt; 10, Frank Drinkwater and White; 11, Denbroader and Bumpus; 12, Whittemore and Herman Bates.

LOVELL'S CORNER

—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sherman have returned to Dorchester after spending two weeks at their summer home.

—At the Sunday morning service Lawrence Ford of Quincy gave a very pleasing vocal solo.

—A meeting of the Sunday School Board was held at the home of Rev. Karl Thompson Tuesday evening. The meeting was called to discuss what the Sunday school should do for Christmas and it was decided to have a tree for the children of the lower grades.

—The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Monroe passed away at his home Wednesday of last week. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon.

—Mrs. Lilla French has been confined to her home the past week by illness.

—The regular meeting of the Campfire Girls was held at the home of Miss Maria Hawes Saturday evening. Wednesday evening the Campfire Girls held a poverty party as a surprise to their leader at her home.

—Monday evening the scouts held a short meeting in the hose house. Tuesday evening in Pratt's hall they held a social and entertainment in aid of Scouts' Thanksgiving good turn. The evening's entertainment was in charge of the under scout master, Blanchard. Music was furnished by Miss Eleanor Blanchard on the piano.

The Way of a Lover.

When a man finds a woman for whom he thinks there's nothing good enough he asks her to take him.

His Time Had Come.

Again that ringing in his ears! It was the warning he had dreaded. He knew his time had come. Yet, although he had started at the sound, he seemed half-dazed and wholly careless of the consequences. But still the ringing in his ears! "Drat it!" he finally said, and springing from bed the careworn commuter shut off the alarm clock and proceeded to dress for the 7:10 train.—Puck.

The Earth's Shadow.

The earth has a shadow, but very few ever see it, except in eclipses of the moon, or else few recognize it when they see it. Nevertheless, many of us have noticed it on fine, cloudless evenings in summer shortly before sunset, a rosy pink arc on the horizon opposite the sun, with a bluish gray segment under it. As the sun sinks the arc rises until it attains the zenith and even passes it. This is the shadow of the earth.

WEYMOUTH HIGH LOSER.

Milton High School First Eleven To Lower Local Teams Colors This Season.

Almost with the closing of the 1914 football season came the first defeat of Weymouth High's fast football team, when Milton High pinned a 19 to 6 beating on the local aggregation at Milton last Friday afternoon.

Coach Whittemore's boys played a fine game, but Coach "Reggie" Nash, the Weymouth boy, had his eleven at top form and they came through in good style.

The Milton backs proved too heavy and too fast for the local team. Driscoll, the stocky Milton fullback, plunged into the line for several long gains. This player was the star of the game, getting two touchdowns and making a seventy yard run.

The other Milton touchdown came as a result of the open game, the right end, White, taking a forward pass over the goal line.

The Weymouth boys put up a strong offense, but like Yale last Saturday, failed to put up a strong enough defense.

Whittle, the crack quarter back was the local team's shining light, his two goals from the field being in the Brickley class for distance and accuracy. Besides Whittle, Capt. "Connie" Condrick worked his head off to turn the tide of an rushing defeat and he was ably seconded by Deane, Rand, Borlenghi and Tirrell. The summary:

Score, Milton High 19, Weymouth High 6. Touchdowns, Driscoll 2, White. Goal from touchdown, Sprague. Goals from field, P. Whittle 2, Umpire, Cosgrove. Referee Brierly. Linesman, Harris. Time, 12-minute periods.

Loyal Order of Moose.

A class of seven candidates was initiated at the last meeting of the lodge last Tuesday night.

A fine new floor for dancing has been laid in the Moose hall in Commercial square and some very pleasant dancing parties are being arranged for the coming winter.

Twenty three tables of whist were played at the whist party of the lodge at Moose hall last Monday night. The prizes were taken by Leon Merchant, first gent's; a gentlemen from East Braintree, second gent's; Mrs. Powers, first lady's and Mary McIntosh, second lady's. The prizes were two turkeys and two fine chickens.

Near-Laurels.

A certain major in the Philippines, who seemed to be favored with the good-will of the powers, managed in some way always to get leave just before trouble with the natives was due. His colonel suspected him of having no stomach for fighting. "Some day," remarked the colonel, "they'll want to give that fellow a decoration, and I'll suggest one. It will be a wreath of leaves of absence."

Trees Many Centuries Old.

Probably the oldest trees in England are yews. There is, for instance, one in the churchyard at Burrington Coombe, where the famous hymn, "Rock of Ages," is said to have been written, which is estimated to be at least sixteen hundred years old, and there is also a very ancient one in the churchyard at Stoke Poges, where Gray wrote his "Elegy."

To Mend Celluloid.

Any article made of celluloid may be mended with collodion. Scratch the broken edges to be mended with a sharp knife until a smooth surface is secured. Apply the collodion and press tightly together for several minutes. Let stand at least twenty-four hours. Liquid court plaster will answer as well, since the main ingredient is collodion.

Coffee Bean's Growth.

Healthy coffee trees produce in the axilla of each leaf from twelve to sixteen buds, which in flowering have an exquisite perfume. These flowers become dark and wither and fall off in two or three days, leaving groups of seeds on the small stems. These in turn grow into the coffee berries, which closely resemble dark red cherries. Each berry contains two seeds, growing face to face, and these are the coffee beans of commerce.

FORMER RESIDENTS DRIVEN OUT

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Tirrell and Daughter Miss Viola Escape Suffocation.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Tirrell and daughter Miss Viola, former residents of North Weymouth and well known about town, who now reside on Wellman street Brookline, had a narrow escape from suffocation by smoke in their home early Tuesday morning, before a fire in the basement was discovered by a Brookline police officer.

The officer saw the reflection of the flames through the basement window, and only after long continued knocking, did he succeed in awaking the inmates. It appeared that the fire started around the furnace and had burned considerable time before the policeman came along. The entire house was filled with smoke when the blaze was discovered.

After arousing the occupants of the building, the patrolman sent in an alarm from box 316 at 1.20 a. m. He then returned to the house and aided the family in getting out and escorted them to a neighbor's house.

The firemen made short work of extinguishing the flames, but a damage, estimated at $300 resulted.

FROM OTHER PLACES.

That the Schraut block on Pearl street is not now a heap of ashes after the fire there Tuesday morning is because the auto chemical combination responded so quickly and did such effective work in fighting the flames to a finish. It is not difficult to imagine the result had it been necessary as in other days to await the arrival of the horse-drawn apparatus.—Braintree Observer.

Recently a gentleman remarked that there is no denying the fact that the growing disregard for the rudiments of an everyday education in the public schools is turning out a lot of graduates so slovenly in their use of the English language that it is amazing how they ever passed muster on their way through the higher halls of learning.—Natick Bulletin.

While the Thanksgiving subject is uppermost in our minds, we might tell of a recent interesting visit to our Jail and House of Correction. It is the occasion of the greatest degree of thanksgiving to be able to visit that institution and then leave it as fancy wills, yet we are forced to realize that many honest, toiling, thrifty people have not the food or the comfortable quarters that the inmates at the jail have.—Dedham Transcript.

We hear nothing but words of encouragement in all directions for the new city of Revere. The newspapers all over the state have commented upon the step that was taken at the recent election by the voters of this town and everybody seems to think that Revere is on the eve of a period of great advancement and prosperity. All that we need is an able city government to make Revere stand forth as a well governed community and a bright progressive city.—Revere Journal.

Football is a sport which recognizes no molly-coddles and is a great teacher of manliness and self confidence, so that fathers and mothers hate to refuse their boys an opportunity to play it. On the other hand, the long list of accidents to aspirants for gridiron honors, causes one to pause and think whether the end justifies the means.—Picked Up.

