Woodward to Resign If Government Sells Timber at Capilano

Vancouver, Sept. 10.—Charles Woodward, Liberal member-elect for this city, has forwarded his resignation from the Legislature to Premier Oliver to become effective should the Government proceed with its plan to sell a portion of the Capilano watershed timber.

Early to-day Mr. Woodward announced that he had resigned, but later Chris McRae, one of the other Vancouver Liberal members, announced that Mr. Woodward had modified his attitude. It is understood that Mr. Woodward's modification of his attitude on the letter of resignation forwarded to Premier Oliver is in the form of an extension of time for the receipt of assurances that the sale will not be made.

MERVILLE SETTLERS RECEIVE $102,000 IN DAMAGES FROM LOGGERS FOR LOSS IN FIRE

Damages amounting to about $102,000 will be paid by the Comox Logging and Railway Company to settlers at Merville whose homes were burned in June, 1922. A settlement out of court between the company and the Merville settlers has just been reached. Under this agreement the company will pay the settlers on a basis of eighty per cent of the damages awarded to them by the courts some time ago. The company had appealed against these damages but, as stated, has finally agreed to pay eighty per cent of the total award as well as about $25,000 to cover all legal costs.

CHINESE ARMIES PREPARING FOR RENEWED FIGHT

Shanghai, Sept. 10 (10 p.m.)—Renewed rainfall to-night indicated almost without doubt that further fighting along the whole front of the Chinese civil war would be postponed until the skies cleared. That it will mean merely cessation of firing instead of stopping of hostilities, however, was indicated by reports that both sides in the struggle for possession of this rich port were strengthening their positions and rushing additional troops and ammunition to the battlefronts.

FRANCE TO IMPORT OVER 22,000 TONS OF WHEAT IN YEAR

Paris, Sept. 10.—The wheat crop of France has been badly battered by months of rain, according to Le Temps. This newspaper quotes agricultural experts as estimating the shortage that must be overcome by importation as possibly 25,000,000 (22,000 tons) quintals. Instead of 10,000,000, which it was believed a few weeks ago would be sufficient.

PROLONGED SUFFERING

Judge Caverly added that while life imprisonment "may not strike the public imagination as a penalty as severe as hanging," yet "to the offenders, particularly of the type they are, the prolonged suffering of years of confinement may well be the severest form of retribution that under the state law it is within the discretion of the Department of Public Welfare never to admit these defendants to parole, and that in this course is preserved in the punishment will satisfy the ends of justice and safeguard the interests of society."

CROWD AT JAIL

An immense crowd gathered about the entrance of the Cook County Jail when the decision became known. A score of motorcycle policemen, lined up on both sides of the street, held the people in check. The crowd was silent and merely stood around, watching the jail doors.

NO EFFORT FOR RELEASE

After the sentence had been pronounced, Nathan Leopold Sr., father of one of the prisoners, who had sat with head bowed while the judge read his opinion, said he would never attempt to obtain the release of his sons from the penitentiary. When asked if that was his attitude, he replied emphatically: "Surely, surely."

"It is probable also that opposition to public ownership is not a popular question in Quebec, but is confined to a Montreal financial group. Besides, no Conservative leader could afford to alienate Conservative support in Ontario and elsewhere outside Quebec by declaring for the return of the National Railways to private ownership."
The Globe refers to the support Quebec gave Sir John Macdonald, which afterwards shifted to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and concludes: "Mr. Meighen is admittedly not a Macdonald, but is a convention likely to bring forth such a prodigy."

TWENTY-TWO MINISTERS ATTENDING SESSIONS OF WORLD LEAGUE IN GENEVA

Geneva, Sept. 10.—The Government of British Columbia has decided that it is more important to have their Foreign Ministers at Geneva following the discussions on obligatory arbitration, security and disarmament than to have them stay at home and conduct the general routine of foreign affairs.
These thirteen ministers are sitting modestly, side by side, engaged in the hardest kind of committee work in stifling committee rooms, trying to lend a helping hand in the effort to put peace in Europe on a solid foundation. There is no excessive personal dignity in these days, for almost everybody here for the League sessions is either great or near great. In addition to the

BAG LIMITS! BIRD HUNTERS HAVE A CARE

Saturday is the big day. Next to the observation of the shooting season, perhaps the most important factor for giving all hunters an equal chance to take game, and for giving all game a fair chance, is the observation of the bag limit and of certain simple shooting restrictions. Following the Migratory Bird Treaty such restrictions have been provided throughout Canada and the United States, and thus hunters in both countries are given equal privileges while the game stock is conserved as well.
BAG LIMITS
Daily bag limits in British Columbia: ducks, twenty of all kinds in one day and not more than 150 of all kinds in a season; geese, ten in one day and not more than fifty in a season; rails, twenty-five; black-bellied and golden plovers, ten and greater and lesser yellow-legs, fifteen in one day and not more than 100 in a season; Wilson snipe, Jack snipe, twenty-five in one day and not more than 150 in a season; brant, ten in one day and not more than fifty in a season.
RESTRICTIONS
The use of automatic, swivel or machine guns, or battery, or any gun larger than number ten gauge is prohibited, and the use of any airplane, powerboat, sail boat or night light, and shooting from any horse-drawn or motor vehicle is forbidden. The shooting of migratory birds in the Province of British Columbia earlier than one hour before sunrise or later than one hour after sunset is prohibited.

HEAD OF REAL ESTATE BOARD IS VISITOR HERE

thirteen or fourteen years, an organization founded in Chicago in 1906. The business of selling real estate is a profession with a code of ethics. Mr. Ennis pointed out that it had achieved wonderful results in its efforts to the members a definite objective of commercial morality, of stimulating improvements in their own localities, and freeing out the shackles which fettered them during the various land booms throughout the country. He explained how the association had established a school of commercial real estate through its choice of leading Wisconsin economists, and mentioned that seventy-one real estate boards while thirty-one universities and colleges had courses in real estate salesmanship.
The organization now had 20,000 active and 20,000 associate members, with 507 boards in affiliation, he said.
TRIBUTE TO MR. CROSS
The association had definitely placed the word "realtors" as the occupational term for members of the boards trained in their profession affiliated with the association, and the corresponding society in Great Britain had applied to it for ideas, with a view to similar organization. He said they had some very fine men from Canada in the association, and paid a tribute to the splendid services given by the late Charles T. Cross of this city, and active realty man, to that association. Mr. Cross they knew as a man who measured up to the highest ideal of what a real estate man should be.
He appreciated the magnificent response of British Columbia during the war, and Mr. Cross's patriotic address at that time were treasured memories of their organization. As a Ulster man born he was glad to be a Ulster man on British soil, and to see what British Columbia was doing towards its development.
Mr. Ennis, who was entertained at dinner at the Union Club by local real estate men, left later for Vancouver, en route to Lake Louise, Banff and Winnipeg. He has been almost continuously during his year

TELEGRAPHERS OF PRESS SERVICE GIVE ULTIMATUM

The company based its claim for reduction on the fact that the present agreement was negotiated just four years ago at the time when the index figures of the high cost of living were at their lowest. The Department of Labor at Ottawa had reached its peak, this being for the month of July, 1920, from September 1, 1920, when the present agreement went into effect, there was an immediate rapid decline in this index figure until to-day it stands but little higher than the index in 1917.
ASKED FOR BOARD
On two previous occasions, in 1919 and 1920, the Canadian Press and its telegraphers settled their differences through the medium of a Board of Conciliation appointed by the Department of Labor, and on each of these it was the telegraphers who asked for the board. On the last occasion, 1920, the late Judge Gunn of Ottawa, who was chairman, awarded the men a flat increase of 15 per cent, basing his findings on the increased cost of living, the following being an extract from his award.
"The request or demand of the employees for increased rates of pay is based mainly, if not entirely, on the well-known ground of increased cost of living expenses during the past year and still existing, which will continue."

FOREIGNERS PUT UNDER ARREST IN URGU, MONGOLIA

Detention is Result of Political Upheaval in That Eastern Region
Peking, Sept. 10.—A political upheaval has occurred at Urgu, Mongolia, and several foreigners have been arrested, according to reports reaching here from Kalgan.
Urgu, the chief town of the northern district of Mongolia, is situated on the Tula River, on the route of the Kihaku-Peking, and is five miles south-southwest of Kihaku. The city has a population of about 30,000.

Foreign Ministers there are nine ministers who hold other portfolios in the Government of various countries, and some thirty or forty statesmen, who have been Premiers or Foreign Ministers during their careers.
PROPERTY CONVENTION
The Council of the League yesterday approved the report of its economic committee which had made proposals to serve as the basis of a conference for revision of the industrial property convention, the object of which is the suppressing of unfair commercial competition. It also decided to continue the study of the South American proposals regarding guarantees for foreign buyers against worthless goods.

