

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION ENDS

CONCLUDING SESSION HELD LAST NIGHT

Officers Elected for the Ensuing Year— Treasurer's Report Shows Balance on Hand.

The concluding session of the provincial convention of Sunday school workers was largely attended in Calvary Baptist church last evening.

The executive committee chosen is as follows: Victoria, Dr. L. Hall, W. A. Gleason and J. W. Weston; Nanaimo, Thomas Bryant; New Westminster, W. E. McLeod; Vancouver, Dr. Geo. Telford and W. J. White.

Mrs. Dr. McKay, of Vancouver, by means of blackboard illustrations and a class of small children, very aptly portrayed the lesson for next Sunday.

The heart to heart talk by W. C. Merritt, of Tacoma, proved to be the strongest event on the convention programme.

At the conclusion of the address the following resolution was introduced and passed by a standing vote: Whereas, the B. C. International Sunday school convention approves the action of the international executive committee in placing held workers on the Pacific Coast and believes that such an appointment should continue; and

Resolved, that the executive of this convention be charged with the responsibility of conferring with the proper authorities to secure for them, if possible, leave of absence with continuation of salary, that he may attend that congress at Rome in May next.

E. W. Leeson, in a few well chosen words, cordially invited the convention to hold its next session at Vancouver. The invitation was graciously received and accepted.

A very interesting report was received from the Cradle Roll department, showing a total of 24 schools having such department on their books.

After the report of the committee on resolutions had been read the convention concluded the seventh annual session with the singing of "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

PITIFUL STORY OF KARLUK SEAMAN

SEVENTEEN MONTHS OF FIENDISH TREATMENT

Saturated With Chloroform and Loaded With Chains—Will Prosecute the Captain.

If the story told by Edward Nugent, the colored cook of the steam whaler Karluk, of San Francisco, is correct another sensational prosecution is in sight.

Here is Vincent's own story: "I was a seaman on the Karluk, not the cook," he said. "Some of the papers have stated I was the latter. I was in from nearly all the time from the winter of 1905 until 22nd of September this year."

"We were hauling ice one morning, I was in charge of loading the sleigh and one of the green hands, for I had been in the Arctic before, would not take the ice where I wanted him to. We took it to the ship to melt and thus get fresh water. He pulled the sled back. I tried to take it away from him, when he struck me twice. Then he went away, but came back shortly afterwards. He tried again to take away the sled and threw me down in the snow."

"Then I pulled out my pocket knife, it was only a small one, and struck at him in self-defense. The damage was done. I was just to nick his snow shirt. I did not wound him at all. He went back to the ship, walking without trouble, and went to see the doctor. The name of the latter was White, but I do not think he was a qualified man. Although I knew he was not hurt, the doctor ran a knife on me. He plastered up a portion of his breast and when the man wanted to work away again I had done from the sled, the doctor said: 'No, carry him.'"

"Some men of the Northwest Mounted Police, for Herschel Island where we were wintering in Canadian territory, came aboard a few days after and ordered the captain to take off the iron, in which I was placed after I struck my knife. The captain refused and kept me in irons from 16th April to 22nd September. He then let me out and ordered me to go to work. I was put in with the Eskimo crew all the time and had to stay there without any stove. One morning a man came up to me with some butter, and I told him there was not enough of it, and that I was used to getting more than they gave me. The mate, his name is Ellis, came up and shouted: 'Shut up you black son of a —. I said I would not. The mate went back and called the captain, who came out and, without asking what was the trouble, struck me on the jaw. I then went back to the Eskimo quarters where I was confined."

"They shortly after called me out again and struck me. Then the two of them put me in irons and took me to the fore hold. For seven days I lived on bread and water. After that I had a small biscuit and bowl of ice water three times a day for four days at a time; on the fifth I got a full ration. This sort of thing continued from April 28th to May 22nd. I could not stand it any longer. I was in the latter part of the day. The man who waited on me found me unconscious, and after shaking me up went for the doctor. I was feeling pretty bad. The first thing the doctor asked was, 'Is he dead.' I kept quiet and just laid there. He asked the mate, who was with him, 'Is this place clear?' The mate said yes. Then the doctor pulled a knife out of his pocket and unbuttoned the top part of my pants and said, 'Well I'll start from the navel.' I roused myself and stopped him. They began to get leary. Both asked me what was the matter. 'Hunger and starvation,' I said. 'I must have more to eat. I can't stand this sort of thing any longer.'"

"They called the captain and asked him if I could get more grub, but he said no. All went up stairs, the captain saying: 'You'll never fool me next time.' After a while they gave me medicine, but I was suspicious and did not take it. I have kept it carefully, and will have it analyzed when I get to 'Prisco. They took the iron off me on May 22nd and put me into the fiddle, right up the boiler. I heard the captain tell the mate he was going to examine me, so that night I did not sleep in my bunk, but made my bed on the floor."

GOD SAVE THE KING! His Gracious Majesty Edward VII.—Born Nov 9, 1841.

"To the King! God bless him," will be heard in every part of the British Empire. To-day he celebrates the sixty-fifth anniversary of his birth in Buckingham Palace, on November 9th, 1841. Through a wish to perpetuate the name of Victoria the Good, he has requested that the official celebration be adjourned until May 24th. In Canada in an unofficial manner both dates can be celebrated. Empire Day will forever in the Dominion keep green the name of the late Queen, and the honor of its inception belongs to a resident of this city, Senator W. J. Macdonald.

His Majesty's visit to Canada and the United States, in 1860, when the west was in embryo, is well remembered by all old timers. The handsome, boyish face of the Duke of Rutland, for that was his unoficial title, wherever seen was always with the greatest enthusiasm. Victoria bridge, that crosses the St. Lawrence at Montreal, was opened by him on August 25th of the year mentioned, and remains a monument to-day to early Canadian enterprise, as the longest tubular bridge in the world. Shortly before crossing the Atlantic His Majesty made his first military appearance, on January 16th, 1852, and it was for the purpose of presenting colors to the old 100th Regiment, the Prince of Wales' Leicester Regiment (Loyal Canadians). An extract from his speech on that occasion will bear repeating: "Although owing to my youth and inexperience, I can but very imperfectly give expression to the sentiments which this occasion is calculated to awaken with reference to ourselves and to the great and flourishing provinces of Canada, you may rest assured that I shall ever watch the progress and achievements of your gallant corps with deep interest. Well might the Morning Herald say in referring to the expression mentioned: 'From its first origin until the day on which the Prince of Wales described it as a province and not a colony, we have all looked to Canada as the HERITAGE to British dominion in the western world.' It remained for Sir Wilfrid Laurier to announce the birth of even higher things when he declared, when advocating the British preference, 'This day a nation is born in the world.' Two years afterwards, on March 19th, 1863, His Majesty was married to our present Queen, Alexandra, eldest daughter of King Christian of Denmark. The reception of this daughter of the Vikings was a scene of almost incredible enthusiasm and she at once took that position in the national heart she has since maintained. When His Majesty ascended to the throne on January 22nd, 1901, expressions of loyalty were quickly sent from every part of the Empire. He at once acknowledged this by adding to his official title 'the British Dominion beyond the sea.' His career since then has been that of the peacemaker, and a care for the common people like that of his predecessor in nominal title, King Edward VI. He has renewed our friendship with France, been instrumental in forming many alliances that make for the good of the Empire and the obliteration of war. Perhaps even the probable settlement of difficulties in Ireland, announced in to-day's dispatches, is another tribute to his work for peace. Very probably so, for it was generally considered he was in favor of a measure of self-government in the Emerald Isle. There will be no official celebration to-day in any part of the world, but this 'little bit of England' on the shores of the Pacific, will with heart and soul give expression to the toast, 'To the King! God bless him.'

