FLOOD THREATENS TORNADO'S VICTIMS!

WABASH RIVER IS MENACING DEVASTATED DISTRICT

Swirling Waters Steadily Rising; Stricken Area May Be Inundated

PRINCETON, Ind., March 21.—A new horror—flood—threatened this afternoon to take its place alongside death, famine and pestilence in the southwestern Indiana devastated district.

Simultaneously it was announced the death toll in Indiana had mounted to 103. The revised tornado toll:

Griffin 52, Princeton 22, Owensville 19, Poseyville 5, Elizabethtown 5.

The swirling waters of the Wabash river, still littered with debris from the storm, were rising alarmingly and it was feared the stricken area would be inundated any moment.

The flood danger was especially serious at Griffin, according to reports at noon.

CHICAGO, March 21.—The first thoughts for rehabilitation of the areas wrecked by Wednesday's tornado were brought back here today by Major Landis from an airplane flight over the stricken sections.

"The emergency situation has been promptly and competently met," Major Landis said, "and now comes the question of reconstruction. For that, money, hundreds and thousands of dollars, will be needed.

"The problem first is to get the sightseers away from the tornado areas. When this is done, the people who live there will be in a position, with the aid of the Red Cross, to pick up the threads of existence and set about re-establishing themselves. It will take a lot of money and the only place the money can come from is through donations.

"The great danger now is that an epidemic of some kind may break out. The water supply has been destroyed. There is water, but it is muddy and dirty. And there are few facilities for carrying out the military order that all water be boiled before it is used for drinking purposes."

Death totals for Illinois and Indiana in Wednesday's storm were officially announced today as follows:

ILLINOIS—Murphysboro, 208; Gorham, 72; West Frankfort, 129; Desoto, 70; Parrish, 42; McLeansboro, 35; Logan, 16; Benton, 16; Bush, 8; Hurst, 12; Enfield, 12; Thompsonville, 10; Crossville, 1; Grand, 4; Carmi, 27; Atkin, 7. Total, 666.

MISSOURI—Perryville, Altenburg, Biehl and Frohna, total 6 dead; Annapolis 4. Total 10.

The path of Wednesday's tornado was a funeral land today. Everywhere in the five states which felt the death-laden breath of the storm, the victims, many as yet unidentified, were being committed back to the earth from which they came—laid to rest separately, by twos, by threes and by dozens, in soldier-dug graves.

And simple white crosses conjuring up a picture of other such symbols across the sea, stood front to mark the trail of devastation.

Health authorities have ordered this work to proceed as quickly as possible as the dread possibility of pestilence has arisen from the already prolonged delay, necessary because of inadequate facilities for the work and because there have been hopes that additional victims would be identified.

So today and tomorrow, the gaunt, hollow-eyed survivors in the storm area of Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee, were to stand solemnly by the yawning death pits to give their last good-bye to wives, mothers, children, sweethearts

Glendale Fund Forwarded to Stricken Area

The Glendale Evening News this afternoon sent a check for $132.25, representing money that has already been received from Glendale persons for the relief of the tornado-stricken district in the middle west, to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, which is receiving subscriptions from all of Southern California.

The money was sent at once in order that it could be put to immediate use in the relief work. Additional subscriptions are being received by The Glendale Evening News, the complete list appearing elsewhere in this issue. Those who have put their names on the list, but who have not yet paid in their money, are urged to do so at once in order that The Glendale Evening News may see to it that the additional fund is forwarded.

SHEPHERD'S FATE AWAITS MONDAY

Arraignment of McClintock's Foster-Father, Faiman, Is Postponed

CHICAGO, March 21.—The arraignment of William D. Shepherd and Dr. Charles C. Faiman on the indictment charging them with murder for the death of William Nelson McClintock was adjourned until Monday shortly after noon today. No pleas were entered and no definite action taken. Only one witness, Faiman, was placed on the stand.

With Faiman on the stand, it was brought out that medical sciences courses leading to diplomas in pathology, bacteriology, obstetrics, chiropractic, post-graduate surgery, dentistry, dramatic arts and music were offered at Faiman's school and that of these Faiman taught pathology and bacteriology.

Faiman Hurls Lie "Do you also teach fortune telling, dancing and plumbing?" counsel asked.

"That's a lie," Faiman responded indignantly.

The defense then brought out that Faiman had no license to practice medicine in Illinois and that he was not a doctor.

Chinese Crew Mutiny When Pay In Arrears

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Police guarded the steamship Isonomia today following an outbreak and mutiny of thirty Chinese sailors who became rebellious because, they said, their pay was in arrears.

NEGRO LYNCHED

WABASH, Va., March 21.—Prosecutions were threatened today of many prominent citizens of Sussex county who were in the mob of nearly 2000 persons that last night took James Jordan, a negro, and lynched him after he had been accused of attacking a young white woman. It was Virginia's first lynching in four years.

Security Tax Bill Is Signed By Governor

SACRAMENTO, March 21.—"Foreign securities" owned by persons residing in California will be assessed at 7 per cent of their market value in the future, rather than at 50 to 100 per cent, as the result of Governor Richardson's act "last night in approving Senate bill No. 37, which makes effective a constitutional amendment adopted by the people at the last general election.

DOCTORS FIGHT TO PREVENT SPREAD OF TETANUS

Murphysboro Water System Useless, Causing Serious Sanitary Condition

MURPHYSBORO, March 21.—Physicians and nurses are laboring here today to check the spread of tetanus.

Dr. J. E. Heis, stationed here, expressed the fear that this infection is spreading, notwithstanding the fact that inoculations for both typhoid and tetanus have been given all patients.

The water system is still paralyzed here and placards have been posted throughout the devastated area cautioning citizens to boil water before using it.

"In Murphysboro the water situation is serious. The water works went out of commission and they are now pumping unfiltered water into the mains. The result is that we have ordered the placarding of the place, warning residents not to drink water that has not been boiled.

