Whimsical Marriage.

A merchant, originally from Paris, having acquired a great fortune in one of the West India Islands, concluded with himself he could not be happy in the enjoyment of it unless he shared it with a woman of merit; and knowing none to his fancy, he resolved to write to a worthy correspondent of his at Paris. He knew no other style than that he used in his trade; and therefore treating of affairs of love as he did his business, after giving his friend, in a letter, several commissions, and reserving this for the last, he went on thus:

"Item—Seeing that I have taken a resolution to marry, and that I do not find a suitable match for me here, do not fail to send, by next ship bound hither, a young woman of the qualifications and form following: as for a portion, I demand none; Let her be of an honest family, between twenty and twenty-five years of age, of a middle stature and well proportioned; her face agreeable, her temper mild, her character blameless, her health good, and her constitution strong enough to bear the change of climate, that there may be no occasion to look out for a second through lack of the first soon after she comes to land, which must be provided against as much as possible, considering the great distance and the dangers of the sea. If she arrives here, conditioned as above said, with the present letter indorsed by you, or, at least, an attested copy thereof, that there may be no mistake or imposition, I hereby pledge and engage myself to satisfy the said letter, by marrying the bearer at fifteen days' sight. In witness whereof I subscribe this," &c.

The Parisian correspondent read over and over this odd article, which put the future spouse on the same footing with the bales of goods he was about to send to his friend; and after admiring the prudent exactness of the American, and his laconic style in enumerating the qualifications which he insisted on, he endeavored to serve him to his mind, and after many inquiries he judged he had found a lady fit for his purpose in a young person of reputable family but no fortune, good humor, and of a polite education, well shaped, and more than tolerably handsome. He made the proposal to her, as his friend had directed; and the young gentleman, who had no subsistence but from a cross old aunt, who gave her a great deal of uneasiness, accepted it. A ship bound for that island was then fitting out at Rochelle. The gentleman went on board the same, together with the bales of goods, being well provided with all necessaries, and particularly with a certificate in due form, and indorsed by the correspondent. She was included in the invoice, the last articles of which run thus:

"Item—A young gentleman twenty-five years of age, of the quality and shape conditioned as per order, as appears by the affidavits and certificates she has to produce."

The writings which were thought necessary for so exact a man as her future husband, were an extract of the parish register; a certificate of her character, signed by the curate; an attestation of her neighbor, setting forth that she had for the space of three years lived with an old aunt who was intolerably peevish, and had not during all that time given her said aunt the least occasion of complaint; and, lastly, the goodness of her constitution was certified, after the consultation, by four noted physicians. Before the gentleman's departure, the Parisian correspondent sent several letters of advice by other ships to his friend, whereby he informed him that per such a ship he should send a young woman of such an age, character, and condition, etc.; in a word, such as he desired to marry.

The letter of advice, the bales, and the gentleman came safe to port; and our American, who happened to be one of the foremost on the pier, at the lady's landing, was charmed to see a handsome person, who, having heard him called by his name, told him: "Sir, I have a bill of exchange upon you, and you know that it is not usual for people to carry a great deal of money about them in such a long voyage as I have now made. I beg the favor you will be pleased to pay it." At the same time she gave to him his correspondent's letter; on the back of which was written, "The bearer of this is the spouse which you ordered me to send you." "Ah, Madam!" said the American, "I never yet suffered my bills to be protested; and I can assure you this shall not be the first. I shall reckon myself the most fortunate of all men, if you allow me to discharge it." "Yes, sir," replied she; "and the more willingly, since I am apprised of your character. We had several persons of honor on board, who knew you very well, and who during my passage, answered all the questions in so advantageous a manner, that it has raised in me a perfect esteem for you."

The first interview was in a few days after followed by the nuptials, which were very magnificent.

The new married couple were very well satisfied with their happy union made by a bill of exchange, which was the most fortunate that had happened in that island for many years.

A Fireside Story.

One evening a poor man and his son, a little boy, sat down by the wayside near the gate of an old town in Germany. The father took out a loaf of bread which he had bought in the town and broke it and gave half to his boy.

"Not so, father," said the boy, "I shall not eat till after you. You have been working hard all day for small wages, to support me, and you must be very hungry; I shall wait till you are done."