were at me again. The captain came in and gave me the same dose. I struggled to prevent him, but was very weak. They were evidently trying to kill me so that I could not prosecute them when the Karluk got back to San Francisco. The captain kicked me and found the heart and kidneys and jumped on my back. I called for help, but no one came to my assistance. They released me out of irons on September 25th, 1906. They had put them on again the day I struggled with the captain as I told you just now. Then they put me to live with the Eskimos again, and for the balance of the winter I stayed with them day and night. One night, while I was in my bunk, the doctor came in again with the chloroform. Two of the Eskimos tried to hold me down. I struggled with them and jumped out of my bunk and went up to the doctor, who was sitting in the corner. I did not say anything then, as I did not want to commit myself, and he went out. I went up to him the next morning and told him not to come again. I said: 'If you do, I'll take an axe and chop you down.' "So this scared the so-called doctor. So much so that he ran away from the ship and went aboard the Alexander that was wrecked this year. After the ice broke up the Alexander went to White Shingle point, after wood and White Gloja, that made the northwest passage, and he went down to San Francisco on her. "After all this ill treatment I took there with chloroform and the doctor used it on me. I did not get enough to become unconscious, so knew what they were doing. The chloroform made me very sick. The fifth mate, whose name is Clarke, and a member of the crew I could not recognize, came in and helped to hold me down while they were going through this performance. Next morning I could hardly get out of bed. In two or three nights they time. As soon as I reach that city I am going to prosecute the captain and others who ill treated me." Then the Northwest Mounted Police again came to Herschel Island and the captain went and spoke to them. I did not hear what he said. Without giving me a chance to explain I was taken back to the ship and again placed in irons by the first and fifth mates. I struggled as hard as I could to prevent it, but the fifth mate grabbed me by the throat and choked me. After ironing me they put a chain on me and spiked it into the bunk, where I was sleeping. That night the captain and mate came in like wild bulls. The former used the chloroform that time. They held me and tried to break my back; both of them struck me in the mouth several times. This ill usage twisted up my leg so much that I could not walk. "I was shifted into the fiddle again; two men carried me to my old bunk. I asked them not to take me there again, but though the whole ship's company was in the boiler room no one offered to assist me. The captain pulled the blanket off me and went and jerked my right leg so that I fell out of the bunk, the second mate, a Portuguese named Magale, holding my arms. Then they grabbed me by the throat and choked me. "After the boiler got blowing it was so hot I could hardly stand it. They closed all the windows and doors, and I remained in that condition until the steamer got to Point Barrow. The Thetis was there at the time, and I at once reported my case to District Attorney Landen, of Nome, who was on board with U. S. Marshal Evans. "I was all skin and bone. I could hardly move my leg at all, and was too sick. He then told the mate to put me in irons again. When I heard this, I walked outside on the ice about 30 yards. The captain went into his cabin and got his revolver and using bad language, ordered me to keep off

THE QUESTION OF HINDU IMMIGRANTS

DOMINION CABINET WILL TAKE ACTION

Representation Will Be Made to the Imperial Government on the Subject.

(Special to the Times.) Ottawa, Nov. 9.—There are some 800 more Hindus on their way to British Columbia. Already strong protests have been received from that province against the arrival of this class, who are not wanted, who will never assimilate with the Canadian people, and who will become a charge upon the community.

The Dominion government will make representations to the imperial government to take the matter up with the Indian government, and put a stop to this immigration. Being British subjects this is about the only way that the matter can be dealt with.

BLAMES DRINK FOR DOWNFALL

SUICIDE LEAVES MESSAGE OF WARNING

Geo. Zeigler, a Kingston Real Estate Agent, Ends Life by Shooting Himself.

(Associated Press.) Kingston, Ont., Nov. 8.—Geo. Zeigler, insurance and real estate agent, committed suicide this morning by shooting himself. He took his life evidently fearful of arrest for forgery. He had tried to pass a note on Monday which had the endorsement of two leading citizens, but the latter denied signing it and a warrant was issued for his arrest.

Deceased was 35 years of age. Coroner Mundell found a message on Zeigler's body entitled "A word to young men," in which he calls drink a curse. It had rubbed him and was ruining more young men than any other thing. He asked young men to shun bar rooms, and calls on temperance workers and ministers of all churches in our fair Dominion, be they Protestant or Catholic, to take an active step in suppressing the sale and manufacture of liquor. He besought young men "for God's sake" to take heed, lest you fall as I have. May my fall be a lesson to you, which you shall never forget."

He also left a personal and pathetic letter to his wife and five-year-old daughter.

Five names went before the convention, but of these only three had any following, J. C. Walsh, Ald. M. J. Walsh, and Dr. Guerin. Dr. Guerin has stated that he will run no matter what the choice of the convention might be.

REVOLUTIONISTS WRECK TRAIN

MAIL CAR DERAILED BY EXPLOSION OF BOMB

Several Soldiers Killed and Wounded—Robbers Escaped With Over Half Million Dollars.

(Associated Press.) Rogow, Russian Poland, Nov. 8.—The Cossacks have thus far been unsuccessful in their pursuit of the revolutionist train robbers, numbering a hundred well armed men, who surrounded this station last night, threw a bomb at the mail car of a train, derailed it, killing or wounding several soldiers of the escort and fled with a sum of money now said to amount to $65,000.

The robbery was well planned. It occurred at 9 o'clock while the train was changing engines. The station master declares the revolutionists hid in the neighboring forests, and were excellently disciplined, their commander giving orders through bugle signals.

