

TO BE STORE KEEPERS

THREE MEN SENT BY EXEMPTION BOARD FOR SPECIAL TRAINING

Three young men were sent into the military world Saturday by the local Exemption Board. They were Wright Hubbard, who has been a bookkeeper, Charles J. Schick, 811 Central avenue, Glendale, a company clerk for the Universal Film Company, and Avery Starr Hoyt, who has been Commissioner of Horticulture for the State of California. They left in high spirits and will stop en route at Fort McDowell, Angel's Island, to be outfitted with uniforms, guns and other equipment.

All these young men are going to take the course for Chief Storekeeper, Ordnance Department, which is being given at the University of California at Berkeley, which begins March 11th and lasts for six weeks. Lectures and other class exercises will be supplemented with inspection under guidance, of methods of keeping stores in San Francisco and nearby cities.

The curriculum, as outlined by the Chief of Ordnance, includes:

1. The principles of store keeping and store control.
2. Army organization.
3. Property accountability and responsibility.
4. Paper work, including military correspondence and ordnance property accounting.
5. Military law.
6. Infantry drill.
7. Elements of bookkeeping.
8. Conversational French.
9. Typewriting.

Students are inducted at the beginning of the course and will receive the pay of a private and an allowance for subsistence amounting altogether to about $45 per month.

At the conclusion of the course those who have done satisfactory work will be sent to U. S. arsenals for further training in practical methods.

It will be their business if commissioned for this branch of the service to keep the stocks of ammunition, guns, etc., and give them out, and they may not see actual service on the fighting lines at all.

BROADWAY SCHOOL

DID GOOD WORK IN THE COLLECTION OF SALVAGE LAST SATURDAY

Good work was done by the children of the Broadway school and the five auto drivers who assisted them to collect salvage Saturday. Under the system evolved for this work, one school collects on the east side of Brand boulevard one Saturday, and a week later the next school on the list covers the west side of Brand.

The collections of bottles, old metal and miscellaneous junk have been pretty well cleaned up and the Saturday gatherings were mostly paper. In this connection the chairman who directed the work, Mrs. M. Ogden Ryan, principal of the Broadway school, says it would help considerably if persons who have papers to bestow would tie them in packages before delivering them to the children. When thrown loose into a machine they must be gathered up and made into bundles, all of which means work when time is precious.

The general committee which will have charge of this salvage work will be made up of a representative from each school appointed by the principal. The committee has not yet been named yet, but will soon be appointed. Miss Maybelle Douglas is sales chairman and will be responsible for that end of the work. The committee will work in harmony with the P. T. A. committee of which Mrs. McKee, chairman of the Tuesday Afternoon Club Philanthropic Committee is the chairman, and she and her co-workers will visit the warehouse and select things which they can make use of in their work, such as shoes and clothing.

The collecting is only one part of the work. When the stuff is brought in it has to be sorted and put in compact shape. One task laid upon the hard-worked shoulders of the committee is the washing of bottles. This junk will undoubtedly yield considerable money for the Red Cross, but the workers will earn it.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Holmes of Enterprise, Oregon, were entertained lately at the home of Anna Eva Chauvan, the artist, 115 North Glendale avenue, Tropic, Cal. Mrs. Holmes is a sister of Mrs. Chauvan. Mr. Holmes is engaged in the banking business and in company with his wife is making an extended tour of the southern and eastern states.

A PUPIL OF LISZT

MRS. GEORGE DOAN ENTERTAINS MUSIC SECTION WITH TALES OF THE GREAT MUSICIAN

One of the largest meetings of the Music Section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club which has yet been held, was enjoyed Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Calvin Whiting, of 1442 West First street. Mrs. Whiting is the director of the Double Trio, which is such a valuable adjunct to the Music Section.

The decoration of Mrs. Whiting's home for this occasion was very artistic, poinsettias and lilies being combined most effectively.

Mrs. Frank Arnold, the curator, presided and in a gracious manner announced the program, which opened with a piano solo by Mrs. Roy Masters, who pleased her audience and was compelled to respond to an insistent demand for an encore.

The speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. George Doan, was then introduced and was discovered to be a most wonderful and beautiful elderly woman who studied music forty years ago under Liszt and Rubenstein, and who gave most interesting personal reminiscences of them, of Brahms and Schumann. She also exhibited the autograph of Madam Schumann. Before the program closed she played two numbers on the piano in a manner which made some of the young musicians who heard her sit up in wonder and admiration. Mrs. Doan is known as "the mother of the Harmonia Club" of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Mable Capell, whose lovely voice is always welcome on any program, sang a selection from "Madame Butterfly" and as an encore gave a "Cuckoo Song."

