Little Indecisive By-Play Staged by German Staff in Baltic Has Left Them Quite Cold; Berlin Has Admitted 8,250,000 Casualties

Geneva, Oct. 22 .- A dispatch from Basel states that the great lassitude and indifference of the suffering Germans may be gauged from the fact that the recent German successes in the Baltic and even the prospect of the evacuation of Petrograd caused practically no enthusiasm in spite of the efforts of the newspapers.

For the first time since the war started, according to travelers, many towns were not decorated after a victory.

ALLIES MUST CRUSH OUT THEORY OF BRUTE FORCE, STATES MR. LLOYD GEORGE London, Oct. 22.—"I have scanned the horizon intently," said Mr. Lloyd George to-day, "and can see no terms in sight which would lead to an enduring peace. The only terms now possible would mean armed truce ending in an even more frightful struggle." The Prime Minister said he had hoped the enemy's terrible power might be broken this year, but that the temporary collapse of the Russian military power had postponed this hope. But time was favoring the Allies. Time once was neutral, but two things had changed THEORY OF BRUTE FORCE, voring the Allies. Time once was neutral, but two things had changed this, namely, the advent of the United States and the increasing failure of the German submarine warfare.

The Allies were working in the greatest harmony. They were on the eve of the most important Inter-Allied conference ever held, at which for the first time the United States and the Russian democracy would be present. That conference meant to determine the ultimate issue of the war.

The war was terrible in itself, but more terrible in the possibilities it revealed of new horrors on land and sea and in the air. It must be settled now, once for all. If the war should be renewed after 39 years more of scientific application it would mean the death of civilization. Brute force must be de-throned forever.

Only Starting.

To realize what the advent of the United States meant, the Prime Minissetablished itself at the Ukeledi Mission on October 17, the enemy with drawing to the eastward.

"The main body of the enemy, retreating from Mbemku-Valley, covered by a strong rearguard, succeeded in making its way to Mahiwa, four miles fourfold and that of the United States fourfold and the United States fourfold and the United States fourfold and the United State other nations, but these declarations meant that most of the world's food and raw materials were under the flags of Germany's enemies, which could reduce Germany to impotence and

The way to shorten the war, said.

Mr. Lloyd George, was to prepare for a long war. He added:

"I am not going to predict when the war will be over. No man in his senses would prolong the war an hour more than is necessary to secure a lasting peace, but it must be a lasting peace, not a prelude to a more devastating war."

Vancouver, Oct. 22 .- As to the Win the-War movement, Hon. C. W. Cross Attorney-General of Alberta, who in the city, said that he knew of no one in either political party who was one in either political party who was not anxious to win the war. It was not an issue. A vigorous effort had been made to make it an issue for political purposes, but had failed. The motive was too transparent.

The Union Government, although it contained some Liberal Ministers, was not non-partisan. A non-partisan Government with the recognized head of the Conservative party as Prince Minister was unthinkable.

The whole Union Government scheme, Mr. Cross declared, was a dying attempt of an irresponsible Government to retain power. If they had been able to fool a few leaders in the provincial politics, they had not fooled the rank and file. The rank and file in every province was down on the Borden Government and the iniquitous franchise measure. The Union Government lure proved to a certainty that the Forden party had no confidence in its ability to win on its own record. its ability to win on its own record.

MARY ROSE FOUGHT MOST HEROICALLY

British Destroyer Battled Single-Handed Against Raiding German Craft

London, Oct. 22.-The British destroyer Mary Rose fought single-hand-ed against the German raiding cruisers in the convoy action in the North Sea, according to a story ascribed to a Brit-ish officer rescued off Bergen and transmitted by the Christiania correspondent of The London Times. The other destroyer, which should have been present, never appeared and it is thought likely that she was destroyed at the beginning of the action.

After fighting heroically for half an

THEIR BLACK FLAG.

British Columbia is handicappes with a Tammany group called Liberals of low political morality. Premie Brewster is not of the opportunis class, however. He is a conscientious class, however. He is a conscientious Liberal, and he has the respect and support of independent Conservatives, as well as of the progressives of Brit-ish Columbia."—The Ottawa Citizen.

After reading the reports of the meetings of Vancouver Liberal Ward Associations no honest supporter of Citizen with disregard of the facts as far as they concern a considerab'e element in that city. The spirit of Tammanyism, naked and unashamed, appears to have stalked with all old-time bravado through the At one meeting the Premier of the Province was omitted cause he would not recognize the ma chine. At another the black flag of the spoils system was run to the masthead. The newly-elected chairman is reported to have declared that there would be patronage as far as he was ent refused to carry out the recommendation of the committee, he would know the reason why. An egregious individual is said to have invoked "some of the real, old, genuine Liberalism" in the form of jobs for party retainers and his remarks impressed his audience so deeply that he was elected first vice-president.

And they call this Liberalism, "real. old-time, genuine," and themselve Heaven help us! If the "low political morality," of their mamethods is Liberalism the what was their objection to Bowser. SUGARING THE PILL.

The disastrous sequel to the Germa malin raid over England in which he enemy-lost half his airship fleet to the paralyzing accuracy of the French artillerymen, imposed an exceptional man Admiralty. The pill was so bitter that it had to be coated with an nusual amount of sugar. It was imeppelins, and the next best thing was magnify the achievements of the eet. So the Berlin official communiation announced that the airships had combarded London, Manchester, Birmgham, Nottingham, Derby, Lowestoft, Hull, Grimsby and Norwich. Probably we never shall know why Portsmouth, Liverpool, Glasgow and Edinburgh were left out.

The loss of four airships returning rom a single raid is still another les on the futility of these big gas ags as instruments of warfare. The France over which apparently they ook a short-cut to southern Germany, when Denmark was on the verge of where most of them are built, does not weaken the force of the lesson. From military point of view the reverse was disaster. The officers and crews of the Zeppelins are specially trained and their loss in killed and prisoners was ot offset by the killing of civilians who probably were non-combatants.