Two-thirds Destroyed "Many of the water connections are being restored and much of the gas connections too are being replaced and within a few days, when the tent city is completed, there will be at least comfort for the stricken people. My report to Adjutant-General Black will be that at least two-thirds of the city has been destroyed. We found the place well supplied with the medical necessities.

"At Bush, where there were twenty dead and 125 hurt, it also is mostly a housing problem. Forty-one of the injured were taken to the Herrin hospital, so the place, with our assistance, can handle its affairs now. Sanitation must be observed, however, and it will be under the direction of proper authorities."

Anti-tetanus serum, so badly needed as a preventive for the wounded who had been cut by flying debris, came by airplanes from Chicago, St. Louis and Indianapolis.

Circus Owner To Stand Trial On Income Taxes

LOS ANGELES, March 21.—Al G. Barnes, circus owner, indicted by the federal grand jury on charges of defrauding the government out of more than $100,000 in income taxes for 1921, will go to trial in federal court April 6, it was announced, following the showman's arraignment and release on $30,000 bond.

FRANCE BLOCK TO COOLIDGE PLANS FOR MEETING

Parisian Press Hostile To Proposition; Submarines, Aircraft Big Issue

By GEORGE R. HOLMES For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—France is still proving the stumblingblock in the efforts of President Coolidge and the Baldwin ministry of Great Britain toward the staging of a second arms conference in Washington next fall or winter, it was admitted today by administration officials.

Some days have elapsed since President Coolidge publicly proclaimed American willingness to invite the powers to Washington for another arms reducing parley, and in that time the reactions of the world capitals have been carefully noted.

France alone of all the world powers directly concerned, has been cold to the proposition. The Parisian press, which is taken here to reflect the attitude of the French government, has been downright hostile.

French objection to again coming to Washington are based primarily on two grounds:

1—A belief that a second arms conference would inevitably result in limitations being placed on aircraft and submarines, two arms in which France is now energetically engaged in strengthening herself to offset British, American and Japanese naval supremacy, and

2—Unwillingness to submit to further armament limitation or restriction of any kind without an accompanying pact by which the other world powers, including the United States, guarantee her security and present borders.

This security pact was a part of the French-promoted plan, by which the League of Nations was going to stage a disarmament conference. It has now collapsed, through Britain's unwillingness to commit herself and irrevocably to a French alliance. And it was the collapse of the Geneva scheme that prompted President Coolidge several weeks ago to state that the way now appeared open for America to take the lead in promoting another conference.

Mine Rescue Workers Overcome By Efforts

BARRACKSVILLE, W. Va., March 21.—Twenty-four rescue workers searching for the remaining miners entombed in the Bethlehem Mines corporation mine here, were overcome by poisonous gases in the mine, according to a statement issued at noon. Those overcome in the mine were revived when hauled to the surface. No additional bodies have been found.

Fears Movies Might Harm U. C. Regents

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—The board of regents of the University of California, meeting here to select a new site for the southern branch, now located in Los Angeles, went into executive session at noon. A decision was expected late today.

The regents were thrown into a tumult of laughter just before taking up the secret session when Garet McEnerny, San Francisco attorney, demanded of Chas. H. Scott, speaking for the Beverly Hills site, if the proximity of the proposed location to "Los Angeles" motion picture studios would not corrupt the regents?

Scott assured the regents the nearest studio was at least two miles from the 375-acre site offered by Beverly Hills.

Shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon, the regents, without having had lunch, were still in executive session.

TEAPOT EVIDENCE IS BEFORE JUDGE

Attorneys For Both Sides Prepare For Closing Arguments In Case

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 21.—With the presentation of evidence ended, attorneys for both sides were busy today preparing their closing arguments in the historic Teapot Dome equity suit wherein the United States government seeks to have rescinded the lease on the rich Wyoming naval petroleum reserve which was secured from former Secretary of the Interior A. B. Fall by Harry F. Sinclair's Mammoth Oil Co.

Judge T. Blake Kennedy adjourned court after a lively session yesterday, until 10 a. m. Monday.

New Angles Hit

Concluding testimony for the defense developed a sensational angle when Rear-Admiral J. L. Latimer, judge-advocate-general of the navy, appeared on the witness stand with certified letters from Secretary of the Navy Willbur and Secretary of State Kellogg declaring that navy records subpoenaed by the Sinclair lawyers were of such a nature that their being made public would be injurious to the nation.

Government counsel also sprang a surprise when they introduced in their brief rebuttal a deposition from former Congressman Patrick H. Kelly of Michigan, unqualifiedly denying statements made by Rear-Admiral Robinson in his testimony that he had given Kelly information regarding Teapot negotiations several days prior to signing of the Sinclair lease.

DOCTOR CHARGED

FALO ALTO, March 21.—Dr. W. N. Powell, 55, member of the administration staff of the United States veterans' hospital here, charged by young women employees of the hospital with being a "sheik," may resign, it was reported today.

Pioneer Near Death's Door After Stroke

SACRAMENTO, March 21.—Suffering from a stroke of paralysis which deprived him of the power of speech and left him helpless, J. A. Fitcher, one of the best-known California pioneers, and the only living member of the constitutional convention of 1878 which framed the state constitution, was reported to be near death at a local hospital today.

Fitcher, who is 79 years of age, came to California, across the plains in 1859, and during the past half century has held a score of state offices, ranging from state Senator to California representative at the world's exposition in Paris in 1900.

REGENTS MAKE DECISION ON UNIVERSITY LOCATION

Teachers' College to Remain On Present Site; Verdict Los Angeles Victory

BULLETIN SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—The board of regents of the University of California, in session here to select a site for the school's southern branch, now located at Los Angeles, decided this afternoon that the teachers' college of the southern branch will remain in Los Angeles.