When the robbery was completed the revolutionists transported their booty to two warehouses and marched off in military order, singing socialistic songs. Rogow is now occupied by troops. Eye-witnesses confirm the statement that the revolutionists were hidden in the neighboring woods. When the train stopped the men, armed with rifles, sprang upon all sides, quickly executing the orders conveyed by the bugle. They shot and killed the gendarmes standing in front of the station. Sentinels were placed at all approaches and the telegraph wires were cut. While some of the robbers overpowered the trainmen others attacked the escorts of the mail car.

Three bombs, not one, it now appears, were thrown. Two of them exploded with terrific force, blowing the cars into matchwood, killing five soldiers and badly wounding eleven others. The robbers then ransacked the mail cars, transferred the bank notes, gold and silver to their own bags, and unfolding the red flag, formed up in military order, marched out of the station, entered wagons which were in waiting in the forest and drove off. It was not until three hours later that a detachment of Cossacks, hurriedly sent for, appeared on the scene and started in pursuit of them.

A TRIBUTE TO POPULAR GOVERNOR

HON. W. W. B. M'INNES ENTERTAINED AT BANQUET

Members of All Political Parties Unite in Praising His Work—Confident of Future Prosperity.

(Special to the Times.) Dawson, Nov. 8.—Hon. W. W. B. McInnes, governor of the Yukon, will leave on Tuesday for Ottawa via Nanaimo, Victoria and Vancouver.

He was tendered a banquet last night in the Arctic Brotherhood hall. Members of all political parties gathered to pay a harmonious tribute to the splendid administration of Yukon affairs by Mr. McInnes during the last two years. Mr. Justice Macaulay presided. Representatives of the press, commercial, mining and other interests all contributed to a complimentary address endorsing the action of Mr. McInnes, and painting a picture of prosperity in the future. Many of the speakers predicted that the Yukon will become one of the most populous parts of Canada when the vast mineral resources which the outside world is recognizing are fully exploited, and that a new era of prosperity dawned with the arrival of Mr. McInnes two years ago.

Mr. McInnes replied, giving great credit to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. F. Oliver for helping the Yukon. The banquet was the biggest in the history of the Yukon.

ANOTHER RAID.

Police Break Up Fan-Tan Game and Capture Seven Chinamen.

Chief of Police Langley, Detectives Perdue, O'Leary and McDonald and Sergeant Redgrave, made a raid on No. 25 Fisgard street last evening and interrupted a game of fan-tan which was taking place in a room upstairs. The police took advantage of the dark and boisterous night to reach the house undetected, but a sentry just managed to shut the front door in time. While it was being demolished with a sledge-hammer all the players, with the exception of seven, made their escape. No money was taken, the banker getting away in time. In the police court this morning the seven Chinamen who were captured were charged with gaming. They pleaded not guilty and H. A. Twigg, who had been engaged on their behalf, asked for a remand on bail. Magistrate Hall allowed a bail of $50 in each case.

Information has been received from Lightkeeper Daykin at Carmichael Point indicating that the American fishing schooner Surf Duck for which inquiry was made by United States Consul Smith some time ago, has been wrecked. Wreckage has been found at Carmanah bearing a portion of the name, and in addition to this evidence of disaster there is included in the logbook that has been washed ashore a cabin and deck house of some small craft such as would come from the Surf Duck.

In a letter to Capt. Gaudin, local agent of marine and fisheries, which that official received upon his return from Vancouver last night, Mr. Daykin says: "Some time ago Mr. Smith, United States consul, wrote asking if I could give him any information regarding a small American fishing schooner named Surf Duck. I had not heard anything of her at that time. On October 25th my son was returning from Bonilla Point came across a piece of plank seemingly from a small schooner's bow with the letters 'Surf' cut in wood. The board was broken at the end of the word. There was also a quantity of white painted lumber, the roof of a small vessel's cabin and deck house, which had extended clear across the deck. The top was painted lead color, and a great many nails were driven in the beams. There was also part of a boat painted green, which was broken. Abroad with the letters 'King' about a foot long, was found a part of the large ship's boat painted white. The wreckage from the small boat seemed to have been in the water some time."

THE THETIS DRIFTS.

The United States revenue cutter Thetis was caught by the gale of wind blowing between 5 and 10 o'clock this morning and carried into the outer wharf, where fortunately she was brought up in an admirable manner. The ship was anchored to the southwest of the entrance of the harbor, but evidently her anchors found hard bottom, for they dragged all the way to the wharf. The wind blowing at the time registered only 36 miles an hour at the meteorological station, and luckily came in the right direction to drive the ship towards the wharf. Had it been from a different direction the consequences might have been more serious.

MARINE NOTES.

Steamer Camosun will be due from northern ports this evening. The ship will not sail again until the 19th inst., it being intended to lay her off the route for a week or so to give her a cleaning and painting. The Vancouver steamer Thetis arrived at noon to-day to go on the ways of the Victoria Machinery Depot for a cleaning and painting. The C. P. R. steamship Princess May left Skagway on Thursday, and is expected to arrive here to-morrow. The vessel upon her return will be laid up for an overhauling. The Empress of Ireland arrived at Liverpool at noon to-day.

SUPPOSED SUICIDE.

Man Believed to Have Come From Victoria Disappeared From Princess Beatrice.

(Special to the Times.) Vancouver, Nov. 9.—A man who said he was a back driver of Victoria disappeared yesterday off the Princess Beatrice on her run between Victoria and Chemainus. He was practically a stowaway and was intoxicated. He said he had left a watch and ring at the Driland and was getting out of Victoria because of domestic troubles. He was over the average height, had a florid complexion and a sandy mustache. He is said to have made a previous attempt to jump overboard from the Tees, and it is supposed he committed suicide.

Inquiries at the Driland to-day resulted in no light being thrown on this. Jewellery is known to have been left there.

TERMS OFFERED ARE CONSIDERED LIBERAL

Deadlock May Necessitate Adoption of New Policy in Dealing With the Indians.

(Special to the Times.)

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—The terms offered the Songhees by Mr. Peckay are considered by the Indian department to be exceptionally liberal, and if their removal is not now accomplished on the terms proposed there is a great danger that they will not be renewed. It may be necessary to adopt a new policy in dealing with Indians so situated.

NUMBER OF MEN BURIED IN RUINS OF HOTEL

(Associated Press.)

Long Beach, Cal., Nov. 8.—The new Bixby hotel, being erected on the beach here, caved in to-day, supposedly from weak construction, and many men are buried in the ruins. The building is of reinforced concrete. The whole structure caved in without warning from the basement to the fourth floor. The confusion is so great that it is impossible to get the correct number of workmen buried. Estimates of the number of dead range from 10 to 25.

GAMBLING CASE.

Proprietor of the Tourist Cafe Faces Serious Charge in the Police Court To-day.