"You speak kindly, my son," replied the pleased father; "your love to me does me more good than my food; and those eyes of yours remind me of your poor dear mother, who has left us, and who told you to love me as she used to do; and indeed, my boy, you have been a great strength and comfort to me; but now that I have eaten the first morsel to please you, it is your turn now to eat."

"Thank you, father, but break this piece in two and take you a little more, for you see that the loaf is not large, and you require much more than I do."

"I shall divide the loaf for you, my boy; but eat it, I shall not. I have abundance, and let us thank God for his great goodness in giving us food, and in giving us what is better still, cheerful and contented hearts. He who gave us the living bread from heaven, to nourish our immortal souls, how shall He not give us all other food that is necessary to support our mortal bodies?"

The father and son thanked God, and then began to cut the loaf in pieces, to begin their frugal meal. But as they cut one portion of the loaf there fell out several large pieces of gold of great value. The little boy gave a shout of joy, and was springing forward to grasp this unexpected treasure, when he was pulled back by his father.

"My son, my son!" he cried, "do not touch that money; it is not ours."

"But whose is it, father, if it is not ours?"

"I know not, as yet, to whom it belongs, but probably it was put there by the baker through some mistake. We must inquire. Run!"

"But, father," interrupted the boy, "you are poor and needy, and you have bought the loaf, and the baker may tell a lie, and—"

"I will not listen to you, my boy. I bought the loaf, but did not buy the gold in it. If the baker sold it to me in ignorance, I shall not be so dishonest as to take advantage of him; remember Him who told us to do to others as we would have others do to us. The baker may possibly cheat us. I am poor, indeed, but that is no sin. If we share the poverty of Jesus, God's own Son, O! let us share, also, his goodness and trust in God. We may never be rich, but we may always be honest. We may die of starvation, but God's will be done, should we die in doing it! Yes, my boy, trust God, and walk in His ways, and you shall never be put to shame. Now run to the baker and bring him here, and I will watch the gold until he comes."

So the boy ran to the baker. "Brother workman," said the old man, "you have made some error, and almost lost your money," and he then showed the baker the gold, and told him how it had been found.

"Is it thine?" asked the father; "if it is, take it away."

"My father, baker, is very poor, and—"

"Silence, my child, put me not to shame by thy complaints. I am glad we have saved this man from losing his money."

The baker had been gazing alternately upon the honest father and the eager boy, and the gold which lay glittering upon the green turf.

"Thou art, indeed, an honest fellow," said the baker; "and my neighbor David, the flax-dresser, told me the truth when he said thou wert the honestest man in town. Now I shall tell thee all about the gold. A stranger came to my shop three days ago, and gave me that loaf, and told me to sell it cheaply, or give it away to the honestest poor man whom I knew in the city. I told David to send thee to me, as a customer this morning; as thou wouldst not have the loaf for nothing, I sold it to thee, as thou knowest, for the last pence in thy purse; and the loaf with all its treasure—and, certes, it is not small!—is thine, and God grant thee a blessing with it."

The poor father bent his head to the ground, while the tears ran from his eyes. His boy ran and put his hands about his neck and said:

"I shall always, like you, my father, trust God and do what is right; for I am sure it will never put us to shame."

Dead Soldiers to be Embalmed.

Doctor Holmes, well known as a successful embalming surgeon of Brooklyn, recently received his commission as Surgeon in the United States Army, to embalm those who may be killed in battle or otherwise, whose bodies it is desirable to preserve for transportation or other purposes. The Doctor, it will be remembered, embalmed Cook, the partner of John Brown in the Harper's Ferry insurrection, with great success. He therefore thinks he has some knowledge of how Southern killed bodies should be treated. He has also operated very successfully in New Orleans and other Southern cities. The Doctor has received instructions to report himself at Washington forthwith, and will depart thence early this week, where he will establish his headquarters till ordered elsewhere. Preparations have been made for an extensive business.