The college of letters and science will be located on the Beverly Hills site in Westwood, Los Angeles suburb, it was voted.

The Beverly Hills, location, located within the city of Los Angeles, was selected for the letters and science department site, it was announced, because of its central location, offering the best of transportation facilities.

The Beverly Hills site is ready for occupancy and plans for the new branch of the university will be made at once, it was said.

The vote of the regents was considered a great victory for Los Angeles, as that city now contains the teachers' college and obtains the new site as well.

The vote on the regents' decision was unanimous.

Plans for buildings at the new Beverly Hills site were not discussed by the regents.

The Beverly Hills site is composed of 375 acres. It is located northeast of Sawtelle. It is between the Soldiers' home and the Los Angeles Country club. It starts about 1400 feet north of Wilshire boulevard at Westwood and goes back into the foothills, "the old Wolfskill ranch."

Questions Legality of Regents Moving University

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—The board of regents of the University of California, with Governor F. W. Richardson presiding, met here today to select a new site for the university's southern branch. Fullerton, Beverly Hills, Burbank, Palos Verdes, San Diego, Riverside and two Pasadena sites were the locations considered.

Decision will be reached today, it was stated, although an executive session probably will be necessary before a choice is made.

R. J. Kopp of Los Angeles, the first speaker at the meeting, urged that transportation facilities be considered in selecting the new site.

Discussion following disclosed the present site of the university in Los Angeles afforded the best transportation.

Kopp created a sensation when he said that, as the present site of the southern branch was selected by the Legislature, an initiative law would be necessary to change the school's location. He said action of the regents would be illegal, should they change the site.

A telegram was read from Fullerton offering $75,000 for sewerage and similar improvements on Fullerton's proposed site.

Mattison B. Jones, of Glendale, who discussed the advantages of the Burbank site, declared Burbank was located

ORATORICAL PLUM IS WON BY GIRL

Freshman For First Time Takes Biggest Honor At Broadway High

By GLENN CUNNINGHAM
Winning for the first time in the history of the school for the freshman class, Jean Williams, representing the class of '28 in the annual interclass oratorical, was given the decision of the judges at the oratorical contest held in the Broadway High school auditorium Friday afternoon.

The class of '26 was given first place as having the best line of march and tableau and giving its class song and yells the best. The annual oratorical contest is the biggest event of the year, and to win for his class is the greatest honor a student can hold. These honors were doubled this year when the $20 goldpiece was given to Jean Williams, the first freshman to win the "oratorical."

Speaks On 'Charity'

Jean spoke on the subject of "Charity," and her oration not only contained excellent material, the result of weeks of study and thought, but was delivered with assurance and accuracy that can come only after careful preparation.

The main theme of her oration was that charity is love, the greatest thing in the world. "The fundamental governing principle of charity is love, not a limited, finite love, but a great impersonal passion."

Jean told how, in case of flood, famine or earthquake, the whole world responds with a generous sympathy and, continuing, said: "To be charitable is a divine demand. It is one of the oldest behests laid upon man. Love thy neighbor as thyself."

She concluded with the quotation: "Now abideth faith, hope and charity, these three; and the greatest of these is charity."

'Child Labor'

Jack Finch, who was chosen by the class of '25 to represent it in the oratorical, spoke on "Child Labor." He pictured clearly the evils of child labor that exist in this country today, and of which the majority of the population is ignorant. Jack explained the causes of this evil and the effects produced by it, and concluded by saying: "We must rise as a body, as Abraham Lincoln did as an individual, to free, not the black slaves, but the white child slaves."

'Democracy and the Public Schools'

The topic of the oration given by Jerome Andrews. Balance of Program

The lines of march, tableaux, songs and yells were all exceptionally well done by the four classes this year. The class of '26, to carry out the thought of the speaker's subject, devised a very original plan of march. A long line of students dressed as immigrants, in the colorful costumes of China, Japan, Holland and Italy, and all the continents of the world, ascended the stage and entered the door of an American schoolhouse. When the last had entered, the product of American education, American citizens, representing business men, scientists, doctors and artists, filed out of the school house and left the stage.

The tableau was composed of three groups of American people, soldiers, immigrants and rural, each looking at a teacher, who was pointing to a figure of Democracy. Due to the class spirit and co-operation of every member present in the line of march and in giving the yells and song, the class of '26 was given first place by the judges.

The line of march of the class of '25 was led by figures of death, bad health, poverty, famine, and the child labor master, followed by crowds of poor children, victims of child labor. At the end came Liberty, lighting the way to better conditions. The tableau consisted of a horrible green monster, representing child labor, whose long tentacles stretched in every direction, clutching at the children of America.

Line of March

To carry out the idea of the ex-soldier problem the line of march of the class of '24 was led by a group of disabled soldiers and Red Cross nurses. These were followed by groups of citizens, representing every class that comprises the American people, students, workmen, scientists, architects and masons. The soldiers

Parents' Night March 24, at Harvard High

On Tuesday, March 24, at 7:30 o'clock p. m., the parents of the Harvard high school students will be entertained by the school with a night school sessions and a musical program. HARRY GERSON, manager of the new theatre being built at Brand boulevard and Windsor road, has given EDISON OSTROM, 17-year-old high school boy, who drew the cartoon below, an opportunity to realize his ambition by placing him in charge of the art poster department of the new theatre.

G. U. H. S. DRAMA CLASSES PREPARE

Members Take Prominent Parts In Eisteddfod Contest In April

By MERTON EGGERS
Members of drama classes of Glendale Union high school, under the direction of Harold L. Brewster, dramatic coach, have been very busy during the past few weeks preparing for future events.

Among these will be the next Eisteddfod, in which Glendale will compete with Burbank, Van Nuys, and San Fernando high schools, and with several local clubs for honors in the fine arts.