In the police court this morning W. R. Jackson, proprietor of the Tourist Cafe, Government street, was charged with keeping a gaming house. Chief Magistrate Mann prosecuted, and the defendant was represented by F. Higgins and W. C. Morsby. In opening the case Mr. Mann asked that all witnesses should be excluded from court until their presence was required, and the witness left the room. The first witness called gave evidence regarding the transferring of the license of the Savoy to the Tourist Cafe. He was examined by Mr. Mann, Chief Magistrate Mann, and the witness returned to the court. The Tourist Cafe premises upon the night of the 7th inst. He was furnished with a search warrant.

Mr. Higgins, for defendant, asked the witness to produce the search warrant. Upon examining it counsel claimed that the search warrant was not under the seal of the city, and he would object to the chief's testimony until the validity of the warrant was proved. At this stage a discussion took place between the opposing counsel and the magistrate upon technical points, and His Honor finally decided that, as Mr. Mann did not propose to use the warrant as evidence, the witness should proceed. Chief Magistrate Mann then directed the Tourist Cafe in company with Detective Perdus upon the night of the 7th inst. Mr. Higgins again objected, and from this on the chief's evidence was heard. Chief Magistrate Mann, continuing his evidence, said that after visiting the Cafe he had caused a subpoena to be issued for one of the men he had observed in the Cafe. He was Harris, the bartender. Detective Perdus had attempted to serve the subpoena without success. Detective Perdus deposed to taking the subpoena to the Tourist Cafe. He did not find Harris there.

J. R. McDonnell was next examined. He said he did not remember whether he was in the Tourist Cafe on the evening of the 7th inst. To several further questions he returned the same answer.

Mr. Higgins at this stage had further objections to make. He made them, after which he and Magistrate Mann had a long and interesting discussion over the objections. Finally the examination was continued.

Witness, answering a question from Mr. Mann, said that he had been in the company of Wm. Hall, Wm. Jones, G. Harrison and a man named Smith several times during the last six days. "Were they playing cards?" asked Mr. Mann. "I object to that question," broke in Mr. Higgins. "It should have been put in another way. You should have asked what they were doing. As the question stands it is leading and the evidence is therefore not admissible."

The objection was sustained and the question cut out. In continuing his examination of the witness, Mr. Mann encountered the almost invariable reply "I don't remember," and upon completion of the evidence, he applied to the magistrate for rights to cross-examine, claiming that the witness was evading, and attempting to defeat the ends of justice. His Honor maintained that counsel could not cross-examine his own witness unless the latter was proved to be "hostile or adverse."

Mr. Mann claimed that evasion was hostile, and asked for an adjournment until he could produce authority on this point. Magistrate Hall acceded to this and adjourned the court until 2.30 p. m.

YIP YEN GETS FIFTY MILLIONS

VAST CAPITAL SECURED FOR CHINESE RAILWAY

Reform Association Is Flourishing—Two Millions Subscribed by Mongolians in Canada.

He has dropped his old front name of "Charlie." A portly, prosperous looking man, the face of the Celestial seeming to have given place to that of a Brantford Indian, Charlie Yip Yen, former C. P. R. Chinese agent and customs interpreter at Vancouver, is now on his card, described as "Yip Yen, special representative Yat-Hon Railway Company, Canton, Kwangtung, China." Formerly almost blind, he now boasts an aldermanic paunch and anyone who has seen Grouchytska, the head of the Canadian I. O. F., would notice a great similarity of features. If the Indian doctor mentioned was knocked on the head and his abdomen somewhat distended and his stature reduced about six inches, he would be another Yip Yen.

Yip Yen has developed into one of the world's financiers within the past few years. He is about to return to China after completing the subscription list for the enormous sum of $50,000,000 for constructing the railway mentioned. It will be 1,800 miles in length, and run from Canton to Hong-kow and thence to Peking. Two million dollars of the sum mentioned was subscribed by Chinese residents in Canada, and much more by those in the United States. He refused to give the latter amount. Victoria, Vancouver, New Westminster and Nanaimo are represented on the list, while the eastern cities of Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa are also included. In the United States Yip Yen visited New York, Washington, Pittsburgh, Chicago and Los Angeles in his search for gold, and was everywhere successful. At the latter place he received a wire from Canton asking him to return as soon as possible, work on the new railway having already commenced. On his way north he paid hurried visits to Stockton, Sacramento, Fresno, Portland, Astoria and Seattle, adding something to his share list at all of these places. He will return to China on the next Empress, and expects the Yat-Hon railway to be finished before the end of 1911.

And then another well known Chinaman joined in the conversation. Law A. Yam, president for Canada of the Chinese Reform Association. He is a member of the well known Ying Tai Company of New Westminster.

"How is the Reform Association progressing now?" asked the reporter. "Fine," said Yip Yen. "There are 3,000 members in Vancouver, 3,000 in Victoria and about 700 in New Westminster. All over Canada there is a membership of nearly 20,000 and in the United States even a greater number."

"And how do you collect funds?" interposed the Times man. "A poor man can become a member on payment of five dollars," answered Law A. Yam, "but if he is rich he sometimes pays $1,000 or even $10,000. If he is a good man he can join whether wealthy or not. It was strange to hear Yam converse in Chinese with Yip Yen. He looks more like a Jap than a Chinaman. Then there was an adjournment for lighting cigars and Yip Yen continued the conversation.

"Don't you think this building proves we are prosperous?" he said, "and you must know we have a bigger one in Vancouver. The membership grows continually. The Dowager Empress, who used to be one of our bitterest enemies, is now a member of the association. All the leaders that were forced to flee are now all in China again and doing good work. They are building schools and colleges. I acted for a time as professor in one. In all the provinces there is a great improvement; mines are being opened all over both for coal and metals. There is lots of money. The government has permitted us to develop the country. Our railway will open up a new district and we can have a large traffic as soon as we are ready for it. Things have much improved since I left there last year. As you people say, 'China is waking up.'"

Yip Yen, concluding a most interesting interview, the two visitors are being lavishly entertained during their short stay in the city.

The Japanese are also investing heavily in large enterprises, but those in British Columbia are speculating here. A Chinaman, one Loo Tye Chew, engaged in mining on a large scale, in fact the hydraulic property at Bullion, now controlled by the Guggenheims, was the subject of litigation between him and Harry Abbott, lately general superintendent of the C. P. R., and other officials of that railway, who eventually secured the properties from him. The Japanese, however, are not deterred by his ill-luck. Awaya, Ikeda & Co., a prominent firm of merchants in Tokio, with a branch in this province, have engaged S. Harada, the most noted mining engineer in Japan, to examine the mineral deposits at Harriet Harbor, Queen Charlotte Islands. He left on the Anlin last trip, accompanied by twenty men who will do prospecting under his directions. Mr. Harada expects to be away about two months. He states that if the Moresby island claims turn out as rich as expected there will be a large amount of Japanese capital invested in British Columbia mines.

