PROMISED TO TAKE CARE OF GUNMEN

BECKER CONGRATULATED "BALD JACK" ROSE

Webber Says He Did Not Tell Rosenthal of Plot to Kill Him

New York, Oct. 15.—With a view to corroborating and strengthening the testimony of "Bald Jack" Rose, the prosecution called "Bridgie" Webber to the stand when the trial of Police Lieut. Becker, charged with the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was resumed yesterday before Justice Goff.

John F. McIntyre, chief counsel for Becker, intimated last night that he might not call any witnesses at all, simply letting the state's evidence go to the jury and attempt to brand it as incomplete.

Winfield R. Sheehan, secretary of Police Commissioner Waldo, was the first witness called. His appearance was a distinct surprise.

Sheehan, who is a former newspaperman, was asked to identify his signature on a document handed to him by Assistant District Attorney Moss. The document was a communication addressed to Becker, and attached thereto were letters identified by the witness as having been in his opinion written by Becker. Sheehan said he had signed the document at the direction of Commissioner Waldo.

On the plea that the witness had given only his "opinion" as to the authenticity of Becker's signature, the defence objected to the introduction of papers, and was sustained.

"Bridgie" Webber was called. He said his real name was Louis, and that he was a gambler. He had known Herman Rosenthal for fifteen years, Jack Rose for the same time, and Becker for two years.

"Did you ever have conversation with Becker about Rosenthal?"

"Yes, with Harry Vallon and Jack Rose, the latter part of June, Becker said: 'The... is trying to do me in every way. He's trying to see Waldo, the commissioner, and now he's going to get to Whitman. That... has got to be stopped, he's got to be croaked before he gets to Whitman.'

"I said: 'Charley, that's a pretty dangerous thing to do, to murder a man.'

"That's all right," said Becker, 'he's got to be stopped.'

"Bridgie" told of a subsequent meeting with Becker.

"What are you doing about that... Rosenthal?" Becker said to me, Webber testified.

"He's doing me; he's got to be croaked."

"I said: 'Charley, he's going to be taken care of. You're liable to see it in the papers any day.'

The witness then told of meeting Rose and telling him of Becker's insistence that "the job" should be done. Webber described the inception of the murder plot. Rose had agreed to get the four gunmen together at his poker rooms on the night of June 15. On that night Webber saw Becker and Jack Sullivan at a prize fight, left them and went to his poker rooms.

"Lefty Louie," Jack Rose, Harry Vallon, "Gyp the Blood," Sam Scheppes and "Dago Frank" appeared on the scene, "Bridgie" said.

"Rose asked me if I knew where Rosenthal was," Webber testified. "I went to the Metropole and saw Rosenthal there. I came back to my place and said: 'Rosenthal is in the Metropole. Then they all went out, but Rose. I stayed five minutes and then left.'

Webber said he was not at the scene of the murder until after Rosenthal had been shot.

"I saw the body on the sidewalk," he testified.

He met Becker after the murder near his poker rooms with Jack Rose and Jack Sullivan.

"I congratulate you, Jack, a good job," said Becker, Webber testified.

"This is terrible, Charley," said Rose. "They've got the number of the machine."

"Never mind," said Becker. "I'll take care of you and the gang."

During cross-examination the witness said he never paid much attention to Scheppes and never took him into his confidence.

The witness said he did not advise against Rosenthal's murder nor did he tell Rosenthal that there was a plot to kill him. He did not go to the Garden restaurant the night it was intended that Rosenthal should be killed there, but did see the gunmen that night and also talked to Rose.

"I told Rose," Webber said, "that I would go uptown and find Rosenthal."

"Why were you looking for Rosenthal?"

"For the purpose of having him murdered," said Webber calmly.

Webber denied ever having any "unfriendly feeling" against Rosenthal. He admitted he had "fallen out" with him in regard to money matters.

Mr. McIntyre asked Webber if he was willing to waive the privilege of communication between client and counsel and tell the court what passed between him and his lawyer, Mr. Marshall. Webber refused, which appeared to please the cross-examiner.

Webber testified that he had been promised immunity by the district attorney if at the trial, "I told the truth and if I had not fired a shot." He said he had signed a stipulation to that effect.

NATIONAL INSURANCE SCHEME.

London, Oct. 15.—Chancellor Lloyd George, addressing a meeting of London Journalists, declared that the prosperity of England at the present time was unexampled in history.

Some of the industries in the north of England, he asserted, were compelled to engage labor from the workhouses.

The national insurance scheme was working smoothly, he concluded, and twelve million insurance stamps were being sold weekly.

TURKS SURRENDER TO MONTENEGRINS

OVER THREE THOUSAND PRISONERS OF WAR

Commander Sends Out Flag of Truce After Bombardment of Town

Podgoritz, Montenegro, Oct. 15.—The Turkish town of Tushi surrendered to the Montenegrins yesterday afternoon. This opens the way to Scutari, where the Turkish forces are said to be concentrating, and on which the Montenegrin troops are now advancing.

After a heavy bombardment the Montenegrin infantry prepared to assault Tushi, under cover of the artillery fire. A Turkish officer, bearing a white flag, appeared and unconditionally surrendered the garrison to Crown Prince Danilo. Shortly afterwards a deputation of citizens came to the Montenegrin headquarters, praying for mercy.

Several guns were found in the defence works, all badly damaged by the Montenegrin fire. The spoils included eight machine guns and 7,000 rifles.

The captured garrison numbered 3,000 regulars. The prisoners were brought to Podgoritz. The Montenegrins made a triumphant entry into Tushi, headed by the Crown Prince and his staff.

Over 3,000 Surrender.

Cettinje, Oct. 15.—It is officially announced that 3,500 Turks were captured at Tushi. King Nicholas, who had been watching the engagement, entered the town and hoisted the Montenegrin flag.

The total losses on both sides in this district are given as 1,442 killed or wounded, of which 560 were Turkish soldiers. A colonel and four other officers of the Turkish troops were killed.

It is reported that Vranova, another Turkish town in the north of Scutari, has fallen. Heavy fighting continues at Taraboch.

GRAIN CONGESTION ON THE PRAIRIES

Sir Donald Mann Says the Blockade is Due to Wet Weather

Toronto, Oct. 15.—News that there would be a bad grain congestion in Western Canada this year was given out by Sir Donald Mann, vice-president of the C. N. R., who returned last night from a three weeks' trip to the coast. Sir Donald said that there was no doubt but that there would be a great congestion in all the grain growing provinces. He had seen 33 harvests in the past, but there has never been as large a one in the history of the country as this year.

The coming congestion, Sir Donald said, was not the fault of the railways, however, but was caused by the inclement weather that had prevailed during the past month and which had resulted in so many storms as to make it an impossibility for the farmers to either thresh or harvest their crops. This will mean that crops will be thrown on the railways at such short notice that it will be impossible for them to transport the grain without causing a severe congestion.

"The railways have never been in a better position to handle the crops than they are this year, but owing to the rains, they are unable to make any move as yet," said Sir Donald. "During the wet season the large amount of rolling stock stood idle and indications are now that the grain will be thrown on the railways in almost a day. Owing to this there will be a great congestion which will be even worse than last year. I do not, however, think there will be much of the crop lost this year. Of course, this depends entirely upon the weather conditions, but one month of fair weather will save the crop and when I left the prairies there was every indication that the whole crop would be harvested."

Sir Donald states that the shortage of labor was still felt severely by the farmers, but that this was not as great as it might have been owing to the fact that the severe rains which had broken over the provinces during the past month prevented much harvest work being done. Now that the threshing was due, however, it was imperative that more men should be secured for the harvest fields.

In discussing the transportation, Sir Donald said that the new C. N. R. transcontinental would be completed next year. By the coming May the road would be finished from Winnipeg to Yellowhead Pass, while shortly after it would also be completed from there to Dytton, B. C. The link that will hold the road back will be from Port Arthur to Sudbury, the new 7,000 men engaged at the line and it will be rushed to completion.

RUSHING WORK IN ARSENAL.

London, Oct. 15.—Not since the time of the South African war, says a Woolwich correspondent, has there been such exceptional activity in the Royal Arsenal in the department for the manufacture of explosives. In gun foundry, which provides the heavy guns for the navy as well as field guns for the army, the impetus is particularly notable. In practically all branches of arsenal work, the existing staff of over 5,000 men is being called upon to put in extra time.

It is worthy of note, adds the correspondent, that the higher pressure is to be found in the naval works.

CASES FOR ASSIZES AT ROYAL CITY

Charles Dean Will Be Placed on Trial Accused of Bank Robbery

New Westminster, Oct. 15.—The assizes set for the end of this month will see presented one of the most interesting dockets that has been before judge and jury in the Royal City. Charles Dean will be placed on trial, charged with the robbery of the Bank of Montreal.

The convicts Wilson and Smith will also appear on the charge of murdering Guard Joyson at the penitentiary, another most dramatic case that is to come before the court.

Charged with committing grievous bodily harm, "Coffe" Jack Conner will be arraigned, and a similar charge is preferred against an Italian named Gross and a Hindu named Bogh Singh.

The case, traversed from the last assizes of Howard, charged with extortion by means of letters, will have a hearing.

There are three other wounding cases, one from Burnaby, another from Coquitlam and another from Chilliwack, and charges of perjury and false pretences fill the calendar of crime.

ALL-ROUND HOME RULE.

Munro Ferguson Declares in Favor of Proposal.

London, Oct. 15.—Munro Ferguson, the Liberal member of Leith, who has recently returned from Canada, has been advocating all-round Home Rule for the British Isles as the only means of reducing the parliamentary session to reasonable limits. He suggested that those who are dubious about the question of devolution should visit the Dominion and say:

"There is the best federal system in the world, with a strong Dominion legislature and equally strong provincial legislatures. No Canadian would look at a proposition for concentrating the whole of Canadian affairs in one house of parliament, while under the Canadian system, the difficulties of race questions do not exist. In my opinion nations like Canada would not take a real and sustained interest in our sea power unless she built and manned her own ships."

BROCK MEMORIAL SERVICE.

London, Oct. 15.—Practically the entire Canadian colony here was represented at the Brock Memorial service in St. Paul's cathedral yesterday. The service was in the transept, where the memorial stands in a most inconvenient situation. Dean Inge and Canon Alexander officiated. Lord Strathcona bore a wreath, the gift of the government and people of Canada, and, placing his hand on this, he recited Brock's deeds.

Attending the ceremony were nearly all the descendants of Brock now living in England, and the liveliest interest was manifested by many who had no direct association with the celebration.

RAILWAY CONTRACTORS.

J. W. Stewart and P. Welch Are in the City—Mr. Kellihier's Trip.

J. W. Stewart and P. Welch, the well known railway contractors, are in the city. They came down on the Prince Rupert to Vancouver on Sunday in company with B. B. Kellihier, the G. T. P. engineer, who made the trip along the route from the mountains to the coast. Mr. Kellihier was met by Messrs. Stewart & Welch at Bulkley summit about one hundred miles east of Hazelton.

Mr. Kellihier reports that track-laying is being steadily pushed forward from both ends of the Grand Trunk Pacific in British Columbia. A gap of less than four hundred miles separates the gangs, and the indications are that the line will be completed in 1914. Grading and other operations are now in progress throughout the length of the gap. Duncan Ross, of this city, as stated yesterday, came south on the same steamer as Messrs. Stewart, Welch and Kellihier. Mr. Ross has a tentative contract beyond Aldermore and he would have completed it this year, but for the strike. All the light work has been discontinued for the ABUSE OF THE AUTOMOBILE.

The twentieth century may fairly be called the age of speed. The trolley car, rushing through city streets and country roads, replaces the jogging horse car and rumbling stage; the fast steamers take you to England in five days; the thousand miles between New York and Chicago is covered in eight hours, and mankind has almost forgotten the joys of a quiet saunter.