The fact that notwithstanding all the everaes their airships have suffered in their raids in England the Germans continue to use them is rather signifihad a sufficient supply of aeroplanes for all purposes, for the aeroplane raids have been much more successful and have suffered lightly. Undoubtedly the series of raids conducted by the French a few weeks ago have forced the enemy to divert a large proportion of his the south German cities within striking reach from across the Vosges. The incident of the Zeppelins thus furnished an object lesson of the value of reprisals by the Allies.

TEUTONIC CASUALTIES.

The Cologne correspondent of ar Amsterdam newspaper has added up the totals of the German and Austrian casualty lists issued since the outbreak of war and finds that the losses of the and missing aggregate 8,250,000. The enemy casualty lists are notoriously incomplete. It is known that they understate the losses in prisoners, some times by forty per cent. The Berlin April list reported only a few hundred missing, whereas the British and French had the names and numbers of twenty thousand prisoners. This policy of understating losses has been particularly noticeable since the compaign of Verdun, For obvious reasons, the prestige of the Crown Prince among told what their losses in that catastrophe were and the lists were so manipulated that they never had an opportunity of finding out. If the Gera total of 8,250,000 the Teutonic casualties may safely be set down at into account the constant wastage which in the two countries mus amount to nearly another million, nor of the mortality in auxiliary war services, such as munitions, railroads and mines, due to using old men for Foreign and domestic policies play a greater part in war than they did a century ago and unquestionably striking forces. But, somehow, we can in charge of the Grand Fleet on August 4, 1914, he would have risked much in a and perfect his defences. He never esitated in moments of this kind, as and the bombardment of Copenhager floating into the Napoleonic orbit.

AN IMPOSSIBLE PICTURE.

One of the complaints against the Liberals who have entered the Union Government strikes as extremely ridiculous. It is that they allowed themselves to be trapped by the wily Borden into a betrayal of their prin ciples. Those who are familiar with the personalities and records of some of the new Ministers can appreciate ant. It is unlikely that Germany would the absurdity of that criticism, which take the risk with these aircraft if they is the product of either insincerity or a disordered judgment. Our own knowledge of Messrs. Rowell and Carvell, to mention two members of the Liberal contingent, is such that we are hopelessly unable to take in the picture of Sir Robert Borden leading them on a string which some of their critics are trying to draw.

There are no stronger Liberals in Canada than some f the men who joined the Union Government. Certainly there is nothing verdant or weak about Frank Carvell, who smashed the Shell Committee, upset the Flemming Government and hammered Sir Sam Hughes out of the Cabinet. Curiously enough, some of the men of his party who now are depicting him as a helpwho now are depicting him as a help-less infant in the hands of Sir Robert Borden took mighty good care to let him conduct his fight in Parliament against profiteering without any to Central Empires in killed, wounded against profiteering without any to much assistance. Not all the profiteers belonged to one party.

The Liberals who entered the Union Government did so in the belief that only through such an agency could seri ous problems confronting this country be solved. They have been too long in the front ranks of political partyism not to know that no single party car deal with those problems. The Prime Minister tells the facts The Prime Minister tells the facts plainly, as Englishmen and Englishwomen have ever loved to have them told. He makes no attempt to underrate the deadly nature of the conflict to which we stand committed. It is a life-and-death struggle for all that the free peoples hold preclous and sacred, and that struggle is waged against a mighty fee. The Prime Minister does not precent that victory is at hand. We in order to down the Bowser machine it would be necessary, to create a worse one, if possible.

Decent Liberals all over the Province will deplore the abasement of their political colors by such elements. OUR FLAG AT VERDUN.

The great battles in the north have obscured a simple and moving cere-mony in which the King tendered his own and the Empire's tribute to the the most heroic of French victories. On Thursday, in the name of His Majesty, the British national flag was present-ed to the town of Verdun by Lieutenant-General Sir John Cowans, symbol could more adequately expres the unstinted admiration with whice the British army and the British peo ple everywhere regarded, and will al-ways regard, the French triumph at Verdun. Our own contribution to it was small, though we believe it was timely and useful. But for the world at large Verdun stands, and rightly stands, as the supreme example of the stands, as the supreme example of the French genius for war. REPLY TO CRITICISM.

To the Editor,-Throughout the pub licity and somewhat uncomplimentary criticism which the Childrens' Aid and Detention Home has received recently, I have refrained from taking part in the discussion, though personally interested in the institution, as I considered that it was the district the officer. ered that it was the duty of the offi-cials of the society not only to refute incorrect statements, but to give the public the actual facts in regard to the management. Picking up a Victori paper of recent date I see that Alder man Andros is persisting in "knock ing" the Home by further incorrec statements regarding its management When he refers to the institution a on with anyone else as a "private me," he is saying what is absolutely untrue. I therefore ask, Mr. Edite that you will allow me space to put before Alderman Andros and the pub-lic the exact facts in regard to our conection with this work.

The society engaged with Mr. Spof-ford and myself to take the work on our own premises, comprising ground to the extent of nearly one and a half acres, our house furnished, accommo-dation for twelve or fourteen boys, and our services as a Working, as Supervising Superintendent and Ma-tron, all for the munificent return of $125 per month. This at a time when agents and owners of property were shy in regard to renting work of such nature.

In two years' time we were he In two years' time we were housing twenty-four boys, to do which the staff was obliged to make the public entrance their dining room. On our advice the Society appealed to the City Council to erect its own building to accommodate its growing work. The bills were always passed at the monthly meeting, and paid by the treasurer. The cost of living, including that of the staff, being lower, ac cording to the statement of the offi-cers, than in some other institutions with which some of these were conected. Women's Coats Worth $25 Selling at

A big special purchase is alone responsible for this exceptional offer. We had these Coats made up to our own order from a range of smart cloakings which we purchased at a big price concession from the makers.

They were manufacturers' short ends of materials-just sufficient to make up one, two or three Coats of a pattern. We chose the styles we believed would best meet the needs of Victoria women, and a well-known cloak house made up the garments for us. Hence this unique opportunity to buy a new, stylish Winter model worth $25.00 and pay only $17.50 for it.

Each garment in this offer is thoroughly recommended for wear and service. The tailoring is of the best and you choose from smart new plaids, overplaids, greys, browns and green tweeds and tweed mixtures. All the materials are good and decidedly superior to those usually found in coats marked at such a moderate price.