KING EDWARD'S BIRTHDAY.

His Majesty Has Received Many Congratulatory Messages and Valuable Presents.

(Associated Press.) London, Nov. 9.—King Edward is celebrating his 65th birthday quietly at Sandringham, surrounded by his family. He is in excellent health. Very many congratulatory messages reached His Majesty during the day, and many valuable presents were received from the sovereigns of Europe and personal friends. The customary salutes were fired by the warships at the naval centre.

STOP, WOMAN!

AND CONSIDER THE ALL-IMPORTANT FACT

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are condoling your private life to a woman—a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers a great many years. Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for many years under her direction, and since her decease, she has been advising sick women free of charge.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice is believed thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice. When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women, you cannot well say, without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me."

On inquiry it was found that a civilian had also seen Mr. Bruin, and had been out looking for him all day. ROBBED PASSENGERS.

Masked Man Boarded Train and After Securing Sixty-Five Dollars Made His Escape.

(Associated Press.) Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 8.—A masked robber boarded the rear sleeper of the east-bound combination Chicago and Alton, Rock Island, California, limited train known as No. 44, between Slater and Glasgow, Mo., shortly after midnight last night, and robbed three passengers, securing about $65. The robber boarded the rear-end sleeper at Slater. When the train was well under way he entered the car, hid, forcing the Pullman conductor and porter ahead of him, secured what booty he could as he hurried through the car and started for the second Pullman. The porter of this car, however, slammed the door in the robber's face, and realizing that he could proceed no further, he pulled the air rope. When the train was stopping he sprang the jumper and disappeared in the darkness.

A MEETING HELD AT CEDAR HILL

D. M. EBERTS MAKING
READY FOR ELECTION

Premier McBride Was Present and Better Terms Formed Whole Subject of Discussion.

There was a quiet little meeting held in the Temperance hall at Cedar Hill last evening, the opening one of a campaign which may be said to be now on and which will continue until after the election. The gathering was called together by D. M. Eberts, K. C., who apparently is not discouraged by his signal defeat at the last provincial election, but expects to again represent the Conservative interests.

The speeches were given over entirely to "better terms" talk, and while the premier made repeated appeals to the meeting that the question should not be treated as a party one yet there was just as frequent calls upon the voters not to forget, "when the time came," the man who had stood for better terms. H. Dallas Helmcken, who with Premier McBride and Mr. Eberts, composed the speaking staff, announced that the appeal to the electorate would come within a few months.

On opening, Munro Miller moved that Mr. Eberts take the chair. This was agreed to and Mr. Eberts thereupon opened with a speech. He announced that Mr. McBride would speak on better terms. It had long been a live question in the province. As far back as 1883 this had come up.

Confederation took place in 1867. Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were the founders of it. By the Confederation Act other provinces were to be admitted. He went into the history of British Columbia's connection with Confederation from 1871. It had been advantageous to the province but the main subject should have been. In 1871 there was a small population in the province. It was impossible for the three representatives who went to Ottawa to represent British Columbia at that time to know the potentialities of the province. There were vast districts of British Columbia then unknown. It was not until 1872 that gold was discovered in Cassiar, and all northern British Columbia was opened up after that date. As late as 1886 it was quite a journey to get to Revelstoke.

In 1883 the better terms proposition came into importance. Going into the terms of union, Mr. Eberts said that British Columbia now got from the Dominion in subsidies $35,000; interest, $29,181; per capita grant at the rate of 50 cents, or about $150,000; and $100,000 in perpetuity.

This last sum was given at a later date. This was done by virtue of the land given under the Settlement Act to the Dominion for the construction of the railroad. About 50,000,000 acres were given.

Referring to the history of the grievance which British Columbia claimed, he said there had been a live question relative to the boundary line between Great Britain, Canada and the United States shortly before Confederation. By the arbitration of that time British Columbia suffered severely by losing San Juan and other lands. In arbitration on the fishery dispute between four and five millions were awarded to Canada. This award was ratified in 1872. British Columbia claimed its share in this award. British Columbia had unjustly lost just prior to this valuable lands, yet she did not share in the fishery award. The eastern provinces were benefited also by the removal of the duty on fish going to the United States, but British Columbia was not allowed this advantage.

It was on the strength of this that British Columbia asked better terms and got the additional subsidy. At the time of Confederation the debates showed that the Dominion of Canada expected to spend more in British Columbia than was obtained from it. Sir Francis Hincks held that a charge of $100,000 would be created on the Dominion exchequer by taking in British Columbia.

But now between $3,500,000 or $4,000,000 a year was being paid into the Dominion treasury. But while this was being done British Columbia was getting nothing more from the Dominion than formerly. About fifty or sixty thousand adults had to pay taxes. It was impossible to carry on the civil government in British Columbia without large expenditures. It was for this reason that better terms were asked.

It did not cost more than one-tenth as much to administer justice in Ontario or Manitoba as it did in British Columbia. An instance was afforded in the cost of pursuing the alleged murderers on the Skeena.

It was an expensive province to live in, and clothing and manufactures had to be imported. All the provinces of Canada were seeking better terms. They all wanted more than they got. While Mr. Fielding, the present finance minister, was premier of Nova Scotia, the cry of better terms or separation was made within a few years of confederation. Nova Scotia got better terms. British Columbia was not crying recession, but wanted better terms, and would go still further, to the head of the empire if better terms were not granted at Ottawa.

In 1902 the proposition went in with the sanction of the other provinces for an increased subsidy, but it was also set forth that British Columbia deserved special consideration. British Columbia was paying over $4,000,000 into the treasury of Canada and got back only a small amount. British Columbia was not begging better terms, but demanded them as a right.

The demand had been repeated, and this year Premier McBride had made it. He was not prepared to take what was offered. Finally when that was not accepted by Hon. Mr. McBride, $1,000,000 divided into ten payments was acknowledged to be due. This Mr. Mc-Bride would not accept. He would not agree to take the miserable $100,000 a year from the Dominion. "I think," said Mr. Eberts, "that Hon. Mr. McBride was a manly fellow in refusing to accept that offer."

Mr. Eberts upon concluding called upon Premier McBride to speak. Premier McBride said that he had endeavored since becoming premier to get out into the districts surrounding Victoria and see the immediate needs. He paid a high compliment to Mr. Eberts, who was described as a broad-minded Canadian. He said that politicians must suffer ups and downs. A serious mistake was made by the constituency in not returning Mr. Eberts at the last election. He hoped to see Mr. Eberts returned again, however, when the time came.

The Liberal press had never since he came into power approved of a single act of his. He challenged any one to show one single word of approval.