SCHEDULE FOR THE M'KECHNIE CONTESTS

Vancouver Will Play in Victoria on November 9th—Touring Rugby Clubs Given Games

Arrangements have been completed for the first game for the M'Kechnie cup, and this fixture will be staged in November, when the Vancouver eleven play Victoria on the Oak Bay grounds. The remainder of the schedule is as follows:

November 9, Vancouver at Victoria; November 7, Victoria at Vancouver; January 25, Vancouver at Victoria; February 15, Victoria at Vancouver. Australians Coming.

The coming visit of the Calgary Rugby team has been taken up by the British Columbia Rugby Union. One game will be played in Victoria and also a match in Vancouver. Dates will be announced later. Another important matter that the union will have to take up is the approaching games with the Waratahs, the touring Australian fifteen. Three games are scheduled, Vancouver and Victoria each getting a game, while the third will be at Vancouver against an All-British Columbia team.

The officers for the years are as follows:

Mr. George Gillespie, of Victoria, president; Mr. Cooper Keith, of Victoria, vice-president; Mr. W. N. Newcombe, of Victoria, re-elected secretary. Messrs. Murray and Sachs represented Vancouver, and Messrs. Goodwin, Spaulding and Newcombe, Victoria.

LITTLE BITS OF SPORT GOSSIP

Cliff Blankenship, who dug up Walter Johnson, says that Bush, the pitcher sold by Blank's Missoula Club to Connie Mack, is another Johnson in the rough.

The St. Louis Browns have definitely decided to do their training next spring at Waco. President Hodges says he will let Manager Stovall select the reporting date.

Ferguson from the American Association and Hildebrand, of the Pacific Coast League, are mentioned as indicator holders on whom President Ban Johnson looks with favor for his staff next year.

Sam Agnew, drafted by the St. Louis Browns from Vernon, is referred to by an Omaha critic as "the former second string catcher of Omaha," and it is remarked that he must have developed since going to the coast.

President McAleer answers the question as to why he did not draft a man for his Red Sox by saying the team is a young one and with the few additions made by purchase should continue to win pennants for some years to come.

New York American League fans are much taken with the work of Midkiff, the Texas recruit Wolverton has been playing at third base. They are hardly correct in referring to him as a youngster, however. But a few years will not matter if he continues to make good.

Caldwell, the Everton goalie, always uses resin to his hands before going on the field. This is a prelude to "facing the music."

Last season in 35 matches "Jock" Simpson, the Blackburn idol, only scored two goals. In four matches this season he has already scored four.

Ewart, late of Airdrieonians, has already been dropped from the Bradford goal and Mellors regains the position.

With G. W. Webb unit, Manchester City gave a trial to their new centre forward, a tall, sturdy youth named H. G. Taylor from Fegs Hayes. He has been described as a Shepherd in the making. Lucky city if it be true.

Tottenham Hotspur will pay a transfer fee of $1,750 for Finley Weir, if the old Sheffield Wednesday man's month's trial is satisfactory. They have also signed on two forwards, Bull, of Northampton, and McDonald, of Inverness.

Stockport county have a useful scoring forward in Rogers. He comes from Hooley, a little place outside Manchester. Some custodians have already christened him "a hot little terror."

It is not generally known that Gillingham is the new name of the New Brampton club.

Art Ross, Didier Pitre and "Cyclone" Taylor, three of the greatest players in Canadian hockey, may be seen on the lineup of the coast teams this season. Lester Patrick, manager of the Victoria club, is at present in the east endeavoring to sign the trio.

New Westminster will again be represented by an all-star team in the Pacific Coast hockey series this season. Jimmy Gardner will probably manage the cup holders again, while it was announced yesterday that Harry Hyland, the sensational rover of the Royals, had signed his contract before leaving for the east on Thursday. He will return to the coast early next month. Hyland is one of the fastest men in the game.

THE PRINCE AT OXFORD.

To Take the Undergraduate's Course of Living in College Unlike King Edward.

There is to be one remarkable difference between the Prince of Wales' life in Oxford and that of King Edward when he went there as an undergraduate, the Manchester Guardian London correspondent learns.

For King Edward a house was taken, and during his time at Christ Church he lived, not in college, but at Frennon Hall, beside the Union. But when the Prince of Wales goes up to Magdalen in October he is to live in college.

Magdalen has a royal lodging, a set of rooms in the founder's tower which were the residence of the last Prince of Wales who went to Magdalen, the son of Henry VII, who died in his youth.

The Prince of Wales may have these rooms or one of the sets of Fellows' rooms in the new building overlooking the grove, which are large and light and, of course, more extensive than the undergraduates' rooms.

Living in college will give the Prince more of an undergraduate's life than his grandfather had. But he is not, one learns, to join in college games, which seem rather a pity.

Possibly that would be too democratic a step. It may have been felt that not taking a house specially for him is as far as can be gone.

Women in Russia are not permitted to study in a university unless they are married.

After being assisted into the automobile ambulance he slowly reclined on a stretcher. His cousin took a seat beside him and Dr. Murphy directed the chauffeur to drive to Mercy hospital.

Col. Roosevelt alighted unassisted and walked slowly to an invalid chair. He waved a salute to a group of reporters. As soon as possible after Col. Roosevelt was in the suite of two rooms which had been prepared for him, Dr. Hochrein began taking an X-ray photograph. This was completed shortly before 8 a.m.

It was announced in Col. Roosevelt's room at Mercy hospital to-day that Mrs. Roosevelt would arrive in Chicago to-morrow.

At 1.05 the following bulletin was issued by physicians at Mercy hospital: "The examination of Col. Roosevelt at 1 p.m. showed that his temperature was 98.8, his pulse 92, his respiration normal. It pains him to breathe. More than once Col. Roosevelt has expressed his desire to be free of the hospital until we give permission.

Albert E. Martin, the colonel's stenographer, prevented Schrank, it is believed, from firing a second shot for which his finger was straining at the trigger when Martin overpowered him.

Through the present four Martin has been always at the colonel's elbow, pushing intruding persons away. More than once Col. Roosevelt has reproved him for being "too rough." In Saginaw, Mich., Martin threw himself against a man who was pushing forward and bumped him into the gutter. For this he was rebuked by Col. Roosevelt, but Martin to-day said he believed the Saginaw man and Schrank were the same.

Schrank was within seven feet of the colonel when he levelled his gun at the ex-president's breast. He fired once, but an instant later Martin leaped on him, hurried him to the ground and grasped the revolver around the hammer so that the trigger could not be pulled a second time. H. F. Cochems, who also accompanied the colonel, sprang upon Schrank and the would-be assassin was helpless.

Cochems and a special policeman wrenched the gun away from Schrank. The crowd surged forward, some of the spectators, it was feared, bent on having the man's life, but Martin and Cochems dragged him to safety under Col. Roosevelt's protection.

"Don't hurt the man; don't let anyone hurt him," insisted the colonel, and his plea was respected.

Announcement was made by Colonel Roosevelt's secretaries to-day that the colonel would not attempt to make any more speeches during the campaign unless unforeseen circumstances arise.

Following the announcement it became known that the campaign committee might consider it necessary to have the candidate to make one address at New York, and October 25 was mentioned as

POPULATION OF NEW YORK.

For New York City as a whole the foreign-born white males of voting age are classified by country of birth, and it is noted that the proportion naturalized varies considerably with nationalities; the percentages being smallest among natives of those countries which have contributed most largely to recent immigration. Of the 195,758 males of voting age born in Russia, who constituted the most numerous group, 49,810, or 24.9 per cent., were naturalized; of the 152,611 natives of Italy, the second largest group, 25,436, or 16.7 per cent., were naturalized. The percentage naturalized among the 77,389 natives of Austria (29.9) and among the 29,122 natives of Hungary (31.1) is low also, as compared with the percentage shown by the 126,011 natives of Germany, of whom 89,057, or 65.5 per cent., were naturalized; by the 102,700 natives of Ireland, of whom 64,776, or 63.1 per cent., were naturalized, and by the 34,045 natives of England, of whom 17,705, or 52 per cent., were naturalized. These seven nationalities account for 727,695 males of voting age, and constitute in the aggregate 57.3 per cent. of the total number of foreign-born white males twenty-one years of age and over in New York City.

As Col. Roosevelt was descending the steps of the car on his way to the hospital several flashlight photographs were taken.

"Gosh, shot again," he exclaimed with a smile.

As he walked to the automobile, Col. Roosevelt saluted newspapermen and policemen with a cheery "Good morning."

Reservations have been made at the Empress hotel for the Marchioness of Donegal, who is expected to arrive in Victoria some time this week. The Marchioness is a Canadian born, for she was a daughter of the late Henry St. George Twining, of Halifax, N. S.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at 11 o'clock Saturday morning at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Bolton, Larch street, Kitsilano, when Miss Helen Irene Grant, formerly of Brandon, was united in marriage to Mr. Harold Bolton Bedford, of Brandon, son of Mr. Bedford, deputy minister of agriculture for Manitoba, says the Vancouver Province. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. C. Switzer, pastor of Wesley church, assisted by Rev. R. Newton Powell, of Kitsilano Methodist church. The guests included only the immediate relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Bedford left on the noon boat for Victoria, and will return here on their way to Brandon, where they will make their home.

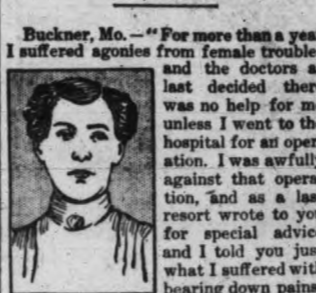

The general manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, Edson L. Pease, of Montreal, arrived in Victoria on Sunday in the course of a tour in which he is visiting the company's subsidiary establishments in all the cities west of Winnipeg. Mr. Pease is accompanied on his trip by A. J. Brown, K.C., a prominent Montreal lawyer and a director of the Royal Bank of Canada; his two sons, Mr. Edson L. Pease, Mrs. A. J. Brown and Miss Drummond. The party starting on Sunday afternoon took advantage of the excellent weather to take a long motor trip over Vancouver Island; they were greatly impressed with the good roads which had been built. After the return to town Mr. Pease visited the branch of the bank on Government street, where he met J. A. Taylor, the local manager, and expressed himself as highly pleased with the affairs of the bank and the manner in which they were administered. Later Mr. Pease and party took the afternoon boat for Prince Rupert, where they will remain for a week and from which city they will return to Montreal by way of Vancouver, Calgary and Edmonton.

The largest and most fashionable wedding of the autumn season in Ottawa took place Sunday afternoon in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, when Miss Anna, fourth daughter of Hon. Frank Oliver, former minister of the interior, and Mrs. Oliver, was married to Mr. Julian Garret, C.E., of Edmonton, Alberta, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Garret, of Ross House, Ottawa. Mr. Hartridge was the officiating clergyman. A large assemblage of guests filled the church. The lovely bride, who is a general favorite in society in Ottawa and in Edmonton, was given away by her father. She was attended by Misses Ethel Perley, Gladys King, Isabel Sherwood and Beatrice Chadwick. The groom was supported by Mr. King Robins, of Rochester, N. Y. The bride was lovely in her exquisite robe des robes of shimmering ivory chamoise satin, made with a very long train, the bodice and skirt being draped with soft white mignon brocade velvet with yoke and short sleeves of fine Chantilly lace. The drapery was caught in front on the bodice and skirt with large stars of pearls outlined in brilliants and the brocade mignon draped over the train was fastened down with a large pearl and brilliant star, where it parted in two long ends. The skirt was draped up over the left instep and caught with a large pearl and brilliant star; her long tulle veil was most becomingly arranged beneath a small wreath of orange blossoms and she wore the bridegroom's gift, a beautiful diamond crescent, and carried a shower of lilies of the valley and Madonna lilies. Mr. and Mrs. Garret left on a wedding trip in the Adirondacks, whence they will proceed to their future home in Edmonton.