CHINESE ARMIES PREPARE FOR RENEWED FIGHT

Shanghai-Nanking Railway and the Grand Canal.
TWENTY EXECUTED
Twenty suspected spies were executed to-day at the Chekiang headquarters, it was disclosed to-night. The alleged spies, it was said, had been active in planning an attack on the Kiangnan arsenal at Lungwha, a few miles south of the city.
TROOPS BREAK AWAY
Peking, Sept. 10.—The second and third divisions of the Chekiang army under Lu Yung-Hsiang, which has been opposing the Kiangsu army near Shanghai, have deserted their independence under the Civil Government to reports received here.
The Chinese war office credits the reports and predicts that disaffection of the troops will bring about a complete alteration of Lu Yung-Hsiang's plans.
PERIOD OF FIGHTING
Shanghai, Sept. 10.—Cessation of the fighting which halted along the front south and west of Shanghai was the signal for resumption of firing along the whole line this morning between the forces of rival military governments battling for possession of Shanghai.
Reports from the Lungwha headquarters of the defending forces this morning said additional advances had been made against the invading forces in the Iing sector west of Taihu Lake, ninety miles west of Shanghai. The Chekiang troops reported the capture of the village of Susan in their drive to take Iing.
TO TAKE CHANG CHOW
The drive on Iing is part of the campaign to take Chang-Chow, the point from which the defending forces hope to attack the Kiangsu troops in the Shanghai-Nanking railway.
A force of Chekiang troops penetrated beyond Anting to-day, although they had been repulsed at the Kiangsu troops, Lungwha announcements said.
CHANG TO ATTACK
General Chang Tso-Lin, who has been mobilizing his forces since Sunday, intends to open an attack on Shanghai-Kwan to-morrow against the Wu Pei-Fu forces, thus creating a new battle line between Peking and Shanghai, according to a report received at Lungwha to-day from a reliable source.

THE LAST GAP

The telegraphic messages indicate the problems of this effort, how the car derailed at the curves and how they had cut the road over the hills to the roadway at Hope, abandoning the flange altogether.
MR. BEMENT'S RECORD
The special advantage of having an accomplished road enthusiast to lead the party was the fact that he had a number of articles to be published from his pen. Mr. Bement not only writes for the daily press and for various automobile magazines, but has also been a frequent contributor to a specialized journal as the National Geographic Magazine.
The Lincoln Highway, with which his name has been so associated for ten years, runs by plain and forest, hill and dale, across the United States from New York to San Francisco, a distance of 3,143 miles. From a dream it has become a reality. In the last decade $57,000,000 has been spent on it and it is estimated it will cost $75,000,000 to complete. It is believed that the Canadian Highway from Halifax to Victoria will cost as much as the present agreement on the Lincoln Highway. It took Dr. P. E. Doolittle six weeks, using steamer and rail part of the way, to cross Canada, but he made several detours for personal purposes, which added greatly to his mileage, it being distinctly a personal and not a competitive journey.
The log of the Lincoln Highway is an interesting journal of travel, and if the Winnipeg-Victoria route is logged in such an attractive way, it will be quite a contribution to the topographical history of the West, where the motor car has now supplanted the prairie schooner.
PREVIOUS EFFORTS
The effort to cross the country from Halifax to Victoria, and the shorter endeavor from Winnipeg to the Coast has been tried before with varying success.
The most important effort was that of Thomas W. Wilby, London Morning Post correspondent, and special writer, who left Halifax in August, 1912, and reached Port Alberni October 14, arriving here on October 18, having been met by Danby by a number of Victorians, some of whom are participating in the ceremonies of to-day. J. L. Beckwith, president of the Canadian Highway Association, was then mayor, and Alderman A. E. Todd, pathfinder of the Pacific Highway, was then president of the local automobile association. Both were among the party to welcome the intrepid motorist.
Mr. Wilby did not qualify for the medal, as he had to make a detour into the interior, but he gave a most graphic account to the representative of this paper on the tour. He afterwards wrote a book which was published in 1914 under the title of A Motor Tour Across Canada.
Charles J. Glidden, Boston manufacturer, traversed Canada by car on a round-the-world trip. At that time

CHICAGO JUDGE GIVES TWO YOUTHS LIFE TERMS

NO APPEAL, SAYS DARROW
"It was all we asked for," said Clarence S. Darrow, chief defence counsel. "There will be no appeal. I do not regard it as a victory except a victory for justice," said Benjamin Bachrach, of defence counsel, as he shook off those who offered congratulations on the youths' escape from the noose. "Do not congratulate me personally."
ELDER LEOPOLD WEP
Nathan Leopold Sr., sat silently weeping. He offered no comment, and merely nodded his head when friends grouped about him and whispered in his ear.
Foreman Leopold, Nathan's older brother, relaxed visibly as the judge uttered the words in his statement from the noose. "Do not congratulate me as the judge read from the transcript.
Allan Loeb, athletic brother of Richard, beamed smugly, but said nothing.
Jacob Loeb, uncle of Richard, and former head of the Chicago Public School Board, remained silent although he relaxed visibly after Judge Caverly had passed sentence.
TAKEN TO CELLS
The Loeb and Leopolds watched anxiously as Nathan Jr. and Richard were herded quickly back to the elevator to be returned to their jail cells.
Then as the courtroom emptied rapidly, Jacob Loeb interrupted an interview of a half score of newspapermen with: "Oh, Clarence, they are waiting; let's go."
Nathan Leopold Sr., who had recovered his composure, opened his cigar case and passed cigars to the members of the group as they filed from the courtroom.
MADE NO COMMENT
Edwin Graham, uncle of the child murder victim, the only member of the Franks family in the room, refused to comment on the sentences. He shook his head in a refusal when asked for the Franks family's acceptance of the sentences as justice for the murder of Bobby.
PAROLE PROCEDURE
Mr. Darrow was commenting on the possibility of parole when Jacob Loeb interrupted him. The defence counsel of the group said parole could be applied for after twenty years of the life sentences had been served, but thought it required thirty-seven and a-half years of incarceration before parole could be applied for under sentences of ninety-nine years in the penitentiary.

SAYS IMMIGRATION IS CANADA'S TEST

Dr. J. W. Gregory, Visiting British Scientist, Urges Standards be Maintained

Sherbrooke, Que., September 10.—The true test of the Canadian citizenship will be the right to stop the intermingling of the people of Canada, a high class country, with people of lower class countries, for in such an intermingling the present high standards of the people would be lowered, said Dr. J. W. Gregory, president of a section of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, in speaking on the subject of immigration here to-day.

Dr. Gregory stated the new United States immigration laws had been drawn up to keep the people from the southern and eastern countries of Europe from entering the United States and declared the motives underlying the United States laws should also be applied in Canada, for Canada must under no circumstances allow inferior peoples to come and settle in this Dominion and thus lower the standard of the people.

NEWCOMERS MUST MIX

"Immigrants entering any country must be capable of mixing with the people of the country in which they settle, but they must not be the means of lowering the standard of that country," he said.

"The people of the British Isles are not sufficient to fill all the gaps in Canada and therefore people must come from other sources, but wherever they come from the characteristics of these people must be considered before they are allowed to enter the Dominion.

MUST ACCEPT STANDARDS

"Second, the immigrants should be able and ready to conform to the standards of the country. In this respect the Chinese are unsuitable citizens, for they never intermingle with other people but remain Chinese in every respect.

"Immigrants and other people should be mixed. If two races are mixed, one of a high standard, and one of a low standard, the lower one will win every time and bring down the standard of the higher class," said Dr. Gregory.

The speaker said he and other members of the British Association for the Advancement of Science in their travels through Canada could not help but note the great future which lies before Canada.

RAPID PROGRESS

"Canada," he said, "is progressing rapidly. As proof of this we need only to point out the famous universities, colleges and schools of the Dominion. But the present progress and the work of its notable pioneers of this Dominion will be worth naught if the leaders of the future are dealing with immigration, for the greatness of Canada rests entirely upon the purity of the Canadian race."

EXPLORERS FOUND HUMAN SKELETONS

Other Evidence of Human Habitation on Nihoa Island in Hawaiian Region

Honolulu, Sept. 10.—Many evidences of human habitation were discovered on the now uninhabited island of Nihoa, part of the Hawaiian Bird Island reservation, 20 miles northwest of the main archipelago, by a scientific party which visited the reservation aboard the U.S.S. Tangier under the auspices of the Bishop Museum here, according to statements made on the return of the party to Honolulu.

SOIL IS GOOD

Conditions on Nihoa are favorable to human habitation, he continued. The soil is good and sufficient rain falls to permit of the cultivation of sweet potatoes, yams or sugar cane. Some of the relics found in the house sites were considered significant by the scientists who are engaged in the general problem of discovering the origin of the Polynesian race. The specimens will be studied further.

The implements found on Nihoa included many bone needles which may have been used for tattooing or for sewing, one rare fishhook made of human bone and similar to the ancient Hawaiian fishhook grindstones showing the effect of much wear, adzes polished all over, and a stone lamp typical of Hawaii.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 10.—The Coal River Collieries Company, which operated coal mines in West Virginia and Kentucky and is owned by members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, although the brotherhood has no direct interest in the company, has refused to sign a wage agreement with the United Mine Workers of America, because it cannot break even by operating under union demands according to Warren S. Mr. Stone's statement was contained in correspondence over the situation between John L. Lewis, president of the miners' union, and himself, made public by Mr. Lewis here to-day.

BABYLONIAN MUSIC IS NOW DECIPHERED

Dr. Kurt Sachs Says Twenty-two Stringed Harp Was Used

Berlin, Sept. 10.—Babylonian music written about the year 800 B.C., which has been deciphered by Dr. Kurt Sachs, curator of the instruments collection in the Berlin High School of music, apparently was played on a 22-string harp, and the notes have many characteristic similarities to the Chinese music of today. The instrument on which the music was played used octaves, double octaves and chords in fourths and fifths.

DETAILS OF TASK OF DECIPHERING THE MUSIC WERE DESCRIBED BEFORE THE PRUSSIAN ACADEMY OF SCIENCE BY PROFESSOR C. STUMPFF FROM NOTES FURNISHED BY DR. SACHS. THE RARE TABLET UPON WHICH THE MUSIC WAS RECORDED HAD REFINED FOR A LONG TIME IN THE MIDDLE EASTERN SECTION OF THE PRUSSIAN STATE MUSEUM. IT IS NOW FINALLY IDENTIFIED AS FIVE ORDINARY BRICKS. THE TABLET WAS UNEARTHED IN ASSUR, THE BABYLONIAN CAPITAL, AND WHILE THE MUSIC IS BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN WRITTEN SOMEWHERE NEAR THE YEAR 800 B.C., IT IS THOUGHT TO REPRESENT NOTES OF A MUCH EARLIER PERIOD.