Mrs. L. N. Hagood played a Ballade in A flat by Chopin, and as an encore gave a Left-hand Waltz by Arthur Foote.

Mrs. John T. Crampton contributed one of her charming original poems expressing the sentiments of Johnny, a little boy, and entitled "My Hero."

Delicious refreshments were served by the refreshment committee, which was made up of the following ladies: Mesdames C. E. Hutton, A. A. Barton, George Herald, M. E. Plasterer, Frank Salter and Joseph Brant.

NOT SEEKING EXEMPTION

A young farmer, C. E. Sherlock, who is one of the big food producers, called at the rooms of the Exemption Board Saturday to learn what, if anything, he can do to hurry up his induction into the Aviation Corps at Rockwell's Field, San Diego. He has already received his authorization to be inducted, and now it is merely a question of passing the physical examination. He has some minor physical defect but hopes to overcome it and to persuade the examining surgeons to let him through. He is very anxious to go.

Mr. Sherlock's parents live in Burbank, but he is fresh from eastern Oregon, where he has thousands of sheep on pasture representing values in the neighborhood of $50,000 which he will leave in the charge of an agent and so free himself to serve his country.

BOY SCOUT CAMP

Preliminary arrangements have been made for a beautiful recreation camp for boy scouts. According to a Pomona paper, a party of men interested in the organization went to Lytle Creek March 5th and formally made out the government lease to thirty acres of land to be used by it as a camp. On the land is a good building. It is situated near the forester's residence, and near the creek. From the land there runs a trail across to Ice House canyon in San Antonio canyon, while another trail leads to Cucamonga peak. By the terms of the lease the boys will have the privilege of erecting any kind of building desired, and to plant trees and shrubs wanted. They are certainly to be congratulated in this great accession to their enjoyments.

YOUNGER SET ENTERTAINED

A dance greatly enjoyed by the younger set (the High School students) and some of their older friends, was given by Miss Marcella Miller Saturday evening at Masonic Temple. About one hundred young people enjoyed the affair, for which the following ladies were patronesses: Mesdames L. E. Miller of Pasadena, W. S. Blaich of Whittier, Alfred Leslie De Vine of Los Angeles, John Ray and James W. Pearson of Glendale.

A pink color scheme was beautifully carried out in decorations of Cherokee roses, carnations and ferns. A jazz orchestra furnished excellent music, and fruit punch was served.

AMERICAN TROOPS IN FIRST RAID

U. S. SOLDIERS, UNAIDED BY FRENCH, MAKE SUCCESSFUL ASSAULT ON ENEMY NEAR TOUL

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE.—Troops holding the American sector north of Toul made a successful raid on the Boches early this morning. This is the first exclusively American raid without French participation.

W. J. Winter of Chicago, serving with a French aviation corps, was killed in an air fight, falling behind the enemy's lines, the war office reported.

Thomas Hitchcock of Westbury, Long Island, a member of the LaFayette Escadrille, was seen to disappear while pursuing an enemy plane toward the German lines. He is believed to have been captured.

American and French soldiers operating together have conducted raids over widely separated sectors, demolishing German trenches at three points.

American artillery aided magnificently in these raids, completely demolishing one section of the enemy defenses. No Germans were taken alive there. Elsewhere, the Boches taking refuge in dugouts and tool houses were bombed and grenaded. Seven German prisoners were taken.

SCHOOLS IN WAR WORK

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS STRONGLY ORGANIZED FOR WAR RELIEF ACTIVITIES

The following report, compiled by Richardson D. White, Superintendent of Glendale elementary schools, in regard to war relief activities in the schools, will be found to be of great interest.

Every grammar school in Glendale is organized as Junior Red Cross Auxiliary of the Glendale Chapter. We are following all the lines of regular Red Cross work which are suitable, knitting, making hospital garments and supplies, making refugee garments especially for the children of France and Belgium, cutting gun wipes, making scrap books for the refugee children, making newspaper and magazine clippings for the soldiers and sailors, making toys and useful articles out of wood and art needlework for sale in the Junior Shop, making Red Cross shipping boxes.