It was to be regretted in connection with the position which he, the premier, had taken at Ottawa that the Liberal press should have taken the stand it did. He had endeavored to keep this question a non-party one. It was to be regretted that the Liberal press had endeavored to make it a party question. The Liberals from one side of the country to the other were seized with alarm, and were addressing the public on every occasion possible. They seemed in these speeches to be more concerned about the government at Ottawa than they were over the good government of their own province.

Premier McBride said that with a better right to better terms on the part of British Columbia than Nova Scotia ever had, he did not take the stand that Hon. Mr. Fielding had taken and demand better terms or secession. The policy he (Premier McBride) believed in was that trusting to the fairness which characterized all who lived under the Union Jack that British Columbia's right would yet be recognized. The province he felt was bound to win out.

Some of the delegates from the eastern provinces to the conference at Ottawa were ready to agree quickly to terms which would give them all they asked. He said that this would not give British Columbia very much. He therefore decided to present the case of British Columbia. The premier decided that the federal representatives were those to whom this should be given.

On the following day Sir Wilfrid manifested that anything which went to the federal authorities for favorable consideration must be agreed to with unanimity by the premiers. Thus he (Premier McBride) was referred back to the conference.

The speaker then told of how he had presented the case of British Columbia to the conference, calling attention to the greater expenditure for public works, etc., as compared with the other provinces.

The premiers could not help seeing the fairness of the proposition. It would have been thought that as the causes for better terms were due to the province that the remedy offered in the way of better terms would have been permanent. But after days of argument he found that it was proposed to give only $100,000 a year for ten years.

When he found that the conference was to close on Saturday evening and to the hope of their agreeing to the demands of British Columbia he retired. There was nothing dramatic in his withdrawal. There was no other course open. If tomorrow he had the same work to do he would follow the same course. He pointed out that the $100,000 offered would not build one of the trunk roads necessary for the northern portions of British Columbia.

He was prepared to accept the verdict of the people of British Columbia if they did not endorse his stand when the time came, but he would not accept their judgment.

Hon. Mr. Fielding had finally offered $20,000 a year in perpetuity, and $40,000 a year for ten years. The other premiers went back satisfied. Prince Edward Island was satisfied with $20,000 a year increase, although the population of Prince Edward Island was less now than at the time of Confederation.

He said that he was still more impressed with the necessity of an unbiased commission to deal with this than he was before. He found a lamentable ignorance on the part of some of the eastern premiers as to the province. In this day it was held differences could be best settled by arbitration. Why should not a question like this be so settled?

The revenues were insufficient to meet the demands of government in a new section. The opening up of new British Columbia would call for great expenditures for schools, for roads, etc. These could not be refused. In view of this a serious problem was to be faced if recognition was not made of a larger subsidy from Ottawa.

The first subsidy due to new British Columbia would be two million or more. With taxes high enough now on the older portions of the province where was this to come from. He advised every citizen to look into the question of better terms. It was a live question, and the province would not rest satisfied until it was dealt with.

British Columbia had paid over $13,000,000 more into the Dominion treasury than had been got out of it. He asked that the question be treated not as a party one.

H. Dallas Helmcken being called on to speak said there was no reason to lament that British Columbia had become a part of the Dominion. The terms of union had brought the C. F. R. and had contributed a great deal to the prosperity of Canada. He hoped it would not be looked upon as a political question.

The rights of British Columbia were admitted by both parties. He admonished them that when they came to select a standard bearer, as he expected they would in a few months, that they would select a man who would stand for better terms. He moved a vote of thanks to Premier McBride and Mr. Eberts for their addresses, and also incorporated in it an expression of approval with the action of the Premier in connection with better terms.

Munro Miller in seconding it said he wished to modify the later part of the vote. They expected their adopted son, Mr. Eberts, to stand by the province, but a native son such as the premier, the son of one of the hardy pioneers of the province who had been trained in their schools and amid local associations, was held to be but doing his duty in acting as he had done. They could endorse his action.

The vote of thanks was carried, and the meeting broke up.

TRULY A SUBLIME SPECTACLE

There were some inspiring features in connection with the political meeting held at Cedar Hill last evening. The inspiration was not drawn from the audience, which was neither large nor enthusiastic; nor from the utterances of the premier, which were possibly less frank and candid than usual.

To fully comprehend the significance of the reunion at Cedar Hill we must hark back to events of the next remote past. In days not so long gone by the present Premier of British Columbia was leader of the opposition party.

The result of the Columbia & Western investigation, as far as Mr. Eberts was concerned, was not confined to the loss of his position in the government. It went farther than that. It proved so discrediting to his political reputation that Mr. Eberts lost his seat in the Legislature at the ensuing election.

only absolved the man he had once condemned, but he held him up as a martyr who had been wrongfully punished by the Premier of the day in the first instance and by the electorate of the constituency of Saanich in the second.

The exigencies of political life in British Columbia have indeed produced some strange complications and combinations, but the spectacle presented at Cedar Hill may be fittingly described as the climax. Of course there is the extenuating circumstance that the wrongdoing with which Mr. Eberts was charged has been committed by his successors.

GAME PROTECTION.

Seven thousand licenses to hunters to shoot deer have been issued by the government of Ontario this year, besides licenses to pursue other kinds of game. The permits to carry firearms range in price from five dollars up, we understand, a dispatch from Montpelier, Vermont, says an effort will be made before the present state legislature to protect the brooks and streams from being polluted by sawdust and other harmful matter.

THE PRESS AND ITS INFLUENCE.

If the press strays from the straight and narrow path, it will not be because of inadequate exhortation and admonition; if it becomes too conscious of its power and entertains a higher opinion of itself and its mission than it ought, it may reasonably lay the blame upon prominent and influential flatterers.

In this country liked especially to tell the truth, and the whole truth, and it wanted to tell nothing but the truth—though sometimes it failed. He trusted that the press would create a strong national feeling against such things as racial suicide, against reckless betting, against the tendency to cry off work and to get to play.

An act deserving of recognition was recently performed by Victoria Lodge, No. 3, I. O. O. F. When it became known that Bro. E. C. Holden, H. P., a former and highly esteemed member of the lodge, now residing at Astoria, Ore., and who for a number of years has been incapacitated from work, was celebrating his golden wedding, the local lodge forwarded a suitable present in the shape of $50 in gold coin.

Many Victorians will be pleased to hear that Miss Alma Clarke, who received a scholarship under Dr. Torrington and also a special gold medal given at the recital by Miss S. P. A PLEASANT EVENT.

Social Gathering Last Evening in Honor of Miss McCosh, a Talented Musician.