The necessary apparatus has been made for embalming three bodies at a time, and three hogheads of embalming fluid have been made, and will be carried to Washington by the Doctor. This will embalm about nine hundred bodies. The method by which dead bodies are preserved by this process is to open an artery in the wrist and inject a quantity of this fluid into the veins and arteries. The method is very simple and effectual. We have seen bodies in a perfect state of preservation which were embalmed by this process eight years and they are perfectly sound to-day. We hope the Doctor will not have occasion to use the whole of his fluid upon the Federal army. He expresses the hope that if employed upon any of celebrity, it will be no less a personage than Jeff. Davis. He would take especial pleasure in injecting a very large amount of embalming fluid in his veins and rendering him as rigid as a marble statue.—N. Y. Sunday Mercury.

BIRD'S NEST IMBEDDED IN A TREE.

While two men, named Robert Johnson and William Robinson, sawyers, were employed at Elswick Engine Works, recently, cutting a large elm tree, they cut through a nest of five or six young birds, supposed to be tomits, all feathered and perfect. They must have been there a great number of years, as the wood on one side is nine inches thick and about twenty-seven on the other. It is supposed that the nest, having been built in a hole, some person or other filled the aperture with a plug, over which a new layer of wood grew, so that it was entirely hidden from sight. The tree came from the neighborhood of Gibside, and the hole was about one-and-a-half inches in diameter. The birds were in good preservation when found, but contact with the air soon produced rapid decomposition.—Newcastle Daily Chronicle.

SOME time since, in a western town, one of our citizens—who will be recognized at once if we call him John Smith—happened to go into a grocery establishment, and understanding silver change was in demand, inquired what premium they paid for it, and was informed five per cent. He thereupon drew forth ninety-five cents in change, handed it to the groceryman, and received therefor a dollar bill. This satisfactory speculation, or something else, led our friend into the extravagance of calling for a three cent glass of beer, which was furnished and drank, when he drew forth the identical dollar bill and tendered it in payment, which was received, and ninety-seven cents in change handed back. At the latest date the groceryman was attempting to figure up the profit on the beer.

A PASSENGER who came down on one of the recent trains which brought a company of soldiers, tells us of a negro of cannibal propensities, who actually hungered for a feed of abolitionist beef. The old fellow was begging to go along with his "young massa," who was a soldier, that he might cook for him, wait on him, and take care of him if necessary. "I wants to go 'long with you, massa! I wants to jis cook one o' dem abolitionists when you kill him! Jis bile 'um, an' roas' 'um—dat's what I wants to do!"

HOW TO KEEP BABIES QUIET.—As soon as the squaller awakes set the child up, propped by pillows if it cannot sit alone, and smear its fingers with thick molasses; then put a dozen feathers into its hands, and the young one will sit and pick the feathers from one hand to the other until it drops asleep. As soon as it awakens, more molasses and more feathers; and in place of the nerve astounding yell, there will be quiet and enjoyment.

An out west paper some time ago published a number of verses—one as follows:

That rainy day I met her,
When she tripped along the street,
And with petticoat half lifted,
Showed a dainty pair of feet.

Next day the editor corrected an error in the last line: "For dainty read dirty."

SPREADING THE MUD.—Steve Myers was a jolly old dog, and many a good joke have we had with him.

His wife, Nancy, was not a woman of the sweetest temper, and has been known to scold him when he got extra drunk.

One night he had been having a royal time with a few of his boon companions, and when he at last started for home, he was in a very salubrious condition. Not drunk; oh no—Steve "despised (hic) a man who would get drunk."

A party of us had gone ahead of him, and had rubbed a little grease on the knob of the door—just enough so that he would not notice it, and yet keep him from opening the door.

Steve got along, somehow, to his house, and on the stoop, after two or three efforts, and took hold of the knob.

"What'n thunder ails this (hic) door? Oh, I know what's up: Jack Nicket's (hic) inside, holding it. Ho, ho! my (hic) boy, I'll fix you!"

He pitched down the stoop, and out to the gutter, and filled both his hands with soft, black mud, and succeeded in getting back to the door—holding his hands behind him.

"Now, Jack, (hic) my boy, I waits here till you opens that door, if its morning. I'll teach (hic) you to keep Steve Myers out of his own house."

Nancy heard a noise, and looking out, she saw him standing there, and at once came down to let him in.