In connection with the refugee garments mentioned above I desire to call your attention to the two departments of this work, namely, articles made out of new material and articles made out of conservation materials. These latter are the garments made from the old clothing, hats and shoes gathered up over town through the salvage department and otherwise.

Also the entire salvage work of the local chapter has been taken over by the Junior Auxiliaries (including of course the high school).

Junior Red Star

Every grammar school has also a Junior Red Star organization. This is the organization which supplies aid to the animals in use at the battle fronts.

Food Conservation

The principles of food conservation are carefully taught in the cooking classes and elsewhere.

Food Production

In every school where the grounds are suitable for the purpose we have school gardens which will do their bit in swelling the total of food production for the year. But more important than this is the work we are doing in encouraging home gardens.

The children are encouraged in every way possible to make home gardens and are given practical advice and help in their work. A number of people with expert knowledge of gardening have volunteered their services to the schools to aid the children in planting and caring for their gardens. In addition the Glendale Garden Society has rendered invaluable aid by providing a fund for the purchase of seed to be sold to the children at market gardener's rates in penny packets. The necessary work of putting these seeds up in packets has been done by the members of the Garden Society.

Children of America's Army of Relief

For over a year now, dating back to a time prior to America's entry into the war, the children of the schools have been contributing to a fund for the relief of the starving children of the war-torn countries.

SCHOOL DISTRICT CONSOLIDATION

The petitions which have been circulated throughout Glendale for the signatures of the heads of families, asking for the consolidation of the Grammar School Districts of Glendale and Tropic have been completed and have been referred to County Superintendent of Schools, Mark Keppel. He has in turn referred them to the Board of County Supervisors and a hearing has been set for March 15th, at which date the petition will be considered by the Supervisors.

TOTAL RAINFALL 15.52

Mr. Bartlett's rain gauge indicates that the precipitation of the last storm from its beginning Sunday morning to 7:30 Monday morning, when rain practically ceased, totaled 3.35 of an inch. This brings Glendale's total for the season to 15.52 inches. Last year at this time it totaled 17.22 inches. From present indications Mr. Bartlett is of the opinion that last year's rainfall will be surpassed.

While the fall at times was very heavy, no damage has been reported in the City of Glendale.

WEATHER FORECAST—Rain tonight and Tuesday. Southwesterly winds.

THE SOLDIERS' REVIEW

JESSE SMITH DESCRIBES GREAT CAMP PARADE AS AN INSPIRING SIGHT

A large number of Glendale people visited San Diego Saturday and witnessed the grand review of soldiers at Camp Kearny. Jesse Smith, the Ford agent, was there and reports seeing Peter Ferry and family, Mrs. Ralph W. Meeker of 300 Colorado boulevard, Henry Henning of West Seventh street, and several other representatives of the city.

Mr. Smith pronounces it a great sight and witnessed by probably not less than 75,000 people. It was estimated that 5000 private automobiles brought 25,000 of the crowd and the rest got there by means of the trolleys, stages and on foot.

Mr. Smith left San Diego with his mother and a cousin from the east who is their guest at 12 o'clock and did not reach the grounds at Camp Kearny until 2:30. He was in a solid line of autos extending from the city to the camp, both by Murphy's canyon and via La Jolla. The distance is only sixteen miles but the congestion forced the machines to crawl all the way, as every one had to check in under rigid military inspection before gaining an entrance to camp, and that meant delay.

"The parade was wonderful, and it was an inspiring thing to watch those 40,000 men in uniform keeping step to the strains of the military band, their heads up and a look of expectation and resolve on every face. It is bound to get into a fellow's blood when he looks on a sight of that kind," says Mr. Smith.

Mr. Smith had taken the precaution to engage rooms at the Grant Hotel for himself and party the middle of the week, otherwise he would not have gotten accommodations at all. When the crowd got back to San Diego not a room was to be had. People slept in their machines on the streets of the city and on the road to Camp Kearny, on the floors and in the lobbies of the hotels and in every available shelter. All the equipment the city afforded in the way of cots and bedding was exhausted and still some visitors walked the streets all night without a place to stay.

Mr. Smith met several of the Glendale soldier boys, among others J. T. Beach, Herbert Henning and Bill Bode. All are anxious to get to the front, and detachments are going forward at intervals. Two trainloads were seen pulling out of San Diego Saturday night.