It is strange indeed, to see an administration that has been harassing the business interests all over the country by passing radical laws and making legal attacks upon men connected with business both big and little, suddenly turn around and ask these very same men to assist in an artificial regulation of the cotton trade to help the people of one particular locality at the expense of the rest of the country. It would seem that this vacillating policy is altogether too much one-sided.—Belmont Courier.

Better Ten Thousand Sneers. Better to stand 10,000 sneers than one sibilant pang such as time could not abolish of bitter self reproach.—De Quincey.

Beautiful Names.

"We must have a beautiful name for the baby," said the fond mother. "Something that sounds like poetry and is not at all commonplace." "Well," replied the fond father, "I'm doing my best to help you make a selection. Here's a list of the names of all the apartment houses in town."—Washington Star.

ILLUSTRATED SERIES OF WEYMOUTH HOMES

HOME OF WILLARD J. DUNBAR, EAST WEYMOUTH.

While our picture for this week shows the home of one of Weymouth's native and perhaps best known citizen both in public or private life, it also shows our readers a place of more than ordinary fame. For many years it was known as the "Rice Tavern" and the resting place of travellers, either by stage or private carriage, in the days when all of the South Shore travel passed through East Weymouth.

COUPON CONTEST TAKES A JUMP.

This is our largest week since starting our contest for valuable prizes and there are changes in positions. Miss Palmer goes ahead of Miss Bearce taking the lead and Loud takes third place by passing Miss Gibson:

Phyllis Palmer	14975
Jennie Bearce	14355
Lewis S. Loud	10680
Mildred Gibson	9660
Harold McRae	7120
Helen Gorman	3095

FIRE AT FORT POINT.

Barrel Factory at Bradley Fertilizer Works Destroyed.

At 11.40 last Tuesday morning an alarm from box 13 was sounded for a fire at the Bradley Fertilizer Co. plant at Fort Point. The ward 1 apparatus and the ward 3 auto combination raced over the roads to the scene of the blaze and found the large barrel factory in flames. The fire had gained such headway that it was impossible to save the building or the contents. It is said that the fire started from a grass fire burning in the vicinity.

Monday Club.

The Monday Club will hold an open meeting in Odd Fellows hall, on the evening of December 7 at 7.45 o'clock.

Mr. Havrah Hubbard will give an opera talk, "Carmen" with Mr. Floyd Baxter at the piano.

Dorothea L. Dix Tent, D. of V.

Dorothea L. Dix Tent 32, D. of V. will be guests this evening of Tent 53 of Quincy at its meeting. Members intending to attend, please take the 6.45 car from Jackson square.

The election of officers will take place on the evening of December 3. It is hoped all sisters will attend this meeting. Mrs. Clara Maynard, president of Tent 32, one of the committee on Department Daughters of Veterans' table at the recent W. R. C. fair, reports a very successful event.

Sisters Helen Beach and Eva Carter Shaw are receiving congratulations on the birth of two eligibles for Daughters of Veteran members in the future.

High School Notes.

There were quite a few interesting discussions at the regular meeting of the new Senior-Junior society this week. It was voted to hold an informal interclass debate in December and a formal one in the month following. Committees were appointed to arrange a program for December and to make plans for the interclass debates.

The organization of a local high school baseball league will be topic of discussion at a meeting of the baseball coaches of the surrounding schools, in the office of Principal Hilton next week. Weymouth has been asked to join such a league before but refused.

Plans are being made to secure Mr. Watson who has given Shakespearean readings here before, to read "Macbeth" before the Senior English class next week.

Luck.

The luckiest man in the world is the man who can marry his sweetheart and have his sweetheart still.

NORFOLK CLUB VS UNION GLEE CLUB.

South Weymouth Boys Contest in Pool, Cribbage, Chess, Whist and Billiards with Rockland Teams.

The opening games in the tournament for the winter, between the Union Glee club of Rockland and the Norfolk club of South Weymouth were held last Friday night at the headquarters of the Rockland club. The Glee club won in pool and billiards, the Norfolk club captured the cribbage games, and honors were even in chess and whist.

In pool, Walter Winslow of the Glee club downed Loud 60 to 52, and John Winslow defeated H. Selman 60 to 18. At billiards, James F. Anderson defeated Charles Merritt 100 to 93, and James H. Hunt, also of the Glee club, vanquished W. Blanchard 100 to 74.

Fred Cheney of the Glee club defeated Judge L. A. Cook at chess and Judge Wentworth of South Weymouth downed Dr. George A. Dunham of Rockland.

The Norfolk club won both cribbage games. C. A. Shaw and Herbert Rockwood took two out of three games from J. S. Gray and M. Leslie Poole, and George Crawford and George Marshall won from C. F. Stetson and Henry Ford.

At whist John G. Owens and W. A. Studley of the Glee club won from Thomas Nash and Kenneth L. Nash of Norfolk 8 to 7 with Richie Howe and Calvin Veazie of the Norfolk aggregation defeated Fred C. Lewis and Henry J. Cushing. The next contest will be held on December 8 at the Norfolk club rooms.

Men's Club at North Weymouth.

The regular meeting of the Universalist Men's club was held in the church vestry last Monday evening. At 7.45 o'clock a supper was served to about 50 members. The ladies in charge of the supper were Mrs. Irving Morgan, Mrs. George Nash, Mrs. Wesley Sampson, Mrs. Chester Keene, and Miss Mabel Sampson. A short business meeting followed and then the speaker of the evening, Hon. Louis A. Cook, was introduced. Mr. Cook gave an account of his recent travels in England and this subject proved of great interest to all.

A Responsible Firm.

Most of our older readers are well aware that for over one hundred years T. D. Whitney & Co., Temple Place, Boston have been the leading retail linen store east of New York, and won an enviable reputation for always selling goods of dependable quality.

By concentrating their efforts on this one line of goods, T. D. Whitney & Co. have been enabled to establish intimate relationship with all of the larger weavers of linens in both Europe and America, and are consequently always in position to show a very complete stock of medium and the finest grade linens suited for every purpose.

Since their store was enlarged, they not only carry increased stocks of linens, but also many other carefully selected fabrics and goods, all of which are of guaranteed good quality and sold at favorable prices.

We would call especial attention to their advertisements as they appear in this paper, and assure every one of our readers that it will well repay them to visit this store when in the City.

SUNDAY NIGHT FORUM.

Dr. George E. Hoar Speaker Last Sunday Night on "Things Worth While."

A large audience gathered in the auditorium of the First Baptist church in Weymouth Landing last Sunday night at the Sunday Night Forum, which has become very popular about town.

Rev. Clarence J. Underhill, pastor of the Baptist church presided and conducted the devotional exercises. Miss Emma L. Clapp entertained with an organ recital and soprano solos by Mrs. F. Adelaide Whitten were enjoyed.

Dr. George E. Hoar, president of the Newton Theological Seminary, spoke upon "Things Worth While."

In speaking of the European War Dr. Hoar said that the signs of the times to be feared were the depreciation of the standard of true values and that by a reversal of the standard of those values the great Krupp gangs are going to be the things to be worshipped, while the fidelity of the given word and the sanctity of treaties go down before the power of brute force.

In his closing remarks Dr. Hoar, pleaded that the rule of the sea "Children and Women First" might be made the rule of lands in the recognition of others first and in caring for the weak ones.

Town Business.

At the meeting of the Selectmen on Monday a hearing was held on the application of L. B. Holbrook and the Weymouth Light & Power Co to keep and sell gasoline and there being no remonstrants the same were granted.

Willey Lodge I. O. O. F. was granted permit to hold dancing parties. Time extending to May 15th.