Steve made one dive, when the door was opened, and the way he "spread the mud" over Nancy's face and neck, for a few minutes, was frightful.

We will not mention what took place when he discovered the difference between Jack Nicket and Nancy Myers.

JOKE ON A MINISTER.—A young fellow was taking a sleigh ride with a pretty girl, when he met a Methodist minister who was somewhat celebrated for tying knots matrimonial at short notice. He stopped him and asked hurriedly:

"Can you tie a knot for me?"

"Yes," said Brother B., "I guess so; when do you want it done?"

"Well, right away," was the reply; "is it lawful though, here in the highway?" asked the wag.

"O, yes; this is as good a place as any—as safe as the church itself."

"Well then, I want a knot tied in my horse's tail, to keep it out of the snow!" shouted the wicked wag, as he drove rapidly away, fearing lest the minister, in his profane wrath, should fall from grace.

"La, me!" sighed Mrs. Partington, "here I have been sufferin' the hegamies of death for three mortal weeks. Fust, I was seized with a painful phrenology in the left hampshire of the brain, which was exceeded by a stoppage of the left ventilator of the heart, producing a typhoid consanguinity in the vernacular strumum verboria. This gave me an inflammation in the borax, and now I'm indispositioned with the chloroform morbus. Ther's no blessing like that of health, particularly when you're sick."

CANDIDATE for office calls at the residence of a gentleman to solicit his vote: Candidate—Madam, is your husband about?

Lady—Yes, sir. He has gone to haul away a dead dog, and will be back directly.

Candidate—Sheep killing dog, I suppose, madam?

Fierce spoken urchin—No, sir; just barked himself to death at candidates.

At a fancy ball in Paris, a young Alabamian lady recently wore a costume the beaux pronounced the best of arguments in favor of the American Union. Miss King wore a small helmet, surmounted by the Federal eagle; her graceful form represented the staff of the flag, whose folds were formed by blue and red skirts, embroidered with thirty-four stars. Over her robe floated a silver scarf, with the national device, "E pluribus unum."

DOCTOR PARR had a high opinion of his own skill at whist, and could not even patiently tolerate the want of it in his partner. Being engaged with a party in which he was unequally matched, he was asked by a lady how the fortune of the game turned, when he replied:

"Pretty well, madam, considering that I have three adversaries."

A hiss is either foolish, or tremendous, or sublime. The hissing of a pancake is absurd; the first faint hiss that arises from the extremity of the pit on the evening of a new play, sinks the soul of the author within him, and makes him blame himself and his Thalia; the hissing of a cobra-de-capello is sublime—it is the whisper of death.

That was a fearful joke of Lord Norbury's on sentencing to death a thief who had stolen a watch: "You made a grasp at time, my lad, but you clutched eternity."

HON. HUMPHREY GRIFFITH.—A report has got into circulation throughout the county that this gentleman intended to stump the State for the Conness-4th-of-July ticket. We are authorized to state that the report is entirely without foundation. Mr. Griffith is a Democrat in every sense of the word, and his sentiments are fully set forth in his speech before the Democratic Convention on Wednesday last. We understand this speech is being published in pamphlet form for distribution, and all who desire to know how this gentleman stands had better read it. It is an able production.

THE speech of P. L. Edwards, delivered before the Democratic State Convention, in Sacramento City, on Thursday last, is being published in pamphlet form, for general distribution throughout the State. It is a logical and forcible production, and will, no doubt, have its effect in the coming campaign.

THE Democracy of Sutter county have made the following nominations for county officers: For Assembly, C. E. Wilcox; County Judge, Thomas W. Lockard; Sheriff, D. D. Stewart; Clerk, S. J. Stabler; District Attorney, I. C. McQuaid; Treasurer, T. D. Boyd; Assessor, R. A. Clark; Coroner, T. J. Dunham; Pub. Administrator, B. J. Nordyke. We know most of these gentlemen, and can safely say it is an excellent ticket, and will carry with it not only the strength of the party, but the confidence of the people of the whole county.

FIVE CALVES AT A BIRTH.—The San Jose Mercury requests the world to believe that on Thursday last a cow belonging to Dr. George McCrackin, at Pike Canon, in Santa Clara county, gave birth to five living male calves!