Preparation of several short sketches is also under way for several assemblies which are planned for the near future. "Moonshine," a short play containing only two characters, will be presented at the Band assembly, April 2. "The Turtle Dove," a one-act Chinese play, may also be given in an assembly about the middle of April. "Getting Off," which was presented March 13 by the third period drama class at La Crescenta school, will probably be given again in a Girls' league assembly next month.

The stage crew has been working steadily during the sixth period building an elaborate setting for the coming senior play, "Seventeen."

stood on the stage and, as the citizens marched by, each group took with it a few soldiers to give them support. In the tableau there were three groups of soldiers and nurses, representing the sufferings of war.

Charity was the idea carried out by the class of '23 in its line of march. It consisted of a group of poor children, foreigners, blind, crippled and wounded, followed by the Salvation Army, Red Cross nurses and doctors, and the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts with the American flag. The Scouts remained on the stage, gave the Scout oath and led the salute to the flag. The tableau contained the figures of Faith, Hope and Charity, surrounded by a group of soldiers, children, foreigners, Salvation Army workers and Red Cross nurses.

COMEDY DRAMA IS GIVEN BY SCHOOL

Boys' And Girls' Glee Clubs Are Heard Also At La Crescenta

By WARD FOULTZ
Assisted by members of the Girls' and Boys' Glee clubs, Harold L. Brewster's third period dramatic class presented the comedy, "Getting Off," at a complimentary concert under the auspices of the P. T. A. at the La Crescenta schoolhouse Friday night, March 13.

Miss Zula Zeigler and Mrs. Charles A. Parker of the music department, and Harold L. Brewster of the dramatic department, had charge of the program.

Before a packed house of enthusiastic spectators various scenes from the operetta, "Mikado" were given by a group of Glee club girls. Members of the Boys' Glee club also sang several selections.

The feature of the evening was the comedy "Getting Off." With clever, original representations, and spicy humor the cast, headed by Wendell Beauchamp and Dorothy Pickett kept the audience in laughter during the entire play.

Those in the cast were: Dorothy Pickett, Wendell Beauchamp, Ruth Pierce, Edith Baynd, Winifred Brewer and Helen Layne. Piano duets, vocal solos and selections by the orchestra were also presented.

TWO TRACK MARKS ARE SET BY G. H. S.

Competing With Burbank, Van Nuys, Local Cinder Athletics Win

Breaking two Central League records the Glendale High school track team won a triangular meet yesterday on the home track. Teams from Glendale, Van Nuys and Burbank took part, the latter two joining their points.

Bill Bradbury, Glendale shot putter and discus thrower, broke the discus record of the Central League by hurling the lead four-and-one-half inches farther than the present record, which is 41 feet. This does not count officially, however, as the meet was not a league meet. Let's hope Bill does it again in a meet that counts.

The other record broken was the relay. This is the second time the fast Glendale combination has broken this record. The final score was 93 1/2 to 19-2-3. The Burbank team pulling in one-third of one point.

Evangelist O'Connell To Hold Tent Services

J. S. McConnell, evangelist, is arranging for a tent campaign on Glendale avenue, between Broadway and Wilson avenues. The initial service will be at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, March 29. Meetings will be held at 2:30 and 7:30 o'clock throughout the week.

'Disraeli' Film To Be Shown At Broadway

By SUMNER LAMKIN
"Disraeli," an historical motion picture, will be shown during the second period Friday, March 27, at the Broadway high auditorium. Disraeli, played by George Arliss, was the famous prime minister of England during the reign of Queen Victoria, and through his cleverness and ability, conquered his enemies, thus securing for England the Isthmus of Suez in order that the Suez canal might be built. Even though many have seen the picture previously, it is worth while to see it again. Tickets may be obtained, beginning the middle of next week, at the box office at Broadway high.

STUDENTS TRAVEL 'PAINTED DESERT'

Gene Lynch Describes Trip By Chemistry Class Over Mojave

By GENE LYNCH
Park L. Turill's third period chemistry class, last weekend took a very memorable trip to the "Painted Desert". The class left on Friday and returned home Sunday night. The colorful sunsets and ideal weather coupled with picturesque scenery, and the wonderful storehouses of chemical and mineralogical wealth in the mountains, made the vacation trip one to be long remembered. Nor was the trip altogether made for pleasure. From the educational standpoint it was decidedly worth while. Not only were the mountains of chemical deposits studied, but an instructive trip was taken through the $21,000,000,000, potash and borax plant of the American Trona corporation at Trona, California.

The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Wolcott, Mrs. Horner, Miss Lydia Myers, Park L. Turill, Misses Mabelle Horner, Helen Sternberg, Katherine Bender, Virginia Horner, and Messrs. Roland Reed, Wayne Maxwell, Richard Wolcott, Frank Wolcott, Howard Rich, Albert Wells, Francis Foley, Perry Townsend, Radcliffe Clauson, Homer Searies and Merton Moser.

The trip to Mojave was made in automobiles by way of Saugus, Mint Canyon and Palmdale. The night was spent in Red Rock Canyon, with its towers, cathedrals and pinnacles, which made a beautiful camping place. The following morning the party made the trip to the Inyokern.

The party was spent at Pilot Knob from which can be seen Old Baldy and Grey Back. The trip home was made the next day, Sunday, and the party arrived in Glendale at 9:30 p. m.

PIANO STUDENTS' RECITAL MONDAY

Miss Zella Zeigler's Class Ready For Quarterly Public Exhibition

UNIVERSITY HIGH DEBATERS READY

Glendale Orators, Opponents In Argument To Take Place April 24

By MADELINE SMITH
University High's debating team, which will meet Glendale in debate on April 24 in the University high school's auditorium, will find worthy and capable opponents in Jean Henry and Alice Hill, the Glendale orators. The question will be—"Resolved: That Congress, by a three-fourths vote, should have the power to re-enact laws declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court." Elmer T. Worthy, debate coach, has chosen the negative side of the question.