IN THREE COLUMNS

The inscription is in three columns. The first column obtains some marks heretofore undeciphered and the second is a religious poem, descriptive of the creation of man from the Sumerian tongue—a tongue even then long dead except as a language of religion and the law. The third is a faulty translation of the poem in Akkadian.

The inscription in the first column, written in cuneiform, consisted of Sumerian words of one syllable, written upon lines, but apparently without sequence or meaning. Hitherto it had defeated the efforts of the Assyriologists, as has also a somewhat similar tablet in the British Museum, London, containing six columns, of which the first and fourth were undecipherable.

POLYPHONIC SYSTEM

The Assyriologists at the Prussian Museum recently conceived the idea that the first column might be intended to express a rhythm or even theory as a practical musician and antiquarian, began to test it. In seventy lines he found sixty-two different syllables. By a process of condensation, Dr. Sachs reduced all the sounds and after overcoming a great many other difficulties he concluded that the cuneiform notation represented a polyphonic system.

MAY FIND BURIED TOWN IN NEVADA

Archaeologists of University Explore Cavern Where Hieroglyphics Found

Ely, Nev., Sept. 10.—Scientists of the University of Nevada, in an exploration party headed by Governor J. C. Scruggs, have read again the pages of the past in caverns near the famed Lehman Caves and found them rich in archaeological lore.

Figures found on the rock wall of a cavern, said to be undeniably Aztec, lead Dr. B. F. Schappelle, archaeologist of the university, to believe the discovery one of the most important in recent years. The finding of pottery in the caves also moves the pottery line about 300 miles farther north than any ever before found.

The campaign was waged in large part by the Democrats on the Ku Klux Klan issues in regard to an endorsement of Brewster by the Klan in the primary. To-day Mr. Pattangall, defeated Democratic opponent, in a statement, asserted the Republican victory was a distinct triumph for the Ku Klux Klan.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and Bunty's Lesson

By Howard R. Garis

As Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods one day, not far from his hollow stump bungalow, the rabbit gentleman heard the sound of crying.

"Some one is in trouble," thought Mr. Longears, with a kind and gentle twinkle of his pink nose. "That is too bad! I must see if I can not help them—that is if it isn't the Wolf or Fox."

To make sure of this the bunny gentleman looked around the edge of a sassafras bush. He saw no Woolie

The bunny squeezed the book on the bears nose.

Wolf, nor did he see the Fuzzy Fox. Instead he saw Baby Bunty, the little rabbit girl, sitting on a grassy green bank. Bunty was crying real tears! Not the kind that rag dolls cry, but real, wet, watery, salty tears.

"My goodness, Bunty! What's the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily, hopping over to the little orphan rabbit girl. "Did the Bob Cat or the Bushy Bear frighten you?"

"Oh, no, Uncle Wiggily," answered Bunty. "I'm crying because I can't learn this hard lesson. I go to the Hollow Stump School, you know, and this afternoon the Lady Mouse Teacher gave me a book with hard words in. She said I was to learn a lot of hard words, and tell her how to spell them when she asks me to-morrow."

"What kind of hard words are they, Bunty?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Oh, all kinds of hard words," answered Bunty. "Words like stone and iron and rock and diamond and gum drops."

had eaten some of the soft, sticky gum-drop candy, and then she and Uncle Wiggily sat down on a soft, mossy green log to study the hard words in the spelling book.

The rabbit gentleman was teaching Bunty how to spell dog, which is one of the easy hard words, and Bunty was looking at the book to remember the word better, when, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggily shut the book quickly (though he didn't mean to) and caught Bunty's paw between the covers.

"Oh, you're pinching me!" cried Bunty.

"Excuse me," cried Uncle Wiggily, quickly opening the book so Bunty could pull out her paw. She only laughed, for she wasn't much pinched, and then the rabbit went on with the lesson.

"Spell nose, Bunty!" said Uncle Wiggily.

"I can't spell NOSE, but I can spell EARS!" suddenly cried a savage voice, and out of the bushes burst the Bushy Bear!

"Oh! Oh, dear!" screamed the little rabbit girl.

Did Uncle Wiggily run away and leave Bunty for the Bear? Indeed he didn't! Quickly stepping up to the bushy chap, with the open book in his paw, Uncle Wiggily quickly shut the book with a snap and a bang, just as he had done, by accident, on Bunty's paw, only much harder.

And in snapping together the covers the bunny caught the soft and tender nose of the Bear in the book, and the tighter the bunny squeezed the book on the Bear's nose, the louder the Bear howled.

"Let me go! Let me go! Don't pinch my nose and I won't nibble your ears!"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny. Then giving the book an extra squeeze and the Bear's nose an extra pinch, Uncle Wiggily opened the book and let the Bear lumber away. So the bunny didn't have his ears nibbled after all, and Bunty soon learned her lesson and was at the head of her class next day.

And if the little dog doesn't run and hide under the bed when he hears the postman's whistle, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily having a tumble.

HOW IT AFFECTS US

ACCORDING to comments in The Cranbrook Herald there has been a suggestion in some quarters of the Kootenay section of the interior that the Banff-Windermere road would lose its popularity with the automobile tourist as soon as the novelty of the formal opening and its immediate significance had worn off.

This growth of automobile travel in the Kootenay section of the Province is of considerable interest to the Coast, for while some of these cars may have visited Vancouver Island before this popular eastern highway, it is fairly safe to say that the majority of them have commenced their journey in this Province over the uncompleted route which runs eastward from Princeton.

As the interior develops along tourist and holiday lines so do the opportunities for more business for this part of the Province appear; but as long as the through connection remains an urgent need it will be precious little of that particular traffic which we shall be able to get.

A LIFE SENTENCE

LEOPOLD and Loeb have been sentenced to life imprisonment for murdering young Franks. Their trial has been one of the most remarkable in the annals of crime.

How long the two young culprits will remain at their new address is entirely problematical. Most people will believe that money already has thwarted justice to an almost unbelievable extent, and few will doubt that circumstances will arise before very long which will hurl the legal battering ram against the doors of the penitentiary.

NATIONAL DEBTS

ON December 31, 1923, the national debts of four leading participants in the great war, on the side of the Allies, compared as follows: The internal debt of France was $52,247,000,000 and the external debt, estimated at the rate of exchange then current, was $28,331,000,000, making a total indebtedness of $80,578,000,000.

On the same date, according to a study just completed by the research department of the Bankers Trust Company of New York, the internal debt of Great Britain was $32,709,000,000, the external debt $6,290,000,000, making the total debt $38,999,000,000.

If these figures are adjusted for varying degrees of inflation by dividing the total debt of each country by the wholesale price index number of that country, the following result is obtained: The debt of France, so stated, amounts to $17,555,000,000, that of Great Britain to $24,999,000,000, that of Italy to $6,542,000,000, and that of the United States to $14,514,000,000.

Comparing the interest charge estimated in pre-war gold dollars, with the national income on the same basis, we find that the percentage of interest charge to national income for Great Britain is 10.52 per cent., for France 9.30 per cent., for Italy 6.18 per cent., and for the United States 2.18 per cent.

On a per capita basis, the debt of Great Britain in pre-war gold dollars is $531.89, that of France $450.13, that of Italy $163.55, and that of the United States $131.95, whereas the per capita interest charge is $22.38 for Great Britain, $16.69 for France, $6.15 for the United States, and $5.25 for Italy. To sum up, therefore, these figures show that, estimated in pre-war gold dollars, the national debt of Great Britain is heaviest, that of France comes next, that of the United States next, and that of Italy last.

ACROSS B.C. BY MOTOR

MOTING over the railway ties of the Fraser Canyon is not exactly an experience which one would select for a holiday thrill. Vancouver Island and other parts of the Province have a variety of diversions to offer which are considerably more pleasant.

More than usual interest will be shown in their recital because it will have a direct bearing upon the transprovincial project upon which the local Government is about to embark. The canyon route has been decided upon as the most practical highway across British Columbia.

Incidentally, Messrs. Bement and Evans are to be congratulated for winning the gold medal the Canadian Highway Association offered some years ago for the first motor which made the journey from Winnipeg to the Pacific Coast, under its own power, without detours into the United States.

The League of Nations should take notice of the conciliatory and considerate attitude which Chinese war makers adopt; the idea of fighting in the rain is wholly repugnant to them.

Mr. Pooley is of the opinion that all the factions which opposed Dr. K. C. MacDonald in North Okanagan at the general election will line up in support of the Conservative candidate at the byelection.

It is being suggested, and seriously suggested in some quarters, that an early general election will be fought in Great Britain with the Anglo-Soviet treaty as the main issue.

Canadian golfers will regret that distinguished veteran, George S. Lyon, lost the seniors' title at Toronto yesterday after having tied with his opponent in the first thirty-six holes and the subsequent eighteen-hole test.

The Liberal-Conservative Party of Canada seems to be in a bad way. The Montreal Gazette is inquiring whether it would not be advisable to call a convention to decide on a Conservative leader.

THE ROAD PUZZLE

An international convention of mathematicians will be held in Toronto this month. The delegates were afraid to meet in a larger city because of the inability of computing the chances a man would have in evading the perils of street traffic.

AMERICA PAYS A DEBT

The American Bar Association visitors to Brasenose College, Oxford, on Saturday, were apparently greatly surprised to find that there was an outstanding debt against the college of $24,999,000,000, the great-grandfather of the first President of the Republic. After lunching in the hall with the principal and fellows, the American lawyers were shown old records which disclose that Lawrence Washington was matriculated at Brasenose in 1621, became fellow in 1623 and "went down" in 1623.