WOOL.—The S. F. Mirror says The demand for wool is in excess of the supply, the local consumption of our two mills in this city being quite an item of itself; beside, there are buyers here on Boston account, to the extent of 300,000 pounds, which is being secured in the interior.

SAN FRANCISCO AND VALLEJO RAILROAD.—The stockholders of this road held their annual meeting in this city last Wednesday evening, and the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year: J. B. Frisbie, of Vallejo, and D. W. C. Rice, C. B. Fowler, W. K. Hudson, J. E. Galloway, of Marysville, and W. G. Hunt, of Yolo, Trustees; J. B. Frisbie, President; C. B. Fowler, Vice President; W. K. Hudson, Treasurer, and Theodore A. Coult, Secretary. Frequent inquiry is made as to the progress of the road, and, while we have no faith in the frequent and unauthorized stories which are circulated concerning the immediate completion of the road, it is but just to the Company to say that while the war has laid an embargo upon all foreign trade it cannot be reasonably expected that any foreign capital can be induced to seek investment in any of the United States.—Marysville Appeal, July 20th.

ACCUMULATION OF TREASURE.—The San Francisco Call says:

During the second quarter of the present year the amount of treasure received in this city from the mines was $11,510,974. During the same period there has been shipped from this city treasure to the amount of $8,626,216. According to this showing, the amount of treasure accumulated here since the first of April is $2,884,758—enough nearly, to complete all the works of public improvement now projected and under way in this State.

News of the Week.

The Democratic State Convention met in Sacramento City last Tuesday, and nominated the following excellent ticket:

For Governor, J. R. McConnell—for Lieutenant-Governor, Jasper O'Farrell—Judge Supreme Court, W. C. Wallace—Congress, D. O. Shattuck and H. P. Barbour—Controller, S. H. Brooks—Treasurer, Thos. Findley—Attorney-General, Tod Robinson—Surveyor-General, H. A. Higley—State Printer, M. B. Carr—and Clerk Supreme Court, Charles S. Fairfax.

We have no hesitation in saying this is an unexceptionable a ticket as was ever presented to the voters of this State, and it stands out in bold relief, compared with the other two tickets which it has to contend against. The Convention was very harmonious, and a disposition was felt by the delegates to put forth only the best men, regardless of personal favors or consideration; and fully have they performed this task. Upon the first meeting of this body, the opinion seemed to prevail among the members that their success in the canvass was very doubtful, but upon comparing notes, the prospect seemed to brighten, and most of that body left the Convention with a strong conviction that the ticket they had put forth would be victorious.

A report has been in circulation that a letter was received by the last Pony, giving an account of a battle between Gen. Patterson and Gen. Johnson, in which it is stated that the engagement lasted all one day, when Gen. Beauregard came up with reinforcements towards evening, cutting off Gen. Patterson's retreat, and taking him and all his army prisoners. We have endeavored to trace the rumor to some reliable source, but have failed to do so, and therefore conclude it is without foundation. No doubt exists, however, that an engagement has taken place ere this between the above troops, and we may look for particulars by the next Pony, if the war in Missouri has not cut off all communication by telegraph through that State.

The recent hot weather has had the effect to heat the waters in and around Sycamore slough to such an extent that all the fish have died, and for the past week the river at this point has been literally covered with dead fish, from the smallest minnow to the largest sturgeon; and as the river is falling rapidly, large numbers are deposited on the banks and bars of the river, causing an intolerable stench to rise from their decomposition. We trust the worst is over, for should this continue another week, it must breed a great amount of sickness.

RELIGION AND BUSINESS.—To assist our pious brother, we copy the following from the San Francisco Evangel. The editor of that paper vouches for its genuineness:

TO THE BAPTIST CHURCH IN SAN FRANCISCO.—Dear Brethren in Christ:—As far as personal acquaintance goes, I am an entire stranger to you all; I am a poor man, but a member and a licentiate of the Baptist Church, Iowa. I have had a splendid mustang sorrel pony—white face, white spots on the back and sides, somewhat inclined under the belly; the spots are very white, striking and peculiar. The size of the spots vary; I think the spot on her right side is the largest and about the size of a common straw hat, but a little different shaped, and perhaps larger. She is about thirteen hands high, slim built, thin in flesh, and an old saddle sore on her back; has a scar around one of the gambrel joints of her hind leg which will at once identify her when recognized, she is what is called a five year old filly this spring.