An appropriation of $40 was made to erect a safety fence or rail along Whitman street adjoining property of C. Lewis French.

A communication from the State Forester says the town must expend $4,808.27 in the month work before being entitled to any aid from the state.

The abutters along Charles street were represented by Thomas Burgoyne in their complaint in regard to a lack of proper oiling or watering along that street.

Dr. C. R. Greeley was allowed $6.25 on his claim for excessive tax by reason of overvaluation of property at South Weymouth.

Union Thanksgiving Services.

Union Thanksgiving services were held in the different villages of the town on Wednesday evening of this week, with good attendance at all the meetings.

At the services in the First Baptist church in Weymouth Landing, Rev. Albert T. Watson, pastor of the Union Congregational church of Weymouth and East Braintree preached.

At the Old North Congregational church at Weymouth Heights, Rev. Charles Clark, pastor of the Pilgrim church of North Weymouth, was the speaker.

In South Weymouth, union services were held in the Old South Congregational church and the speaker was Rev. Dr. Edward Torrey Ford, pastor of the Congregational church of East Weymouth. Special musical programs were given at the services.

Railroad Records Broken.

Nothing less than a prodigious feat of railroading was performed by the New Haven road on Saturday, the day of the football game, when a total of 33,378 persons were transported over its lines to New Haven within a period of four hours.

Including the travel to New Haven the night before the big game between 37,000 and 37,500 persons were carried to New Haven from all points of the New Haven system. This breaks all records for travel on that road and is believed to establish a record for a mass movement of passengers by any railroad.

Aitogther Out of Place.

James Payn once told the story of a visiting parson who was starting the prayer for rain when the clerk pulled his coat tails. "You mustn't read that, sir," he said. "But it's a prayer for a good harvest, my man," expostulated the preacher. "That's just it, sir," explained the clerk; "the visitors are our harvest, and we want none of your rain."

ON THE FARM

Read this column and you can have it delivered at your house with something new every week for a full year by sending $2.00 to this office now.

Don't allow a cow to skip a milking. The retention of a large quantity of milk in the udder until the next milking period is very injurious.

The cow pays for her board every day if she is the right kind. And the up-to-date dairyman doesn't care to keep any but the right kind.

Not the least important by any means of the dairyman's duties is the successful raising of heifer calves which are to make the future milk cows.

In the business of farming there is no short cut to success. The conditions of prosperity which we all strive to attain are only reached by sure, steady steps from point to point. Therefore, you must abandon wholly and indefinitely all "get-rich-quick" ideas if you have such in your mind.

Begin with a small farm, and make it tidy; don't have sagging gates and swaying doors. In planning your crops, seed less ground than you think you can cultivate well; raise no grass that you can't graze or make into hay; don't raise weed unless you can sell it for a profit over production. Prepare good shelter for your domestic animals and give them good bedding in winter.

Feed cattle through the winter when they have little exercise with coarse, un-nutritious food, and very often develop stomach troubles before the winter is half over. This danger must be avoided in every way possible, and one of the chief causes is the quality of the food we give to the animals.

The feed for the farm horse should be of as good quality as that given to higher priced animals used in the cities or on the race track. The question of mode of feeding is an important factor in keeping the farm horse healthy. Most of the hay should be fed at night when the horse has plenty of time to eat. The hay should be of good quality. All mouldy or musty hay should be rejected as unfit for feed.

Those who have had the most experience with the pruning of apple trees advise late February, March or early April. Theoretically, spring is a better time to prune than fall, the idea being that wounds made in the spring are healed over more quickly than those made in the fall. It is claimed that wounds made by fall pruning heal over slowly because the cambium which starts the healing process is more or less destroyed during the winter.

It is a well-established principle among agricultural economists that animals kept for their working abilities must not be allowed to get fat. Recent investigations show that excess of fat is even more injurious and therefore expensive, in case of animals kept for breeding purposes. For it has been proved indisputably that indisputably that invasion by adipose tissue leads to the degeneration of the organs of reproduction.

The soil is the best of all protective coverings for both seeds and buds. It is literally full of these at the end of autumn all over the face of the land. It protects them so well during the winter that when spring and warm weather return, the surface of the earth is soon green with new life, from seeds and buds buried over winter. You, no doubt, know that potato tubers are utterly ruined in the house or cellar when once frozen. After thawing out they quickly decay and the buds on them die. But potato tubers left in the deep soil in the potato patch over winter are not injured by the soil freezing solid.

Did you ever pass by a farm and see the farmer cleaning up his farm and fence rows? When you saw the man at this kind of work it made you smile, inwardly if not outwardly. Perhaps you spoke an encouraging word to the man as he worked, suggesting to him that he was making his place look much better. That made him smile and feel better. It made everybody feel better who passed along his place and saw the improvement in looks. It incited others to clean up and improve their places, for good work is always contagious. The man who makes improvements not only helps himself, but helps others by his example. That is the way the world progresses, and it is a good thing to be an active factor in progress.

It goes without saying that farm buildings are essential and very important part of the farmstead. The well-improved farm is one on which good farm buildings stand. And by good buildings is meant ones that are serviceable and durable buildings, and also roomy and convenient for housing animals and feeds and for labor in handling the feeds and animals. The good farm building is, first of all, a good shelter; one with good roof, side walls and foundation; one that protects feeds from moisture and the animals from moisture and cold winds, as well as from heat in hot weather. The good farm building

Faulkner's Insomnia

Quickly Cured When Love Became the Physician

By ELIZABETH NEWPORT HEPBURN Copyright by Frank A. Munsey Co.

Faulkner was walking doggedly up town. The doctor had said four miles a day—possibly on the theory that a man thoroughly tired in body is less apt to work his brain in the small hours of the night, when all wise men prepare themselves for the coming day by the blessed business of sleep.

For several months Faulkner had been behaving in this absurd fashion, working all day and staying awake all night.

As he swung now into Broadway the question which for months had stung and tortured him stung and tortured him anew.

When a man has once made a failure of his life, Faulkner asked himself, how is he to know that he will not repeat the performance? Faulkner knew himself to be in love with Mary Hart—he wanted to marry Mary Hart. But how in high heaven was he to know whether Mary loved him?

Obviously he might ask her to marry him, and she might accept. But how was he to be sure that she cared, as he cared, as he had believed that Helen cared long ago? After all, was he not the most glib man on earth where women were concerned?

Moreover, he was successful, eminently eligible and too deeply committed to middle age to be marrying a charming young woman—except for this very eligibility.

There was no use conjuring up Mary Hart's honest smile, her clear, kind eyes, her reputation for sincerity. Long ago he had been made a fool of by one woman, a woman who had married him and lived with him, and finally died under his roof without ever having loved him. He had been cheated once, and he had no faith in his own acumen, his own rusted instincts.

At this stage of his reminiscence he found suddenly that he had been caught in the tide of young girls just emerging from the theaters, where they had been reveling in various matinee performances. He was brought back to the immediate present by a pressure upon his arm and a laughing, breathless voice which proclaimed distinctly:

"After racing nearly three blocks I've caught you at last—and there's a policeman just behind us who is morally certain that he ought to run me in."

He turned to face the radiant, triumphant young person, who now clung to his arm with a possessive, daughter-ly affection. "Child—you're young, to be so confident! How do you know you have found the real thing? How can you be so sure, not only of yourself, but of Jack?"

She turned an astonished face to his, then her young vision seemed to pierce the cause of his middle aged perplexity; she had heard the tragedy of his marriage to a woman selfish, hard, untrustworthy—a woman at the time of her marriage in love with another man.