The question will be—"Resolved: That Congress, by a three-fourths vote, should have the power to re-enact laws declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court." Elmer T. Worthy, debate coach, has chosen the negative side of the question.

Glendale Oratory

Glendale has a good standing in the field of oratory. She tied with Jefferson high in a league debate and was victorious over Santa Ana recently.

Mr. Worthy has not received information concerning the University team as yet, but he has much confidence in the two debaters he has chosen to represent Glendale.

Jean Henry has made a name for herself in the Junior-Senior and Santa Ana debates. Alice Hill represented the seniors in the Junior-Senior debate and later spoke in the Santa Ana debate.

James Sargeant, alternate, took part in the Junior-Senior debate and Santa Ana debates.

Girls' League To Give Party For Boyd School

By VIRGINIA EDWARDS
An Easter party will be given by the Girls' league, Glendale high school, for the children of Boyd street school. This is an annual party, and 30 children are to be brought to Broadway high school, where the girls will entertain them.

The festivities, if possible, will be held in the patio where the children will have Easter eggs. In order to secure enough money to pay for the party each room has a box in which contributions may be put. This plan, it is thought, will be more successful than asking each girl to give a certain sum.

Marjorie Temple, philanthropic chairman, Esther Hopner and Lucile Beach are all working together to try to make this year's party a success.

Girl Captures Junior Tennis Champ Honors

By EDNA WARREN
The junior tennis championship of Southern California was easily won by Mary Barbara Taylor last Sunday when she overpowered her opponent, Miss Gladwin of Santa Monica, in two uneven matches, 6-2, 6-2. The match was played on the Los Angeles Tennis club courts.

Throughout the match Miss Taylor was at no time hard pressed, and the finalists met with some competition and allowed the first set to run up to a score of 8-6, but in the second she showed her superiority in taking it 6-4.

Woman Lawyer To Tell Of Domestic Relations

Mab Copeland Lineman, prominent clubwoman and Los Angeles attorney, will lecture at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, March 25, at the Tuesday Afternoon Clubhouse, under the auspices of the American Citizenship and Legislation department on "Separate Community and Domestic Relations." There will be no admission charge. The lecture is open to all men and women of Glendale.

Club Women Plan Song And Reading Program

Z. Earl Meeker, one of the most talented baritones of Southern California, and Mrs. Caroline Pearson, dramatic reader, will present the program Tuesday afternoon at the Tuesday Afternoon club. "America in Melody and Rhythm," featuring American composers, will be the program sketch. Mrs. F. H. Wallace, club program chairman, arranged the program.

Club members will have luncheon at 12:15 o'clock. Mrs. A. S. C. Forbes, president of the Hortory and Landmarks club of California, and writer of California history and romance, will be a speaker. She will be introduced by Mrs. G. H. Rowe, club chairman of history and landmarks. A young pianist, who is being sent by the Lions' club of Portland to Europe for study, will play. Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, club president, will preside.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, March 21.—The Community Players last night presented "Eggs O' My Heart" at the Eagle Rock school, under the direction of Mrs. Elgie Lowry Fischer. Tonight this popular three-act comedy will be given again. An added feature last night, that will be heard again tonight, was the Franklin High School orchestra, led by Desisse Gibson.

The World Service society of the congregational church met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Knopf, 4962 Vincent avenue, The book "Of the Blood," by Robert E. Speer, was presented by Mrs. Blonda Banks Colburn for consideration and discussion. Mrs. Colburn will continue the same subject at the meeting of April 16, it was announced.

While Miss Louanna McNary, now in India, was in Edinburgh, Scotland, she met Otho and Rollo LaPorte, formerly of Eagle Rock. Miss Amber Young entertained a Virginia college friend, Mrs. Deo Mallot, over the week-end.

Mrs. George A. Fried of Aurora, Ill., is spending a few weeks with Mrs. S. Sinclair Smith of Ellenwood Drive.

Mrs. Slater and her son Herbert, from Toronto, Canada, are occupying one-half of C. W. Young's bungalow for the season. Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Steel of Porterville, Calif., have moved to Eagle Rock and are living at the west end. Mr. Steel is employed in making a road in the subdivision in Schell canyon.

G. Tod, employed at the City Hall, Eagle Rock, has returned to work after a month's absence. Miss Bertha Buck is recovering from an operation performed at the Windsor hospital, Glendale.

100 CITIES IN
ON GLENDALE
RADIO BILL

Letters Tell Of Places All
Over Country Hearing
Local Program

One hundred cities in twenty-one states and Canada "tuned in" on the last Glendale radio program, broadcast over KFI a week ago tonight. Definite check on fans who heard the program in this many cities has been kept through letters mailed to the Chamber of Commerce.

A total of more than 180 letters in all have been received. Approximately eighty of these are from persons in cities and towns of California from Eureka to San Diego. The other 100 letters and post cards are from listeners in who heard Glendale over the ether waves in twenty-one states all over the nation.

Most of the communications are letters in which the writers ask many and varied questions about the city. The announcement that Glendale was staging an air rodeo and commercial aviation meet, made over the radio by Bert P. Woodard, seemed to interest many. More than half the letters mention the aeronautical activities.