If you are out to save on your new Coat and want something better than the average, we would advise you to investigate this offer.

FROM OUR OWN EYES

Now We See the French People as They Really

The idea that France has been reoded by Dr. Robertson in an address to the Victoria Teacher's Association Saturday night at the High School. "These sudden conversions do not amount to much," declared the Doc-"France could not have been regenerated in so short a time. Her peogenerated in so short a time. Her people are not changed appreciably from what they were before the war. What has happened is the scales have fallen from our own eyes and we now see the French people as they really are. I knew them before the war and they were always the same people.

Dr. Robertson took his hearers on a trip across the ocean in a transport and over the Marne battlefield and close up to the Somme lines. He made them see the wonderful work of the French in a new light and the devillshness of the Huns was driven home. Everything, however, was made to lead to the question of food. The listeners saw the peasant women of France working in the fields, cultivating every inch of land in order to feed the armies. And the lesson was borne in upon the teachers that it was necessary for them to use their influence to encourage production and economy here in order that Canada might do her part in the great struggle.

"If we do not expressible in the fields trained in the comment of the Cronwell Pattern, here illustrated."

"If we do not economize," said the Doctor, "there will be people starving before the war is over. The armies must be fed for another year. Canadians must save especially flour, beef and bacon."

At the conclusion a hearty vote of hanks was moved by Rev. Capt. Campbell and seconded by Mayor Todd ooth of whom made remarks appro-priate to the occasion.

There was a large attendance of sachers and their friends, the High chool auditorium being almost filled.

The Battle of the Bustle. There is a restraint about every-hing, from the sleeves, which are long skirts, which are narrower than last year, and, which promise to be longer. There is one important question which has not as yet been settled. A fierce battle is waging between two factions, for the bustle and against it. After all, it is up to the women themselves, in the end, and only they can decide whether a style is "to be or not to be." Fashion authorities may launch a mode, but if the women won't year it—it dies, and something else quickly takes its place.

The Dress and the Suit.

The Dress and the Suit. The Dress and the Suit.

At present, indications are that the dress and coat will be more popular for street wear than the coat suit. This is a rule that is easily set aside, and there will be many suits worn this year. Indeed, it is an American costume, and the American woman always feels that there are occasions when only a coat suit should be worn. However, dresses to be worn on the street without a coat, these first cool However, dresses to be worn on the street without a coat, these first cool days, are holding the centre of the stage. Blue serge leads, as it always does, but tricotine, gabardine and wool jersey, as well as the heavier woolen materials in various colors and combinations of colors, are equally smart.

Buttons and Tassels. The day of the button seems to have shape and color, and in many cases are the sole trimming on a trim tailored frock. They also crop out in unexpected places. We naturally look for them on the fronts of coats, dresses and waists; sleeves, too, and even collars have been devotees of the button for some season. Now, though, they have taken new strongholds. Up and down the back they travel, around the hems of inconspicuous skirts, and across the shoulder and down the sleeve. When they match the color of the costume they are smart; when they are of a contrasting shade they are smart; when they are round, square or oblong they are equally smart. Indeed, one is tempted to say that this fall they are the chosen insignia of Dame Fashion.

The New Tunic Dress.

The tunic gives such lovely long lines to the shortest figure that one can easily understand why it is so popular. Then, too, the tunic dress can so readily be made of two materials and contrasting colors, and so presents many possibilities for the home dressmaker as well as for the professional. The shaped tunic is very new; the one illustrated here shows how graceful is the effect obtained when it is longer on one side than the other. Fur, long or short haired, is used a great deal on these dresses. There is something fascinating about the contrast of the rich fur and the simple material. The wide crush belt, the surplice collar, and the tight sieeves are all features well worth studying. The New Tunic Dress.

It is a special story and is presupport of Miss Gail Kane, who dramatic portrayals for the screen have won for her prominence and popularity in the motion picture world. The great interest that has been centred in its state of the screen that he been centred in its state of the screen that he been centred in its state of the screen that he been centred in its state of the screen that he been centred in its screen that he was a screen that in it since it was released is due to many considerations: a good story enacted by brilliant artists in the leading roles, splendid photography and exacting attention to detail in staging the presentation and knitting together of the theme with powerful dramatic climaxes in the production so that the interest is allowed at no time to lag. Miss Kane plays the dual role of two sisters who are separated in their youth by the death of their mother, but for whom the years bring about strange circumstances which call forth strange circumstances which call forth many thrilling situations for the twingirls who grow to look almost exactly

"I can not emphasize it too strong-y," said Col. Hulme, "how great is the accessity that more men should go overseas from this province." Speaking of the spirit of the Cana-

Nothing could surpass the optimistic spirit of the men even though they might be in were as confident of ultimate as it was possible to be. Duration of War.

Asked what was the sentiment overseas as to the duration of the struggle, Col. Hulme said that opinions differed. "I have heard it said that this will be the last winter, although," he added with a smile, "I may say that I heard that before last winter. At the same time I really think this will be the last winter. Of course, that is merely an expression of personal opinion, but it is generally believed that next year will see the end of the war."

UNION URGES PUBLIC TO EAT FISH FREELY

Lieut.-Col. Hulme Says He Municipal Campaign Through-Thinks This Last Winter out Dominion is Proposed for Canadian Municipalites

The promotion of a campaign in connection with the Conservation of Food for the use of fish to a greater extent by the Union of Canadian Municipalities is one which will appeal to a maritime city like Victoria. A circular letter is being issued to introduce to the attention of the people of the country, through the Municipal Councils, the desire to co-operate with the Food Controller in urging the public to use more fish. They do so in recognition that the subject is a war measure.

The Scheme.

The following scheme is presented as one which is both practical and simple:
"That the Council appoint a Fish Committee, made up of two members of the Council, and one or two outside of the Council.

"The duties of the committee:
"The duties of the committee:

ish cases, which cost the sum of $i6 apiece, to the dealers who are prepared to deal in fish along certain lines, that is, to be satisfied with a reasonable profit, and willing to keep fish clean and fresh.