"I see what you mean, guardy. When lawyers are always being asked to untie matrimonial tangles—when people are wanting every day to get unmarried—I don't believe I was sure of Jack, anyway, until one day more than two years ago. You know, guardy, how men hate to make spectacles of themselves. I guess all people as reserved as Jack and Mary loathe being made conspicuous. It was at the football game; Jack got hurt; I saw them carrying him off on a stretcher, and I was horribly frightened. We were just engaged—and I made an idiot of myself. I ran down through the crowd and insisted upon being allowed to go to him; of course, all the boys understood. When he came to there I was, crying like mad, and there were a lot of the men and the doctor. The instant he had his eyes open, of course, he saw what a holy show I had made of myself—and he not a bit dead! But he just laughed up at me, kind of snapped his fingers at the whole gang, and ignored the doctor. He said out loud:

"I'm all right, darling—just as if 'darling' were my Christian name." Faulkner did not smile. Somehow he saw, as the girl had recognized at the time, how very much this little speech had meant, coming from that big, unsentimental, virile youth, Jack Hart.

For an instant the girl snuggled a bare hand against Faulkner's, and words seemed to hover on her lips, but were not spoken.

Then she left him with one quick glance and "Goodby, guardy—good luck to you," as she sprinted boyishly for the nearest subway station. Faulkner understood that she meant to telephone her tidings to Jack at the earliest possible moment.

Half an hour later Faulkner passed the great bronze figures of the St. Gaudens group in the park with only a cursory glance, though he loved it as he loved all things which seemed to him at once virile and beautiful.

What he wanted was an insight into the heart of a woman—an insight beyond question—and, even as he thought of Mary Hart with thrilled pulses and a new sense of hope, born of Dorothy's young optimism, he suddenly saw Mary herself, a little ahead of him, crossing the wide, crowded street.

Faulkner plunged into a melee of dreary spinsters that make you want to cry for their lost youth."

Faulkner laughed and eyed her eagerly would be less conspicuous.

"What an absurd infant you are, Dorothy! As if you did not act as you see fit, whatever your mother or your poor bullyragged guardian may suggest."

She shook her head petulantly. "Fancy mother 'suggesting'! She always acts as if society and propriety and financial solidity were omnipotent gods and she their high priestess! My religion is knowing how to love and how to be happy! And I'm going to marry Jack, permission or no permission, money or no money, the very day I come of age! Then we'll have my thousand a year, anyhow—we can't starve—and Mary Hart will give us supper Sunday nights, and we'll do without a maid, or even a general houseworker!"

Faulkner gave a fatherly grunt—quite conscious that, unobserved by the girl, he was flushing hotly at the name of the lady of his dreams.

"What would Miss Hart say to such rebellious sentiments and such a mad plan of campaign?" he asked, trying to make his tone severe and meeting with indifferent success.

"Oh, Mary would scold, of course—the things I say, but she will approve of the things I do. She believes there is nothing in the world so awful as doing what mamma would like—marrying for things! She's had plenty of chances herself, but she would rather stay an old maid forever and ever!"

"I thought," said Faulkner, "that unmarried women nowadays were not 'old maids,' but 'bachelor girls.'"

"Mary says a bachelor girl has a career and a fortune and that she, having neither, is just plain old maid. But I think that playing big sister to Jack and making a splendid college bred man of him so that he is now a real lawyer in your office is career enough for any woman! She's only eight years older than Jack, too—and I've told her that he is just to go on loving her more and more, even after he has me!"

Faulkner chuckled at the youngster's air of matronly comprehension and generosity; he patted the little hand lying on his arm.

"I'll do what I can for your Jack, my dear. And I have been considering the advisability of taking some young blood into the law firm—possibly a little arrangement like that might help resign your mother to the inevitable."

The girl turned her shining eyes upon him, and they swam suddenly in tears. Despite the childish face, she suddenly seemed a woman, passionate, competent, exquisitely full of promise.

"Guardy, you are a plumb archangel! And you will make Mary almost as happy as you make us. But I can't wait—I must get on the sub and rush home."

Faulkner retained her arm for a moment. He looked absurdly shy, but he asked his question as boldly as he could:

"Child—you're young, to be so confident! How do you know you have found the real thing? How can you be so sure, not only of yourself, but of Jack?"

She turned an astonished face to his, then her young vision seemed to pierce the cause of his middle aged perplexity; she had heard the tragedy of his marriage to a woman selfish, hard, untrustworthy—a woman at the time of her marriage in love with another man.

What he wanted was an insight into the heart of a woman—an insight beyond question—and, even as he thought of Mary Hart with thrilled pulses and a new sense of hope, born of Dorothy's young optimism, he suddenly saw Mary herself, a little ahead of him, crossing the wide, crowded street.

Faulkner plunged into a melee of traffic just as the policeman drew his whistle. His knowledge of danger came only with the persistent tooting of a strident horn; then, as he drew back to escape the plunging of a frightened horse, a great touring car bore down upon him with the relentless brutality of fate.

He was dragged upon the ground, the tearing, rending sensations as of some horrible rack should have brought him merciful oblivion. But consciousness persisted, and above the clamor of men's voices he heard a woman's sharp scream. He felt himself torn from the clutch of the juggernaut and half dragged, half carried to the sidewalk. Presently he was lying upon the asphalt and a woman kneeling beside him, a woman with a deathly face and great burning eyes.

It was certainly Mary Hart—but she might be merely frightened—the look in her eyes pity! Then ill, wounded, suffering though he was, joy burned through him. For this Mary was no longer gentle, kind, impersonal. She was a woman torn with terror, which only comes to those who face danger to the well beloved. Faulkner knew the dizzy surprise of her kiss on his lips, and then at last he fainted.

Mary Hart heard a newsboy's shrill explanation to the tall policeman who towered above the two prone figures.

"He's her man, or 'fcer. I see him chasin' her across the street just as the other cop blew his whistle. And she turned and saw him and ran back after him and 'most got hit by the devil wagon herself."

Half an hour later a big, competent young surgeon was looking curiously at Mary Hart. She was certainly handsome, although in no obvious or conspicuous fashion, but what interested him much more than her beauty was the fact that she had entirely forgotten herself. She would be quite capable of going home through the streets with that smear of dust and blood across her face.

"Is he going to die?" The young doctor's voice was full of cheerful scorn.

"Well, Miss Hart, if I couldn't pull a patient through a few trifles like a dislocated shoulder and a cut forehead I would resign my job! On the contrary, instead of dying he is quite conscious, and he sends you a message."

Miss Hart blushed divinely—she remembered that impetuous kiss, but she did not repent.

"The message, doctor?" she demanded coolly, and the interne waited for the explosion of his bomb with an impish, small boy delight.

"He wants to know just when you will marry him?" This time Mary did not flush at all. The doctor, nonplused, wondered whether she often received proposals of marriage by proxy. But he decided that his patient had most discriminating taste.

Mary Hart deliberately wiped off her cheek with a handkerchief and looked at the doctor with a flicker of laughter in her eyes.

"Kindly tell him, doctor, that I shall marry him the day after he leaves the hospital! And please say to him that I detest waiting!"

And when the house surgeon conveyed this message to Faulkner that battered and bandaged gentleman smiled, turned his head on his pillow and straightway went to sleep and slept the whole night through for the first time in three months.

Father and Mother. Mary Stewart Cutting, writing a story of a family entitled "The Turning Point" in the Woman's Home Companion, comments as follows on two of her characters:

"They had, as they walked, that peculiar air of some elderly couples—as noticeable in his large bulk as in her fragility—of dependence on each other that comes sometimes after participating in a great sorrow. There was that in the attitude of each that seemed to say pathetically, 'I have you left.'"

His Rejoinder. Star Boarder (after reaching vainly for the butter)—You can see the high cost of living has struck this place. Landlady (beaming)—How's that? Star Boarder—Why, every blamed thing is beyond your reach.—Judge.