NEW FIBRE PRODUCT

MADE FROM THE YUCCAS OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA HILLS AND DESERTS

Mr. Dickinson, of 220 West Tenth street, who came to this city a short time ago to push the development of a new industry which has been established on San Fernando Road in the industrial district of Los Angeles, is moving to Chicago to handle the business in that city.

The business in which Mr. Dickinson is engaged is the manufacture of fibre out of the yucca of our hills and deserts. As fibre is a tremendous need at this time, our sisal imports from Mexico having been largely cut off, eastern magnates are greatly interested in this new source of fibre for twine and other uses. These desert plants with long, sword-like leaves are wonderfully tough and when boiled and combed yield a white, strong bundle of glistening threads resembling white horsehair. Only the crude processes are carried out at the factory on San Fernando Road, where a carload of fibre is turned out and shipped east to the International Harvester Company every fifteen days.

Those who are acquainted with the milling processes of fibre after examining the crude product have expressed the opinion that if heckled and made ready for the loom it would make a very beautiful fabric, that it is too good for use as binder twine. However, the binder twine combine wants it and will buy the output at a figure which will yield a profit, so they will probably absorb it for some time to come.

It is estimated that 2000 British and Canadian subjects in Los Angeles County will be affected by the ratification by the United States Senate of the American-British Conscription Treaty. The age limits for the British draft are 20 and 40 years and it is said that 250,000 men in this country will be called. United States citizens between the ages of 21 and 31 will be drafted in British and Canadian countries and required to fill out questionnaires. It is probable that Glendale also will lose a number of citizens in this way.

NEW FOOD REGULATIONS

New and drastic food regulations—both designed to conserve wheat—were made effective today by the California Food Administration under telegraphic orders from Herbert Hoover received last week.

Beginning today, under the first of these two new rules, potatoes cannot be sold as a "wheat substitute" under the rule requiring the purchase of an equal quantity of "wheat substitutes" with each flour purchase.

Under the second rule, dealers who cannot procure "wheat substitutes" to sell with wheat flour must not sell wheat flour.

The first rule is the result of investigations revealing that the order permitting the sale of potatoes as a "wheat substitute" had had but little effect—that potatoes had been used but little in conserving flour. Hereafter the conditions of the sale or purchase of a pound of wheat flour will be the purchase of an additional pound of cereal substitutes including cornmeal, corn flour, hominy grits or other corn products; barley flour, rolled oats, oatmeal, rice and rice flour, buckwheat flour, soya bean flour, potato and sweet potato flour and feretita flour and meals.

The second rule is designed to strike at the dealer who sells flour to a customer without selling the required amount of substitutes, on the ground that he cannot procure the substitutes. The food administration believes any dealer can secure a sufficient stock of wheat substitutes if he but tries.

In announcing these orders the state food administration again laid stress on the point that in California lamb, mutton, beef and fresh porks and all other meats may be used freely and that the only meat restrictions in this state cover the ban on ham, bacon and cured pork products and lard on "Porkless Tuesday."

UNIVERSITY PROFESSOR URGES GREATER PRODUCTION OF COTTON

"Each family farm should possess from three to fifteen acres of cotton, according to the number of children and other available labor constantly employed," says John W. Gilmore, professor of Agronomy in the University of California, in a pamphlet just issued by the University's College of Agriculture.

"I am advocating the production of cotton primarily because it enters into the scheme of better and permanent agriculture, and because it is a profitable crop," Professor Gilmore continues. "The deep rooting nature of the plant requiring good preparation of the land, its water requirements, necessitating the judicious use of water and its conservation by culture methods, render this crop a valuable one in maintaining fertility of the soil, especially if the meal from the seed were fed to livestock kept in the community and provided also that the stalks be not burned but disked and returned to the soil. Cotton enters into several rotation schemes. It follows well after beans and is especially fitted to precede grain because of its requirements of well prepared soil and good culture. Except on poor lands, it may not follow alfalfa because the abundance of nitrogen tends to stimulate vegetative growth under irrigation. This reduces yield of lint and prolongs the growing season."

REVIEW OF THE FARM LABOR SITUATION

The College of Agriculture of the University of California has just published "A Study of Farm Labor in California," by R. L. Adams, Professor of Agronomy, now State Farm Labor Agent, and T. R. Kelley, Instructor in English and History in the University Farm School at Davis, at present assisting Professor Adams in his farm labor survey.

In this report two facts are clearly indicated: first, that there was a shortage of farm labor in 1917, causing losses in both quantity and quality of farm products; second, that unless the situation is promptly and intelligently handled there will be a greater shortage of labor and consequent loss of crops in 1918.