Dr. Frank Crane on "Suicide"

A CORRESPONDENT from somewhere asked me if a person is ever sane who commits suicide. The answer is: No, no one is sane who commits suicide.

Just what sanity is hard to say. It is a relative term. It means the balance of all the powers of the mind, or rather a balance of the intellectual forces with the instincts.

The strongest instinct of a human being is, and ought to be, the instinct of life. This we recognize in the saying that "Self preservation is the first law of Nature."

We mean that the defence or salvation of one's life is always justifiable and any crime, even murder, is excusable when it is committed in self defence.

Pastor Wagner says that the first creed is a belief in life. It is evidently the intention of Nature that her creatures should live out their generation and it has to be a strong instinct in each of them to do this.

The span of life is not great anyhow and no one is justified in deliberately shortening it. Accidents and unpreventable diseases will do that for him.

No one would commit suicide if he could see around the corner. There is a collapse of hope and of patience. Patience enables us to endure the present for the sake of the future, and hope is the anticipation of a better future.

Those who have lived any considerable length of time know that anything is liable to happen, and why not something between one's attitude and events. I will not say that an optimistic attitude always brings a favorable event, but it certainly has something to do with it, just how much we cannot say.

And a belief in the worst, a confidence in calamity, has a tendency to bring it about. As the preservation of life is based upon the strongest instinct that is present in a human being, we are justified in saying that no one who commits suicide is wholly sane.

Conquest of Hudson's Bay

HAVING won his glorious naval victory off Fort Nelson in Hudson's Bay and been wrecked immediately afterward in the "Pelican," scoured and splintered little ship, the Sieur d'Bererville managed to save from his own ship his British prize all the men of the crews with the exception of twenty sick and wounded who died from exposure, much of the arms and ammunition, but hardly any food.

The tempest was rising again after a lull; the snow was two feet deep in the scrubby woods; there was no means of reaching serviceable shelter. Yet there were, the plight of the French was desperate. Crouching exhausted and chilled to the bone over their fires and under such primitive roofing as they could quickly put together without tools, while the gale raged about them, they listened to the announcement of their indomitable leader's decision to march at once against Fort Nelson, many miles away, and take it by assault.

Uncomplainingly they gathered up what equipment they could lay their hands on and rose to follow, when, just as the bedraggled little party was setting out, to the unspeakable joy of all, the three missing French warships, fresh at last from the ice in Hudson's Strait, hove in sight. Provisions were landed and the shipwrecked heroes of the naval battle taken off. Once more in command of ships and material sufficient to his purpose, D'Bererville sailed up the Hayes River and dropped anchor in full view of the fort. On the morning of September 10, he landed his mortars and his cannon and summoned the fort to surrender. Henry Bayly, hearty, seasoned old warrior and fur-trader, faithful servant of the Hudson's Bay Company for many long years on these northern shores, knew that his guns were too small to protect his walls, but he intended to see what metal his enemies could throw before he gave in. He refused to surrender. D'Bererville landed more cannon and twice again summoned Bayly to surrender, and twice the old Governor refused. Then the bombardment began in earnest. Soon the French gunners had the range of every part of the fort. Then, seeing that D'Bererville's threat was no bluff and that further resistance could only result in the grave of English lives, Bayly ran up the white flag. Handing over the fort to D'Bererville, he marched out with colors flying and drums beating, at the head of his men who carried their arms and their baggage. Together they were transported in a French ship to England.

D'Bererville was now the master of the whole of Hudson's Bay. The English had for the time been driven completely from the northern fur lands, and the Hudson's Bay Company was almost ruined.

This was D'Bererville's last campaign in Hudson's Bay. His work was done. Leaving his brother Le Sieur de Serigny in command at Fort Nelson, once more renamed Fort Bourbon, he sailed away aboard the "Profond." He had intended to report at Quebec but, hindered by head winds off the coast of Labrador, he changed his course for France. When at last he sailed into the harbor at La Rochelle he landed from his little fleet 234 sick men, some of the victims of the scurvy, others covered with ghastly, putrefying wounds and horrible to look upon. Such was the price to be paid for victory in northern latitudes in those heroic days.

LIFE-SAVING FACILITIES To the Editor:—A news item appeared in this morning's Colonist stating that the Navy League endorses a suggestion to subsidize pilot launches as life-saving craft. I think the Navy League have a wrong impression of the personnel of the pilot service. I admit that we have been referred to by some people as "cut-throat pilots," but to suggest a monetary consideration for life-saving to pilots who are making a good living, is unworthy of a second thought.

authorities to see that these books, etc., are provided at cost and mothers and guardians saved the unnecessary time taken in obtaining same, the expense of getting to town, and the several profits to be paid on the articles themselves.

Any opposition from the mercantile class is an argument that should not weigh. These supplies should be in the school stores and supplied at cost. There would be no question of doubt of the proper or the best article, or of what was essential and what was not. All would pay the same price and that the lowest, and be benefited by the lure of a premium, whether an all-day-sucker or a ticket in a competition for a bicycle.

In some parts of this continent the text books were deliberately changed from year to year, so that they could not be handed down or used again. That some person or persons were unfairly benefiting by the change is obvious that public indignation at last called a halt.

The provision of school supplies at cost to all pupils is certainly no small part of the duty of the authorities entrusted with the conduct of public education in our municipalities and Province, and although it would still be heavy on parents with large families responsible for the training of our country's future human assets, it would be a step forward in the direction of the ideal of free education.

ABSENTEE BALLOTS

In dealing with absentee ballots under dispute, Mr. Taylor submitted the Returning Officer had jurisdiction over absentee votes when he assured himself that the signature of the voter corresponded with that on the affidavit and he convinced himself that the envelope had not been tampered with. The question of whether the envelope dried and the flap became loose or whether it was stamped was not of such importance as the comparison of signatures.

Comment on flaps becoming loose prompted Mr. Justice McPhillips to remark that there were many experts at opening envelopes. Owing to the fact that the flap of the envelope was not sealed, the question of whether the flap became loose or whether it was stamped was not of such importance as the comparison of signatures.

Mr. Farris met Mr. Taylor's arguments that the counterfoils left on the ballots would not lead to identification through the voters' book, said that while the order on the voters' book and the number of the counterfoil might not always coincide in a large city, in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred it would apply in country districts. The stamp on the flap of an envelope containing an absentee voter's ballot was more important, he claimed, than the sealing of the envelope itself. Without the stamp, he said, it would be possible to open the envelope and enclose another ballot.

INTERURBAN LINE TO BE ABANDONED

Steps Will be Taken at End of Next Month to Terminate Saanich Service

The Saanich interurban division will be closed down about the end of next month, it was stated this morning. For some time the B.C. Electric Railway Company has realized that the line was a steady drain on its earnings, and every class of inducement has been offered to encourage travel by the line, which operates to Deep Bay, 24.4 miles long.

The Surprising Sex

By MILDRED BARBOUR—Author of "Love Stakes," Etc.

THE WEDDING

The marriage of John Blake and Julie Latimer proved a nine-day sensation to the gossip of Cranston. Comment was divided into three classes. There were those who said, nodding sage heads; with a "what-did-I-tell-you" expression: "A wise move for his political future!" "A foolish move—considering the blood that's in her!" others decided. A few, a very few, pitied Julie: "Poor girl! She's only a child, sacrificed on the altar of ambition!"

But Julie was unaware of all this. She went about with an expression of exalted radiance in her eyes. Her shyness and lack of friends proved her protection, for not even the hardest gossip could discuss her intimate affairs with a girl who accepted congratulations shyly and promptly hurried away.

The wedding itself was a very simple ceremony. One bright sunny afternoon in early September, the venerable pastor of Blake's church called at the Blake home and was shown into the library. He was followed shortly by old Judge Adams and Dr. Phillips.

Presently Blake came in, greeted them pleasantly and, turning back to the doorway, made a gesture to Mrs. Ames, who hovered outside. A moment later she entered, accompanied by Julie, and in the presence of this little company, Blake and Julie were pronounced man and wife.

There was no music, no wedding feast afterward. A bowl of roses on the library table constituted the only flowers. Julie wore a simple gown of ruffled organdy, the first light-colored frock she had donned since her father's death. She was very pale, but her eyes blazed with a topaz fire. She looked scarcely sixteen instead of twenty.

There was something infinitely pathetic in the way she turned at the conclusion of the ceremony, and gave herself shyly into the motherly embrace of Mrs. Ames. Blake did not kiss her. He had never touched her during their brief engagement. Judge Adams noted the omission and shook his grey head doubtfully. Dr. Phillips regarded her quizzically. He was very fond of Julie, and torn between regret that she wasn't his daughter-in-law and relief that her future was satisfactorily settled.

When Julie and Mrs. Ames had left the room, Blake offered his guests cigars and some fine old brandy that was reserved for just such congratulatory occasions. With the exception of the pastor, they partook with gusto and settled down to a comfortable discussion of politics and town affairs.

In the kitchen Julie had donned an apron over her bridal frock, and was helping Mrs. Ames prepare supper.

At the Red Lion Inn, a roadhouse far out in the country, a tragic-eyed youth lapped up rye highballs and leaned with increasing unsteadiness toward the 40-year-old girl across the table. Jimmy was deadening his heartbreak after the immemorial fashion.

In the seclusion of her own bedroom, Anna Denniston sat staring straight before her through the deepening dusk. Her hands were clenched and there was actual pain in the tension of her lips. Presently she would have to go downstairs and face her mother's triumphant thimble smile, and pretend proudly that the brief notice of the Blake-Latimer marriage in the evening paper had no personal significance for her.