I would like to have some kind, energetic brother take hold of this thing and advertise her in your several country papers, and inform the Baptist brethren in different parts of the country; and I have no doubt but some of you who are in the habit of observing things closely, will have the pleasure of seeing her rode through some of your cities or towns and in this way you will be able to identify her. I followed her up to the Missouri river, and found that she had crossed at Omaha City, Nebraska, some ten or twelve days ahead of me. I had people describe her to me as accurately as I could have done it myself. Deacon Smith, in Omaha City, recollected distinctly of seeing her pass with some emigrants.

In case you should identify her, I should like to have you write to me—and you keep the mare until I come out; I think you will find she will do work enough to pay for keeping her, or if you have not, perhaps some other brother would be glad to have her for his son or daughter to practice riding on, and be kept this way until I come out. I am going to make a special effort to get out next summer, if I have my health, and can raise the means.

P. S.—Don't forget this beautiful precept: "As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men; especially, unto them who are of the household of faith."

[Communicated.]

MR. EDITOR:—For some weeks previous to last Saturday, posters, both written and printed, (but you didn't print them,) were distributed over the county, calling "Union men to the rescue," and informing the public that a "Union Convention" would be held at Cacheville on the 20th instant," etc. Well, that "Union Convention" did really meet, and its proceedings, at intervals, were quite racy. A great deal of care was exercised, and discussion had, over the phraseology of some parts of the resolutions, lest, unintentionally, it might be admitted that the States, as such, have some rights not delegated to the General Government; or rather, as President Lincoln has it in his message, "some rights granted by the General Government to the States." These resolutions, however, were arranged by suitable striking out and insertions, to suit at least a majority of that "Union" body, and it proceeded with the next order of business, which was nominations for County officers. And right here the "Union" began to develop itself to outsiders; and before the ticket was completed, it was manifest to all that there was no "Union" in that body, except with those and for those hailing from north of a certain imaginary line familiar to all Americans. There were aspirants in that body whose misfortune it was to be born south of that line, and who, when called upon the stand, were so vehement in their declarations of devotion to Mr. Lincoln's whole war policy, that they declared the English language bankrupt in words to suitably express it; yet, they were left out. It was thought not safe to trust any man whose birth and education had given him an opportunity of knowing and properly appreciating the practical workings of that institution, to make war upon which Mr. Lincoln was elevated to the Presidency. Indeed, the man admitted to be the strongest and most popular of any whose name was before the Convention, happened to be of this class. He, however, could not swallow the whole platform, body, boots and all; but was willing that the present national difficulties might be amicably settled, without the effusion of more blood. Whether this declaration did not suit the belligerent propensities of the majority of the Convention, or whether it was because he was from Pike, I am unable to say. Let the Convention take either horn of the dilemma it chooses. Certain it is, he was laid upon the shelf without even a respectable vote, and one of the most unpopular, and really, it seems, one of the most unreliable men whose name was before the Convention, was taken in his stead.

There were, Mr Editor, some good, Union-loving men betrayed into that Convention, either as delegates, or as aspirants for office, who were led to believe that men's birth-place or political antecedents would not be inquired into, but were led to believe that nominations would be given those only who had not sought it; in fact, the weapon, or rather, the bait used to secure those who, it was feared, would not commit themselves beforehand to the ticket, was either to get them as delegates to the Convention, or beg them to go and accept the nomination for some particular office. These tricks were successful only in a few instances.

I had hoped ere this to have seen the platform of this "Union" party in print, that I might, in this article, offer some comments upon it also, but will have to defer it to a future period, feeling sure that the people of Yolo county will not be left long in the dark, as to the principles this party advocate. —N.

July 25th, 1861.

Where's the Platform?

