APR-CCL

The Movement Wikimedia Brazil is moving toward fulfilling its activities in a distributed fashion, using available resources, especially idle, avoiding bureaucracy and ever strengthening ties and partnerships, whether with individuals or institutions. This gives us, for example, the ability to perform events without the need to manage money directly. The movement is Brazilian, made with fun, fellowship and solidarity, where all are beneficiaries of a fair, because there are always exchanges of experiences and knowledge, and all have opinions and share responsibilities.