How to avoid this threatened loss is comprehensively discussed. Personal letters have been written to farmers throughout the state, to the farm advisers in the different counties, to county farm labor agents other than farm advisers, and the matter has been discussed at many farm center meetings all over the state, the suggestions received being given in the pamphlet. First among these comes importation of labor, the preference being to Orientals or Mexicans; then closing of saloons; third, the practice of more liberal exemptions of farm labor from draft; fourth, development of potential supplies of home labor (children, women, city dwellers); fifth, better distribution and utilization of present labor supplies; sixth, anti-vagrancy laws; seventh, conscription of labor. Each of these suggestions is discussed and conclusions given as to the probable effect should it be adopted. Attention is called to the fact that the farm labor situation cannot be segregated from the general labor situation, since if one group is short it draws upon whatever supply is available, thus establishing a new equilibrium and spreading the shortage over all production.

To quote from the pamphlet: "Much can be done to relieve the shortage if immediate action is taken to render the present supply more available or efficient. If, however, through failure to take such action, or if, no matter how carefully manipulated, the supply bids fair to be insufficient, then additions must be made through importation from outside sources sufficient to insure the need of all farmers. The greatest need is for a body of experienced laborers able to do hard, manual, unskilled work under prevailing conditions."

Tables are given showing the "peak load" needs of the different sections and suggestions made as to the handling of the transient labor that must meet this need.

The authors emphasize that the office of State Farm Labor Agent was created solely to foster and assist in every way the labor supply as it affects the production of food, feed and fibre necessary to the conduct of the war, and therefore the question whether existing ranch conditions are good or bad for society or labor is not strictly pertinent. Nevertheless, while plans for great production must utilize all resources, only changes should be advocated which will not tend to a dangerous aftermath upon the conclusion of the war.

The pamphlet is not for general distribution, but a limited number of copies is available to responsible persons particularly interested in the solution of the labor problem. Requests should be mailed to the College of Agriculture, University of California, Berkeley.

 schools are investors in Liberty bonds and thrift stamps, and in addition each school is an official station for the sale of thrift stamps. This has been made possible by the generosity of the local banks which have provided without interest a revolving fund for the purchase of these stamps for sale in the schools. In the course of a very short time each school will be organized as a War Savings Society in accordance with the plan put out by the Government. In the name of the schools of Glendale, I desire to publicly thank at this time Mrs. Nichols and her committee on the conservation of clothing, Mrs. Ackley and her committee on seed distribution, Mr. Chase, Mr. Barnes, and Mrs. Howe and their committees on thrift stamps, the banks of Glendale, Miss White's committee of garden supervisors, all who have aided in the salvage work, and all others who have aided and are aiding the schools in their efforts to teach the children the great lessons of patriotism, unselfishness and service to their fellow men.

A TALE OF LINCOLN

An interesting bit of history came to light in connection with the death and burial of Mrs. Mollie Overton, a former resident of this city. Mrs. Overton's father, Mr. Williams, was at one time a law partner of Abraham Lincoln, and he had a family record which traced his ancestry back to the famous Roger Williams, prominent in the early history of Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

Mrs. Overton's father and Mr. Lincoln were once spending the night at a small country town where they were trying a case at law. In order to be ready for the trial the next day, they talked the case over after they had gone to bed. During the time they were talking, there arose a blizzard, and a large amount of snow was blown into the room and on the bed where they were lying. Mr. Lincoln began to get chilly, and told his companion that he was going to light the candle, which was their only means of light, and get up and build a fire.

Mr. Williams agreed, saying that he wanted to write a letter to his fiancée. As the two men were quite intimate, Mr. Lincoln ventured to ask his companion the name of his fiancée.

"Mary Owen," replied Mr. Williams.

"Mary Owen! Why that can't be, for I am engaged to her myself."

"Well, I have a letter from her in my pocket which will prove my case," answered Mr. Williams.

Sooner than was first thought, the candle was lighted and the letter produced. Both men recognized the handwriting as that of the girl who had plighted troth with them. As a sequence to that story it may be stated that Mary Owen did not get either man. They did not care for a girl who would pledge herself to two men at the same time. However, as a proof of the real affection between Mr. Williams and Miss Owen, it is related that they had their parting on a winter's day by the tall stile which formed the approach to the homes of those days. As the two stood there Miss Owen's head rested on her disappointed lover's shoulder, and as her tears of grief streamed down, they froze on his overcoat.