Supper was over in the Blake household. Mrs. Ames had "washed up" and beckoned herself to a neighbor to confide the eagerly-awaited details of the wedding. Julie, after an instant's hesitation, gathered up Peter, stuffed to satiety with canned salmon, and went out to sit on the front steps. Blake was reading in the library.

This evening was no different from scores of other evenings. It was quiet as though the brief ceremony in the library had never taken place. Julie found herself wondering if she had only dreamed it. She was even conscious of a little loneliness. Jimmy Phillips' regular evening call—such a short time had elapsed since his custom had been suspended.

In the library, Blake laid aside his book, filled his pipe and lighted it. For a while, he sat thinking about what he had just read. Then, suddenly, he started, looked about him anxiously.

He had, all at once, remembered that he had a wife somewhere about the place.

"Julie!"

Yes, she came obediently to stand in the doorway with Peter under her arm.

He rose and offered her a chair with formal courtesy.

"Why were you here?"

"On the veranda." She seated herself shyly. "It's warm to-night, almost like midsummer. There's a moon."

He looked at her speculatively.

Youth, a moon—love! His eyes were a little sad.

How much he had decried Julie of when he made her his wife!

"Are you happy, Julie?" he came to stand in front of her on the hearth rug.

"Oh, yes." It was breathless little exclamation, her eyes were raised to his and as quickly lowered.

With a sudden gesture, he reached out and drew her from the chair, stiffly.

His touch was very tender and his lips against her forehead were passionless.

THE ARRIVAL

The train was drawing into the Washington yards.

It was December, and the early winter twilight had already closed down. All Julie could see through the Pullman window was a black expanse, like a desert, punctuated by myriad twinkling lights.

The other passengers began to get into luxurious fur wraps, set chic hats on smoothly-coiled heads. Julie's trips with Blake up and down the home state during the pre-election days had not prepared her for the smartness of the passengers on the Limited from Chicago. Her own simple coat, newly purchased in the West, seemed already shabby by comparison.

Blake was still in the smoking compartment. The porter, deftly sense of luggage, reached a hand toward Blake's topcoat in the rack.

"This your father's, miss?"

"My husband's," she corrected him with dignity and noted his surprised glance toward her ungloved left hand. She was very proud of the slender circlet on its third finger, youthfully vain of the platinum-encrusted diamond above it.

Blake came back just then and shrugged himself into the coat the porter held out for him. He smiled down at Julie.

"Here at last! Tired, Julie?"

She shook her head.

"But it'll be nice to walk a bit after sitting all day long."

"Not much walking to-night," he drew on his gloves, with a glance out of the black windows. "Seems to be raining."

The rotunda of the Union Station swayed Julie. She thought it very beautiful and impressive, but a queer sense of loneliness crept over her as she waited for Blake to leave their luggage checks with the transfer company. There were no many travelers occupying the mahogany-colored benches, but such as there were seemed frightfully absorbed in their own business. No signs here of the friendly interest and curiosity of the railway stations at home.

Blake returned to her presently and put her into a taxi-cab, giving the address of the apartment hotel where he had lived the previous season. The machine juddered forward into the station plaza, where more electric lights than Julie had ever seen in her life before were reflected in the wet, shining asphalt.

She had her first glimpse, through the mist, of the Capitol and other impressive white marble buildings circled about with dripping shrubbery. She felt exalted, awed, inordinately proud, but a little frightened, a little lonely.

She was thrilled with the knowledge that the silent man beside her was one of the chosen in the great government represented by that white, shining Capitol dome. But she was terrified by her own sense of inadequacy. How could she ever live up to him?

The brush that combs

MEN with thick hair find that this brush penetrates right through the hair like a comb. It smooths the hair down into position with very little effort, brushing and combing at the same time.

Until you try it once you would scarcely believe a brush could make so much difference in the looks of your hair. Hair that sticks up stubbornly in the morning will fall into position after a few strokes with this brush. It brushes every strand of hair, touching the scalp so that the scalp is stimulated enough to send a fresh supply of blood to the roots of the hair.

Stiff bristles set widely apart is the construction that makes this the kind of brush that a man requires.

Examine this brush at any store where brushes are sold. Always sold in the yellow box.

FERRY BOATS CEASE OPERATIONS SUNDAY

Motor Princess and Olympic Finish Season's Work This Week and Will Be Laid Up For Winter

The Sidney-Bellingham ferry, Motor Princess, which has had a successful Spring and Summer run, so far as tourists are concerned, will be withdrawn and laid up for the winter after September 15, it was announced by the Canadian Pacific Coast Service offices this morning. For two years past the Motor Princess has handled a large proportion of tourist and automobile traffic coming from Bellingham into Sidney and going from Sidney to the other side of the line.

Her departure from the service marks the end of the present tourist season.

The Puget Sound Navigation office here have also announced their intention of withdrawing the Ss. Olympic from the ferry service between this port and Port Angeles. This will take place on Sunday, September 14. The vessel will make her usual round trips on that date, and will then proceed to Seattle, where it is expected she may be either laid up for the winter or put in some other service, for she is a particularly useful craft, easily adapted to different lines of travel.

Both the Canadian Pacific and the Puget Sound Navigation Company report an encouraging season in tourist trade and automobile travel. They are looking forward to an even better year in 1925.

FIVE-DAY SCHEDULE

The Cunard liner Mauretania sailing to-day inaugurates the new five-day service to London by calling at Plymouth on Monday, en route to Cherbourg and Southampton. She will arrive at Cherbourg early Tuesday morning, enabling a journey to Paris by daylight. This arrangement is effective for all advertised sailings of the steamer in future, the Cunard Line announces.

MOTOR PRINCESS TO LAY UP FOR WINTER

Ss. MOTOR PRINCESS

Operating between Sidney and Bellingham for the tourist season, will be laid up for the winter after completing her schedule on Sunday. This is the second year of her operation between the island port and the mainland, and her operators report satisfaction at the manner in which she has maintained her schedule this Summer.

CANADIAN OBSERVER DOCKED LAST NIGHT

Two Other C.G.M.M. Vessels Due in Next Two Days From Vancouver

The Canadian Government steamer Canadian Observer docked here last night with a cargo from southern Pacific coast ports. She is in the coastal trade service and on a regular run between here, Vancouver, San Francisco and other points.

When she arrived here the Canadian Observer completed her forty-seventh voyage. She has had two more voyages than the Canadian Farmer, next on the list, and has traveled more than any other boat in the Canadian Government Merchant Marine operating out of Victoria and Vancouver.

The Canadian Inventor is due from Vancouver, on her way to Montreal, and will be in this port some time to-morrow. She serves in the inter-coastal trade and carries cargo from British Columbia points to the East, via the Panama Canal.

The Canadian Skirmisher will also touch here on her way to the United

SANDHEADS LIGHT VESSEL RETURNS TO LONELY VIGIL

Guarding Ships Against Mishap, Little Vessel is Again at Mouth of Fraser

The Sandheads Lightship has been placed at her regular position at the mouth of the Fraser River, after having been overhauled here. She was taken back to her anchorage by the Government tug, which was in this port following a trip around Vancouver Island.

She was withdrawn from her station on June 27, for repairs and overhaul. Col. A. W. R. Wilby, agent for the Department of Marine here, announces that she has returned to her station.

While she was away from the station a gas and whistling buoy replaced the little vessel.

As soon as she had taken the lightship to her moorings, the Estevan steamed northward to Prince Rupert, in which vicinity she will inspect lights and buoys in those waters.

EXPECT FREIGHTER HERE FOR REPAIRS

Martha Hemsoth Soon to Move to Esquimalt is Report

Yarrow's Limited expect definite word of the coming of the German freighter Martha Hemsoth to-morrow, it was learned to-day. The vessel, which struck a rock near Race Rocks light, is to come to Esquimalt for repairs. This announcement came from the ship, which lies in Vancouver.

Her cargo is sound and dry, and

SUGGESTED PILOTS LEAD FAST LAUNCH FOR LIFE-SAVING

Navy League Thinks Measure For Public Protection Should Be Adopted

The Victoria branch of the Navy League of Canada yesterday was of the opinion that one of the pilot boats operating from this port should be subsidized as a life-saving craft, following the accident off Dallas Road, when five persons met their death through drowning having apparently capsized while sailing in a high wind near Brochite Ledge.

The department from the League stated that there was lack of equipment for handling cases of emergency.

The Navy League was instrumental in bringing about the sending of patrol boats to the West Coast, following the accident off Dallas Road.

NEW STEAMERS WILL ENTER APPLE TRADE

North Pacific to Scandinavian Ports Service is Augmented

Seattle, Sept. 10.—Advices were received yesterday by W. R. Grace & Company here that the Johnson Line, operating a fleet of motorships between North Pacific and Scandinavian ports, will enter into the apple shipping business late in 1925, with two new motorships equipped with insulated space for refrigerator or perishable cargoes.

Bringing a small list of passengers, but a heavy cargo of freight, including 1,000 bales of raw silk, the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Shidzouka Maru arrived here yesterday from the Orient after calling at Victoria.

CHARMER ON WAYS FOR REPAIR WORK

The steamer Princess Patricia is maintaining the Vancouver-Nanaimo run now that the Ss. Charmer has gone on the marine ways at the Victoria Machinery Depot for repairs and painting. The Charmer will have two propeller blades changed, will have tail shaft drawn and other general repair work will be done.

She went on the marine ways at 10 o'clock this morning, according to reports from the Machinery Depot. It is possible that the boat will need some attention. The Princess Patricia is doing two trips daily except Sunday, between Nanaimo and Vancouver, outside the Charmer's former schedule.