MRS. SCOTT'S SUFFERING OVER

Doctors Advised An Operation. How She Escaped Told By Herself.

Buckner, Mo. — "For more than a year I suffered agonies from female troubles and the doctors at last decided there was no help for me unless I went to the hospital for an operation. I was awfully against that operation, and as a last resort wrote to you for special advice and I told you just what I suffered with bearing down pains, backache, shooting pains in my left side, and at times I could not touch my foot to the floor without screaming. I was short of breath, had smothered spells, felt dull and draggy all the time. I could not do any work, and oh how I dreaded to have an operation.
"I received a letter full of kind advice, which I followed, and if I had only written her a year ago I would have been saved so much suffering, for today I am a well woman. I am now keeping house and do every bit of my own work. Every one in this part of the country knows it was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that has restored me to health, and everywhere I go I recommend it to suffering women."—Mrs. LIZZIE SCOTT, Buckner, Mo.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (consultant) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By Ruth Cameron

A friend of mine who lives near the high school, has taken a little country girl into her family for the school term. This girl is going to help her with the children and the sewing in return for her board and room.

My friend was telling me about this arrangement. "How much time will she give you?" I asked. "Oh, I don't know," said the lady airily. "I suppose she will help me whenever I need her."

"Can't you see trouble ahead for those two?" I can. If there is anything on earth that makes for dissatisfaction and misunderstanding any more surely than an indefinite arrangement like that, an exchange in which it is not nominated in the bond exactly what each party gets, I have yet to find it.

Usually one party is badly cheated and invariably both parties think they are.

Two old neighbors of mine used to be very dear friends until one summer they foolishly entered into a compact that the horse of the party of the first part should be occasionally allowed to graze in the field of the party of the second part, in exchange for the occasional use of said horse by the party of the second part. Needless to say these two dear friends no longer speak.

A young matron who was clever with her needle, consented to help one of her young girl friends with her trousseau if the latter would help her in the care of her two children. The young mother was fond of sewing and the young girl was fond of children, and both thought this would bring them a pleasant change of occupation, and would be an ideal arrangement. So it might have been if they had made any definite contract. As it was each woman began to go to mutual friends, complaining that she was giving at least twice as much of her time as the other, and through the kind services of the mutual friends in passing the word along, these two also no longer speak.

Of course, everyone who enters into one of these indefinite arrangements thinks that between friends there is no need of a definite contract. In reality, the closer the friendship, the greater the need of definiteness, because the tie is too precious to risk breaking.

THE PASSING SHOW

One of the laughing hits at the Empress theatre is the act presented by the original burlesque strong men, Collins and Hart. The funniest comedians come on the stage in evening dress, top hat and all, and after some amusing stunts they do some hand balancing which brings laugh after laugh.

A singing number of class is that offered by the three Italian troubadours. These young men from Italy come on the stage costumed in the picturesque dress of the days of the White company, two carrying guitars, the other a zither, and they accompany themselves as they sing a number of selections, ranging from grand opera to ragtime.

Arthur Whitelaw is an Irish performer of merit. He renders an excellent monologue, replete with Irish wit and good stories which provoke laugh after laugh. Mr. Whitelaw has a good singing voice and has some rollicking song numbers. His closing number, a recitation in the character of an old Irishman returning to his homeland after an absence of 30 years, is well done.

The dancing Maddens are a clever boy and girl who offer some good hard shoe dancing. The young man, garbed as a scapcrow, does some capital eccentric dancing. Madame Bessee opens the show with her collection of trained cockatoos. These birds have been trained to perfection and do some good tricks.

In addition to the motion pictures, which show scenes on the Norwegian coast, a number of slides depicting important plays in the opening games of the world's series from photographs made at the New York polo grounds are shown. Some pictures of great interest to baseball fans are shown, one of them being the slide home with the winning run in the opening game between the New York Giants and the Boston Red Sox.

PUBLICITY FOR NEW SOUTH WALES

OFFICIAL PASSES THROUGH ON STEAMER Will Take Over State Agency in London in Short Time

On his way to London the Assistant Director of the Immigration and Tourist Bureau of New South Wales, H. Rayment, passed through on the Canadian Australian liner Marama to Vancouver this afternoon.

Mr. Rayment said that it was the practice of his government to make a change from time to time at the London agency, the general supervision of which was watched by the State Agent General, and he was now en route to England to relieve his predecessor. He had no special instructions from the minister, but intended to do his best to develop the publicity work of the state. Apart from the splendid attractions of Port Jackson, the Australian Alps and the famous caves were helping to make New South Wales known as a playground for the traveler, and he was glad to be able to take a share in bringing them before the European public.

Australia generally was very prosperous now, and the rains in his state, and in Victoria had relieved the drought situation. Everything pointed to an increased interest in the Commonwealth, and the flow of immigration was becoming much larger. The New South Wales government was carrying through an enormous irrigation scheme in the valley of Murrumbidgee river, in the southern end of the state, amounting to 300,000 acres, and were looking to the western states of this continent for suitable material to take up the land. That was the cause why Hon. Neil Neilson had recently come to take up a position in America, with headquarters in San Francisco.

While going through Canada Mr. Rayment will look into the conditions of immigration in the ports of Canada, to furnish a report to his government.

POLICE COURT HEARS AUTOMOBILE CASES

A. A. Sears Fined $20 for Col- lision—Decision Reserved in Second Case

A. A. Sears was charged in the police court this morning with driving an automobile on the wrong side of the road, and despite a plea of not guilty and a vigorous defence of his action in running down a cyclist and damaging his machine, he was fined $20. The affair occurred at the intersection of Johnson and Douglas street.

During the hearing, Mr. Sears said he saw the boy on the bicycle crossing his bow, so he altered his course, and tried to get out of the way. As it resulted, he struck the bicycle and his automobile ran over it, doing it considerable damage. The rider of the bicycle, E. E. Butler, was thrown head over heels into the roadway.

Several witnesses gave evidence that Mr. Sears did not take due precautions in crossing, and that he was on the wrong side. Warrant Officer Palmer and Constable Edens testified that from observations and wheel marks they believed the automobile to be at fault, and others gave evidence that he was on the wrong side of the roadway.

Dr. Dier and M. Cello were brought from Ladysmith by H. P. Winsby as witnesses in a case in which he was charged with having disobeyed the motor regulations. The commencement of the evidence took place last week when G. H. Hughes, and a nurse, Miss Bloomquist, said they were taking a steek man to the Jubilee hospital when they were bumped by Mr. Winsby's automobile. The witnesses maintained that after the bumping Mr. Winsby followed them along in his automobile, and when they stopped, he stopped.

Both Dr. Dier and Mr. Cello said this morning that Mr. Winsby had driven his machine carefully, and that they remembered an automobile stopping in front of them. They said the front machine stopped suddenly and that Mr. Winsby, in bumping it, broke the glass of his front lamp. At the second stop, which occurred at the hospital gates, the witnesses said Mr. Winsby was behind the machine of Mr. Hughes and came to a stop suddenly without touching the front machine. His engine stopped and he got out and cranked the machine and then went on his way.

As the commencement of the case took place some days ago Magistrate Jay withheld his decision until tomorrow so that he might have the stenographic report of the evidence, taken earlier, read over to him this afternoon.

"So you are really one of the striking miners?" "Yuss, lady; I'm one of the pioneers of the movement. I struck twenty-three years ago and I ain't given in yet."

ENSIGN DROWNED.

Loses Life When Returning to Ship—Bluejackets Save Members of Launch Party.

New York, Oct. 15.—Ensign Andes Halley Butler, U. S. A., was drowned Sunday in the Hudson river while returning with three fellow officers to his post on the battleship Rhode Island in the line of the great Atlantic armada at anchor here for presidential review.

In another accident on the river six sailors from the battleship Maine rescued eleven persons from drowning.

The accident in which Ensign Butler lost his life was one that his fellow officers found hard to explain. He and his party had spent the night in the city and were on the way back to the ship in a small private launch. The little boat was making headway with difficulty against the strong tide, and when still fifty feet from the battleship young Butler was seen to step out from beneath the canopy and go into the water.

It is believed he thought mistakenly that the launch had a sort of running board outside the canopy as naval launches have, and that he intended to step on this to make preparations for the landing. The strong tide carried him down and under the battleship.

The rescue in which the sailors from the battleship Maine figured as heroes occurred when a small launch in which Bernard Bauer and his family and friends were visiting the ship, was cut square in two by the sharp bow of the bigger steam launch Vixen.

The occupants of the small craft, including seven men and four women, were thrown into the river. The little launch foundered almost immediately.

Six sailors from the Maine were on the Vixen and they were first to plunge over the side to the rescue of the women. All hands were taken aboard safely, but not without difficulty, as the tide was running strong and several members of the party had nearly succumbed before the sailors reached them.

AUSTRALIAN MINISTER ON NAVAL CONTROL

Canadian and Australian Ships Go on Foreign Station With Admiralty Knowledge

"To all intents and purposes there is only one fleet," said the Commonwealth minister for defence (Senator Pearce) in commenting on the views recently expressed by The Times that the free movements of the Australian fleet, in obedience to the Commonwealth's policy in the Pacific, may commit the other partners in the empire to liabilities which they cannot limit.

"I regard that as an extreme improbability, if not an impossibility," he said yesterday. "Paragraph 4 of the agreement, reached at the Imperial Conference of 1911, says: 'The Canadian and Australian governments will have their own naval stations, as agreed on from time to time.' A reference to the map attached to the agreement will show that at no place does the Australian naval station touch foreign possessions. Therefore, so far as the station proper is concerned, there is no foreign territory within it. Paragraph 5 of the agreement reads: 'In the event of the Canadian or Australian governments desiring to send ships to a part of the British Empire outside of their own respective stations, they will notify the British Admiralty.' So that the sending of our ships to other parts of the British Empire will be after consultation with the Admiralty, and if any possibilities of the kind foreshadowed were in existence in any part of the empire, we take it that the Admiralty would make their arrangements accordingly. As regards foreign countries, paragraph 6 of the agreement is important. It says, 'In the event of the Canadian or Australian governments desiring to send ships to a foreign port, they will obtain the consent of the Imperial government, in order that the necessary arrangements with the foreign office may be made, as in the case of ships of the British fleet, in such time and manner as is usual between the British Admiralty and the foreign office.' That clause is drawn up advisedly for the purpose of obviating any such possibility of conflict as The Times foreshadows. Clause 7 provides that 'While ships of the Dominions are at a foreign port a report of their proceedings will be forwarded by the officer in command to the commander-in-chief of the station, or to the British Admiralty. The officer in command of a Dominion ship, so long as he remains in the foreign port, will obey any instructions he may receive from the government of the United Kingdom as to the conduct of any international matters that may arise, the Dominion government being informed.' Clause 8 provides for the same procedure in the case of a Dominion ship having to put into a foreign port on account of stress of weather, or any unforeseen emergency. Then, again, under clauses 9 and 10, it is provided that where a ship of the British Admiralty meets a ship of the Dominions the senior officer will have the right to command. In foreign ports the senior officer will also take command. It will be seen that, under this arrangement, so long as a ship is on the Australian station, and under the complete control of the Commonwealth government, she cannot come into touch with other parts of the British Empire. It is with the full knowledge of the British Admiralty, when she goes to a foreign port she is practi-

SPY MANIA A DISEASE.

Doctor on Freaks of a Nation's Nervous System.