The Gazette & Transcript is printed
 and mailed Friday afternoons, and is for sale at all News-stands in the Weymouths
 and at the South Terminal, Boston.

All communications must be accompanied with the name of the writer, and unpublished communications cannot be returned by mail unless stamps are enclosed.

Notices of all local entertainments to which admission fee is charged must be paid for at regular rates, 10 cents per line
 in the reading matter, or regular rates in
 the advertising columns.

Thanksgiving Day for the year 1914 is now a passed event and in its passing there are many religious, social and other events we would like to mention but our limited time compels us to postpone them for future use.

Philosophers, statesmen and diplomats are telling us how the war which has involved nearly all the nations and peoples of the old world might have been averted.
 No man can see but one way to bring it to an end and that is by the complete subjugation of the nation which started it.

As usual some people were not watching for the cold wave which struck this locality on Monday night and as usual
 there were a few frozen faucets and water pipes and calls for plumbers. Up to date we have heard of no call for funeral undertaker on account of thin ice accidents.
 Our advice to the boys and girls, however,
 is to skate on shallow ponds for a while.

We notice that the code revisers of the great state of New York have prepared 150 bills to be presented to the coming Legislature. At the same time every day we hear of bill after bill being prepared or already on file for our own state and it is safe to say that the grand total will be from 1800 to 2000 before Jan. 1st, which suggest that while cities and towns are studying the problem of a modified form of government, Massachusetts might devote some time to a modified form of legislation planned after other legislatures which meet once in two years and with a term limited to 60 or 90 days.

Among the things to be thankful for at this time is more cheery talk in regard to business affairs. There has been more of pessimistic talk than the situation really justified and yet the lack of confidence may in a measure have been some reason for it. The change is reflected chiefly in easier money, a break in sterling exchange and improvement in the credit outlook.
 By far the most important current event was the opening of the Federal reserve banks last week. Of course, these institutions will not be in full operation probably for several weeks to come and some temporary inconveniences may be caused by the transition from one banking system to another.

Far beyond the memory of man annually there has been issued the Old Farmer's Almanac and once more it is given to the world. The same old almanac! The Old Farmer's Almanac is out for 1915 with the same old cover, the same old style and the same old predictions of sunshine or storm strung along the columns in italic type as usual, and while the modern distribution of calendars has in a measure supplanted the Old Farmer's Almanac, that for 1915 will be found as useful as any of its predecessors.

The effort of this country to settle the internal difficulty in Mexico seems to have come to naught. Our troops have been withdrawn and the warring factors left to fight out their own little or big differences. The United States citizen who had business or other interest there have abandoned their mines and mercantile enterprises, probable at a financial loss, but this is far better than maintaining an army along the border or fighting a Gorilla war in the mountains of Mexico.

We count among our most valuable assistants in our business, a complete files of the Gazettes covering a period of more than forty years, not only valuable to us but to the entire town, as no week goes by without some one calling on us for information in regard to some matter of importance, either legal or otherwise and many of these inquiries are for events which occurred a long time ago.

This, as we say, is valuable but not the only one of value. Our readers are valuable and we appreciate the several thousand who weekly watch for the coming of the Gazette.

The merchants and manufactures are of value, as advertising and job work are a large factor in our business of which we could do more.

Now is the time to subscribe. You get the benefit of our ancient history; you get all the current events of the day; you will get our beautiful 1915 calendar; you will get our elegant enlarged Holiday number, and your subscription will extend to Jan-1, 1916. You help some one to win a prize in our voting center.

Now is the time to advertise. Let the people know what you are, where you are and what you have got to sell.

His Definition.

A Liverpool teacher asked her class to write an essay on London.

Later she was surprised to read the following in one attempt:

"The people of London are noted for their stupidity."

The young author was asked how he got that idea.

"Please, miss," was the reply, "it says in the textbook 'The population of London is very dense.'"—London Answers.

London's Old Cathedral.

St. Paul's cathedral of London has had a strange association with fire.
 The first edifice on the present site was erected in 610 by Ethelbert, king of Kent, but in 1087 this was destroyed by fire. Finally in 1666, when the great fire devastated most of London, St. Paul's was wrecked, this being its fifth fire. In 1675 the present church was built by Charles II, at a cost of more than $7,500,000.

"Corpse Coins."

"Corpse coins" are treasured in the north of England. They are the coins that have lain over the eyes of their dead. By this means infection has been spread, but superstition causes the custom to continue. A poor collier or peasant would never think of doing anything important unless he had on his person coins that have been upon the eyes of his dead relatives.—Westminster Gazette.

Egotistical.

"You sometimes disagree with these scientific experts?"

"Not at all," replied the serene egotist. "Notwithstanding the fact that I have thought a matter out to a sound conclusion they frequently insist on disagreeing with me."—Washington Star.

Coming Across.

Hampton — Dinwiddie told me his family is a very old one. They were one of the first to come across Rhodes—Not at the grocer's.—Judge.

Honors come by diligence, riches spring from economy.—Davis.

Prosperity for Posterity.

Americans carry a total life insurance of $34,000,000,000. If a few of us died, how prosperous the country would be!—Wall Street Journal.

 annual Harvard vs Yale game at New Haven last Saturday. From all reports some members, especially the Yale adherents, returned rather down hearted, after the Harvard 36 to 0 victory.

—The Bassobee club met last Monday night with Mrs. J. Leonard Bicknell at her home on Bates avenue.

—Robert Alvord of Yale University is the guest over the holidays of his father, Rev. Henry C. Alvord.

—The engagement is announced of Miss Laura Thomas Sherman of this place to George W. Munroe, son of Mr. and Mrs.
 James Munroe of Mill street.

—Mrs. John Deane and daughters, Alice and Bertha have gone to Bridgeport, Conn., for the winter.

—The campfire girls of the Universalist church met last Friday evening with Miss Eleanor Marden.

—In the Second Universalist church auditorium last Sunday night, Rev. William Wallace Rose, pastor of the church, gave an illustrated lecture on the subject
 "With the Allies."

—The Norfolk club held a Sunset party in the Fog's opera house last night from 6 until 11. Mace Gay's orchestra furnished music.

—Mr. and Mrs. Philip Greeley have taken up their residence in Hyde Park.

—Ellis J. Pitcher spent Thanksgiving with his daughter, Mrs. Roger Adams in Adams.

—William E. MacCauley is spending the holidays with his father at Derry, New Hampshire.

—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Taylor have taken possession of the dwelling formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Philip Greeley.

—Mr. and Mrs. William Forsyth have returned from their wedding trip and have taken up their residence on Pleasant street.

—Patrolman Elbert Ford is recovering from several bruises sustained in an accident a few days ago.

Old South Church Notes.

Morning worship at 10.30 with preaching by the pastor, C. E. at 6 o'clock,
 "Missionary Heroes and Heroines," 7 o'clock evening Gospel service, "Luther's Great Weapon."

Word of Caution.

Never judge a man by his wife's clothes. She may have an income of her own.

WEYMOUTH HEIGHTS

—Mr. and Mrs. Eimer Lunt held a family party at their home over the holidays, guests being present from Hyde Park.

—Miss Mary Lord will entertain the Ladies' Benevolent Society at her home next Wednesday afternoon and evening, December 2. A supper will be served at 6.30 o'clock to which all friends of the society are cordially invited.

—Miss Fannie Cushing of Roxbury, Mrs. Mercy Hunt and Miss M. M. Hunt spent Thanksgiving day with Mrs. James Humphrey.

—A business meeting of the teachers and officers of the Old North Sunday school was held with the superintendent, Rev. E. J. Yaeger, at his home last Saturday evening.