MONTREAL PREPARED FOR UNUSUAL SEASON

Montreal, Sept. 10.—With eighty-seven tramp steamers now chartered to load grain here for Europe in the near future, several active preparations are in progress in this port for the biggest rush of grain ever known on the St. Lawrence. To handle the rush there is the new elevator at Turle Pier with a loading capacity of 120,000 bushels an hour, and the Windmill Point elevator which has been enlarged to a storage capacity of 3,000,000 bushels and a loading capacity of 100,000 bushels per hour.

F. A. Heywood, president of the Montreal Corn Exchange, said yesterday it was possible that the exports of grain from here in the next few weeks would total 140,000,000 bushels.

RUSSIAN REFUGEES AT SHANGHAI IN TERRIBLE PLIGHT

Escaped From Bolsheviks Only to Find Worse Fate as Outcasts

Terrence E. Rowe, an officer of one of the steamers of the Dollar Line, which has been at Shanghai some weeks waiting for cargo, sends word that at last the ship has cleared for the Philippines to load. The enforced idleness at the Chinese port was very irksome to the crew of the vessel, and the ship left Shanghai just as the fighting in that district broke out.

"I have heard some rather fine music in fifteen years of travel about the globe," writes Mr. Rowe, "but never anything so sweet in my ears as the throbbing of the engines as we slipped down the Yang Tze Kiang."

Only a few hundred yards from the big Dollar boat was one of several vessels from Vladivostok, which had been seized by remnants of the Russian Czarist army there. The refugees, who had many heart-breaking and gruelling experiences, at last made their way to Shanghai from the Russian port. Originally there were five plan boats. One of the refugees ships, but now there is only one. Where the others are no one seems to know.

But this one ship load of weary Russian refugees for weeks has been riding at anchor in Shanghai's harbor, and those on board are in a pitiable state, Mr. Rowe says. When the Dollar vessel left the Russians were still there. The escape of these unfortunate people from the Bolsheviks was a thrilling story, told and retold, and in many different forms it is known to the public. But their present plight is worse than that they had trusted in the mercy of their enemies. China will not permit any of them to land, it is said, even to get food or water. They are confined to the ship. Disease is raging. Many have died. There are only a few acres left, out of several hundred, and it seems that death will be the ultimate fate of all of these.

The refugees have no hope. Even could they provision and fuel their ship there is no port in the world which would receive them.

The captain of the Dollar ship, moved to compassion by the terrible plight of suffering, gave orders to the cook of his vessel to prepare soups, bread and pies for them. This he did on several occasions. It was sent over in a small boat, and the Russians, with tears in their eyes, gave thanks in their own tongue.

Mr. Rowe, who expects to be back on this coast shortly, has been around the globe five times.

MAY FREE SALVOR THIS AFTERNOON

Have Hopes of Floating Vessel After Cargo Has Been Removed

Word has been received here by the Pacific Salvage Company relative to the Ss. Salvor, ashore at Willow Point, near Campbell River. The company's salvage boat from the Vancouver branch is standing by and lightening the cargo of the wrecked vessel. The position of the Salvor is considered serious, and plans for her floating are yet in the making.

A report from Vancouver states that an attempt this afternoon will be made to float the steamer, which has considerable water in her hold, after the deckload has been lightened to the salvage barge, lying alongside. Harold Elworthy, of the Pacific Salvage Company in this city, asserted this morning that all work in connection with the Salvor was being handled by the Vancouver branch of his firm.

Passengers Will Decide Course of Wandering Ship

A ship which will sail wherever its passengers wish is to set out from Southampton next March. It is a four-masted schooner and is called the Westward because it will encircle the world in a westerly direction. The voyage is expected to last ten months and cover at least 30,000 miles, and the idea is that a committee will be formed of the passengers, and they can elect to cruise where they please, subject to the decision of the navigator as to the safety of the ship.

Vancouver, Sept. 9.—Japan is going to collect a little easy money from Americans. The Japanese consulate here has been notified of a new tariff of passport visas for the renewing of the same. Under the new schedule Americans must pay $10, French $5, British $2 and Mexicans enjoy a cut rate of $1.50.

The remains were laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

The remains of Baby Duncan were laid to rest at Royal Oak Burial Park yesterday afternoon. Service was conducted by Rev. Dr. Clem Davies in the B.C. Funeral Chapel at 2 o'clock. Many friends attended and the little casket was covered with flowers. The hymns sung were "Safe in the Arms of Jesus." Among those present was a representative from the cable ship Restorer, of which crew the father is a member.

Funeral service over the remains of the late Mr. George Edward Wilkerson was held yesterday afternoon at 2.30 in the chapel of the B.C. Funeral Company by the Rev. Dr. Wilson. There was a large attendance of friends, and many beautiful flowers. The hymn sung was "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." The following floral designs covered the casket and sentiments acted as pallbearers: W. H. Lyons, Alfred Boyce, Alex. Stewart, S. Duck, W. J. Bonavia and Capt. R. A. Hunter. The remains were interred at Ross Bay Cemetery.

The funeral of Pamela Dormer took place yesterday morning at 11 o'clock from the B. C. Funeral Chapel, where the Rev. Mr. Bruce conducted the services. The little casket was hidden beneath many floral offerings. Interment was made at Ross Bay Cemetery.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mari- anne Gillespie Lucas took place yesterday morning at 10.30 o'clock from the Sands Funeral Chapel. Rev. Daniel Walker officiated and the hymns sung were "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," "Abide With Me" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus." The pallbearers were Rev. W. Knott and Messrs. C. H. Walker, J. Butler, B. Porter, Holland and Love. The remains were laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

SUTHERLAND CUTS COSTS BY SHUFFLE OF LEADING POSTS

Philip Becomes Deputy Minister of Works; Griffith Goes to Railways Branch

Definite measures to reduce administration costs were adopted by the Government to-day when Hon. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works and Railways, announced a complete reorganization of executive positions in the Public Works and Railways departments.

Patrick Philip, Chief Engineer of the Public Works Department, has been appointed Deputy Minister of Public Works. Dr. Sutherland announced, J. E. Griffith, Deputy Minister of Public Works, become Deputy Minister of Railways.

With these changes in the chief positions in the Public Works and Railway departments as sweeping reorganization of internal machinery will be effected. Salaries, totaling $5,000 a year will be lopped off immediately and further reductions will be made through the consolidation of work.

Mr. Griffith will have charge not only of railway affairs but also of boiler and dyke inspection and other work, the cost of which will be reduced.

Dr. Sutherland's economy plans are but the forerunner of reductions in other departments, it is understood. The Department of Agriculture will be the next to undergo the pruning knife, it is expected. Removal of the Land Settlement Board from the Department and its consolidation with Telegraphers of Press Service GIVE ULTIMATUM

WILLING TO ARBITRATE

The company, therefore, bases its contention on the reduced cost of living and on the general economic situation in Canada, which has resulted in the reduction of wages in similar categories of labor during the past four years and in the serious impairment of revenue of all Canadian daily newspapers, members of the Canadian Press, their co-operative news gathering association.

The company offered to arbitrate the entire dispute, that is to say, the men's proposals as well as its own under the arbitration clause referred to above. This the men's committee definitely refused. The company then proposed to submit the whole dispute to a board of conciliation under the Department of Labor. Mr. Schnurr, the international vice-president, declined absolutely to go before a board of conciliation. He offered arbitration if the issues were confined to the present wage scale and the men's demands for an increased scale, leaving out entirely the company's submission of a decrease.

STRIKE VOTE TAKEN

On the company refusing that proposal as being entirely one-sided and still urging a board of conciliation, Mr. Schnurr said he must take a strike vote to enforce the men's demands for an increase and this has been done with the result given above. The company is still willing to arbitrate the dispute, for which purpose it has made application to the Department of Labor at Ottawa for a board of conciliation.

A social evening will be held in St. Alban's Hall, Ryan Street, on Friday evening, September 12, under the auspices of the girls' auxiliary. A good programme has been arranged and refreshments will be served. All those interested in the work are cordially invited.

MURDER VERDICT BY CORONER'S JURY

Finding Given at Inquiry Into Death of Janet Smith in Vancouver

Vancouver, Sept. 10.—The verdict brought in this afternoon by the jury at the second inquest on the body of Janet Smith, nursemaid, reads: "We find that Janet K. Smith was on July 26 wilfully murdered in the course of her employment in the laundry of the basement of F. L. Baker's home by being shot through the head, but by whom we do not know." The verdict carried this rider: "That the want of any proper inquiry when the tragedy was discovered was responsible for the suffering to innocent persons and probably shielded guilt. We exonerate Chief Simpson and Constable Fish entirely.

"It is regrettable that the reading of picked extracts from the deceased's diary tends to defame her pure and unassailed memory."

Vancouver, Sept. 10.—Were the clothes Janet Smith was wearing changed after her death?

Further examination this morning of the clothing worn by the nursemaid at the moment of her death from shooting in the laundry of the Baker home on Oster Avenue here confirmed two startling discoveries pointed out by police on Tuesday.

F. L. Baker, who was recalled, testified there had been no change in the clothing of the body following his arrival at the scene of the tragedy and the removal of the remains by the undertakers.

Examination of the clothing showed the foot of one of the white stockings was bloodstained, but there was no corresponding stain on the canvas shoes of the body when the body was first seen by Mr. Baker and Point Grey police.

TWO BURNS ON BODY

The body of the girl showed two bad burns. One of these was on the upper portion of her right arm, and the other below her right shoulder blade. They were fresh-burns, and the proximity of the electric iron, which was caught between her arm and side, suggested to the police and Mr. Baker that the girl had fallen with the iron. Examination of her clothing showed the fabric of the garments was not even scorched at the corresponding location.