We publish in to-day's paper what purports to be the proceeding of the "Union" Convention which assembled at Cacheville on Saturday last, but no platform accompanying it. Why this tardiness on the part of our "Union" friends to let the public know the ground whereon they stand? It is not sufficient that the Convention is called a "Union" Convention, or that the party denominates itself a "Union" party, for all parties in California profess devotion to the Union. The difficulty seems to be in the path will most surely lead to the consummation of that desirable end. We hope in our next issue to be able to lay before our readers the platform of this "Union" party, if some one will only furnish us a copy of it. In the meantime, we refer our readers to the communication of our correspondent "—N," in reference to said "Union" Convention.

The Union Convention.

The Union County Convention met at Cacheville, Saturday last. The meeting was called to order by L. R. Hopkins. Thomas Clark nominated N. Wyckoff for temporary Chairman—motion was put to the house and carried unanimously.

L. R. Hopkins was then chosen temporary Secretary.

It was moved by C. I. Hutchinson, that the Chair appoint a committee on credentials, to be composed of one member from each precinct in the county. The motion was carried; whereupon the Chair appointed the following persons to act on such committee: Knight's Landing, John Koon; Cacheville, D. Schindler; Weyand's, E. Burger; Corbet's, C. E. Green; Maxwell's, Mr. Palmer; McCarty's, James Ellory; Wood's, J. M. Rhodes; Fremont, Mr. Patton; Powell's, R. Parker; Washington, W. Hodgdon; Osborn's, Mr. Foster; Ristine's, Mr. Ristine; Yolo City, Thomas Pockman; Joseph's, Mr. Luddington.

Upon motion, the Chair also appointed the following persons a committee on permanent organization, resolutions and order of business: Thomas Clark, Mr. Emory, J. T. Dexter, G. W. Bell and L. R. Hopkins.

After a short absence, the committee on credentials reported in favor of the following delegates: Knight's Landing—Koon, McClintock, Lippincott, Hamblin, Walker and Darlington; Cacheville—Hopkins, McGriff, Smith, Schindler, Sharpneck and Harley; Weyand's—Gushaw, Hamilton, Burger and Beal; Yolo City—Wyckoff, Clark, Dexter, Freeman, (Hollingsworth, proxy,) Pockman, Ruggles and Emory; Fremont—E. P. Patton; Ludden's School House—Ryan and Winchell, (Ryan, proxy;) Buckeye—Durman, Bryant, Bouchard, Palmer and Wiley; Corbit's—Hutchinson and Green; Orborn's—Foster and Morse; Washington—Hodgdon, Jennings, Stouhtenburg, Wilton, Griffith, Reed, Haskell, Bell, Hopkins and Carpenter; Ristine's—Ristine; McCarty's—Ellory and Overshiner; Wood's—Rhodes (two votes) and McCreary; Joseph's—Luddington, (three votes); Powell's—Parker, (two votes;) in all 56.

The committee on organization, resolutions and order of business made the following report: For permanent organization, we recommend for President of the Convention, N. Wyckoff; for Secretary, Thomas Clark; and that the following order of business be adopted: 1st, adoption of resolutions; 2d, nomination of County Judge; 3d, Clerk; 4th, Assembly; 5th, Sheriff; 6th, Assessor; 7th, Treasurer; 8th, Superintendent of Public Schools; 9th, District Attorney; 10th, Coroner; 11th, Surveyor.

The report was received and adopted. Resolutions were adopted, (but I have no copy to send; I understand they will be published in the Union,) when the Convention proceeded to ballot for candidates, in pursuance of the order of business adopted, with the following result: For County Judge, J. B. Smith; Clerk, E. Gidding; Assembly, I. N. Hoag; Sheriff, Charles H. Gray; Assessor, Overshiner, of Cottonwood; Treasurer, Reed, of Washington; Superintendent Public Schools, Henry Gaddis; District Attorney, H. P. Hamblin; Coroner, Dr. Rodolph; Surveyor, Amos Mathews.

PONY NEWS.

Dates to July 15th.

WASHINGTON, July 11th.—The Army Bill passed to-day appropriating $161,000,000. This includes pay for three months and for three years' volunteers. The navy bill appropriates about $30,000,000.

The President replied to the resolutions of the House calling for the correspondence touching the annexation of Dominica, that it was not advisable at this time.

The Committee of Ways and Means has not yet considered the proposed tariff bill.