The many recent cases of holiday-makers and tourists who have been arrested on the suspicion of being spies have raised the question of whether spy mania is a disease. For some years the fear of spies has made itself felt in Continental countries, and the instance of the five English yachtsmen who have just been released in Germany, after being detained on suspicion, serves to show how nervous governments are lest their secrets come into the possession of foreign powers. Then there is the case of the two English holiday makers at Dover who caused the detention of ten German tourists who were photographing in the district, but, as in other cases elsewhere, the men were allowed to go after explanations.

Spy mania breaks out periodically, like influenza, and the opinion is held by some authorities on nervous diseases that the outbreak is really a complaint which can be traced to "nerves." A London West-end expert told a press representative that it was simply a manifestation of a nation's nervous system being out of order. "Just as suspicion of people may become a disease in an individual," he said, "so it can affect a whole nation. The worst of it is that, like some other troubles, such as measles, it is difficult to stamp out. Hypochondria is closely allied to suspicion, and the nation which tends towards hypochondria. The same law which applies to a man applies to a nation in this matter, but it will probably pass away in time."

Some years ago France was seized with spy mania, and innocent foreigners who appeared on French soil with open guide-books were shadowed, and a few were arrested. The result was that for some time tourists fought shy of French soil, and gradually the spy fever died out. It has now appeared in Germany with unabated vigor, while it lingers in certain parts of Britain. When the first Dreadnought was being built spy scares arose at Portsmouth almost daily, and it was alleged that Germans were living in the port and trying to get information from naval officers.

DYNAMITE CONSPIRACY.

Former Bookkeeper for J. J. McNamara Gives Evidence at Trial at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 14.—Cheques by which the government charges the executive board of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers allowed J. J. McNamara $1,999 a month to buy explosives were identified by Mrs. S. J. Hull, of Omaha, at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial yesterday.

Mrs. Hull was a bookkeeper for McNamara at the association headquarters in Indianapolis when explosions about the country were frequent. All the cheques she said, were marked "emergency fund."

The government charges the executive board suspended the rules requiring publication of accounts and that $1,999 a month went to McNamara until after the explosions at Los Angeles enabling him to pay the expenses of the "dynamiting crew."

Eugene Clancey, San Francisco, Herbert S. Hockin, Phillip Coley, and Moulton H. Davis are alleged to have voted the money to McNamara.

Mrs. Hull testified she never had heard the executive board discuss what use the money was put. She said McNamara wrote the minutes of the executive board meetings, attended to correspondence and edited the union magazine.

"You don't know that President Ryan ever received the letters or signed the cheques forwarded to him, do you?" asked Mr. Kern.

"No, except that they were sent through the mails and replies were received," said Mrs. Hull.

Paul J. Sturparich, owner of a café seven miles from San Francisco, testified that ten days before the Los Angeles Times was blown up three men from the launch Pastime came to his cafe. The next day he said the name of the launch had been changed to the Peerless. The three men, he said, were J. B. McNamara, Schmidt and Caplan.

CIVIC TELEPHONE SYSTEM.

Superintendent of Public Utilities at Seattle Will Prepare Plans.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 15.—To provide for planning a municipal telephone system, Superintendent of Public Utilities A. L. Valentine, applied to the city council yesterday for a special appropriation of $1,000 to enable him to prepare plans and specifications to be submitted to the voters at the city election next to the finance committee and the committee on public utilities. At the election last March the voters adopted a charter amendment empowering the city to construct and operate a telephone system.

That night Cough!

You know it! It begins with a tickling, irritating sensation in your throat. You cough to clear the throat. In a moment, there it is again!

A minute's peace, then again you cough, and so on until you cough your throat sore, and by the time the cough is sufficiently allayed to permit you to sleep, you are thoroughly worn out. This kind of experience is particularly trying to old people.

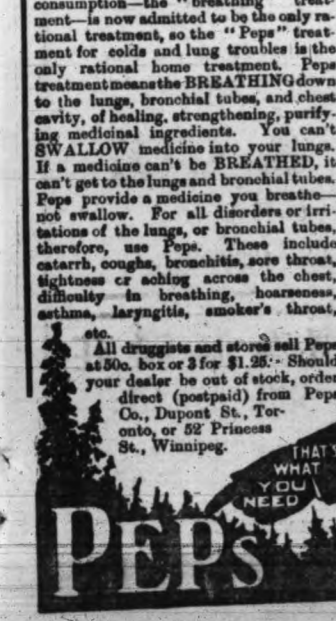

Peps make it quite unnecessary for you to have this kind of thing happening.

These night coughs are due to the formation of mucus in the air passages, or to a little inflammation in the bronchial tubes. As soon as you put a Peps pastille on your tongue, and allow it to slowly dissolve, healing balsams, fumes are liberated, which are breathed down the air passages and bronchi. These healing essences allay all irritation, and so transform the hard phlegm and mucus that is so easily expelled. They impart, too, a feeling of warmth and a glow of comfort in the region where pain and irritation were before felt. Remember, also, Peps contain no opiates—no poisonous compounds. This makes Peps so suitable for the coughs and colds of children; and mothers should quickly grasp and appreciate this vast superiority.

Just as the out-door treatment for consumption—the "breathing" treatment—is now admitted to be the only rational treatment, so the "Peps" treatment for colds and lung troubles is the only rational home treatment. Peps treatment means the BREATHING down to the lungs, bronchial tubes, and chest cavity, of healing, strengthening, purifying medicinal ingredients. You can't SWALLOW medicine into your lungs. If a medicine can't be BREATHED, it can't get to the lungs and bronchial tubes. Peps provide a medicine you breathe—not swallow. For all disorders or irritations of the lungs, or bronchial tubes, therefore, use Peps. These include catarrh, coughs, bronchitis, sore throat, tightness or schlog across the chest, difficulty in breathing, hoarseness, croup, laryngitis, smoker's throat, etc.

All druggists and stores sell Peps at 50c. box or 3 for $1.25. Should your dealer be out of stock, order direct (postpaid) from Peps Co., Dupont St., Toronto, or 22 Princess St., Winnipeg.

NAVY VAGARIES.

(Montreal Witness.)

It is a very humorous dispatch that comes from Australia that the example of Canada's new naval policy is arousing much attention and stimulating emulation. They have found out in Australia that Mr. Borden is to offer the British three Dreadnoughts to the British navy. This is very clever of the Australian. That may have been the real mission of the troop of Australian cadets that took part in the Toronto exhibition. The last rumor that we heard before the present one was that the naval policy was to be the expenditure of thirty million dollars—half to construct a fleet on the Atlantic and half to construct a fleet on the Pacific. Before that the talk was of speedy merchant ships to connect up the "All Red Route" on the Atlantic and Pacific, and to be used as cruisers in time of war. Before that again was talk of a gift of twenty million dollars to the British navy. Before that, about the time Mr. Borden landed in England, the talk was of the gift of three Dreadnoughts. The Australian information may date way back to this period. Possibly they have just heard of it by mail through the Overseas edition of the Daily Mail, and now the dispatch to the Mail in reply. This is, however, the one guess at the navy policy that Mr. Borden has emphatically denied. He said that a gift of Dreadnoughts would not even be discussed. An important part of the Australian dispatch is that they are thoroughly wedded to the principle of a colonial fleet in the Pacific, and that their premier, Mr. Fisher, does not believe in an imperial defence council. This is a statement that will have much effect in determining the lines along which any plan for imperial federation shall be drawn.

What Honesty Means in Cocoa-Making

In cocoa-making, honesty may have two meanings. A manufacturer may set out to produce a medium grade cocoa. He may honestly adhere to that standard. But the standard is low. The cocoa flavor suffers.

Or—

A manufacturer may set out to produce cocoa of the very finest quality possible. He then puts himself under constant extra expense. The finest cocoa beans must be used. They cost much more than medium grade beans.

He must employ skilled, and therefore expensive factory foremen.

He must install expensive modern machinery.

He must use care, care, care, and expensive time from the start to the finish of his cocoa-making.

In Lowney's we set out to make the very finest cocoa that could be produced. The equipment of our factory at Montreal shows the pains we take.

To justify our extra expense we must make for Lowney's Cocoa firm friends—cocoa lovers who will not be satisfied with cocoa of a lower quality.

This we are accomplishing. And the result of an honest adherence to this high-standard policy you can enjoy in a wholesome cup of Lowney's Cocoa.

Sold by grocers. In tins—10c to 50c sizes.

Lowney's shows you how Cocoa ought to taste

The Best Way to Make Cocoa

Mix two even tablespoonfuls of cocoa with two of sugar. Add 1/4 tablespoonful salt. Mix gradually with two cups of boiling water. Stir to a smooth paste. Boil 5 minutes. Add two cups of scalded (not boiled) milk, and beat with an egg-beater until frothy.

LIFE MEMBERSHIP FOR MRS. JENKINS

GRANTED HER BY THE LOCAL WOMEN'S COUNCIL

Interesting Meeting of the Council Was Held Yesterday Afternoon

The Local Council of Women met yesterday afternoon at 2.30 at the Y. M. C. A., the president, Miss Crease, occupying the chair, and a large attendance of members following the business of the afternoon and entering into the discussions with keen interest. Early in the proceedings a pleasing feature took place in the presentation to Mrs. Margaret Jenkins of a framed life membership certificate presented on behalf of the National Council of Women by the Local Council of Women of Victoria and Vancouver Island in appreciation of her long and valuable services to the organization. The presentation was accompanied by a few gracious remarks by the president, Mrs. Jenkins in replying expressing her appreciation of the presentation, and saying that she would always attach great value to this memorial coming as it did from a society with which she had been associated for so long a time. Very often she had felt discouraged in her work, but such little incidents as this had usually come at a timely moment to give encouragement and help to smooth the rough places.

The treasurer's report was read, this showing a small balance, also the report of the Year Books' committee, showing what number of these had been sold. Mrs. R. S. Day read an excellent report from the legislative committee, showing that Winnipeg, New York, Denver, Los Angeles, and Yonkers had all been communicated with in order to learn the results of the establishment of the curfew law in these cities, and had all sent very satisfactory answers leading to the drafting by the committee of a by-law which it is prepared to submit to the city council. The report recommended that newboys should not be under ten years of age, and that even the older boys should not be permitted to sell papers in saloons, poolrooms, or other places where they might come in touch with evil influences.

Mrs. Day's report also called attention once more to the fact that Vancouver and New Westminster had given their women the household franchise, and urged that the city council should have the matter brought to their attention again with a view to bringing about a similar condition here.

CEMENT PIPE CONTRACT TERMINATED

Alderman Gleason Tells the Council They Should Be Ashamed of Action

In taking up the report of the city solicitor and engineer with reference to the contract with the Dominion Glazed Cement Pipe Company for the supply of cement pipe to the city, there was some caustic comment from Alderman Gleason on the city council methods at the meeting of that body last evening.

The officials recommended that both the claim for storage and the supplementary order placed by former Superintendent Worawick should be paid, and that so far as releasing the company from the fulfilment of the balance of its contract while no more pipe should be ordered as the city engineer did not require it, the company could not be released until the five years' guarantee had expired. Hence they recommended the retention of the company's bond.

On a motion to adopt the report Alderman Gleason said: "This is one of the incidents which make me feel ashamed of the actions of the council. I have no hesitation in saying so." The alderman went on to relate how the contract was entered into, how the work was done under the inspection of the city's representative, and mentioned that pipe was stored on their wharf in Vancouver waiting shipment to Victoria. There would have been no entry if the company had defaulted the contract instead of the city taking the initiative.

Alderman Stewart contended that the city had done wisely in stopping cement pipe for sewer purposes. On the pilgrimage of the aldermen in the spring they had not seen in any city in the south cement pipe used for sewers. Could Alderman Gleason tell them of a single city where it was used?

Alderman Gleason: "Vancouver."

Alderman Stewart: "Any where else?"

Alderman Gleason: "Lots of places."

Alderman Stewart said Vancouver was the home of cement pipe, and naturally local sentiment entered into its use. So far as the council's action was concerned Alderman Stewart declared they were right. The council of 1911 had a good many things to be ashamed of.