A social gathering of the First Presbyterian church choir was held last evening at the home of Alderman and Mrs. Lewis Hall (the latter the organist of the choir) in honor of Miss McCosh, the talented young violinist and soprano vocalist who assisted the choir at their late successful Halloween concert, and who contributed in no small degree to its success. Vocal and instrumental selections were given during the evening by Miss McCosh, H. Morrison, A. Brommer and J. G. Brown. Several games were indulged in as well as guessing contests of an intellectual character, for which prizes were offered. The first prize winner was Miss Bogart and Miss Field, the booty prizes going to the gentlemen. Dainty refreshments were served, and all expressed themselves as having enjoyed a delightful evening's enjoyment.

During the evening, Miss McCosh was presented with a very fine pair of opera glasses, suitably inscribed, accompanied by an address. Mr. Brown, the choir-master, read the address, and Mrs. Hall, the organist, made the presentation. Miss McCosh was completely surprised, but recovered sufficiently to express her many thanks. The address follows:

Victoria, B. C., November 8th, 1906.

Dear Miss McCosh:—The members of the First Presbyterian church choir, Victoria, B. C., desire to express their appreciation of your services at their Halloween concert on the 29th October last, and beg of you to accept this pair of opera glasses as a token of same.

One and all, in common with the audience, were delighted with your playing of the violin and singing of the Scotch songs, and we hope that you may be long spared to give pleasure to your friends and the public generally with your violin and voice, and that ere long you may be with us again.

Before separating it was moved by Mrs. Brommer, seconded by Mr. Kinnear, that a hearty vote of thanks be tendered to Alderman and Mrs. Lewis Hall for their hospitality, which was carried, and the cheers which followed showed the heartiness with which it was given. The company then sang Auld Lang Syne and took the last car for their homes.

COMING TO VICTORIA.

W. C. Wells, M. P. P., Will Take Up His Residence Here.

W. C. Wells, M. P. P., who has been in the city for a few days, will be again this evening. He is settling up some business in the upper country preparatory to taking up his permanent residence in Victoria. Mr. Wells says Victoria is good enough for him as a place in which to reside, and he has decided to come here to live. He will return to the city in a short time, and will then seek a permanent home here.

Mr. Wells says that throughout the upper country there is a feeling of distrust in connection with the present administration of the province. The cessation of work on the Kootenay Central railway, after ten miles have been completed, is very disappointing to the section of the country to be benefited by the building of the road. Premier McBride took a good deal of credit when work began on the road for knowing that it was to be continued, but the present situation is very uncertain.

In connection with the better terms campaign of the premier, Mr. Wells is inclined to think that Hon. Mr. McBride did not fairly represent the province at the Billingsworth convention. He would like to know whether as a result of the premier's course British Columbia's chances have been ruined. He inclines to the belief that there was too much of an effort on the part of the premier to make political capital, and that he did not keep the best interests of British Columbia always in view.

THE LIFE BOAT.

Ten Men Have Volunteered to Man the Boat Up Till Noon.

Capt. Gaudin, who returned from Vancouver last night, expects to have a crew complete for the life boat tomorrow. Up to noon to-day ten men had offered their services, and as soon as a coxswain has been selected the boat's crew will be appointed. Among those who have already volunteered for the work are men of experience. One who applied in the presence of a newspaper man this morning stated that he had been in a life boat on the English coast and was thoroughly familiar with the sea.

When the crew has been formed drills will be held, the conditions of remuneration being that the men shall receive 40 cents an hour and the coxswain 50 cents an hour. When the life boat has been called out and sent away by any special steamer the men will receive $2.50 a day and the coxswain $3, and when on actual duty the pay will be doubled.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE FREE OF COST

A few days since, The Times made its first offer of free accident insurance to paid-up subscribers to the paper for a certain length of time. The response has been remarkable, the public showing its appreciation of the opportunity afforded by promptly taking advantage of it. Old subscribers have renewed, new ones have sent in their applications, and many of the latter have come from out-of-town readers. We started this campaign with the object of securing One Thousand New Subscribers before the beginning of the year. The offer will remain open during that time, so that those whose subscription to other papers expire in the meantime, can subscribe for The Times and obtain free

An Accident Policy For $1,000; A Total Disability Policy For $500

THE PAPER

THE TIMES gives all the news of Victoria, Vancouver Island and the Mainland of British Columbia. It contains the full Associated Press News Service, Special Correspondence from Ottawa, Toronto and Coast Points, Weekly Letters from London, Sport, Shipping and Local News, Children's Column and Comic Pages, and, during the Sessions of the Commons and Legislature, Full Reports of the Proceedings.

THE POLICY

Every holder of one of these policies, between the ages of 16 and 65, is protected by insurance for twelve months, in case of death by accident on any street car, railway train, steamer or other public conveyance propelled by steam, electricity or cable, to the extent of $1,000. Every holder of one of these policies, between the above-mentioned ages and under the above circumstances is protected by insurance in case of the loss of limbs or eyes, involving total disability, to the extent of $500.

THE OFFER IS STILL OPEN

DON'T FORGET: You get the daily newspaper every night during the long winter evenings, when it is specially welcome to every member of the family, AT THE REGULAR PRICE. THE TIMES pays your policy premium; we protect our paid-in-advance Subscribers AT OUR OWN EXPENSE. These policies are payable by the

General Accident Insurance Company of Canada

A Canadian Company of the highest financial standing. They send direct to you a policy, good for one year from date of registration, and the policy is unlimited as to time to be registered. All you are asked to pay is the registration fee of 20 cents. We pay the premium.

Don't you think you should protect your family when it costs nothing but a slight registration fee? Don't imagine that the registration remittance of twenty cents represents the premium on the policy. IT DOES NOT. The Publishers pay a large premium direct to the Insurance Company. The registration coupon and fee of twenty cents overcomes the possibility of dispute on any question of identity. It is not even necessary to have the policy on one's person at the time of the accident; it can be filed away the same as any other valuable document,

A CHANCE FOR PRESENT SUBSCRIBERS.

Every friend of THE TIMES can help to swell the number of new subscribers to the thousand mark, and we are ready to recognize such efforts in a liberal way.

We will present a $1,000 Accident Policy to everyone who sends in New Subscribers, accompanied by remittance, as follows:

- For 1 New Subscriber for 3 months to The Daily Times, delivered
- For 1 New Yearly Subscriber to The Daily Times by mail (If Outside of Districts Served On Day of Publication,)
- For 2 New Yearly Subscribers to The Twice-a-Week Times, by mail

Where two new Subscribers to the Daily (by mail) for one year are sent in, the sender will receive two $1,000 policies. Four New Subscribers to the Twice-a-Week Times would also call for two $1,000 policies.

This will not interfere with the premium offer to New Subscribers themselves, each of whom will be able to take advantage of the offer of a policy to Paid-Up Subscribers for a specified period.

YOU GET

- The Times Delivered For 3 Months $2.25
- An Accident Policy for $1,000
- A Total Disability Policy for $500

DOCTORS ADDRESS
BOARD OF TRADE

DISCUSS NECESSITY
OF A SANATORIUM

Tuberculosis is Prevalent in Province and the Proposed Institution is Urgently Needed.