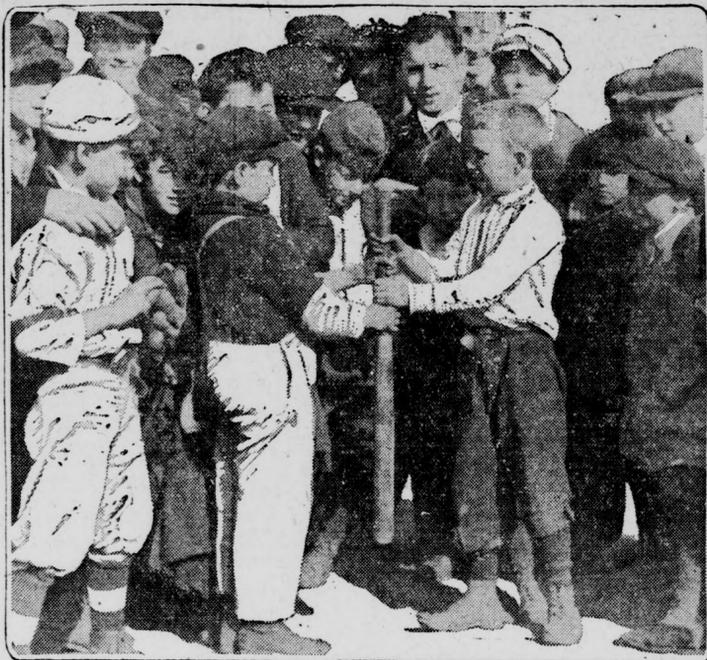

Cities Tuning In

Residents of the following cities, listed according to states, heard the radio program broadcast last Saturday night, letters already received show:

Hard Luck for Horsehide

From the looks on these youngsters, someone is going to rap out a home run as soon as the captains decide which team bats first. The scene is one of the many occasions where the Community Service helps the youths of Glendale to enjoy life.

Springtime and spring fever have overtaken the youth of Glendale! Staunchly at first he resisted the onslaught of balmy sunshiny weather and enticing spring odors that came down with the breezes from the Verdugo hills. Pluckily he stuck to his books and school tasks with the grit of a true American boy. But spring is here, and spring is not to be bested. And, according to inside information that has leaked out of the office of R. Ernest Tucker, superintendent of public recreation, the youth of Glendale has finally succumbed to the forces of nature and has turned his thoughts to baseball, kite-flying, hikes in the hills and the thousand and one delights of boyhood not ordinarily contained in the school curriculum.

Something has to be done about it, however, for school still has several months to run. Superintendent Tucker and city school authorities, working through Community Service, are planning to jump in and fill the breach.

First of all, there will be a mammoth kite-flying contest on Saturday, March 28. Every lad in the city is invited to fly his kite at the Broadway High school grounds on that day. The boy piling up the largest number of points in the kite contest will be given a silver loving cup. There are six classifications in which to enter. The first will consist of the best emblem kite, most artistic kite and best novelty kite. The second class will include best box kite, best bow kite and best tail kite. Class three will take in the smallest kite and the largest kite. Construction races, in which contestants will have to build their kite, best bow kite and best tail kite, will be the eighth-mile dash, the winner being the boy who can get an eighth of a mile of string out with his kite flying, first. The last event will be the contest for the strongest pulling kite.

Superintendent Tucker, M. E. Dunn, head of the manual training department, and H. E. Bremer, supervisor of physical education of city schools, will be in charge of kite day. Besides the silver trophy there will be numerous ribbons given for first, second and third places in each event. Between 500 and 1000 boys are expected to enter the contest. Already 1500 entry blanks have been distributed and a call for more has been made.

As soon as the kite contest is over, Mr. Tucker, Albert G. Cornwell, chairman of the playground committee of Community Service, and his assistants will start plans for the playground season this summer. It is the intention to open seven of the schools throughout the city for summer play purposes. Last year only four schools were used for this purpose, but the growing popularity of organized play among the youngsters will necessitate the addition of three more schools, Mr. Tucker said. The playground season will open July 1 and will continue until the end of August.

Besides these activities, baseball leagues throughout the grammar schools are now getting under way. This sport will hold the interest of the boys to a considerable extent until school is out, the winner being the boy who can get an eighth of a mile of string out with his kite flying, first. The last event will be the contest for the strongest pulling kite.

Tells Stand

The following communication, setting forth the conditions under which he is seeking election to the City Council, has been received by The Glendale Evening News for publication from Preston L. Hatch, manager of the Glendale & Montrose railway:

"In response to urging from certain friends whom I respect and admire, I have consented to offer my services to the city of Glendale in the capacity of councilman at the election to be held April 14. In making this decision, I am not pledging myself to any individual or any group of individuals and I am not soliciting the votes of any creed or function. Therefore, any of my friends or any others who may care to vote for me must do so with the understanding that if I am elected my judgment must govern my actions, influenced wholly by that I consider the city's needs.

"It is an easy matter to criticize those who hold public office and that is not my desire or intent. If elected, all issues in which I may be called upon to render an opinion will be carefully studied and considered from all angles, with the welfare of Glendale as the aim, before any decision is made, exactly as I would conduct my own business affairs, having in mind the welfare of those to whom I am responsible.

"May I respectfully urge all who read this to vote at the coming election and if I am not your choice for councilman, vote for the one in whom you feel you can safely trust the affairs of our city."

PASTOR PLANS
NEW SERVICE IN CITY

Rev. J. D. Swalestuen Visits
City Preparatory To Founding Church

Rev. J. D. Swalestuen was a visitor in Glendale yesterday, completing plans for the initial service of the Norwegian Lutheran church services at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, March 29, in the auditorium at 323 North Brand boulevard.

"I have been in California since November and find Glendale the most delightful place we have visited," said Mr. Swalestuen. "If I am successful in establishing the church here for all people understanding the Scandinavian language I will bring my family here to live. The Chamber of Commerce has been very courteous to me and my cause and I wish to thank them."

Pastor Eighteen Years

For eighteen years Mr. Swalestuen was pastor of a church in Jasper, Minn., where he was a highly respected resident of the community. Besides his church work he served seven years on the school board, aiding in establishing the high school.

When he took up his pastorate there, there were twelve families enrolled and at the close of his service there were 300 church members. Assisting him in his church work is Mrs. Swalestuen, soloist.