"3. To distribute to every house-hold in the municipality through field in the municipality through the patrolmen on their beats, the fish literature that will be supplied with an extra leaflet, issued by the committee on behalf of the Council, pointing out the personal responsibil-ity of the citizens, and giving the names of the local dealers that are willing to supply good fish at reason-able prices.

prices that will be supplied from tim to time, and to see that the local me are not charging excessive prices."

Good Diet.

Good Diet.

Accompanying the letter is a message to the municipalities from the Fish Committee of the Food Controller's office, which the Union commends to the municipal men of the country:

"Fish has long been recognized as a good article of diet," they point out.

"Its food value is unquestioned, but perhaps it was never so valuable to Canadians as at present. The proportion of urban population is greater than ever before, and as the occupations and habits of townspeople do not give enough physical exercise an allment diet is especially harmful. Fish is a food particularly suitable for people who take insufficient exercise, and who work under nervous pressure, as it is a nerve food and easily digested. For that reason, doctors frequently

"The Municipal Council can most readily obtain for its citizens a steady supply of fresh fish—"By insisting on fish being properly handled by the retailer."
"By supervising the retailer's profit."
"By informing the public as to fish

"By informing them on the best methods of cooking the different fish.

"By stabilizing the demand by encouraging citizens to place a standing order for a certain quantity weekly."

People's Society, under the presidency of A. S. Huxtable, has realized a definite flagging in membership and activities since the war, owing to the departure of so many of its young men. EXEMPTION TRIBUNAL

Exemption Boards have been chosen in such a way as to make them absolutely independent and removed from all influence. There are over 1,250 boards throughout the country, each composed of two men, one appointed by the county judge in the district concerned and one selected by a joint committee of Parliament. Being familiar with local conditions where they sit, the members are well-fitted to appreciate such reasons for exemption as are put before them by men called up.

Exemption will be granted to those who can establish that it is in the national interest that they remain in civilian life. This is for the Exemption Board to decide after having received full information

The grounds on which exemption may be claimed (which are similar to the grounds recognized in Great Britain and the United States) are as follows:—

(a) That it is expedient in the national interest that the man should instead of being employed in Military Service, be engaged in other work in which he is habitually engaged.

(b) That it is expedient in the national interest that the man should instead of being employed in Military Service, be engaged in other work in which he wishes to be engaged and for which he has special qualifications.

(c) That it is expedient in the national interest that, instead of being employed in Military Service, he should continue to be educated or trained for any work for which he is then being educated and trained.

continue to be educated or trained for any work for which he is then being educated and trained.

(d) That serious hardship would ensue, if the man were placed on active service, owing to his exceptional financial or business obligations or domestic position.

(e) Ill health or infirmity.

(f) That he conscientiously objects to the undertaking of combatant service and is prohibited from doing so by tenets and articles of faith, in effect on the sixth day of July, 1917, of any organized religious denomination existing and well recognized in Canada at such date, and to which he in good faith belongs.

(g) That he should be exempt because disfranchised under the War Time Election Act.

No Claim for Exemption should be put forward unless one or other of these grounds in fact and no loyal citizen should assist in, or allow himself to be made a party to, any Claim for ption unless thoroughly satisfied that it is made in good faith.

Exemption may be applied for by the men selected themselves or by their parents, near relatives or employers. Application for exemption must be made on printed forms to be found at every post office, which are to be filled in and left with the postmaster if exemption is desired. The postmaster will forward the form to a Registrar, who will send it to the appropriate Exemption Board. In due time, then, the Applicant will get notice as to when he must present his case before the Board.

Dr. Gordon is a native of Prince Edward Island and a McGill man. He has spent much time abroad in following his ocareer as an explorer and in this connection has visited many lands. His opportunities for observation have been amique and he returns to his native country at the most critical time in the world's history. His interpretation of the situation as he sees it, especially in Canada and the United States, will be both opportune and interesting.

For a number of years Dr. Gordon led the exploration expeditions sent out by Harvard University to unearth the ruined cities of Central America and is now director of the expeditions sent to the interior of China and Egypt by the University of Pennsylvania to pursue exploration and research in these ancient Empires.

He frequently visits anada in order to keep in touch with his native land, and during the last three months he has travelled over various parts of the country, getting in touch with conditions and examining at close range the many perplexing problems that we are facing today.

All Victorians should endeavor to hear Dr. Gordon's address, the title of which will be "The Winning of the War," or "The Fassing of the Great Peril."

To say that the game was a demonstration of perfect basketball would be somewhat the game was a demonstration of perfect basketball would be somewhat will be somewhat severe on even the most imaginality of minds; bug in spite of many evidences of fack of training, after a summer's inactivity so far as this game was concerned, the evening was by no means unproductive of occasional spurts, when the players really showed what could be done, if they only felt like it. The final score of 23-28 will give the reader some idea of the progress of events. As a matter of fact, there is no such thing as a legal draw in basketball; either on team or the other must be awarded a victory, the regulation calling for a son triventy of the first half, only one of which proved 23-28 will give the reader some idea of the progress of events. cating the basket during the first period. George Warren had his hands full when it came to trailing a wirey youth who never failed, to keep his more bulky opponent in constant mo-tion. The Rotarians, of course, had it all over their adversaries so far as weight was concerned, but any ad-vantage which they might have gained from this circumstance was counter-acted by the speed and agility of the Close Contest. Close Contest.

During the first period Lester Patrick and Jimmy Adam developed the play with a very acceptable combination, but on several occasions failed when it came to the matter of shooting for the basket. A change came, however, at the very commencement of the second period when Lester found the basket for the first but he were means for basket for the first but by no means for the last time. The scoring was in rapid succession from start to finish, as indicated by the score, but it was well on in the latter period when the best work of the contest was accomplished. The checking which up to about ten min-utes of time had been poor with occasional exceptions, became much improved and the baskets netted after that time were much more creditable tributes to the players. It was at this point that V. Jones, of the Y. M. C. A., did some star playing, when he suc-ceeded in making several difficult shots with a surprising degree of facility.

Intense Excitement. As the closing minutes of the game were reached the excitement became intense. At two minutes to time the score was a draw at 28 all, and within a few seconds Jimmy Adam and Angus intense. At two minutes to time the score was a draw at 28 all, and within a few seconds Jimmy Adam and Angus McKinnon cach succeeded in adding two points to their totals, leaving the final at 28 all.