POSSIBILITY CONSIDERED

Whether it is possible to burn through cloth and sear the skin without the clothing showing effect on the weave of the cloth is a matter that can not be determined easily, but the suggestion upon which the lawyers are now working is that there is a possibility arising from these remarkable circumstances that would hint at the clothing having been changed after death and of the iron having been placed on the body to give excuse for the burning.

TWO LETTERS PRODUCED

Two letters, said to have a bearing on the tragedy, were placed in evidence, but were not read to the public. They will be given to the jury with the rest of the exhibit to assist the six men in arriving at a verdict. One of the letters was to F. L. Baker, the nursemaid's employer, and was from his mother, he said. The other was written by the dead girl's sister in Scotland to Mrs. Sillitoe of this city.

It was not ascertained whether either letter sheds any light on the tragedy or indicates any motive.

J. H. Senkler, who is appearing on behalf of the Chinese houseboy, who was apparently alone in the house when the fatal shot was fired, said he had no objection to the letters being read, but it was for the coroner to decide. The coroner instructed that the letters be marked as exhibits.

GREAT CROWD THERE

Hundreds of men and women endeavored to force their way into the assize court room this morning to witness the final scene in the dramatic inquest which for a week has been proceeding in an effort to clear away the mystery surrounding the death of Janet Smith.

The Central W.C.T.U. will hold its monthly meeting to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Y.W.C.A.

The betting was: Salmon Trout 6 to 1 against, Santorb 46 to 1, and Polyphontes 100 to 30 against.

TO PRESENT MEDAL

The pathfinders will be the guests of the Canadian Club of Victoria at noon on Friday at the Empress Hotel. President Patrick will introduce the visitors, and after Mr. Bement has spoken, J. L. Beckwith, president of the Canadian Highway Association, will present the medal, followed by a brief explanation by Alderman A. E. Todd of the circumstances under which it comes to be given. Captain Evans will reply.

"OPEN ALL NIGHT" IS BIZARRE STORY OF PARIS LIFE

"Open All Night," the very entertaining picture at the Capitol Theatre this week, starring Adolph Menjou, Viola Dana and Jetta Goudal, the new screen luminary is playing to very appreciative audiences. It is a startling story of a hectic night in Paris, which tangles up three loving couples, who mix their affections, because they each want a different kind of soul mate. The main action of the play takes place in the Stadium where a six-day bicycle race is occurring. The picture is one of the strangest mixtures of comedy and deep drama. "Open All Night" is hailed as being the most original and bizarre of photoplays, and should prove to be very delightful to picture fans looking for an attraction that has a plot that is entirely different. A screamingly funny comedy entitled "Pain As You Enter," and a very interesting news reel comprise the balance of a very entertaining show.

"DOROTHY VERNON OF HADDON HALL" HERE ON MONDAY

While Mary Pickford and her company were in San Francisco making exterior scenes for "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," a United Artists release, which comes to the Dominion Theatre next Monday, more than 10,000 persons were present daily on the side-lines of the "sets" watching the little actress and her company at work.

"In all the time motion picture companies have been coming here for locations, never have I seen such crowds in Golden Gate Park as when Miss Pickford was here," said Corporal Hawkins, of the Park Police Station, San Francisco, declared.

It is estimated that at least 40,000 persons watched Mary at work during her stay in the Bay city. They came at sunrise, brought their lunches, and made it a gala day. More than a score of policemen were detailed to control the crowds.

In "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," Miss Pickford is supported by Allan Forrest in the leading male role, that of Sir John Manners. Others in the cast include Clare Eames, Marc McDermott, Anders Randolf, Wilfred Bryson, Lottie Pickford Forrest, Estelle Taylor, Eric Mayne, Courtenay Foote, Malcolm Waite and Mme. Daumery.

Jack Holt employs motion picture way in Yosemite Valley. Man achieved mastery of the world when he discovered the secret of fire. Jack Holt re-discovered it recently at the cost of aching muscles and blistered hands.

Victor Fleming, producing "Empty Hands," Arthur Stringer's novel, for Paramount, wanted fire produced without flint, steel or matches. The company's match supply had met with disaster when a canoe overturned. So Holt tried the old way, used by his Original Ancestor, of the two dried sticks and the bow-string. The trouble was to find wood dry enough, but finally they were successful and the fire was not allowed to go out during the two weeks the company was on location. Holt produces a fire in this manner in the picture.

The incident occurred in the Yosemite Valley, where the final scenes in the picture were filmed. Jack Holt plays the featured role and is supported by Norma Shearer, Gertrude Olmsted, Ward Crane, Charles Clary and others. Carey Wilson adapted the novel to the screen.

STELLAR CAST IN ELINOR GLYN FILM AT COLUMBIA

Marie Prevost and Monte Blue are supported by a corking cast of Claude Gillingwater, Vera Lewis, Betty Francisco, Creighton Hall, Edward Earle and Nellie Bly Baker in the latest Warner Brothers screen adaptation of Elinor Glyn's "How to Educate a Wife," now playing at the Columbia Theatre.

This story does not solve any of the perplexing problems that continually rise in every married home. It provides a merry, mirthful evening's entertainment interspersed with the sound philosophy from a woman whose name has become a household word throughout the world. Elinor Glyn's pungent satire and shrewd discernment have been visualized in this photoplay in such a manner that will appeal to men and women of all ages and stations.

Monte Blue, who won his spurs directing "Broadway After Dark," so successfully, directed this Warner Brothers Classic of the Screen.

COMPLETE THEATRE BUILT FOR CLIMAX OF "THE LAW FORBIDS"

A complete theatre was built at Universal City for the astonishing climax of "The Law Forbids," directed by Jess Robbins. Baby Peggy's new Universal starring vehicle, a story, dealing with the child of a couple separated through infatuation, threatened divorce and a "trial separation," is played by a splendid cast, including Robert Ellis, Elinor Fair, Hayden Stevenson, William Welsh, Winifred Bryson, Joseph Dowling, Eva Thatcher and others.

"SLAVE OF DESIRE" NOW SHOWING ON PLAYHOUSE SCREEN

Bessie Love, who is giving a delightful performance as Pauline Gaudin in Gilbert E. Gable's "Slave of Desire," made from Balzac's novel, "The Magic Skin," which is the offering at the Playhouse Theatre this week, has taken up the cudgels against the dictum of the National Hairdressers' Association that "for dinner and the dance, bobbed hair is out."

Miss Love is one of the most recent screen recruits to the rank of the short tresses. She is still in the ecstasy of brushing her fingers over the back of her shaven neck and admits her attachment support to those who favor bobbed hair.

BIG MERVILLE FIRE AWARD IS SETTLED

Comox Logging and Railway Company Agrees to Pay 80 Per Cent

Vancouver, Sept. 10.—One of the biggest damage awards in the British Columbia courts for many years has been settled by the unsuccessful defendant on the basis of paying eighty per cent of the judgment and all costs. The defendant is the Comox Logging and Railway Company and the plaintiffs are fifty Merville settlers who suffered loss of property, personal injuries and in one case a life through a forest fire which in June, 1922, swept south from the company's logging operations into and beyond the soldier settlement on Vancouver Island.

Canadian and U.S. Masonic Affiliation

Portland, Maine, Sept. 10.—The Grand Council of Canada, Royal and Select Masters, was voted into membership of the General Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters of the United States by nearly unanimous vote in the closing session of the fifteenth triennial convocation at the Masonic Temple here yesterday. The Grand Council of Canada has headquarters in Ontario and embraces councils as far as the Pacific Coast.

Pity Dolowitz, He Pines For Jail And Can't Get In

New York, Sept. 10.—Alexander Dolowitz, nattily dressed but homeless, tried to break into jail but failed.

He took a long taxicab ride and then refused to pay on the grounds he had no money.

The magistrate was powerless to sentence Dolowitz because the taxi driver refused to appear as a prosecuting witness when he found Dolowitz was anxious to be jailed.

Dolowitz is now calling it spite work.

GRAND LODGE I.O.G.T. TO MEET SATURDAY

The Grand Lodge of British Columbia of the I.O.G.T., will meet in Victoria on Saturday, September 13. Many delegates from Vancouver and Nanaimo are expected to attend the morning and afternoon sessions, which will be held at 1530 Government Street.

At 1 o'clock there will be a luncheon for the delegates in the private dining-room at David Spencey Limited, and in the evening a banquet at 6.30 at the Institute Rooms, Surrey Block, followed by a business

MISS PEGGY LEWIS who is the comedienne in the big musical comedy, "To-night's The Night," playing all next week at the Royal.

Notable Artists To Appear Here During Season

With the coming of the Winter music season the city will be visited by some of the world's notable artists. The first of these to appear here will be the celebrated pianist, Percy Grainger, who will give a recital in the Royal Victoria on October 20. Following this is a return concert by Grace Wood Jess in her delightful folk-song interpretations on October 30.

Victoria will be fortunate too, in having another famous organist play here on November 12 in Charles M. Courboin, formerly organist of Antwerp Cathedral, who will shortly begin a similar tour as did his two brilliant contemporaries in previous years, Joseph Bonnet and Marcel Dupre. On December 2, the celebrated violinist, Mischa Elman, will be heard in recital at the Royal Victoria, and early in the New Year a violin and pianoforte recital is contemplated by Miss Mary Izard on a visit here, and Mrs. Gertrude Huntley Green, now returned from her visit to European music centres. In March next one of the world's greatest pianists will play here, Germaine Schmitzer, who, it is said, "fairly sweeps her audiences off their feet." This pianist has proved a sensation.