Alderman Humber: "If you want to go back I can say something about the records of past councils with which my friend on the right is associated."

Alderman Gleason: In a subsequent observation said he knew what he should have done if he had been the company.

The report was then adopted.

Rice, raw eggs and boiled venison are the easiest foods to digest. All the other kind of the scale are pork, cabbage and hard-boiled eggs.

ENGINEERS ROAR AT THOMSON CONTRACT

CANADIANS ARE SIDETRACKED BY PREMIER

Fortune in Five Years—More Than Prime Minister and Renowned Professional Men

Many disclosures have leaked out through the rapping of the premier's knuckles by the Victoria Society of Civil Engineers, the members of which, despite promises made by Sir Richard McBride, are incensed at his treatment of Canadian engineers, more particularly of British Columbia engineers. One of them said yesterday: "Canadians don't seem good enough for McBride," and the speaker entirely disregarded the knightship when saying it, for with the engineers it has got down to "man and square deal."

When Col. Thomson came over from Seattle he got an appointment to superintend the laying out of Strathcona Park at a salary of $15,000 a year, which is much larger than that paid Sir Richard as premier and minister of mines together. He has $8,000 in excess of the salary paid the lieutenant-governor. He has more than double the salary of a well known transcontinental railway engineer, and he was given the sure thing on a five years' contract. He gets $2,000 per annum more than the prime minister of Canada.

But this is not all. There are said to be other Seattleites working at Strathcona Park in preference to British Columbians. Six is reported to be the number. What is the matter with Canadian engineers? Incidentally what about the premier's patriotism, etc., etc.

Engineers Protest.

Premier McBride was waited on by the Society of Engineers when Colonel Thomson was appointed. He promised them that the men employed at Strathcona Park should be Canadians and not

AMERICANS. The engineers have since taken the matter up with Sir Richard McBride in a long correspondence, pointing out the breach of faith. In reply they received a sugared pill. The premier offered the engineers the opportunity to name nominees for large appointments—in future. The engineers are not satisfied, for they have only begun their campaign with regard to the Strathcona Park affair. The society wants the territorial matter on the old Indian reserve straightened out. They complain there has been too much Americanism in government appointments lately, citing the appointment of Mr. Holman, the American terminal engineer, McBride's reciprocity. Sir Richard McBride waved the old flag and did the shouting, "Canada for Canadians," at last election. It was "down with reciprocity," "no truck with Yankees." Anything and everything American was at that time denounced. Many important appointments since then have been filled with Americans at large salaries, and Canadians have been passed over. Gifford Pinchock was brought here to organize the forestry service, and was followed by Overton Price in the same service. The next was Col. Thomson, then there is Mr. Holman, and the department contains several others from the other side who have been engaged since the gush campaign of alleged patriotism ceased. Sir Richard McBride does not believe in reciprocity. He has the big salaries jobs to the Americans, but does not find big salaries in America for the Canadians. The Canadians of promise in their profession have to go to the United States for recognition. The government has agreed to pay a fortune to Col. Thomson in five years. As engineer for Strathcona Park he will get the enormous sum of $75,000. Collingwood Schreiber, C. M. G., consulting engineer of the National Transcontinental railway, is paid $7,000 per annum, less than half the sum now going out annually on a five-year contract to Col. Thomson. It is these things the Society of Civil Engineers want altered, and are going after throughout Canada. The sugared pill has not satisfied them. They have taken the matter up with every important engineering society in Canada, to obtain their co-operation. They will push their work into municipal affairs also, for they complain of the engagement of American engineers on important civic works here. The reservoir was built under super-

VISION OF AMERICAN ENGINEERS.

The water tower was constructed by one, and despite these unsatisfactory jobs, the city of Victoria has an American engineer in charge of the Sooke water-works scheme. They complain that the American engineers engaged on the Sooke work receive double the pay Canadian engineers capable of carrying through the work would get.

Your Brain Is a Battery

Its thoughts are the sparks that set Success in motion

The simplest form of battery requires three factors to make the electric spark—(zinc, copper and an acid).

The human brain also requires three vital elements to put forth thought—water, albumen and Phosphate of Potash.

In the Brain as in the Battery, let a single element become weakened from yesterday's use and lessened activity follows. Therefore, in order to keep a good working brain or add to its power, one absolutely must use food which contains albumen and Phosphate of Potash.

Why not do a bit of thinking now?

Water and albumen exist plentifully in every-day food, but Phosphate of Potash is often lacking.

That missing element exists freely in the outer coating of wheat and barley, but the miller of white bread flour throws it out because it makes his flour brown instead of white.

Grape-Nuts FOOD

Made of choice wheat and malted barley, retains the rich brain-building Phosphate of Potash required by Nature for supporting bright brains and active minds.

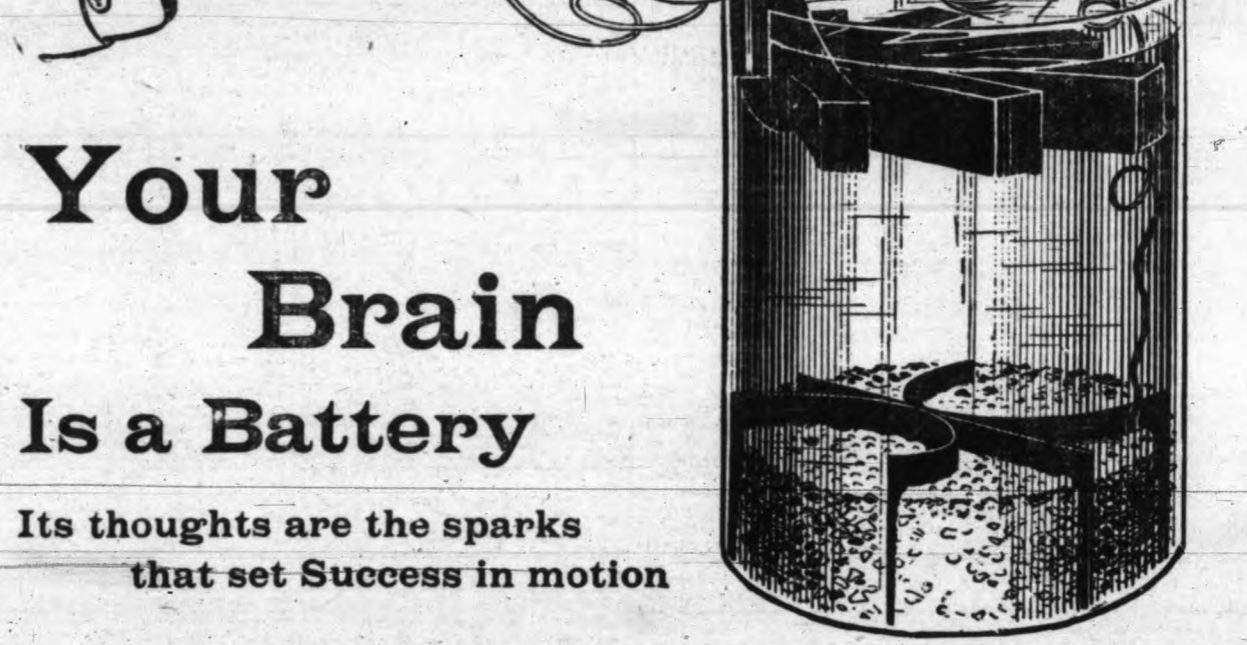

Pure! Wholesome! Appetizing! This food is partly pre-digested and quickly absorbed. A morning dish with cream provides force for accomplishment that many a man has come to know and appreciate.

Common Sense goes a long way toward making Success.

To eat right often means to be right.

CITY EMPLOYEE REMOVED

Alderman Gleason Alleges Discrimination Against Bricklayer for Evidence at Sewers Inquiry—Report is Sent to City Engineer—A Lively Meeting

The members of the sewer investigation committee were in no mood last evening to allow the city council merely to receive and file the important report which they presented for the consideration of that body a week ago, and which had lain on the table in the meantime. The exposures, and mistakes revealed in the long inquiry came out again in other forms in the debate, and with it the statement, which was not contradicted that Henry Clay, a young bricklayer who gave evidence at the hearing on September 18 had been dismissed for telling the committee the situation he found in the trenches. Up till the present he has not been reinstated. The man's name was not mentioned, but from the statements made he is undoubtedly the subject of the protest.

Information has been discovered since the inquiry, Alderman Okell and Alderman Gleason showed, which was declared not to be in existence when the committee sat.

An Insult to Committee.
The motion to receive and file the report was moved by Alderman Stewart, seconded by Alderman Dilworth.

Alderman Okell rose and said that to treat it in that manner was an insult to the committee, after the hours spent in obtaining information by the members. One reason why the report had not been stronger was that they did not wish to let it go forth too strongly to the world how things were. The report showed a serious state of affairs. The alderman went on to read extracts from the report, and from the evidence bearing on the findings contained therein, and pointed to the extra cost involved by lack of excavating material, delay for pumps, and absence of harmony among the departments. They had Mr. MacIntyre testifying that he saw things which involved waste of money in the sewers department, but it was not his business and "he was not going to butt in." was that the spirit of the leading member of the engineering staff? Then they had a superintendent of sewers who himself said he had no practical knowledge of sewers.

They also had no definite arrangement about grades, how they were given, and by whom they were to be observed in carrying on work. Sewer grades should not be fixed till the street grades had been given, and this matter he thought should be taken up by the engineer.

In New Role.
Alderman Cuthbert intervened in the strange role of peacemaker, and said that as the engineering department spent a good deal of money, they should be sure that it was spent in the best way. An efficient sewerage map was a necessity, showing all outfalls. So far as the lack of co-operation was concerned, the city engineer was a newcomer, and he believed the subject would be straightened out shortly. Each department should have a competent head responsible to the city engineer.

Alderman Humber made a characteristic speech. He claimed at the outset that recommendations of the sewers committee had been turned down by the council. They had so many changes that it was not possible to keep track of them all.

Then they had a blacksmith who apparently did not know about sharpening steel, but was willing to learn at the expense of the ratepayers (laughter). Did the ratepayers know that to construct a certain piece of sewer 375 feet long about 15 feet deep, it cost $5,955? There were no laterals in it, and only one manhole.

Excavation work had cost $16 and $17 a yard. He quoted cases where sewers had been constructed without outlets, and the people could not use them. What about the sewerage system of Victoria West? Some of the appointees were as capable of doing their work as he would be to fill the pulpit in the Methodist church (renewed laughter). They could call Alderman Mable as to conditions and results at the blacksmith's shop. In one case the sewer gang had been held up ten days because of poor sharpening of steel. They would shortly have to duplicate the northeast sewer, which was not yet constructed, in order to care for surface water. When the sewers committee returned from Vancouver, they recommended machinery to cost from $8,000 to $10,000, and the mayor said it was not advisable to purchase.

The mayor: "It was not made by me."
Alderman Humber stuck to his point, and said if necessary he might offer further information on sewer matters, and the record of Alderman Stewart in that council.

Alderman Gleason. Alderman Stewart was not in his chair when this remark was made, and to a bare quorum Alderman Gleason continued the debate. They had found information lying in the attics of the city hall about cost data which it was said on the witness stand could not be found. The committee had set out with the intention of discovering the facts and do what they could to remedy the existing state of things. He believed from the inquiry the city engineer would be able to secure useful information about the lack of system. They stated that the city was paying more than other localities for sewer construction work, and then they were asked to file the report. He had in his hand figures from Oak Bay, showing that the work was being done twice as cheaply.

They had also sewer construction in charge of Mr. Lindsey, who admitted he did not know anything about it.