In later years this woman wrote for a prominent magazine an article, "Why I Refused to Marry Abraham Lincoln," and in it she stated that her love for Mr. Williams overcame her affection for Lincoln, but she suffered the punishment of getting neither man because of her foolishness in "keeping both on the string" at the same time.

INCREASED CONSUMPTION OF SUGAR

The amount of sugar consumed in 1917 in the United States was about 88.3 pounds per capita, according to figures issued by the Department of Agriculture. The average annual consumption for the five-year period ending in 1916 was 84.7 pounds per capita.

There were about 1,500,000,000 pounds of commercial stocks of sugar on hand August 31, 1917, compared to 2,000,000,000 pounds on the same date in 1916. New York reported the largest stocks, followed in order by California and Louisiana

ONE HUNDRED YEARS OLD

"Grandmother" Lucy Vaughn of Riverside started her second century of life today. Born in slavery in Kentucky March 10, 1818, she has seen the day when she could lift a bale of 500 pounds of cotton. Yesterday she celebrated her 100th birthday confined to her bed, but not too weak to return a happy smile to the scores of friends who called upon her. Her greatest joy in her hundredth birthday was the fact that it fell on Sunday—the Lord's Day. "I was born a Baptist and I will be a Baptist until I have received the call from my Master," "Grandma" Vaughn told callers as she thumbed a worn and stained Bible in her hand.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR ATTENTION

Glendale Commandery, No. 53, Knights Templar will hold a meeting this evening at Masonic Temple for the purpose of bringing up matters of more than ordinary importance. The attendance of all members and visiting Knights will be appreciated.

The loyal ones are buying War-Savings and Thrift Stamps.

Citizens of Glendale:

As the time for the spring election draws near, the matter of the election of a ticket which will assure a continuance of the progressive government which we now have, is of supreme importance.

At a recent enthusiastic meeting of a number of loyal citizens from both the older and the "gateway" sections of the city, the following ticket was nominated:

FOR CITY TRUSTEES (Two to Elect)
JOS. S. THOMPSON (Incumbent)
HARTLEY SHAW

FOR CITY TREASURER
J. W. STAUFFACHER (Incumbent)

FOR CITY CLERK
J. C. SHERER (Incumbent)

The work of Mr. Thompson as Trustee, Mr. Stauffacher as Treasurer and Mr. Sherer as Clerk is so good that their election is very easy to forecast.

Mr. Shaw, who would represent the "Gateway" (former Tropic) section, is already well known to many Glendaleans as an able lawyer, a patriotic citizen and a man whom any voter can be proud to recognize as a City Official.

THE ETERNAL LAW

In speaking on the subject, "Out of Tune with Life," Rev. A. William Goetz, pastor of the Occult Science of Christ Church, 584 East Broadway, Glendale, said in part:

"Text Matthew v:18, 'Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled.'

"God's law is harmony on every plane of expression and that harmony rules nature in the myriad forms of beauty. There is an underlying law of God principle to every expression of life from the lowest to the highest and we do not find any intelligence disregarding this law except the mind of man. All of the harmonies anywhere existing are created by mankind alone; therefore as man is the creator of inharmonies he can likewise be the destroyer of inharmony and he does this by uniting his will to that of God, and learning to say and mean it, 'Not my will but Thy will be done, oh thou giver of all good.' This is accomplished first of all by recognizing the source of confusion and closing the mind to that source. Next recognizing the source of peace and opening the mind to that source, even the God Mind of the Universe. You can not do this without using your power of will to close the door of one expression and open the door to the other. The law of right thinking persistently applied will right every seeming wrong in the Universe. Know this and live it. Just try for one month to think always in accord with the God Mind. This means that you will not worry, you will not fear, you will not doubt, you will not recount past experiences of inharmony, you will speak no ill of any living soul but will fill the mind with thoughts of praise to God, of love to man, and will condemn no one—not even yourself. You will see the good in every life and refuse to see evil or ignorance. You will constantly express the God within; therefore you will be fulfilling the law of harmony. The shadows will disappear from your life and the sunlight of knowledge and power shall shine always day and night.