The large number of baskets indicates the principal fault of the play. The shooting at time was good but the weak point rested in the checking. On several occasions repeated shots would be taken by the same player without his opponents making sure a second attempt would be impossible. Everyone, however, seemed quite satisfied and pleased with the result, including Bob. Whyte, who officiated in the capacity of referee.

PRO. HOCKEY RULES ARE TO BE CHANGED

Vancouver Plans Amateur and Pro. Patriotic Hockey at Terminal City

At least one change will be made in Frank Patrick, president of the P. C. H. A. The coast prexy believes that the by legalizing the kicking of the puck in centre ice that it will add speed to the play and obviate the necessity of the referee halting a rush when a player happens to block the puck with his skate. Often rushes are spoiled when the puck jams against the skates of the players and in the past play has always been stopped. This season, however, the rule is to be eliminated. This does not mean that a player will be permitted to deliberately kick the puck. Only when the puck is accidentally blocked or kicked will the play continue.

President Patrick also expects to enlarge the centre area by at least ten side showed very much speed. The Fitzsimmons continued at the forge for the next six or seven years, but was always ready to fight. After was always ready to Ight. After fighting three battles with Jim Hall, then regarded as the middleweight champion of Australia, Fitz came to America in 1899. He was one of the lightest men to win the heavyweight championship. He rarely weighed more than 165 pounds when in condition and gave away as much as 50 pounds to some opponents. ounds to some opponents.

Fitz won the world's championship on March 17, 1897, when he defeated James J. Corbett in the 14th round of their memorable battle at Carson City, Nevada. He stopped Corbett with his famous solar plexus punch, of which he was the originator. For two years he held the honor, losing it to James J. Jeffries, when he was knocked out in the 11th round, June 8, 1899 at Coney Island, N. Y. In 1902 he met Jefries again, hoping to regain the crown, but after having the better of the Californian giant on points, Fitz went down to defeat in the eighth round.

With the death of Bob Fitzsimmons

With the death of Bob Fitzsimmons ne of the most remarkable figures of the puglistic world has passed from the activities of this life. Not only was the great fighter widely respected as a most remarkable exponent of the fistic art, but he was idolized by a nation of fans who were untiring in their praise of the former champion.

It will be recalled that in February last "Old Bob" and his son "Young Bobby" paid Victoria a visit in the Bobby" paid Victoria a visit in the course of a long vaudeville tour which he was making on the Pantages Circuit. He was seen in action on that occasion by many Victorians, and from observation it was quite evident that he was capable of holding his own with the present day crop of "heavies" over the short distance route. In an interview with The Times at the Empress Hotel, where Bob and Mrs. Fitzaimmons were staying, the ex-champion stated that he had repeatedly challenged Willard to a four or six-round hout, but had been unable to tempt the bout, but had been unable to tempt the big fellow into the ring. At that time Fitz. was confident that, had he been successful in his attempts, he would have surely handed Willard the K.O. in have surely handed Willard the K.O. in quick order, and thus have once more regained the world's title. So far as Bob was concerned he considered Willard the biggest lemon of a champion that he world had ever seen.

He told the reporter that he was developing his son Bobby, who would be as great if not a greater man than his father when it came to real fighting. He estimated that his son had more speed and punch than Gentleman Jim Corbett ever possessed.

Old Fitz, was really leaning to the work of an evangelist when he struck Victoria for the last time. His feelings in this direction were prompted largely, he said, through the efforts of his wife, whose work had become quite famous, especially through the Central Western States. The following is the complete list of fistic er 17-Dick Ellis W Sydney

OCTOBER EVENTS IN PUGILISTIC ANNALS

1903 - Terry McGovern pull off a comebreacter ne tried to pull off a comebreact stufit, his Bostom bout was really the finish of the standard and dropped out of sight for a couple of years. In October, 1905, he started another campaign, but it didn't get him anywhere. Again, in 1908 Terry fought a couple of unimportant bouts. Jimmy Briggs showed a lot of class, defeating such good men as Kid Broad, Martin Flaherty and Tommy Feltz among many others, but when he went against the top-notchers he wasn't quite good enough.

1908—Digger Stanley defeated Sam Kellar in twenty rounds at London.

1909—Harry Lewis knocked out Dan Sullivan in one round at Boston.

Carload Just Shipped to Brackman-Ker Mill at Nelson

GROWN BY MEMBER OF LAND SETTLEMENT BOARD

No. 1 Hard Marquis wheat can be grown in British Columbia just as well as in Alberta and other prairie provinces, providing clean No. 1 Hard Marquis or Scotch Fife seed is sown. Maxwell Smith, Chairman of the Land Settlement Board, has the proof of the assertion in his office at the Legislative Buildings. As far as he can ascertain this is the first British Columbia No. 1 Hard to be shipped to the millers. The sample sent to Mr. Smith was drawn from a car of the same variety shipped to the Brackman-Ker mill at Nelson. The Dominion Government graders at Calgary, who were likewise provided with a sample, unhesitatingly graded it No. 1 Hard. It is the more fitting that one of the members of the Land Settlement Board should have been the individual to demonstrate the fact that there is no need for British Columbia to play second fiddle to any of the prairie provinces in wheat production. The quality is now demonstrated by F. R. E. deHart since the car of wheat shipped to Nelson was grown on his ranch at Enderby.

a lower price for the soft wheat of this province on the ground that it was necessary to import No. 1 Hard from the Eastern provinces to mix with the local product. The process of mixture was necessary to permit of grinding in the modern roller mill. The soft wheat alone would not respond to the action of the more modern, machinery.

f the more modern machinery. Mr. Smith states that there are a number of districts in British Columbia where similar success to that achieved by Mr. deHart may be secured. All that is necessary is to heed the exhortation which has so often gone forth from the Department of Agriculture to use the correct kind of seed. Hitherto the trouble has been, said Mr. Smith, with the variety of seed planted. It was of course only a natural conclusion that if soft wheat were planted then soft wheat would be reaped. In the case of Mr. Hart, he imported the No. I Hard from the prajries, planted it and the result is the pride in shipping the first British Columbia car of the celebrated grain.