The Mayor: "Most of the work had been done before he was appointed."
Ald. Gleason: "No, it is not done yet. The bad ground is still to be exavated. There was an interesting sidelight on this case. They had a man testify that he had not seen Mr. O'Meara on the job there where he worked, and he believed the subject would be straightened out shortly. Each department should have a competent head responsible to the city engineer.

SOO QUON THOUGHT TO BE INSANE MAN

Inquest on Body of Lue Mock Gun Opened by Coroner This Afternoon

Efforts for the defence of Soo Quon charged with the murder of Lue Mock Gun, at Cameron's mill last Saturday morning, have been begun by his friends in Victoria, Chinatown, and part of the defence that will be raised for him will be that he is insane. This is said to have preyed on the mind of Soo Quon, and his friends hold that he was insane when he cut Lue Mock's head open with the axe in the mill engine room on Saturday.

Dr. G. A. B. Hall the city physician, examined the accused in jail yesterday and was not then prepared to give an absolute opinion that the Chinese was sane. He obtained the assistance of another medical man, who after observing Soo Quon, held a conference with Dr. Hall, the result of which may be known at the inquest this afternoon.

The inquest on the body of Lue Mock Gun was called for 4 o'clock this afternoon, when several Chinese witnesses were ready to be called by the coroner. There are also white witnesses called to testify in the case.

ABOLISH DOMESTIC DRUDGERY.
Systemizing Everlasting Round and Use of Machinery Advocated.

"Female rebels" are charged with having made the phrase "Domestic Drudgery" a stock term of the language. Whether it is the rebels who have rebelled against the drudgery, or the drudgery which created the rebel is a question which all will not answer alike.

"What is drudgery? It is the recurring, unending round of toll upon material which is incapable of lending itself to creative effort or even development. Is domestic labor, labor of this nature?

Cookery is considered by some to be the worst kind of domestic drudgery, yet those who have known the joys of well-cooked food and the pains of the other will realize that cookery is an art. Drudgery would appear to be unthinkable in connection with it. Yet, far from it being unthinkable, the wearisome work of the weary drudge is connected with cookery. The reason for this seeming contradiction is clear. The drudge cannot rise to opportunity of art even when the path is wide open to her. Nor can the non-artistic person, who may not be a drudge, rise to the opportunity.

The everlasting round which comes to ordinary house-workers with the regularity of the inevitability of the coming of each separate day. Dirt removal is real drudgery—drudgery in essence, so to speak, and superadded to this true drudgery, there is the drudgery which is born of artistic work forced upon those without not merely aptitude for it but in most cases without even the ghost of a training. No wonder, therefore, the home is a muddle and a mess, disappointing alike to those who work in it and to those who go out to toll for the where-withal to maintain it.

But how can domestic drudgery be abolished? Can it be done? Consider first the dirt removal. In the first place a social conscience regarding the creation of dirt must be developed; a natural repulsion against the placing of dirt on the floor, in the kitchen, in the "back place." We are really a very dirty unfastidious filthy people. For a household or a manufacturer tolerating a smoking chimney therefore (even though the smoke streak be "but a little one"), the punishment of placing in the stocks might be revived.

The problem of dirt removal is to be approached in two ways, first by curbing the amount of dirt produced, secondly by introducing mechanical inventions into houses to deal with the irreducible minimum. Such mess and dirt as cannot be dealt with swiftly and easily in the home should, because of this very characteristic, be removed for cleaning away from the home. The instinct of even the most unthinking home-dwellers has proved this to be the right way. Already, for instance, the family washing has left the home. Where the soiled garments and materials are not sent to a laundry, common wash-houses rescue the poorest houseworkers from their clouds of steam and its pervasive misery. As with laundry, so with cooking. Cookery is not a job for novices. It is an art. In its relation to food values, it is a science also. It is not to be attempted by everyone. It is work for the perfect craftsman, with every mechanical invention at his disposal. It is obvious that perfect craftsman cannot be found in every individual home, nor can the necessary machinery be set up. Therefore, the problem to be solved by the imaginative inventor in regard to cookery is, with due regard to cost, to find a means of transit from a distributive kitchen to the private house dining-tables without any lowering of temperature.—Woman's Journal.

SILK HATS IN CHINA.
Republican Congress Takes Up Question of Dress and Salutation.

Ten sessions of the new Republican congress in Pekin have been devoted to the question of dress. One whole day was given over to the trying on of hats, and all possible and impossible fashions of men's and women's clothing were displayed and examined, says the Berlin Tageblatt. The results of this painstaking investigation may be gathered from the following resume of the laws passed:
1. All Chinese officials, without any distinction of rank, shall wear European clothing. This shall consist of black walking coat, top hat of Chinese silk, and patent leather shoes. No mention is made of trousers. On ordinary occasions a derby hat may be worn.
2. Non-official persons shall also dress as above on festivals.
3. Those belonging to the military, police and to the judicial, and student bodies shall wear the prescribed uniforms.
4. Women shall use European hats, but otherwise retain their customary dress with certain modifications.
The etiquette of greetings was defined as follows: Ordinary greeting, hat off; bow once; official greeting, hat off; bow three times. Women keep their hats on.
Winning a prize at the Great Grandson (Huntingdonshire) Agricultural show, a laborer named Laxton was stated to have been employed in the same service for 75 years.

MUSIC IN SCHOOLS.

To the Editor:—I noticed by report of school board news in a recent issue that it is intended to extend the system of teaching music in the public schools. This is a movement in the right direction.

It is singular that while private educational institutions have long recognized the value of having competent musical teachers attached to the staff, this particular branch has been so much neglected by our educational department.

I am at present devoting much time to the musical education of my children, from day to day, that might be done (and is done in other countries) in the public schools, therefore, I think any move in this direction will meet with public approval.

In reference to certified teachers, as suggested at the board meeting (I do not wish in any way to belittle a certified system), it often happens that an individual may have all kinds of learning, and at the same time lack the art of imparting it to others. The writer remembers some years ago of a talented musician coming from the old country with splendid testimonials from great men. On arriving in one of the big cities, he was introduced to a noted musician, and immediately produced his testimonials. The noted musician on looking over them said, "Yes, sir, these are all very well, but put them in your pocket and get on the piano stool and let me see what you can do."

Our present supervisor, Mr. Pollard, is a man of system and method, combined with a happy faculty for commanding the respect and attention of the children. His testimonials are of any value. Mr. Pollard has plenty of them from such men as the Curwens, of Tonic Sol Fa fame, also from Mr. Dan Roatham, of Bristol, England, one of the foremost trainers of boys and male voice choirs, and a host of others, to say nothing of the praises extended by the adjudicators of the singing competition of the public schools and other musical critics of this city. Mr. Pollard's work speaks for itself, and is sufficient to justify the board to further extend the system under the able direction of the present supervisor.

The advance in salary was a just recognition of the service he has rendered, and will be backed by all the music lovers of Victoria.

OBSERVER.

THE RACE TRACK POLLUTION.

To the Editor:—Now that the races are over and the Country Club can eat apple pie and drink champagne out of the proceeds of what they no doubt believe to be a good business venture, it may not be unseemly for an onlooker to venture a few comments on the relation such forms of making easy money bears towards the well-being of a young and growing mind. Some time ago we made a great fuss about allowing betting on the race course, the people of the United States, who in a general way are not credited with being thin skinned, rose up in anger and nearly abolished horse racing. A wise guy invented the machine they call the system bet, and the case from the reports of the Pari-Mutuel of the Country Club it certainly is a homer every time. It does not suffer from indigestion in any form. It grows fat on the small boy's nickels or tin horns, who will work all week and put his earnings into its mouth and call himself a sport. They are all legitimate prey. It is a peculiar form of sport, is it not? The basis of its success is nothing but selfishness to make easy money. To allow such an undertaking to flourish in a community is, from my point of view, a vote of want of confidence in our natural resources. It is degrading to the young, and a source of great worry to many a parent.

If, on the other hand, we are bound to cater to it, why don't we get a legitimate share of the surplus that goes to the Country Club? Our recent agricultural fair could scarcely be called a joy for ever. I was down every day during the fair, but really the general appearance was far from pleasing. The appearance of the grounds, owing in part to the wretched distribution of the fair's tents, with their miserable shacks in the rear of the grounds, occupied by the followers of the race course, and including women and children, should make the race proprietors blush for shame. If anyone objects he is generally supposed to be a person of a narrow-minded churchman. They will tell you, even some of our level-headed aldermen say, a man has a right to bet if he wants to, and if he has no strings on him I would say so, too. But we have a business right to protect the young not to punish them afterwards for our selfishness.

I, for one, hope that as soon as the Country Club's lease expires that there will be no renewal by the city. Let our fall fair be a place where the whole city may go and enjoy the satisfaction of a day or a week well spent without having the bottom scraped out of our pockets. This is no longer a feeble town. We can afford to encourage legitimate, healthy sport; clean up our fair grounds and get rid of those antiquated fakirs. Make it a beauty spot and in a sense a model school. Why should the fairest city in the west have such a scrap heap for fair grounds? G. E. MILLOY.

"Pomander Walk."

"Pomander Walk," after a great success in New York and elsewhere, comes to Victoria theatre to-night and tomorrow night, after its long run at Wallack's theatre, New York. The play, a simple little romance of life in a quaint London suburb in the year 1805—ten years before the battle of Waterloo—bumbled the wise men of the theatre, who have been insisting that the public requires continuous action or ideas or horse-play or whatever each particular wise man has a penchant for, by scoring one of the few big popular successes. "Pomander Walk" will please you, or nothing on this can please you," said one of the leading metropolitan critics. And the rest of the critics agreed.

The names of the characters have become household words. One notices Sir Peter Antrobus, Brooke-Hoskyns, Dr. Stérnoyd, Basil Pringle, Mrs. Puskett, the Hon. Caroline Thring and all the rest of them time and again in the daily life around us. In the picturesque costumes of more than a century ago, and in a mild caricature that suggests that of Dickens, these life-like folk make their way into the public esteem in a manner that speaks well for the good taste of theatre-goers.

The actors who interpret this delicious comedy are all English, but many of them are well known in this country, not only for their success in "Pomander Walk," but for his scored on previous visits.

After the American success of "Pomander Walk," Cyril Maude produced it in London, scoring heavily as the old admiral.

"Sheehan English Opera."

This season the Sheehan English Opera Company surpasses all former efforts, both in production and the personnel of the company. Edward M. Beck, general manager of the Sheehan organization, has assembled the finest company ever heard in English. They will appear at the Victoria theatre in "Il Trovatore" on Thursday.

Joseph F. Sheehan, the famous American tenor and star of the organization, is singing better than ever in his career, and critics everywhere say the famous tenor is at his best. To those who have had the pleasure of hearing his beautiful voice in the past this will seem next to impossible, but those who have not heard him have a great treat in store.

Surrounding the noted tenor are such stars as Francis J. Boyle, the great basso and former Henry W. Savage; also Miss Alma Stetler, the eminent contralto, likewise from the Savage company; Miss Gladys Caldwell, the talented prima donna of the Sheehan English Opera Company, conceded to be the foremost of all English singing sopranos, and called the "American Tetrazzini"; Miss Thea Clara, a French contralto whose magnificent voice proclaims her one of the best heard in this country; Miss Ruth West and Miss Louise Hoeger, two more talented sopranos; Joseph Royer, the leading baritone, is another noteworthy addition to the organization.

This famous singer is a portage of Victor Maurel, is said to be the finest on the English-speaking stage. John L. Dickinson, another baritone with a most beautiful voice; Kenneth Dudley, the noted English basso; William Young, tenor, from the Royal Opera, Moscow, Russia, and a number of lesser lights, as well as what is said to be the best voiced and the best trained chorus in the country.

For a special twelve weeks' tour Mr. Sheehan has secured the services of Mrs. Emily Grey, famous harpist direct from Covent Garden, London, England; Miss Sibley Remus, violinist virtuoso, Paris Opera Comique, and a special grand opera orchestra under the baton of William Glover, England's foremost conductor.