Talented Daughters

Mr. and Mrs. Swalestuen have six talented and educated daughters: Miss Ruth Swalestuen, who is assistant superintendent of nurses at the California hospital, Los Angeles; Miss Victoria Swalestuen, head nurse at the same hospital; Miss Marie Swalestuen, engaged in the nursing profession in Hollywood; Miss Martha Swalestuen, a stenographer in Los Angeles; Miss Esther Swalestuen, a teacher of Latin, German and algebra in North Dakota, and Miss Judith Swalestuen, a teacher in Arizona.

TRADE UNIONS

Trade unions, or guild systems, in many parts of Europe prohibit a workman registered in one calling from taking work, even when available, in another trade without first serving his apprenticeship, and this rule has forced many on the unemployed list.

$54.25 Realized

The sum of $54.25 was raised by Mrs. Frank N. Arnold, 211 East Lomita avenue, for the tornado relief fund at an all-day meeting of chapter BA, P. E. O., yesterday at the home of Mrs. Oliver Clark, 348 North Louise street. The amount raised was turned over by Mrs. Arnold to The Glendale Evening News, and will be sent to the proper officials in Los Angeles.

The club members requested that the amount raised at the meeting be sent to storm victims in Murphysboro, Ill., the former home of Mrs. Arnold. This request has been passed on to the officials in charge of the fund.

Mrs. Arnold and her sister, Mrs. Josephine Brant, 217 North Kenwood street, as well as a brother, Perry J. Rogers, 555 West Palmer avenue, were born in Murphysboro. Mrs. Arnold lived there until she was 19 years old. Her father served as sheriff of Murphysboro county for a number of years, and many of the names appearing in the casualty lists are former acquaintances of the family.

The members of the chapter and the amount each gave follow:

- Mrs. Frank N. Arnold..... $5.00
- Mrs. Josephine Brant..... 5.00
- Mrs. Ella Hill..... 5.00

LESSONS OF THE GREAT DISASTER

We, here in Glendale, are stricken with grief and horror as we read the details of the awful affliction that has been visited upon our old friends and neighbors in Missouri, Illinois, Indiana and Tennessee, who are the victims of one of the most terrible calamities in the history of the United States.

Many of us who came from the tornado belt can sympathize more deeply with these people since we can so easily recall visitations of those whirling, churning, funnel-shaped agencies of destruction before which human life is as frail and helpless as the insects which we crush beneath our feet. We have seen tornadoes or the destruction they have wrought and we have marveled at their caprice and their ruthless force. At least we have heard of them sweeping through the country districts and the outskirts of towns in the middle west and taking a heavy toll in property damage and human lives. But never has nature in such a manifestation of her power caused such wholesale slaughter and widespread destruction of homes and cities as in the tornado of Wednesday. Seldom, if ever, have the normal activities of peaceful, happy villages and towns been transformed so quickly into regions reeking with death and ruin and mourning.

It is impossible to conceive of the horror and the grief that pervades that devastated region. Mothers had their babies torn from their arms and little ones sent to school in the morning never returned again. Other little children are wandering about the streets in search of home and mother which they will never find. Long lines of people, torn with fear and despair, have been waiting to view the victims in the improvised morgues, in the effort to get some trace of loved ones. Hundreds who escaped death, maimed and broken for life are mourning their dear ones. All the agencies of normal community life transformed in a moment to minister to the maimed and dying and homeless and to bury the dead.

There are lessons in such a catastrophe even for us who are so far away that we cannot comprehend the horror of it. It should teach us not to grow too arrogant or prideful of man's accomplishments, for we have not yet conquered fire and flood, earthquake and tornado. It is foolish and futile to worry because great catastrophes which we are powerless to prevent may happen, and yet it is well to remember now and then that the things of earth are transitory.

The tornado should teach the lesson of gratitude to those who have so far been spared the horrors that such a disaster brings in its train. While these people have been passing through their Gethsemane we have been enjoying the sunshine of California. While the forces of Nature have been wreaking their fury upon our fellow creatures, this same Nature has been smiling upon us. Should not the contrast in their condition and ours awaken in us a boundless gratitude for our mercies and a deep sympathy for them?

There is only one ray of light in the darkness of the horror which surrounds those so sorely afflicted. A disaster of this kind "makes the whole world kin." No matter how far we are from the source of suffering our first thought is to do something for those who in their great extremity cannot help themselves. We want to help bury the dead, care for the injured and give shelter and food to the homeless. There is no east or west, north or south when great calamities occur. We cannot bring back the dead, complete again the broken family circle or restore the ruined homes, but with our sympathy expressed in our contributions we can help to bring order in the devastated cities, restore sanitary conditions and prevent disease, provide shelter and food for the homeless and help to care for the injured.

It must be that those poor victims of the tornado will take heart and hope again with the knowledge that men and women in every corner of our great country are sympathizing and mourning with them, praying for them and giving to them.

WOMEN IN POLITICS

Women have won the right to vote and hold office, and any honor that comes to any member of the sex by way of politics should come by reason of merit and ability. As citizens, men and women are on an equality, and those women and organizations that go about trying to engender and keep alive political animosity between the sexes are on the wrong track. The so-called feminist movement is not in the interest of progress.

If the women who busy themselves in this way would give their time and attention, with men, to getting into office people with greater qualifications for the work they are to do, regardless of their sex, their efforts would show better results. They should help to beat at their own game those men, versed in the devious ways of politics whom they accuse of hookwinking women who attempt to co-operate with them, by flattery and cajolery and by giving them unimportant offices and appointing them on committees where they are powerless to stop the game of politics being played by the men.

Mrs. Florence Prag Kahn, widow of the late Congressman Julius Kahn of California, who was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of her husband, says the main idea is that she is a member of Congress, and not that she is a woman. She does not believe in the "feminist blah" when a woman enters politics and declares she intends to use ordinary common sense in her work as a congresswoman. Eventually the type of woman who tries to mix sex and politics will disappear.