JACK HOLT EMPLOYS MOTION PICTURE WAY IN YOSEMITE VALLEY
Man achieved mastery of the world when he discovered the secret of fire. Jack Holt re-discovered it recently at the cost of aching muscles and blistered hands.
Victor Fleming, producing "Empty Hands," Arthur Stringer's novel, for Paramount, wanted fire produced without flint, steel or matches. The company's match supply had met with disaster when a canoe overturned. So Holt tried the old way, used by his Original Ancestor, of the two dried sticks and the bow-string. The trouble was to find wood dry enough, but finally they were successful and the fire was not allowed to go out during the two weeks the company was on location. Holt produces a fire in this manner in the picture.

Takes the place of cocoa, unsweetened and sweetened cake chocolate

Why crowd your pantry with cocoa for drinking and cake chocolate for cooking and baking when Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate takes the place of all? It is everything you need in cocoa and chocolate—all in one. And it's already ground—ready the moment you are. No grating, no melting, no waste, no time lost!

WHERE THRILL MURDERERS' FATE WAS DECIDED—Cook County Criminal Courts and County Jail Building. The arrow at the upper left points to the court room of Chief Justice John R. Caverly, where the trial of Nathan F. Leopold Jr. and Richard A. Loeb was held, and where the two boys were to-day sentenced to life imprisonment.

HAS SENATE REFORM SCHEME—Premier Dunning of Saskatchewan, who suggests that the Senate should be reformed by permitting provincial legislatures to fill vacancies as they occur by a majority vote.

HOW SEA BATTERED OCEAN GIANT—One glance at the shattered lifeboat will give a slight idea of the terrible hurricane that struck the liner Arabic off the Nantucket coast, causing injury to scores of people and great damage to the ship.

PRIZE SHOT—James Loftus Arnott of Toronto, won first prize in the boys' shooting competition at the Exhibition last week.

STARTING NEXT WORLD WAR?—Russia and China, with their tremendous resources of man-power, may become the storm centres in the next world war. Among the most dangerous leaders in China is Chang Tso-lin, the former bandit and present war lord of Manchuria. To Christian G. Rakovsky has been delegated the task of conferring with China following his successful negotiation of a pact with Britain.

LIBERAL VICTOR—Ald. W. J. Hushion, the victorious Liberal candidate in the St. Antoine, Montreal, by-election. Mr. Hushion defeated W. M. Birks, the Conservative candidate, by a majority of 1,918.

ROYAL GUEST UNWELCOME—Crown Prince Humbert of Italy, whom the Brazilian government has asked to cancel his proposed landing in Rio de Janeiro on the ground that malcontents might seek to embroil the Bernieres' administration in international complications by attempting to assassinate the royal guest.

TRAIN WRECKER—Nine-year-old Ralph Roberts of Toledo, O., went down to Millfield, O., to visit his grandparents. But life in the little Hocking Valley town grew too tame for him. He wanted excitement. So he rolled a big block of wood out onto the New York Central's tracks, then wired it down "just to see what would happen." A passenger train came along and smashed into the obstruction. The engineer and firemen were killed and several passengers were injured.

WEDS INSULIN EXPERT—Mrs. Chas. H. Best, who before marriage was Miss Margaret H. Mahon, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. A. Wylie Mahon. Charles Best, a medical student of the University of Toronto, was the partner of Dr. Frederick G. Banting in their discovery of the insulin cure for diabetes.

CANADIAN GRAIN YIELD REPORT BY GOVERNMENT

Winnipeg, Sept. 10. (By R. P. Clark, private wire to Winnipeg Grain Exchange)—The Canadian Government report issued here late this afternoon gives the estimated grain yields of the Prairie Provinces.

The estimates show a wheat crop a little more than half as much as that of last year and still under the 300,000,000 bushel mark.

There is also a big decrease in the totals for oats and rye, but an increase in the barley total.

The grain trade here says the Government report is construed as strongly bullish on wheat, oats and rye.

The estimate with the actual yields for last year, are:

SAANICHA TAX SALE

LIST BIDS FAIR TO BE LOWEST KNOWN

Monday Expected to Witness Small Offering of Unusually Choice Properties

The annual tax sale in Saanich, which will be opened on Monday, is expected to witness a somewhat smaller list of properties than has been customary.

As originally made out, the list included about 100 lots, listed in 375 acre ranging from residential lots to rough land blocks of 200 acres or more.

In the past few days there have been many redemptions, however, one property owner paying the charges on a block of ninety lots.

Substantial tracts of land used for agricultural purposes are conspicuous among the lots.

The new Radiola

What every one has been waiting for

Everyone has been interested in radio but few own radio sets. Many have been waiting for the set of the future—the perfected set—simple; quick to pick up any station, near or distant; quality built, yet moderate in price.

New Designs
Now, the combined resources of the Canadian Westinghouse Company and the Radio Corporation of America unite to fulfil the prophesy of radio achievement.

Remarkable Improvements
Radiolas made by Canadian Westinghouse represent new and remarkable radio achievements. They are super-selective—you can tune any station in or out at your pleasure. They are unusually sensitive so that stations 1500 to 3000 miles distant can be easily heard. They are non-radiating—you are not the bane of every other radio owner in your neighborhood. And the tone reproduction of these sets is clear and melodious in its portrayal of voice or music.

Popular Prices
Best of all, these important improvements are now obtainable at a popular price. You owe it to yourself and to your family to know what opportunities for education, information and pleasure these new Radiolas bring to your home. Any Westinghouse dealer will be glad to give you a demonstration or you can write us for our fully illustrated booklet.

BUSINESS SLACK, FORCES OFFICIALS TO OTHER DUTIES
Curious Position at Nanaimo Cemetery; Other Matters

Special to The Times
Nanaimo, B.C., Sept. 10.—The City Council held its regular weekly session last night, some of the business transacted being as follows:
Pending an analysis of city water it was moved that a report be obtained from the city health officer in regard to the health of the city residents. Alderman Barsby stated that he had heard a number of people assert that there was a great deal of sickness around, and the blame was being put on the local water supply. Alderman Randie thought that the reports were greatly exaggerated. Only yesterday he was informed that, owing to lack of business at the cemetery the caretaker and gravedigger would soon be obliged to seek other work, as their services were not required except at long intervals. He thought that this was a good indication that the citizens were healthy.
The warrant book for the month of August was brought down, the sum totalling $5,892.18 ordered paid.

ASKS GOVERNMENT FOR MATRONS TO ADVISE INDIANS
Important Question Raised by North Saanich Women's Institute
Special to The Times
Sidney, Sept. 10.—The monthly meeting of the North Saanich Women's Institute was held in Matthews' Hall on Tuesday afternoon. There was a good attendance. The President, Mrs. Deacon, was in the chair. The secretary, Mrs. Jeffries, read the minutes, which were passed. The treasurer, Mrs. Clark, presented the financial report, showing a profit of $15.56 made at the flower show. It was decided to send at once the per capita levy for the conference to be held in Victoria in October.

INDIAN QUESTION
Mrs. Layard then spoke on the condition of the Indians in Saanich, telling the members of the recent interview Mrs. Beison, Mrs. Philip with son, with W. E. Ditchburn, the Indian Commissioner. After discussion it was decided to send the following resolution to the Institutes of the Saanich Peninsula and to the Indian Government officials at Ottawa:
"Whereas the Indians of the Saanich Peninsula, Vancouver Island, are living in deplorable conditions, with diseases such as tuberculosis and scrofula, with no nuns available:
"Be it resolved, that the North Saanich Women's Institute do petition the Federal Government to provide a nurse for the Saanich District, who would minister solely to the Indians of the Saanich District, working in co-operation with the medical health officer of the district for the Indians."
OTHER MATTERS
It was also arranged to ask Mrs. NIMRO to come and give demonstration on how to crystallize fruit, as she was unable to come to-day, and to have a silver tea. Mrs. Philip was made convener. It was left to an executive committee to arrange an evening for a card party. The meeting then adjourned to meet the second Tuesday in October at the Mission Hall, Breed's Corsair.

LARGE FIRE IS UNDER CONTROL
(Special to The Times)
Ladysmith, Sept. 9.—The fire which was raging around Brenton yesterday and last night is now apparently under control, but when the wind was at its height yesterday afternoon looked very serious indeed. In fact residents living in the locality had their worldly goods all removed prepared for the worst. However, the wind died down and the situation for the time being is satisfactory. Another small fire broke out at the Diamond, caused from a spark from a passing locomotive but this was soon under control. Rain would be very welcome in this neighborhood.
The S.S. Oduna was in port yesterday loading coal for Alaskan ports.
Secretary Cullum of the Ladysmith Agricultural Society is making enquiries for the Annual Fall Show which is being held in Ladysmith, to-morrow and Thursday. More than the usual interest is being taken this year in the show and judging from the entries to date this year's event should surpass any that has ever been held in this district. The Ladysmith Band has been approached with a view of getting them to help out during Thursday evening. E. D. Comley, the president of the society, is also very enthusiastic, and is working hard to make the show a success.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE
1. Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Food Fermentation, Sour Gassy Stomach and Acid Indigestion
Doubtless if you are a sufferer from indigestion, you have already tried peppin, charcoal, drugs and various other remedies, but none of these things will cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief. But here is a new and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little Illustrated Magnesia—the ordinary commercial Magnesia—but practically any drugist in either powdered or tablet form.
Take a teaspoonful of the powder or three compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference it makes. It instantly neutralizes the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment, gas, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the heaviest of heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.
You will find that provided you take a little Illustrated Magnesia every day after a meal, you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without any danger of pain or discomfort to follow and moreover the continued use of the Illustrated Magnesia cannot injure the stomach—so long as you are not suffering from any symptoms of acid indigestion.