"The Chocolate Soldier."

No light opera of recent years has created such a delightful impression upon the music-loving public as "The Chocolate Soldier," which will be the attraction at the Victoria theatre on Friday and Saturday. The theme of the opera has been taken from the work of Bernard Shaw, "Arms and the Man," and the magic genius of Oscar Strauss created the rhythmic, tuneful music which is being whistled and sung all over Europe, as well as America.

Throughout the Austrian empire snatches of the aria and such songs as "My Hero" are sung by peasants and noblemen alike. Boatmen along the Blue Danube and the lesser picturesque streams, where the very scenes of this charming Viennese composition were inspired, are ever humming airs from the opera.

The company includes Rena Vivienne, the little singer to whom all New York and Chicago gave homage; Lucille Saunders, formerly of the Hof theatres of Berlin and Dresden; Ilon Bergere, as the coquettish Mascha; John F. McDonough, a tenor of unusual reputation; Charles Purcell as the chocolate soldier; J. Russell Powell and Sylvan Langlois, who played the buffo roles with the New York and Chicago organizations, the much-praised singing chorus and the Whitney Opera Comique orchestra that helped make the success of the work since its beginning in this country, making altogether the largest light opera company of the theatrical year.

IDEAS OF A PLAIN MAN

BY DR. FRANK CRANE

The only great novel is the novel that is drawn from the author's own experience.

After all, the only thing supremely interesting is autobiography; not a diary, necessarily, but an author's own personality whether exposed in a story, drama or a story.

A man's ink is no good that has none of his blood in it. For this reason the historical novel can never be so great as the story of one's own times. We may admire the skill, research and wisdom of the writer who reconstructs for us the times of Cleopatra or Charlemagne, but he cannot touch us with the electric power of the man who writes of his own village.

Nature and life are the grand reservoirs of art. The nearer the writer is to them the purer the springs of his genius.

As a French critic says of Flaubert, "Salambo will never equal Madame Bovary." The historical chef-d'oeuvre will never equal the page of life.

An ingenious mechanic in Munich has invented a contrivance which can be fixed to public fire alarms so that whoever smashes the glass is caught by the arm and held fast until the arrival of the firemen.

WILL SUBMIT HOSPITAL BY-LAW

DATE LEFT OPEN FOR FUTURE SETTLEMENT

Dilatory Tactics of Ottawa Department Complicates the Law's Administration

The city council decided last evening to submit a by-law for the sum of $200,000 for the new buildings of the Royal Provincial Jubilee Hospital, and to instruct the city solicitor to draw up a by-law accordingly.

While there was no difference of opinion as to the desirability of submitting the by-law, the date next month the directors desire it to be voted upon came in for comment, as several members of the council thought November a bad season for by-laws.

The mayor believed that the satisfaction would give a better expression of opinion now than in the turmoil of a general municipal election, and he understood also the government would not set aside a sum in the estimates till they could see what the citizens were prepared to vote themselves.

The question of a date for the submission of the by-law was left open.

Company Will Lay Pipe

Without admitting any liability the Esquimalt Waterworks Company agreed through Pooley, Luxton and Pooley, solicitors for the company, to lay pipe on Griffiths street, the city to accept responsibility for any subsequent change of grade.

The case is one in which Alderman Okeil has been pushing for months to get the council to compel the waterworks company to supply the inhabitants, and on his motion the council left the communication with the city solicitor and engineer with power to act.

Street Flusher

It was decided to accept the new street flusher from the contractors, and to pay $5,750 for same with $604 freight and insurance. The tests have proved satisfactory.

Department's Dilatoriness

The city health officer, Dr. G. A. B. Hall, pointed to the fact that the city analyst, C. W. Birch, had not yet his authority from Ottawa to act, and Alderman Cuthbert said he had been in communication with G. H. Barnard, M. P., who had received a reply from Ottawa on the matter, promising attention.

The subject will be taken up again with Mr. Barnard. In his letter Dr. Hall pointed out that the matter was an urgent one, in that there was no authority for the appearance of Mr. Birch in prosecutions should his appointment be called in question.

The Observatory Site

Alderman Cuthbert indicated that the trust deed of Beacon Hill park would prevent the transfer to the marine and fisheries department of one acre of the park for the combined meteorological and seismological observatory, and it was decided to refer to the city solicitor the application of Meteorologist E. Baynes Eed for the allocation to the department of this portion of the park. The rocky northern end near Michigan street was the selected site.

Delta Street

The council decided to accept the terms of J. Sorenson for lot 7 and part of lot 6, Delta street, in order to extend Steele street through, and acquire a portion of the right-of-way for the northwest sewer. It is proposed to charge this up as a work of local improvement later, paying now out of the general revenue.

Alderman Humble voted in the negative as a protest against changing the system of haying sewer right-of-way. Why, he asked, had they bought land in other parts of the city for the sewers out of the general revenue, and were now proposing to do this as a work of local improvement?

A Struggling Horse

The prosaic item of fencing the Telegraph street city wharf, passed on the recommendation of the health committee, drew from Alderman Glendon's lips the story of an accident yesterday. A cart was backing off the wharf dumping garbage, and the weight was too much for the unhappy horse. For a time he hung like Mahomet's coffin between heaven and earth, but the latter won out. He fell over the wharf and had to swim for it, being ultimately rescued, a sadder and a wiser animal.

Mayor's Secretary

On a motion it was decided to establish the labor bureau, and to appoint an official, who will also act as secretary to the mayor.

TO BUILD WHARF AT HOLBERG

Ottawa, Oct. 15.—Several B. C. contracts were awarded by the government yesterday. A contract was awarded to R. A. Wood for the wharf at Holberg, B. C., for $12,557. Another contract was awarded to A. Campbell and Wilkie, Vancouver, for a new armory at Chilliwack, B. C., for $16,350. To William English a contract for a wharf at Hattie Beach, Kootenay, B. C., for $5,000 was awarded.

DEATH ENDS LONG PENNANCE

Myton, Oct. 15.—Inepgut, an insane Indian, who for almost thirty-five years has done penance for the murder of his mother by going naked and refusing to mingle with other members of his tribe, was found dead in his lonely tepee near here. Inepgut refused to wear any sort of clothing even in the coldest weather and had left his tepee but once since he began his self-imposed sentence. He was supplied with food by his tribesmen, who considered him sacred.

REGULATION OF DRY CLEANING SHOPS

BY-LAW WILL BE PREPARED AT ONCE

Chief Davis Recommends Drill Tower in Market Yard—Fire Loss of City Is Low

An important feature of the report of Chief Davis on his visit to the fire chiefs' conventions at Denver and Los Angeles, which was presented to the members of the city council last evening, is that of regulating gasoline dry cleaning establishments.

This has a local significance, because of a letter from Mrs. E. Hood, who complained that she had leased her premises unwittingly to a dry cleaning house where gasoline was used. The fire chief said at present there was no by-law regulating this, and he asked for one to be passed.

Mayor Beckwith thought Mrs. Hood had an undoubted grievance but until regulations had been established there was no power to prevent tailors and others operating with gasoline.

The council decided to refer Mrs. Hood's letter, and the request of the fire chief for a by-law, to the fire wardens to bring in a draft measure.

The chief, on this matter, says that dry cleaning premises are on the increase in the city, and he has all the necessary data for the preparation of such a by-law.

Two other recommendations are made in the chief's report in the following terms: "That the gas company should be compelled to have a shut-off valve on all mains leading into buildings, same to be placed in roadway, as in my opinion it would then be protected and easy to get at, in case of falling walls caused by fire, this valve would not only be of great benefit and assistance to the firemen in fighting a fire in basements, but to the gas company's employees. Within the last few months we have had several fires occur in basements, through their employees trying to make connections for their meter, had there been a valve on the main leading into building this would not have occurred. I would also recommend that the use of lead pipe in connecting up gas meters be not allowed, for in case of fire occurring in close proximity to the meter, and the heat melting off this pipe, the result would be fire or explosion.

"I would recommend that a proper drill tower be built in the market yard in the rear of headquarters station, so that all drills, including engines, could take place there under my own personal supervision. In all cities of any size where I visited I found a drill tower, and they are what are required in all fire departments. You are able to have each day a squad of men drilling, and drill is what makes for efficiency. I trust that your board will recommend to the council the building of such a tower for our department."

The chief says in conclusion: "I wish to inform your board that while I was away it was my pleasure to be able to inspect various fire departments, both large and small, also drills given on tower and exhibition runs of the three departments. I am pleased to be able to say that our own department compares with the best I have seen for discipline, cleanliness, appearance of men and equipment. I also took up the fire losses of many of the different cities visited and in comparison our loss is far below many of them, as our risk here is greater on account of the mill district, and the danger of fire occurring therein."

The town bell of Buntingford, Herts, which, situated on the top of the Angel Inn, had been rung for church services and funerals for over 30 years, and was recently stopped by order of the vestry, is to be rung as heretofore, in response to a petition from the inhabitants.

THE DEVELOPMENT OF NORTHERN B. C.

WILL DEPEND UPON CULTIVATION OF LAND

A. Holland Returns From Surveying Trip Around Lake Stewart

The development of the north of the province, particularly that part around Lake Stewart, was the topic which Arthur Holland, who has just returned from an extended surveying trip in the government service, was most enthusiastic.

Two main factors, he asserted to a Times man yesterday, were retarding the development of the north. One was of course, the lack of transportation facilities, and the other the unfortunate manner in which many of the soil-distant settlers simply held the land for speculative purposes, and made no effort to develop it.

Mr. Holland has just returned from Fort St. James, the old Hudson Bay distributing centre for northern Canada, which lies at the southeast corner of Stewart lake. The general feeling of the man in the street towards the district is colored by the fact that he believes that farming will not thrive there owing to the characteristic northern climatic habit of summer frosts. According to Mr. Holland, however, the future of the northern parts will be wrapped up in its agricultural development. In between the string of lakes extending to the north and east of Stewart Lake there are admirable belts of land eminently suitable for mixed farming, and on which through the near presence of large bodies of water, the summer frost never sends its blight. The land is also excellent in many ways for stock raising.

The work that Mr. Holland has particularly engaged on while at Fort St. James, has been the making of ties and traverses for the provincial government. At the end of May he went up to Fraser Lake and was working on township fourteen, and during that period was able to study the country and its possibilities to no inconsiderable extent. Asked as to whether there were minerals capable of being worked in that district, he said that all along the shores of the various lakes there were indications of considerable copper deposits, but these, of course, had never been worked. The copper, in all probability, would be of a low grade, he averred, but if mined in sufficient quantities and with adequate transportation mining ought to become a paying industry. Mr. Holland thought that a very few more years would see the advance of railways into that part of the province and a development such as few dreamed of would be the result.

Fort St. James, he said, was practically in the hands of the Stewart Lake Indians, who are most wonderful boatmen; the lakes of that part are very exposed and are frequently visited by sudden storms which are often of unusual violence. It is in cases like those when the Stewart Lake Indians are invaluable. They are good guides also over territory that they know, but in any country foreign to their own experience, they are useless. They are very peaceable people, and the only troubles that the white settlers have with them are labor difficulties. Mr. Holland thought that the men who were taking up land there could hardly be called settlers, in the truest acceptance of the term. For the most part they simply hold the land, do a little stock-raising, and wait for values to balloon. The germ of speculation is hindering the growth and the development of the northern part of British Columbia, and the settlers up there have yet to learn that the truest prosperity that can be obtained, is that brought about by the cultivation of the natural resources of a district to its fullest limits.