 Miss Rowell of Somerville on Tuesday.

—Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bradford spent the holidays with Mrs. Bradford's parents of Marshfield.

—Nelson Gladwin and family have taken up their residence on Lovell street, North Weymouth.

—Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bicknell were entertained on Thanksgiving day by Mrs.
 J. Smith of Dorchester.

—Miss Barbara K. Ries was a guest of friends in New Haven, Conn., on Thursday.

—Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Bates had as guests on Thanksgiving, Mr. and Mrs.
 Allen of Stoughton and Miss Edith and Abbie Bates.

—Miss Daisy Michelson of Somerville was a week end guest of Mrs. Wallace Bicknell.

—Miss Charlotte and Louise Briggs enjoyed the company of Miss Abbie Lord of Weymouth and H. A. Nash and family on Thanksgiving.

—Mrs. Carl Bradford and Miss Barbara Ries entertained the Uwikana club in a pleasing way at the home of Miss Ries on Tuesday evening. An interesting program of games was indulged in, prizes being awarded to the winners, after which the guests were invited to the dining room where a delicious lunch was served from an artistically decorated table. A large turkey adorned the center of the table which, with chrysanthemums, made a most attractive picture. Each guest received a favor and a very enjoyable evening was spent by all.

First Church, (Old North) Notes

Rev. Walter Thorpe of Wallingford,
 Vt., will occupy the pulpit of the Old
 North church next Sunday morning.

A Thanksgiving union service of the Pilgrim Congregational church and Universalist church of North Weymouth was held in the Old North Chapel on Wednesday evening. Rev. Mr. Clark of North Weymouth conducted the services.

The "Girls Union" connected with the Old North church will meet next Sunday evening at 5.45 o'clock. The subject for this meeting will be "Service."

GET TO THE CAUSE.

Weymouth People are Learning the Way.

There is but little peace or comfort for the man or woman with a bad back. The distress begins in early morning—keeps up throughout the day. It's hard to get out of bed, it's torture to stoop or straighten. Plasters and liniments may relieve, but cannot cure if the cause is inside—the kidneys. When suffering so, use Doan's Kidney Pills, the tested and proven kidney remedy, used in kidney troubles for over 50 years. Doan's Kidney Pills are recommended by thousands for just such cases. Proof of their effectiveness in the testimony of this Weymouth resident:

William V. Brown, 15 Norfolk street, Weymouth, says: "Driving over rough roads had a bad effect on my kidneys and brought on a severe pain in my back. I was troubled mostly while at work and didn't rest well. The kidney secretions were irregular in passage and caused me annoyance. I knew I had kidney complaint and began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. They made a cure which has lasted.
 The endorsement I gave Doan's Kidney Pills at that time, still holds good."

Price 50 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr.
 Brown had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Almost.

It has almost come to pass that a man who doesn't wear a lodge or society button can pose as an eccentric genius.

In Solon's Time.

During the time of Solon, the famous lawmaker, he secured the passage of a statute compelling every able-bodied adult man in the nation to give proof once a year that he was earning a decent living and was self-supporting. Somebody has written to us suggesting that this would not be a bad example for Uncle Sam to follow, since the class of those who have learned to live "gracefully in idleness" is constantly on the increase.—Christian Record.

"What is it?" asked her friend, Clara Beal.

"If that isn't the most monumental piece of impudence I ever heard of!"

"Tell me what it is."

"You know that red headed, freckled, loose jointed Alf Woodbridge?"

"Yes."

"Well, he's sent me a printed circular stating that he's in the market for a wife. He says he's up for competition, a prize. Just think of it! He'll marry the girl who passes the best examination in those things that are requisite in a wife."

"Do you mean to say that he has had the assurance to do such a thing?"

"I do."

"He hasn't sent me one of his circulars. If he did I'd send it right back to him."

"H'm! Better wait till you get one of 'em. He says that only a few of the most desirable young ladies of the town will be invited to compete."

"Worse and worse. I wonder that he hasn't died of conceit before this."

"Conceited persons never die of that disease; they seem to thrive on it."

"Of course you won't take any notice of his circular."

"Certainly not, but there's one thing I'd like to know—that is, if any of the girls so deems herself as to fall in with his idea, which one of them will get the—"

"Prize. Just think of that fellow offering himself as a prize!"

"I'll tell you what I have a mind to do."

"What?"

"I've a mind to fill in his questions just to see what comes of it."

"Can't you find that out without pandering to his silly conceit?"

"No; he says that no information will be given any girl who has not been invited to compete and does not enter the race."

"Race—oh heavens! Don't you know that the girl who wins will let it be known even if she submits to the indignity for fun or to punish him?"

"Well, I'm going to pretend to be a candidate, and if I win I shall just tell him what I think of him!"

"That's a good idea. I believe I'll do so too."

There were a dozen eligible girls in the town, and six received the circular. The six who were left out were furlongs. Every one of them pronounced Woodbridge's impudence unbearable. The six who were invited seemed to have various opinions of Woodbridge's act. Some considered it unpardonable, some pronounced it very funny, and one or two girls with advanced views considered it a very practical way of getting a wife. They said they had a mind to select husbands in the same way.

One morning Mr. Woodbridge was surprised at receiving through the mail a note inclosing a list of printed questions filled in in writing. The note said that the sender considered his competitive examination for a wife "perfectly brutal," but that underneath it all was a basis of common sense.

"I'll cowhide those fellows," remarked Mr. Woodbridge, red as a beet. "I didn't suppose when they threatened to perpetrate that joke on me that they would have the hardihood to do it."

The next morning Woodbridge received another set of examination papers and a set in the afternoon. Each girl who responded had an especial excuse for doing so.

"This is getting interesting," remarked Woodbridge to himself. "What excellent reason these girls have for competing! After all, what's wrong in the idea? Marriages are made in all sorts of ways. Why not by competitive examination? In this age of marriages, experimental marriages, in which both husband and wife are to be boss, marriages without ceremony and marriage till the contracting parties are tired of each other, why not go a step further and have marriages on examination?"

In the last set of examination papers Mr. Woodbridge received all the questions were scratched and new ones inserted. The new ones were so worded as to constitute a virtual examination of the man. The lady inclosed the paper in a note stating that she considered the plan admirable, but the questions were all wrong. If Mr. Woodbridge considered his examination satisfactory she would be happy to marry him at once. She had a brand new idea of the marriage ceremony. The couple were to be photographed standing beside each other holding hands. She objected to anything being said on the occasion since matrimonial promises, all the world knew, did not mean anything.

Woodbridge burst into a laugh at this form of marriage. He wrote a reply to each one of the young ladies who had sent in papers stating that there had been a reaction toward modesty in him. He would do a bit of courting with the winner, and if she accepted him the result of the examination would be known by the announcement of his engagement with her.

This set the girls agog till one day it was announced that Alfred Woodbridge was engaged to be married to Miss Kate Goodwin.

Woodbridge gave his friends who had perpetrated the joke upon him a supper as an acknowledgment of his gratitude for being instrumental in his securing so much happiness.

Following Are a Few of the Items Which Appeared in the Gazette Years Ago This Week.

THIRTY-SIX YEARS AGO
During the last rain Whitmans pond filled up 6 feet. All the stumps being covered with water.

As a day for religious observance, this time-honored occasion is not what it was fifty years ago, when people felt bound to attend church on Thanksgiving Day as much as on Sunday. Neither in its religious nor social holiday aspects, is the occasion what it once was.