Workmen's Compensation Board by including as beneficiaries employees of the Government engaged in hazardous callings.

It is believed that the Government possesses the power to institute this extension of the provisions of the Actorithmith, but in the event of that not being the case special legislation will be introduced at the next session of the Legislature embracing the necessary change incidental to its wider application.

It will be recalled that Hon, John Oliver was in favor of the dependents

Columbia car of the celebrated grain.
With an already keen interest in the possibilities of agricultural development of the province this proof of grain potentialities demonstrated by a member of the Board will provide Maxwell Smith and his colleagues with an additional theme for consideration amongst their duties as a Government organization.

Another Raid Last Evening; Chinese Translation of Regulations to Be Issued

Concealed under a pile of cordwood a police raid at 1820 Government Street last night disclosed two trunks and a wooden packing case of liquor. Pending analyses of the contents of the bottles, it is assumed to be Chinese wines and spirits. The cordwood pile was in the basement of a Chinese store. Inspector Heatley with Constables Harper and Adamson made the capture, the first of the six so far carried out where there was any concealment of the "wet goods." They will go to the provincial analyst for examination. The place is occupied by Hong Kee, tailor. Concealed under a pile of cordwood

According to one view, the incident was one that no foresight or vigilance could avoid and although regrettable in every way, can not exercise any decisive effect.

On the other hand, some newspapers ask what has become of the British command of the North Sea. One newspaper comments as follows:

"The occurrence is extremely discontinuation of the steamship. With the whole American."

Toronto, Oct. 22.—During the cross-examination of Sir Joseph Flavelle, president of the William Davies Company, at the sitting here on Saturday afternoon of the Commission inquiring into the war-time profits of the concern, the fact was brought out that while Sir Joseph controls the stock of the company he was only consulted on business matters of great importance in connection with it.

summoned tugs by wireless and accompanied them toward port to protect the steamship. While thus engaged, the airship sighted a U boat's conning tower five miles southeast as the submarine was manoeuvring for another shot at the steamship.

"The airship instantly wirelessed the position of the submarine to all the warships in the vicinity and then swooped down to attack. The submarine divel, but it was too late. Two lombs were dropped simultaneously in front of the swirl of the U boat's descent and violent explosions were followed by oil and air bubbles in farge quantities. A destroyer investigating with sweeps located a large obstruction on the bottom.

Another Destroyed.

"The same airship, convoying westbound merchantmen, sighted the track of a torpedo aimed at one of the merchantmen. The submarine, relying on the rough sea for concealment, had daringly dived beneath the armed escort, and torpedoed its victim. GERMAN INVASION REACHES MAINLAND, PETROGRAD STATES

London, Oct. 22.—The official report issued in Petrograd to-day indicates that the German invasion has been that the German invasion has been carried to the mainiand by the seisure of Werder Peninsula. This strip of land is north of Moon Island, which is separated from it by Moon Sound. The village of Werder, a telegraph station, is situated on the coast, and presumably is now in German hands.

Werder Island is about 25 miles off Hapsal, the terminus of the railway which runs to the fortified Russian port of Reval, at the entrance to the Gulf of Finland, and on to Petrograd. Reval is now being evacuated by the Russians.

Ottawa, Oct. 22.—It is now certain that the Dominion general election will be over some days before Christmas. Monday, December 17, is the most likely day for the polling.

The work of organization is proceeding rapidly. No election was ever held in Canada before under similar conditions and it is unlikely that such conditions will ever present themselves while Sir Joseph controls the stock of the company he was only consulted on business matters of great importance in connection with it.

He declared that while the profits had not been extraordinary since the war began as far as the turnover was concerned, the immense volume of business had made them mount. He denied that he had any knowledge of an arrangement by General Manager Fox with the British Government at a loss. The first he had heard mentioned of such an arrangement was that it would be mutually advantageous as it would assure the War Office of the capacity of the Davies Company's plant in return for any such assurance. No doubt there had been correspondence regarding the possible increase in trade as a result of the war, but he had no definite of the capacity of the war, but he had no definite while importance in Company at the time Sir Joseph purchased 45 per cent. of the made in Canada and in England.

Ordinarily the mere revision of the voters' list in any of the eastern provinces usually consumed about three months. The operation of making new lists in Canada, adding the names of qualified female voters, striking out the names of disfranchised aliens and nominating and polling for candidates will cover a period of 28 days. There will be a period of three weeks allowed for the returning officers' preparations. Thus, the writs of the election tions. WANT EXPLANATION REGARDING AIR RAID

London Papers Say One Due Public Following Zeppelins' Attempt

London, Oct. 22.—While admitting the existence of widespread popular dissatisfaction over the apparent immunity with which zeppelins raided England Friday night, a majority of the newspapers here to-day take a more serious view than that expressed by the Saturday and Sunday papers. The story of the raid is still rather obscure, and no official explanation is given of the absence of gunfire in the London area or of the escape of the raiders from England. It is assumed, however, by thoughtful writers that the directors of the defensive system adopted a policy dictated by circumstances and acted with due vigilance and enterprise.

adopted a policy dictated by circumstances and acted with due vigilance and enterprise.

While the raiders were not attacked by gunfire in London, they were bombarded considerably elsewhere, and there is reason to believe that one was so damaged that it left England under imperfect control.

It is suggested that the authorities had reasonable grounds for believing that the seppelins would be unable to find London owing to the darkness and the height at which they traveled, and that the firing of guns and the flashing of searchlights would only have revealed the target.

It is known that British aeroplanes were up in considerable numbers during the raid, and writers hint that these had much to do with the driving of the zeppelins to France, where the French gunners and aviators, whose skill is praised warmly, were able to deal with them by daylight.

Nevertheless, it is contended that an explanation is due to the public and ought to be given, preferably in Parliament.

NEW YORK STOCKS ARE REACTIONARY

Bear Element Succeeded in Depressing Stocks at Today's Session

New York, Oct. 22.—The stock market here yielded in the afternoon to the pressure which had been exerted most of the day on U. S. Stel. The heavy selling concentrated on that issue produced comparatively little effect until about the middle of the afternoon. Except in the coppers, there was good buying on the way down. Nothing in the day's news accounted for the reaction, which was generally ascribed to profit taking. Bear raids were not in evidence unless the selling of U. S. Steel could be so described.