You Owe It to Yourself To See This Property

Before you put another cent into Victoria real estate, you should do yourself the justice of seeing "Irvine Place." Apart altogether from what we say of it, apart from what those who have already purchased there say of it, you should see it with your own eyes and use your own judgment to decide for or against it. It won't cost you anything but your time, and only a little of that.

No matter what else may be said, one thing is certain—"Irvine Place" is bound to be ONE of the valuable, fast-enhancing suburban properties of Victoria. The tide of settlement is already set in that direction. The unmistakable indications point to a steady growth, which means a steady increase in values.

We Don't Ask You To Judge By What We Say In Print--- See For Yourself

It doesn't cost much to "get in" in "Irvine Place" now. NOW is the time to buy. A few months slip by almost unnoticed, but they make a world of difference in the price of property in a city that is growing as fast as Victoria. Developments are under way now that will make a big difference in suburban real estate values. Progress is being made so rapidly as to blind the eyes of many who are right here in the heart of it. "Irvine Place" lots would be a good investment to-day even if there were nothing else in favor of them than the fact that this section of the environs of Victoria is bound to be built up very materially within the next few months. This section is a very desirable garden-home section where suburban homes of the excellent type that is becoming popular in and about Victoria now, will be erected in numbers. Every new house that is built will add to the value of "Irvine Place" lots.

But, there is good reason to believe that within a short time new developments will take place, encompassing the extension of the present Mount Tolmie car line in such a manner as to directly benefit the section dominated by "Irvine Place."

"Irvine Place" lots are quarter acres, clear, deep-soil lots, rockless and level. They are not more than 300 yards beyond the Mount Tolmie post office, and only fifteen minutes' walk from the Mount Tolmie car line and the University and Normal schools.

"Irvine Place" Is Veritably "A Home--- A Garden---An Investment"

THE VALUE OF RADIUM.

There are no very exact statistics of radium available, says the Scientific American, but according to the United States Geological Survey the whole quantity in the world is probably not over two or three ounces, and its value, like that of the big diamonds of the world, is purely nominal. It is worth whatever the possessors can get for it. The head of the English corporation producing radium claims that it is worth approximately $100,000,000 a pound. A year ago this same person had estimated the value of radium at one-third more. However, a little variation of $50,000,000 is not thought to matter where there is no appreciable fraction of a pound of the precious stuff in sight. The fact that has more than anything to do with fixing the price is the existence of several radium banks in the world where tubes containing a microscopic speck of radium are rented out to doctors at something like $50 a day. While it is known to be of some value in treating lupus, which is a form of tuberculosis attacking the tissues, usually of the face, there is little else known about its medical value. It has been claimed on several occasions that radium was valuable in the treatment of cancer, but experiments have not proved this to be an absolute fact.

A short time ago it was reported that the Austrian government had purchased the only two mines under private ownership producing the ore from which radium is made, and thereby gained a monopoly in its manufacture. This report however, turned out inaccurate. It is true that the Austrian mines and the Austrian government heretofore have supplied the bulk of the radium salts existing in the world, but at the present time radium is being manufactured in three other countries, the United States included. Sweden is producing radium from kolin, the English are getting it from mines in Wales, while the United States get it from western Colorado, where there is a large deposit of radium-producing ore. These deposits produce a material used for making some of the high-grade steel alloys. While the mining pays in vanadium alone, the ore produces a certain per cent of radium. Ten tons of it procure only between twenty and thirty—milligrammes of radium.

FURNISHING OF MUNICIPAL OFFICE

ESQUIMALT COUNCIL HAS BUSY SEASON

"Quansum Elip" is Motto Selected—Uniformed Police—Details of Organization

At the meeting of the Esquimalt council last evening the reeve brought up the question of furnishing the clerk's office and mentioned that the committee had neglected to consult him before making the purchase. He pointed out that he wanted to do his full share of the work. Other members of the committee hurried to explain that they had not intentionally overlooked the reeve, but thought they might get ahead and do the matter Saturday morning without wasting time. Therefore they had the room at the rear of the Langson street school-house beaver-boarded, shined, and furnished with a chair and a table, and so forth. But they had put in no partition.
As there is no partition across the room, the reeve complained that when he went there to transact municipal business during the week he would have to be in the same undivided space as the Esquimalt municipal policeman. He felt this should not be. "Myself, and the clerk, and you gentlemen, too," said Mr. Lugrin, "will have business there, and with the constables all the time in the same room, it would hardly be convenient."
Councillor Anderson told the reeve that the Esquimalt constables were supposed to be on the street doing their duty in keeping the peace in the municipal bounds, and not hanging round the municipal offices, but if they had to come indoors, the council might erect a partition across the premises so the reeve, clerk and others, who had business, might be on one side, and the "cops" on the other. It was not made quite clear at first which of the parties was to go behind the partition, until Col. Peters remarked: "Put the constables behind the partition." Referring to the financial part of the municipal improvement, Col. Peters remarked: "There is not much money about. We haven't much chicken to work with yet, and one side of the partition will be cold." The reeve: "Get another stove."
Col. Peters chose a motto for the municipality last night to be embodied in the municipal seal. The motto is, as above, "Quansum Elip," being Chinook for "Always in Front." The colonel wanted embodied in the seal an Indian shaking hands with a sailor, but Councillor McAdam would not stand for it. He wanted a sailor shaking hands with a soldier. Col. Peters was agreeable to cast the Indian overboard as long as he could save the motto. The motto was agreed to eventually on a saw-off between the soldier and sailor against a cruiser. It was found a two-inch die would not carry a soldier and a sailor and a cruiser, so Col. Peters suggested the soldier and the sailor, and the Indian be put inside the cruiser, and the cruiser surrounded with the Chinook motto and the words "Municipality of Esquimalt."
An arrangement was made between the council and the city police for the detention at city police headquarters of such persons as may commit wrongs in the municipal bounds. The councillors accepted the plan as the most happy way out of their difficulty, for Col. Peters informed them that no arrangement could be made at the barracks, and as to the naval prison, "It is so cold the prisoner would die before you could try him," he concluded.
Councillors were undecided in their minds as to whether a mounted constable would be more effective in uniform, or disguised in his own clothes and a badge. One of the councillors suggested the disguise quite seriously, and the board divided into sides on the matter, but eventually the purchase of the constable's clothes was left to the police committee. Referring to the city police uniforms, Col. Peters remarked that the official "bobby" at Esquimalt would wear something easier and more useful. In regard to mounting the constable, Col. Peters McAdam. The latter mentioned that a dealer might trade a spavined horse on him; but Col. Peters said they were not buying clothes horses, and he would, if the council would leave it to him, get a real horse. The council agreed. Col. Peters then announced that he already had his eye on a saddle and bridles, and had a very good bargain in sight.

Telephone communication from municipal headquarters to the outer world is at present impossible, because there is no connection. Mr. Lugrin thought the company ought to attend to the wants of the municipality quickly. He had got his house telephone in six days. Councillor Anderson remarked that some people in the city had been trying to get one six months. Col. Peters said he would get a municipal telephone in the office in three days. He guaranteed it.

GRANT FROM OTTAWA RECEIVED YESTERDAY

Allocation of $27,434 Among Improvement of Livestock, Securing of Exhibits, Etc.

The minister of finance and agriculture, Hon. Price Ellison, yesterday received a cheque for $27,434, which is the amount appropriated for this province under the federal legislation of last session which provided for co-operation with the provinces in aid of agriculture.
As to the manner in which the money will be spent, the greater part will be devoted to the improvement of pure-bred livestock; this will take up $11,999; $10,999 will be allocated to general farm implement work, including lessons in the rotation of crops, care of poultry and farm animals, generally, and the work of the farmers' institutes.
The sum of $4,000 is to be set aside for the securing of exhibits for the demonstration train which is to tour Canada next spring, while one thousand will be distributed with a view to the improvement of the conditions of the women on the farms.
It is understood that the agreement between the federal and the provincial governments provides that the allocation of the grant may be altered each year according to the discretion of the provincial government, but any change must be approved by the minister of agriculture for the Dominion before it is put into effect.

About that time, I met another railroad man who had been similarly affected and who had been cured by GIN PILLS, after having been given up by a prominent physician who treated him for Diabetes. ISLAND ARTS AND CRAFTS CLUB DISPLAY

Third Annual Exhibition Will Be Held on Thursday—Large Number of Exhibits

The third annual exhibition of the Island Arts and Crafts Club will commence next Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in the Alexandra Club, when Sir Richard McBride will perform the formal ceremony of declaring the exhibition open. Preparations are already well under way to make this year's display larger and better in every respect than on either of the previous years, and the committee are busy cataloguing the long list of pictures and other exhibits which continue to arrive every few minutes at the hall. During the past year the membership of the club has grown considerably, and all branches of art are better represented owing to the interest shown by the various members in their favorite department of work. In addition to the even larger than usual display of paintings in oils and water colors, there are some beautiful examples of wood-carving, pastel work, bronzes and metal work, enamel jewellery, and all sorts of needlework, so that the Alexandra Club hall, where the exhibition is to be held, will be more than usually worth visiting on any afternoon or evening of Thursday, Friday, or Saturday next.
Intending visitors are advised to purchase their tickets as soon as possible. In order to participate in the prize-drawing which will take place on the first or second day of the exhibition, each season ticket holder receiving a voucher with his ticket which will be handed in to the committee before the time of drawing. At the conclusion of the exhibition, when expenses have been paid, the net proceeds of each thousand tickets will be

THE LIGHTING OF ESQUIMALT

TWO OFFERS MADE. SUBURBAN COUNCIL

Minimum for Subdivisions of Fifty Feet Lots to Be Established by By-law.

Esquimalt councillors last night received from the B. C. Electric Company an estimate for lighting the district together with specifications and location drawings for 125 poles, of bracket design. A price of $7,500 was submitted, extending over ten years, and amounting, with interest, as figured by the councillors, to a total of $11,250 in that period. Added to the sum there was a provision for a minimum yearly bill of $500 for electricity, and conditions regarding meter housing. The rate quoted to the municipality in the estimate of the company was 3½c, with an undertaking to reduce the rate to 3c, as soon as the business increased to $1,000 per annum. If the agreement was signed the company agreed to put the lighting system in operation in 90 days.
An offer was made in council by a representative of DuCane Dutcher & Co., Vancouver, to instal an equipment of the same kind as offered by the B. C. Electric Company at less than the firm's representative suggested the municipality should own its own plant from the beginning, and remarked that the fact of the company running a pole line for the municipality confined the municipality to company dictation. The council felt that it required expert advice regarding lighting, and adjourned the matter for the purpose of comparing notes with Oak Bay municipality on the matter.
Councillors inquired of the representative of the engineering firm if the company could hold the council up in the event of others putting in the system. He replied that the company could not charge more than the rate given the city of Victoria, and was about to give further information when the reeve remarked it was hardly fair to obtain the advice in the way they were doing, as the engineer was not engaged by the council, but was there to put his company's offer before them.
The plan submitted by the B. C. Electric Co. provided for 124 light poles. There would be one more to be erected under the specifications. A suggestion that it should go in the vicinity of Councillor Matthews' house was opposed by Col. Peters, who said: "If you put it there, there will be so many lights in front of Matthews' house that he wouldn't go home. He will think it still day." (Laughter.) One of the councillors offered to place the light at a corner at the rear of Councillor Peters' house, when the latter said: "Oh, no; that would keep my chickens awake all night."
The council decided that the clerk and assessor should undertake the work of preparing the assessment roll for the district. It is desired to get the roll completed by December 15th. The work will be done under the direction of a council committee. Another committee to take up by-law was arranged. A committee to look after the water supply for the district was also authorized.
Fifty feet minimum was decided upon in the matter of subdivision lots in the municipality. An application for a subdivision with thirty-eight feet lots was refused, and a by-law on the matter was ordered to be prepared for the council's consideration by next meeting. The council passed all expenses in connection with forming the municipality and election of council and school trustees.