Susan L. Tirrell, widow of the late Stephen Tirrell, died at South Weymouth, 2nd November 1878. Deceased was born at South Weymouth, 15th October 1784, and at the time of her death was ninety-four years and seventeen days old. She was the daughter of the late Ephalet Loud Esq., being the second child of the seven daughters and four sons. She was the oldest resident of Weymouth and one of the oldest in Norfolk County.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Engineers was held last Monday evening, at the Active Engine house. After the business of the meeting had been transacted, the Engineers made an inspection of the premises, and expressed themselves well satisfied with the condition of the house and apparatus. They were then invited to partake of a chowder and "skins" provided by the Engineers of Ward 1.

THIRTY FIVE YEARS AGO.
These are times when men hold up their heads and shake a few coppers for a turkey, notwithstanding they have conscientious scruples in taking a number in a chance book at a fair.

Mr. Prince Joy, at Shaw's Corner, has been laying in a stock (?) for Thanksgiving the past two weeks, in which time he has killed eight skunks on his premises, the last one being much larger than either of the others.

There has not been a time for many months when business has appeared to be so lively at our wharves, as at the present period. The lumber dealers are selling more lumber, and have abundant orders, the highway below the depot being at times fairly blocked with teams engaged in hauling lumber, grain and coal.

TWENTY-SIX YEARS AGO.
The removal of Rev. J. E. Millerick from East Weymouth to assume the pastorate of the Catholic parish of Wakefield has caused universal regret among his late parishioners. During his five year's connection with the parish of East Weymouth Father Millerick had become endeared to his parishioners.

The supper and entertainment of the Weymouth Agricultural Society at Reynolds Hall, East Weymouth, next Thursday evening will be a conspicuous event, and has every prospect of being successful. South Weymouth will be well represented, as it is certain that every dollar invested in a ticket not only secures a large amount of enjoyment, but helps the financial standing of the society. The after supper speakers include Lieut.-Gov. J. Q. A. Brackett, Hon. L. R. Session, secretary of the State Board of Agriculture.

TWENTY-ONE YEARS AGO.
Thanksgiving.
Rejoice, this old Thanksgiving Day!
The Pilgrim's feast of joy,
When dear Grandpa and sweet Grandma
Welcomes each girl and boy.
Oh, the smiles on their loved faces!
And the clasp of each warm hand!
With the look of rooms familiar,
Dearest Home in all the land.

Let us gather round the table,
Four generations here,
And feast with heartfelt thankfulness
On rich old-fashioned cheer.

Look! candle-sticks of silver,
From father left to son:
And shining pewter platters,
With turkeys plump thereon.

And ancient mugs for cider
In barrel shape, I ween,
Such queer and valued heirlooms,
Still showing gloss and sheen.

The pale glow of the candles
Reveals each happy face,
As with their hearts uplifted
All join in silent grace.

Five grains of corn are counted
For each Thanksgiving guest,
In memory of that Fast time
When the Pilgrims were hard pressed.

And the sturdy Governor Bradford
Bade Stoddish count the corn,
And give to each poor Pilgrim
His portion so forlorn.

Truly we feel so grateful
That our father's did endure,
And planted fast their banner
For home and church so pure.

Later, in smiling harvest,
When plenty blest their store,
They praised the Lord and feasted
And fasted then no more.

Thus was it first established
Our good old feasting day,
Well loved and cherished ever
As long years roll away.

We hail thee, dear Thanksgiving!
And gladly we will share
With those in want or trouble
Thy blessings rich and rare.

Yes, we will ever love thee!
And feast and praise and pray;
Fond memories cluster round thee,
Our blessed Thanksgiving Day.

WEYMOUTH, MASS., August 8, 1914

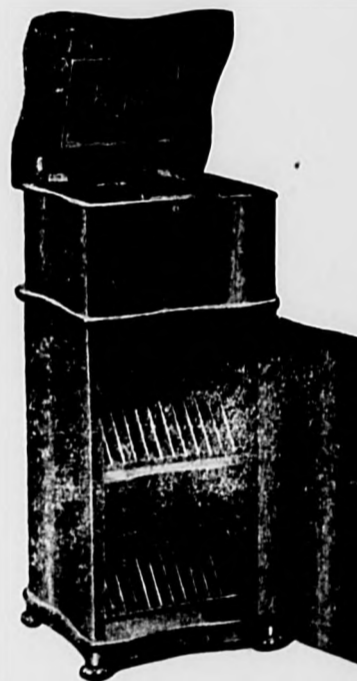

C. A. Peabody Co., 5 Main St., Brockton, Mass.
Dear Sirs:—In reply to your favor I want to say that the "Peabody" piano that was offered by Mr. George R. Kempl two years ago and won by me is more than satisfactory in every way. The tone is beautiful and seems to grow better as I use it. I would certainly recommend this piano to anybody who wants a first-class instrument.

Yours very truly,
ALICE G. CORRIGAN.

The Wooden Soldier
 How He Drew the Enemy's Fire by Lighting His Pipe.
 By CAPTAIN F. A. MITCHEL