"Begin the day by counting your blessings; refuse to dwell upon those things which you do not count as a blessing. This attunes your mind to power, and whatsoever you find to do, do this cheerfully and learn that the secret of life is giving. Give kind words, give loving thoughts, give a smile, and when one is hungry give him some bread; give advice to those who ask it; give the peace of your soul to those who will receive it. This is living the law and whatsoever you send out into the realm of unseen forces returns to you again laden with your just reward. The foolish man expects God's law to change for him and thus he is out of tune with life. The wise man changes his life to conform with the law which is eternal and finds happiness and prosperity in so doing. Be wise, conform to the law. Every student of the science of life must know this law and live it. You can not speak the law with your tongue and deny it with your actions and expects results of harmony."

STATE NEWS

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 11.—Plans to extend convict labor on the state highways to include prisoners who are not released on their honor are being considered by A. B. Fletcher, engineer of the state highway commission. These "bad" convicts would be worked under armed guard while the honor convicts now in the construction camps virtually are without guard, only their word of honor being between them and liberty. Fletcher said that the reason for extending the system to include the "bad" convicts is the severe shortage of labor that is anticipated during the spring, summer and fall.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 11.—It is discretionary with sheriffs, chief of police and marshals as to what finger prints and descriptions of criminals they shall furnish to the state bureau of criminal identification under the state criminal identification law, but it is mandatory that they furnish the bureau with a report of lost, stolen, found, pledged or pawned property. This is the substance of an opinion given C. S. Morrill, superintendent of the state bureau of criminal identification by Attorney General Webb in reply to Morrill's query as to whether any action can be taken against these officials for failure to comply with the provisions of the act. To proceed against those officials who fail to comply with the mandatory section of the law, says Webb, accusations in writing of wilful or corrupt conduct in office must be made and filed with the county grand jury.

CAMP KEARNY, San Diego, Cal., March 11.—Lieut H. C. Beaumont of the Canadian army has started classes in calisthenics and gymnastics among the non-commissioned officers of the Sunshine Division, selected to receive this instruction and in turn to become instructors for their companies. Beaumont is assisted by Civilian Division Athletic Director J. R. Case and Division Boxing Instructor Geo. V. Blake. Particular attention is being paid to exercises which furnish enjoyable sport and at the same time give maximum development of the body.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 11.—Prohibition looms as the big issue in the state political fight. It's not going to be a question of how the candidate stands on the Rominger Bill or whether he favors statewide prohibition, according to the political observers, but it will be this: How do you stand on the national prohibition amendment? The prohibition leaders, it is said, will demand that each candidate, for governor, lieutenant governor, the senate and assembly declare himself for or against the national amendment. They propose to leave no middle ground.

But most important of all candidates, in the eyes of the prohibition leaders, will be those for gubernatorial honors, these same observers say. And the reason why the dries are expected to be so insistent with regard to gubernatorial candidates, is expressed, politicians believe, in the following utterance of a prohibition chief.

"The national prohibition amendment to become effective must be ratified by the legislatures of two-thirds of the states. The success or failure of the amendment might depend on California. And the attitude of the California legislature toward the amendment might depend on one senator or one assemblyman. And the decision of this one senator or assemblyman might be influenced by the governor." Sing a song of six-pence. Easy on the rye, Candidates must tell us, If they're wet or dry.

If he favors moisture Dries will give him fits; If he doesn't then the wets Will wallop him to bits. He cannot sit astride the fence If he expects to win; Now isn't that an awful fudge To put a fellow in.

DECISION MUST COME ALONG WESTERN FRONT

By Henry Wood (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES, Feb. 10 (By Mail).—European military authorities are now generally agreed that if a decisive battle is ever fought in the present war, it must be fought on the western front.

According to them, the front in France must ever remain the supremely important one until the very end of the war.

By a decisive battle is meant a defeat so great that the enemy's army is no longer capable of serious military effort.

In the present warfare of attrition, such a decision, it is estimated, is not so likely to come as a result of superior strategy as from some long drawn-out contest like the battle of the Somme or that of Flanders in which the enemy's forces are gradually worn down till the breaking point is reached. But even if the decisive battle comes in this manner, the strategists insist that it still can only come on the front in France. If such be the case, American troops may yet have the opportunity of participating in the greatest and most important battle in the world. Germany's central position, according to the strategists, gives her advantages in the matter of strategy and quick railway communication that render it impossible for the Allies successfully to meet her on any of the other fronts. According to the strategists, strategy is a very simple thing—to understand. Its underlying principle is merely that of concentrating the maximum force on the front where the enemy's defeat will be attended with the most decisive results. Unfortunately, however, an army