About ten members of the board of trade answered the secretary's summons to the regular quarterly meeting last evening, but, as no quorum could be made up, an opportunity was provided for Drs. Davis and Fagan to speak at some length upon the subject of tuberculosis, the most dreaded disease among all those that man is heir to.

The two doctors, with Rev. W. Leslie Clay, formed a deputation from the Anti-Tuberculosis Society which was to have presented certain views to the meeting.

President Mara, who occupied the chair, made a motion to the effect that the members of the deputation be heard informally, and this being carried, he invited Dr. Fagan to address the members present.

Dr. Fagan, after thanking the board for allowing him to speak, said that he would not waste time by putting before the meeting the sentimental side of the tuberculosis question—he would give them facts. Consumption, he said, killed more people than all other diseases and disasters put together. There were three points to be remembered about it:

It was a communicable disease;
it could be arrested, and in incipient cases it could be cured. While all other countries in the world were doing something to combat this terrible scourge, British Columbia was doing absolutely nothing.

The question was, apart from all sentiment, serious from a financial and purely business point of view. Eminent authorities set the value of a human life at $6,000, dividing this sum into four values—$1,500 to the federal government, $500 to the provincial government and $4,000 to the family. This was a very conservative estimate, and yet it placed a serious aspect upon the case since in British Columbia alone 300 people died every year from consumption. Dr. Fagan, quoting from a medical authority, stated that in England, since the adoption of preventative measures, 50 per cent. of the lives which would otherwise have been lost through the ravages of the disease had been preserved, and in Germany the establishment of the open-air sanitorium system had saved 185,000 lives.

"There is only one way of handling the disease," said the speaker. "It is to confine a patient within limits that will allow of constant supervision, and then to treat the disease by the three simple but effective means which research has shown to be the only cure for it. This cure rests upon a triple—pure air, proper food and exercise
under expert supervision."

into the open street and fired it haphazardly into a crowd.

Among the many quotations which were read by the doctor, the following opinions, taken from authorities, were used: Seventy-five per cent. or over of incipient cases may be cured, while of advanced cases we may look for less than 15 per cent. of cures, and of far-advanced cases barely one per cent.

Dr. Elliott, physician in charge of the government sanatorium, said:
Dr. Lawrance Brown, resident physician of the Adirondack sanatorium, said: Of the 1,500 cases which have been discharged in from two to seventeen years, 464 could not be traced, leaving 1,036 which have been traced.
Of these, 467 per cent. are still living, 21 per cent. are known to be well at present, in 65 per cent. the disease is still arrested, 4 per cent. have relapsed,

53 per cent. are chronic invalids, and 53 per cent. are dead. As the influence of the stage of the disease on the permanency of the results obtained, he found 66 per cent. of the 238 incipient cases discharged are well at present. Of the 563 advanced cases, 28.6 per cent. are well, and of the far-advanced cases only 2.5 per cent. remain cured. In Germany, if the decline in the mortality from tuberculosis continues at the same rate as at present, the disease will be exterminated in less than 30 years, and in England in about 40. The striking drop in the Prussian tuberculosis death-rate from 31 per 10,000 inhabitants in 1885 to 21 per 10,000 in 1900 is attributed to three causes:—(a)
the widespread knowledge as to the treatment of tuberculosis; (b) the healthful character of sanatoria for working classes; (c) the early and systematic recourse to sanatoria which the workingmen's state insurance department in Germany encourages and assists. In Belgium the mortality, which in 1883 was 33.4 per 10,000 inhabitants, was reduced in eleven years to 24.5 per 10,000
in 1893, a diminution of 26 per cent.

In five eastern states and ten other cities of the United States the mortality has been reduced from 27.2 per 10,000 in 1887 to 21.2 per 10,000 in 1900, a diminution of 18 per cent. In Massachusetts, from 1882 to 1900, a period of ten years,
the diminution has been from 24.5 to 15.8, or a little over 35 per cent."

In concluding his address Dr. Fagan made an appeal to the board to look at the matter in a business light. By turning down the proposal made to these members had hurt the cause to a considerable extent and he hoped that they would give the matter
a reconsideration and appoint a committee to interview the local merchants with a view to raising money for the project.

Dr. Davis, who also addressed the meeting at the invitation of the chairman, substantiated the statements made by his brother physician. He thought that the matter of conducting a campaign against consumption was not only an individual consideration, but a state affair. Dr. Davis expressed his opinion that the members of a board of trade should have some thought beyond their own city. They should consider all matters which, like the one under discussion, affected the wealth and social prosperity of the whole province. It was estimated that nearly 90 per cent. of the world's population was affected, to some extent, by the disease, and that 7 per cent were seriously afflicted. Once this fact was fully appreciated the necessity for combating consumption would be better appreciated.

Rev. Leslie Clay, who was one of the deputation, was asked to speak on the subject of the question, but declined the invitation with thanks, saying that the previous speakers had spoken with authority on the subject, and that he hoped, after hearing them,
that the board would take the matter up.

Mr. Pitts said that, after the addresses of Drs. Fagan and Davis, he thought that all present realized the danger of consumption and the necessity for action. Since the different governments, federal, provincial and municipal, all suffered serious financial loss through the ravages of tuberculosis, it was his opinion that they should and would contribute to the sanatorium project. He suggested that resolutions from the board should be submitted to the provincial and federal governments.

Application For a Non-Suit on Behalf of Capt. Griffin Failed.

The application made by E. V. Bodwell, K. C., for a non-suit in the case of Captain Griffin at Vancouver on Wednesday was unsuccessful and the evidence for the defence was called.

The evidence for the prosecution was closed Wednesday morning, the witnesses called being Rev. A. E. Hetherington, Adam Russell, Capt. Mortimer of the New Era, Robert Bryce and Engineer Dean of the Chehalis. The evidence given was merely a repetition of that already heard before the preliminary inquiry and the commission. The only new witness called was Captain Mortimer of the New Era, who testified that on the day of the accident he had all he could do to get out of the narrows as the tide was running at the rate of eight miles an hour.

Engineer Dean of the Chehalis again proved a very interesting witness.

"I saw stars," he said in describing the accident; "I went down deep under the Princess and she went clean over the Chehalis—too after she hit her."

"And after all this," said Mr. Bodwell, sarcastically, as he rose to cross-examine "you live to tell the tale?"

"Yes, thank God, I did!" replied the witness with asperity. "If I hadn't you'd have had more your own way
here."

Mr. Dean then continued his evidence, saying he did not think the Princess saw the Chehalis at all, and if she had kept straight on her course she would not have struck. He did not think that "Princess" officers were at all craxy, but he did not think they saw the tug.