In Virginia in 1862 a Federal captain was standing on a rise in the ground looking down a turnpike which extended through a depression and, rising again, entered a small town half a mile away. Hearing horses' hoofs behind him, he turned and saw his general, attended by his staff, riding toward him. "Turn out the guard, the general commanding," cried the picket. "Never mind the guard," said the general and, riding to the point where the captain had been standing, looked at the town beyond with wistful eye. Then said to his subordinate: "Captain, how many men are there in your picket post?" "There are thirty under my command distributed over a quarter of a mile. But right here I have eight men and a sergeant." "Have you seen any indications of the enemy in the town?" "None whatever." The general turned away with evident reluctance. "I wish you," he said, "to keep a sharp lookout for the Confederates there. The place is of great strategic importance to us in this campaign. By tomorrow morning General D.'s brigade will come up and, provided the enemy has not already done so, will occupy the town. I am hoping that he will be in time, for the fate of this campaign rests with that position. If the enemy comes in there tonight he will fortify it and we shall not be able to drive him out without a hard fight, which in our present condition would not be practicable. Keep a sharp lookout and keep me advised." "May I not advance my post to the town, general?" "Not that would involve an advance of the entire picket line." The general rode away. Private Tom Bixby, who had been standing at attention beside the road and had heard what had been said, dropped the butt of his musket on the ground and resumed the position of a picket on the lookout. The rest of the afternoon his mind was on the town and the question which side would get there first. At sunset he was relieved and ate his supper. Then, lighting his pipe, he sat down on the ridge and smoked and looked for signs of soldiers in the town on the other side of the valley. When it was dark he knocked the ashes out of his pipe, went to his captain and, saluting respectfully, said: "Captain, it seems to me that, considering we can't see what's going on in the dark, some one should reconnoiter." "You may go if you choose." "All right. I'll just walk down the road and up the other side of the valley, near enough to see if there is any stir, and if there is I'll come back and let you know." Tom sauntered away into the darkness. On reaching the edge of the town he saw citizens moving about, but no soldiers. The people went to bed early, and when everything was quiet Tom made an entry. Passing a shop under a sign "Otto Schmitt, Tobacconist," Tom, thinking it a good opportunity to replenish his stock of tobacco, went inside. After buying what he wanted he fell into conversation with the proprietor, who, being a German, had no especial affiliation with the Confederate cause. Before the shop stood the figure of a man lighting his pipe. Schmitt, who was an ingenious mechanic, had made it himself for a sign. With one hand the figure held the pipe, while in the other was a match. In the pipe bowl was tobacco. A rubber tube led from the pipestem into the store. Schmitt by pulling on a wire could light the match and smoke from the shop. Tom noticed the mechanism near the shop window and asked what it was Schmitt not only explained it to him, but put it in operation. An idea popped into Tom's brain. If he had that figure and connections on the side of the town from which the Confederates would approach possibly he might make them believe that the Federals had got ahead of them and had occupied the town. He took Schmitt into his confidence and told him that if he would lend him his sign and help him carry it to a new location he thought the Federal general might pay him very handsomely—that is, if the ruse succeeded. The German hesitated. Most of the citizens of the place were Confederate sympathizers, and he feared that if his act became known he would suffer for it. But Tom assured him that if the town was unoccupied by the Confederates at daylight the Federals would surely enter it in force, and the hope of profit won him over. He shut up his shop, put out the lights, and an hour later, when not a footstep was to be heard on the street, he and Tom carried the figure to the road by which the Confederates would be likely to advance. Reaching an eminence on which a picket could be seen from a distance, they set up the dummy in the middle of the road. Tom could not take off its Confederate uniform, but he could put his own over it, which he did, and rested his musket in the hollow of the arm holding the pipe. Schmitt meanwhile was making the attachments, filling the pipe and leading the tube to a convenient place of concealment, behind which he had Tom took position and waited. It was 11 o'clock when they set up the dummy. A wagon passed into the town a half hour later, but Tom and his assistant heard it coming in time to remove the figure and set it up again as soon as the team was gone. This was the only interruption that occurred. At 1 o'clock Tom heard a distant sound like the rumbling of artillery over a bridge. The wind being from the south, the sound very faint and Tom's hearing acute, he judged that whoever was crossing the bridge was miles away. He wished he could be in two places at once. He would have liked to go back and hurry up the Federals who were coming and remain where he was at the same time. In another hour the sounds of an approaching force were unmistakable, and not much later the tramp of men was audible. Then down the road Tom heard an officer order skirmishers to deploy, covering the road and each side of it. "Light up," said Tom to Schmitt. There was a tiny flash, which rose and fell as Schmitt pulled on the tube, while clouds of tobacco smoke rose from the pipe. There was just light enough to reveal the figure to those advancing without their being able to see that it was a dummy. There was a crack, and a bullet jarred the wooden soldier. "Stop smoking," whispered Tom, and, screened by the darkness, he ran to the figure, which still stood bravely on its feet, and, seizing the musket, fired a shot that went slinging down the road. Then, drawing his revolver, he fired three shots in quick succession. "What's that for?" asked Schmitt. "They'll think it a signal for our troops in the town to warn them that the enemy is coming. They won't dare come on against an unknown force. My opinion is that if our troops come up before the enemy can see that there's no one here except three men, one of them a dummy, we've won. You can't do anything more here. Suppose you go down the road on the other side of the town and hurry up whoever is coming. If this game succeeds you'll be well paid, I'm sure." Schmitt set off through the town, having little over half a mile to go to reach the Union picket post. It was now about an hour before dawn. Tom kept his position on the ridge, from which he sent an occasional shot, always changing his position between shots to make the enemy believe that they were fired by different men. The fire was not returned, for the enemy could see no one to fire at. They were very quiet. Tom's fear was that they were moving around to push forward on his flank, where they would not meet with any opposition whatever, and the fact that the town was unoccupied would be apparent. For the greater part of an hour Tom stood between the Confederates and the town. He was within sound of the troops below and could hear the usual noises made by soldiers on the march, halted while the commanding officer deliberated as to what he should do. That was the longest hour Tom ever spent in his life. Every minute he expected to hear the command "Forward!" given and to see through the darkness a dim mass coming up the road. His imagination served him many a trick. At one time a stump appeared to be a Confederate standing with his musket to his shoulder; at another he was sure that he heard the tramp of men coming nearer and nearer. But all these proved to be nothing but scares. The Confederate commander was not minded to walk into a death trap that he could not see. In some twenty minutes after Schmitt left Tom he came near the picket post and made himself known. He was admitted to the lines and rushed to the general, not far distant, who, on hearing his story, ordered a regiment under arms instantly and pushed forward. In this he disobeyed an order of his superior, but took the risk. In less than fifteen minutes the men were marching toward the town and, under Schmitt's guidance, to the point held by Tom Bixby and his wooden support. Silently ranging themselves along the ridge on each side of the road, they waited the dawn and the coming of the brigade that was supposed to be advancing. As soon as it was light enough to see the enemy he was discerned drawn up in line of battle at the foot of a declivity. An officer on horseback in the middle of the road was looking up through a pair of glasses. But he could see few of the Federals, for their colonel had posted the men where they would be concealed. However, he made himself known to the Confederates, who withdrew out of range. Before sunrise the tramp of men was heard in the town, and it was evident to those at the front that the expected brigade had arrived. They had no sooner been distributed at the weaker points when the general commanding the Confederates ordered a part of his force to feel them to determine their strength. After some desultory firing, becoming convinced that the town was occupied by a force strong enough to hold it against him, he withdrew his army. When all was over the Federal general rode out to inspect Tom Bixby's Quaker soldier. Never before was an officer more delighted. The desired result had been accomplished and he had been vindicated in disobeying orders. He asked Tom what he could do for him, and Tom told him whatever he did must be for Schmitt, whose tobacco sign had won.

Tom was given a commission, and Schmitt was appointed to a sutlership, which he found very profitable.

Can't Afford It?
 Let's figure it out and see
 How much would you charge to go to the grocer's or the provision dealer's?
 How much would you give, on a stormy day, to be able to visit a distant friend?
 How much would it be worth, in case your child were taken suddenly ill at night, to be able to summon the doctor at once, and, perhaps by special instructions from him by wire, to be able to give temporary relief pending his arrival or even to save it's life?
 The expense of a telephone, is not figured by what it costs for a whole year, but how much it saves each time it is used. Therefore, with all these things in mind, ask yourself
Can I Afford to be Without a Telephone?

To the Manor Born.
A lady accosted a little girl who was entering one of the fashionable New York flats where she knew the rules were exceedingly strict, and after some little conversation, said: "How is it you live in these flats? I thought they would not take children. How did you get in?" "Why," replied the child, "I was born in."

—The fourth incendiary fire within a few weeks and all in the same locality occurred yesterday morning at 1:30 o'clock when an alarm was pulled in from box 26, East Braintree, for a fire at the old Hobart mill on Shaw street. The fire was discovered by Patrolman Augustus Johnson and the quick work of the fire department prevented a serious fire. The fire was set in the shed attached to the mill and burned through into that building. A short time ago two attempts were made in one night to burn the old house on Quincy avenue, formerly occupied by the Bay State street railway as a waiting room. This was followed by an attempt to burn the hay sheds on Mill lane and two weeks ago the building next to J. F. Sheppard & Sons' barn was set on fire. The State police have investigated the previous fires but no arrests were made. It is rumored however that an arrest may be looked for shortly.

—I have been fortunate in securing as instructor for the cornet, trombone and all the brass family, Mr. Walter M. Smith who is well known in and about Boston as one of the leaders in his profession. Mr. Smith will be glad to assist in the organization of factory and all other bands, as he has a great deal of experience in this line, having been cornet soloist with and assistant conductor of the well known Marlband band of Brockton for many years, and conductor and cornet soloist of Stewart's famous "Boston Band" also for a period of years. Mr. Smith will hereafter supervise and take entire charge of the brass instrument branch of the Chance for the Optimist.

Read—"What do you suppose will happen on the judgment day, when the earth plunges into eternal darkness and desolation." Grant—"Oh, I suppose some optimist will rise and proclaim, 'Now is a good time to buy stocks.'"—Judge.

Encourage Children to Play.
Play gives joy, freedom, contentment and occupation. A child who plays thoroughly, with perseverance and determination, will be thorough and persevering in life. Children are full of imagination, which finds expression in their games and play. A child's world is very real. Blocks, balls, water colors, scrap books, sands, spools or garden tools have a significance for him.