The President approved the bill remitting and refunding duties on arms used in suppressing the rebellion.

It is intimated that the Secession press at Baltimore will be vigorously prosecuted.

A special dispatch to the New York Herald, dated Baltimore, July 11th, has the following: Mayor Brown's message to the City Council says the attack in April on the Massachusetts troops was the result of impulse, and not a premeditated scheme, and that in the ensuing excitement it would have been impossible to convey more troops through the city without fighting and bloodshed. Therefore the railroad bridges were, with the consent of the Government and by my order, destroyed, but with no hostility to the Government. He reviews the subsequent acts, but fails to see sufficient justification for the grave violation of the rights of citizens of Maryland.

The telegraph was so torn down on Thursday night between Lexington and Jefferson City, Missouri, that it is not yet repaired. On Saturday the telegraph was torn down and a bridge burned on the Hannibal and St. Joseph railroad.

Colonel Thomas has been indicted by the Grand Jury for piracy and treason, and is now in jail.

CAROLINA, July 11th.—A gentleman from Memphis reports that a regiment left there yesterday for Missouri.

He also reports that there are 2,000 rebel troops at Point Pleasant, Missouri, making preparations to attack Bird's Point.

ALEXANDRIA, July 11th.—Reports from Fairfax indicate that a gradual withdrawal of the Confederate troops is going on there. Pickets were withdrawn yesterday. Our pickets have been un molested for several days.

St. JOSEPH, July 12th.—A gentleman from the interior this evening, reports that the Home Guards of Hannibal held their position in the College building at Monroe station, surrounded by 1,600 rebels up to six o'clock last evening, when the rebels broke and fled. Some of the rebels were killed, and twenty of their horses captured. None of the Home Guards were killed or taken prisoners. The train containing troops from Illinois was two miles from Monroe when our informant left. The railroad track will be repaired as soon as possible, and trains will resume their regular trips.

The troops from St. Joseph and Hudson arrived at Monroe after the rebels fled, and they are on their return.

In the House, July 12th, Stevens, from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported a bill making additional appropriations for the legislative, executive and judicial expenses for the year ending June, 1862, and an average of the year ending June last; also, a bill making appropriations for the civil expenses of the Government the same period.

Mr. Blair, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported a bill to promote the efficiency of the army; also a bill for the payment of volunteers to aid in supporting and defending the Government.

All of the above bills were referred to the Committee of the Whole, and ordered printed.

On motion of Mr. Stevens the House went into a Committee of the Whole on the army bill, with Mr. Washburn in the chair.

Mr. Stevens said the Committee on Ways and Means hoped to complete their business so that the House might adjourn on Thursday, July 18th. They were disposed in these war times to give everything the Government asked, trusting that before half a year passed away, peace may be restored. The importance of having disciplined troops was so obvious as not to require argument. If the army should be too large when the rebellion was suppressed, it could be easily reduced.

GROCERIES

Our goods were bought when the stocks in San Francisco were very large and complete, and before the rise in prices; and we extend a cordial invitation to all to call and examine our goods and prices before buying elsewhere. We take this occasion to return thanks for past favors, and to solicit a continuance of the same; and to call upon those knowing themselves indebted to us to make payment at once, for "we must have money."

Grain and flour sacks made and kept on hand for sale. Country produce taken in exchange for goods, and money not refused.

Card from the Grover & Baker S. M. Company.

The public, in their eagerness to supply themselves with sewing machines making the Grover & Baker stitch, must not forget to purchase them of the parties who alone are authorized to sell them. All machines sewing from two spools and in which one needle only penetrates the cloth, and having a feed which allows the material to be turned at will are infringements.

GROVER & BAKER S. M. CO.

All persons are cautioned not to make, deal in, or use, any sewing machines which sew from two spools and make the stitch known as the Grover & Baker stitch, unless the same are purchased from the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine Company, or their Agents, Licensees, and stamped under my patent of September 10, 1848.

Said Company and their Licensees, alone, are authorized under their own patents, and my said patent, during the extended term thereof, to make and sell this kind of sewing machines, and all others are pirates upon my said patent, and will be dealt with accordingly wherever found.