MUNICIPAL ABATTOIR ONLY SOLUTION TO PURE MEAT PROBLEM

FEDERAL "LEGEND" A SOUND GUARANTEE

A municipal abattoir under efficient veterinary inspection is the only sure way by which Victoria and Island con-sumers can secure that tainted or diseased meats do not reach the local markets and ultimately find their way

"My work is carried on under the Meat and Canned Foods Act," he stat-to Great Britain at the time when this was seriously affected by Upton Sincalar's book."

Dr. Barnes referred to "The Jungle."

When the Minister of Agriculture began to consider such an Act it appeared to him that if it was a good thing for the export business it might be applied also beneficially to the local trade. He had the Minister of Justice look into the matter at that time, and the latter decided that such an Act equal apply not, only to meats and canned foods slipned over trade duced almost to a negligible point.

"We inspect everything from the moment the animal comes into the slaughter house until it goes out in the tins. Up to that point it has our guarantee. Of course there are possibilities of its going bad afterwards through improper storing, but this self-dom happens I imagine. The rare occurrence newadays of ptomaine poisoning is sufficient indication, I judge, of the care which is taken." eould apply not only to meats and canned foods shipped out of the coun-try, but to those that passed from pro-vince to province as well."

It was explained at this point that such products handled only within a province could not be governed by such an Act, as it would then be a matter for the provincial or local health boards to supervise.

Operated Since 1907. The Act was brought into operation viz, veterinary and lay.

"The veterinary inspectors must be graduates of a reputable veterinary college, and must also pass a special qualifying examination required by the Act. The lay inspectors must also pass a qualifying examination, which is based principally upon the practical operation of a packing-house," he added.

Legend Only Guarantee.

"The legend, 'Canada Approved,' is the only guarantee in Canada that meats are sound and free of disease. It means that the meat has been in spected by the inspectors of the Federal Government, and that it is guaranteed by them to be fit for food," warned the speaker.

The value of this "legend" becomes who arrived from Ottawa on Saturday afternoon, accompanied by Dr. Killam, of Calgary, inspector for the four Western Provinces of the Dominion.

Dr. Barnes came down to a more exsilicit explanation of this matter in the ourse of an interview which he grant d a Times reporter yesterday. He statement of the office which he fills.

Influence of Book.

"My work is carried on under the eat and Canned Foods Act," he statement and Canned Foods Act," he statement on the original intention of that Act to protect the Canadian export trade Great Britain at the time when this s seriously affected by Upton Sinit's book."

"Barnes referred to "The Jungle" is a statement that 50 per cent. of the cattle briefly, means that practically all the larger abattoirs in Canada are so the four expansion of the office which he grant does not invest that as Dr. Barnes applies to all the canning factories. The latter, it is worth noting, all, without exception, come within the purview of the Federal inspector, this being insisted on in view of the export purposes of timed meats, so that the only safe way for the purview of the Federal inspector, this being insisted on in view of the export purposes of timed meats, so that the possibility of coming upon tainted or diseased canned meat has been reduced almost to a negligible point.

"We inspect everything from the moment the animal comes into the slaughter house and sample with the Federal inspector, this being insisted on in view of the export purposes of timed meats, so that the only safe way for the purview of the federal inspector, this being the sample of the cartie butcher's hands could be so cut up and tutcher's hands could be so cut up an

The inspection consists of an ante-mortem examination by one of the federal veterinary inspecors. If this officer detects no abnormal condition the animal is sent to be slaughtered in the regular way.

"But if something abnormal is found the animal is tagged and separately killed, as may be decided upon by the inspector. . Such animals as have been passed at the ante-morten examination are slaughtered. careful and rigid examination is after forty veterinary inspectors engaged in the work at that time," stated Dr. Barnes. Asked as to the number now disease or a suspicious condition the arranged in this duty he stated that carcas, with the entire viscera, are held and sent to the retaining room. 200. "The Act, as I have just mentioned, is applicable only to establishments engaged in export or inter-provincial trade. Consequently our officers are stationed only at the larger abattoirs.

"Those housewives who insist on having only the meats officially stamped with the Federal Inspector's stamp have probably studied the conditions out long ago and know that the following are three of the main requirements demanded thereunder:

"First—A sound raw material.

"Second—Strict sanitary conditions in the handling and preparation thereof."

"Third—A true and correct description upon the label."

Trained Inspectors.

Asked as to whom they entrusted with the work of carrying out this exacting inspection Dr. Barnes stated there were two classes of inspectors, who condemn all of the tearras or such portions are horizontal balance would be passed for food, and marked with the inspection legend is known to a most of the meticulous marketers. It a consists of the words, "Canadas Approved," arranged in the form of a lorder with the number of the abattoir where the meat was staughtered. "Condemned portions are done away with," added Dr. Barnes. "The parts work is carefully to supervise the care and manufacture of the different products, also to oversee the sanitary conditions, and see to the proper labelling of the meats.

For several years the consumer has been agitated over the matter of so-called diseased beef. Many object to the idea of allowing any part of a dis-eased animal to be sold. If the animal is slightly affected why not condemn the entire carease? the entire careass?

extent of the affection is the basis of determination as to its fitness for food," said Dr. Barnes when this question was broached. "It would be foolish—indeed at the present time it would be wilful waste—to condenn a carcass simply because, say, one of the small glands of the throat was affected with disease. In such a case affected with disease. In such a case under the Federal Act the entire head and tongue would be destroyed and the balance of the carcass passed for food."

"The folly of marking the meat from such a carcass as being tubercular is quite apparent to anyone who has given this subject even the slightest

"What measures do you take to see that those butchers who advertise Government-inspected meat are not dedanger, through their milk should be ld for food. Dr. Barnes explained that hero again a wholesale condemnation of the carcass might be nothing short of wilful waste.

"There are no reasonably positive means of determining the location and extent of tuberculosis by physical examination. In consequence of which the milk is looked upon as being ex-tremely dangerous. But while the ani-mal may have reacted to the tuber-culin test it may be found that the disease is slight and in such a location that it would be perfectly safe to per-mit the sale of the meat as food. Here

The Provincial Obvernment, how-ver, secures Federal inspection in uch instances by sending carcasses f all cows that react to the milk test o the Pat Burns abattoir in Yan-onver, which is under Federal inspec-ion. In no case is the carcass of any eacting animal sold for food unless it as first passed the rigid examination emanded there, so that the fear enter-nined by some consumers that such actional by some consumers that such meat may reach the local market without inspection is groundless. And the slaughter of such animals in Victoria is carried out under the supervision of the Provincial inspector.

Must Inspect at Slaughter.

No inspection of meats, unless made at the time of the slaughter is any good," avers Dr. Barnes. "Any butcher who is sharp enough and clever mough can cut an animal up in such a way in five minutes that there will be no evidences of disease left."

"Are all abattoirs under Federal inpectors?" he was asked.

"All the larger plants are under." mough can cut an animal up in such way in five minutes that there will en o evidences of disease left."

"Are all abattoirs under Federal inpectors?" he was asked.

"All the larger plants are under duty at the front.

"Lieut. Frank Ward, who, during the summer has been acting as instructor for the R. F. C., at Toronto, is now in the city to bid adieu to old friends previous to starting off, shortly, for duty at the front.

feel that we are standing behind their products, and it helps them to keep their plants clean and get the co-oper-ation of their staff. We have not had a single prosecution under the Act for three years," added the inspector.

Tinned Meats.

"The Federal, Act prevents tinned meats from other provinces from coming in here unless inspected. It also prevents any tinned meats leaving the province unless inspected. The United States tinned meats are all inspected, and we accept their marks as they accept ours, "inserted Dr. Barnes at this point, reverting to the matter of canned meat inspection in Canada.

"We have absolute control of all Tinned Meats.

"We have absolute control of all packing houses in the Dominion. We can order such changes as we want. Fly-screens are put in wherever and whenever we demand them. Every operation of that packing house from the beginning to the end in connection with every product that passes through there is entirely under our supervision, and the Department at Ottawa through its officers accepts full responsibility for the soundness and responsibility for the soundness and wholesomeness of the tinned meats at the time that hey leave the plant. We take deal of credit for the fact that there have been exceptionally few cases of ptomaine poisoning from tinned meats during the last ten years."

Municipal Slaughter House

This provision of Federal inspection is a splendid thing for the export and inter-provincial business, but it hardly answers the demands of the local con-sumer. Dr. Barnes was reminded that instance. In such cases there is no inspection.

"The only way to overcome the diffi-culty on Vancouver Island is for you to get a municipal abortior under efficient veterinary inspection," he stated. Before proceeding he re-em-phasized the last phrase, "under effici-ent veterinary inspection." Without this a municipal abattoir would cer-tainly fall of its object. He referred tainly fail of its object. He referred to some of the movements along the lines of establishing municipal abat-tors that had been made in Canada. It was gathered that these had not been quite the successes hoped for The ideal, however, remained as desi

"We have trained veterinarians wh reason why such trained men could not continue to go out and take ... office—if it would be offered to such men. "Before the municipalities can make it pay they must have a by-law controlling all the meats sold in the city. It would be no use having "What measures do you take to see that those butchers who advertise Government-inspected meat are not defrauding their customers?" asked the interviewer.

In conclusion, Dr. Barnes was asked as to the effect of the war on the work of his department. He replied that there had been this autumn much heavier slaughter of cattle than usual, due to the large quantity of beef that was being shipped from Canada to the Allied armies. Commissioner Findlay returned to the city this morning from Vancouver. While in the Terminal City on Saturday he met Mayor McBeath and Chief of Police McRae and dealt with several matters arising out of the enforcement of the Act. Reports from many parts of the province continue to reach Mr. Findlay's office in the Parliament Buildings. With but little exception the new legislation has the appearance of working satisfactorily, nothing but minor affairs, due in most cases to an incomplete understanding of the measure, having been recorded.

Pioneer of 1860 Returns to City to Locate. After Half Century's Wandering

The sailing ship Eliza took seven and a half months in 1860 to make the journey round the Horn from Gravesend to San Francisco, and ameng her passengers was T. F. Reed, a pioneer of the Lillooet, who has now returned to Victoria. Fram San Francisco he came up by sailing ship in two weeks.

With the British Columbia Prohibition. Act now three weeks old, so far as its operation is concerned, there is gradually coming to light one of the interesting phases with which all dry states and provinces have had to deal sooner or later. That is the beverage containing more than the legal two and a half per cent. alcohol.

Commissioner Findlay stated to The Times this morning that up to the present no reports had reached him regarding infractions in this connection in Victoria. The same, however, could not be said of Vancouver, since at least two samples have been analyzed in the Terminal City and in each case between four and five per cent. alcohol was revealed by the snalysis.

Will Not Escape.

No seizures have been made as yet of any beverages possessing more than the legal "kick," but the Commissioner declares that it will be useless for any person to believe that evasion of the provisions of the Act by well or ill-reigned ignorance in this regard will be of any avail. The provision is explicit on this point, and it is his intention to be just as strict about its enforcement as of any other section of the Act. It is interesting to note that in sev-

Mr. Reed says he never struck anything rich, and yet he admits that the lure of the gold is such that a man keeps at the game as long as he physically can, always hoping for something to turn up. City, $1.40; Seattle, $1.50 per sack.
One of the interesting phases of this year's potato situation was touched upon by the Deputy Minister of Agriculture at the conference with Dr. J. W. Robertson on Friday afternoon last, He was dealing with the enormous surplus throughout the American continent and in particular that of British Columbia and the provinces to the East. Although there was a much restee with nuniciay and the provinces to the East. Although there was a much greater surplus in at least two of the Prairie provinces than in British Columbia the demand in those sections for the Far Western "spud" was still persistent.

The celebrated Ashcroft variety was as popular this year as it had eyer been. While this would appear to take some of the surplus from British Columbia in the event of a renewal of Imperial contracts with the evapora.