PAYING THE PRINTER

A bulletin just issued by the bureau of the census shows that in the past ten years the number of establishments engaged in "printing and publishing newspapers and periodicals" has decreased from 19,317 to 10,267, a loss of 48 per cent, due largely to consolidation and the increasing costs of operation and material.

But in that same period the number of wage-earners in this industry increased 122 per cent and the average per capita annual wage increased from $774 to $1690. This includes part-time and overtime and all hands, from the devil to the foreman, in the composing room. The average per capita wage of printers has therefore increased 146 per cent. With the exception of bakers, this wage increase is the largest in any trade listed in this statistical abstract.

Conditions might be worse. There is little probability that the number of divorces ever will exceed the number of marriages.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

The large sale of such biographies and autobiographies as those of Walter Hines Page, Edward Bok, Mark Twain, General Gorgas and Samuel Gompers is only more evidence of Carlyle's assertion that man's quality of nature evinces itself in the unspeakable delight he takes in biography.

It is written, "The proper study of mankind is man," and "Man is perennially interesting to man." Carlyle had these observations in mind when he wrote: "How inexpressibly comfortable to know our fellow-creature; to see into him, understand his goings-forth, decipher the whole heart of his mystery; nay, not only to see into him, but even to see out of him, to view the world altogether as he views it; so that we can theoretically construe him, and could almost practically personate him; and do now thoroughly discern both what manner of man he is, and what manner of thing he has got to work and love on!"

A scientific interest and a poetic one alike inspire us in this matter.

A scientific: Because every mortal has a Problem of Existence set before him, which were it only the Problem of keeping the soul and both together, must be to a certain extent original, unlike any other; and yet, at the same time, so like every other; like our own, therefore; instructive, moreover, since we are also indented to live.

A poetic interest still more, Carlyle observed: For precisely the same struggle of humar Freedom against material Necessity, which every man's Life, by the mere circumstance that the man continues alive, will more or less victoriously exhibit—is that which above all else, or rather inclusive of all else, calls the sympathy of mortal hearts into action.

"Looking with the eyes of every new neighbor, he can discern a new world different for each: Feeling with the heart of every neighbor, he lives, with every neighbor's life, even as with his own."

"Of these millions of living men, each individual is a mirror to us; a mirror both scientific and poetic; or, if you will, both natural and magical,—from which one would so gladly draw aside the gauze veil; and, peering through, discern the image of his own natural face, and the supernatural secrets that prophetically lie under the same!"

The Early Risers

By DR. FRANK CRANE

I am fond of early rising and like to get up and see the dawn.

But I must say that the early rising people as a rule are not attractive.

Among them you will find scrubwomans, watchmen, milkmen, scavengers and the like.

It looks like early to bed and early to rise is the way not to meet the most interesting people.

For all that, I believe in early rising and think that the dawn is the best part of the day.

Health is early rising. The man who gets up and gets out of doors early and breathes the morning air is likely to get more red corpuscles than the man who spends the early hours in bed.

Virtue is early rising. Most vice takes place at night and stays up late.

Gambling is a late affair. Most of the money is lost at cards after eleven o'clock at night. Very few people gamble in the morning.

Work is an early riser. The man who has a task before him usually can do it better if he attacks it in the morning early day.

I knew a man, however, who was a professor of mathematics who never worked until after the family had gone to bed, until after midnight. Then the house was still and he got out his books and papers and could think constructively.

There are some authors who write their best at night, but I think I know more who do their best in the morning.

Sin stays up late. It is very fond of the hours after midnight.

One of John Wesley's rules for young preachers was "Get up as you wake up."

Somewhat the night and late hours are associated with looseness, and the morning and early hours are associated with integrity.

Horoscope

Astrologers read this as an uncertain day, for good and evil planetary influences contend. Although Mercury, Jupiter, Venus and Uranus are in benefic aspect Neptune and the Sun are strongly adversors. With the sun entering Aries the beginning of the spring quarter is marked by rather good aspects. The ingress takes place with Mars in a place foreshadowing difficulties or disputes regarding foreign affairs.

Saturn near the ascendant is rather threatening for certain popular hopes, especially those regarding sudden business successes. Much rain may be expected in various parts of the country and again big floods are prognosticated. Japan comes under a planetary government making for a friendly attitude toward other countries.

Troubles affecting lands and crop damage because of bad weather may be expected. It is well for business men to settle financial matters and to make new contracts under this direction of the stars. There is a promising sign for all who seek political preferment through appointment.

Women will be fairly lucky today in love as well as business affairs and one of the signs of the times will be marriages among those in public life. Much deceit may be practiced, especially among women, during this configuration which tends toward indirectness and even intrigue.

There is a promising sign for aviation and evidently there is to be agitation that will cause large interest in government airships of every description. While most of the aspects favor the activities of men and women, this is read as an unfavorable day for seeking employment.

Today's Poem

RECESSIONAL
God of our fathers, known of old—
Lord of our far-flung battle line—
Beneath whose awful hand we hold
Dominion over palm and pine,—
Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet!

Best we forget,—lest we forget!
The tumult and the shouting dies,
The captains and the kings depart:
Still stands thine ancient sacrifice—
An humble and a contrite heart.

Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,
Lest we forget,—lest we forget!
Far-called, our navies melt away;
On dune and headland sinks the fire:
Lo! all our pomp of yesterday
Is one with Nineveh and Tyre!
Judge of the nations, spare us yet,
Lest we forget,—lest we forget!

If drunk with sight of power, we loose
Wild tongues that have not thee
in awe,
Such boasting as the Gentiles use
Or lesser breeds without the law,—
Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,
Lest we forget,—lest we forget!

For heathen heart that puts her trust
In reckless tube and iron shard,
All valiant dust that builds on dust,
And guarding calls not thee to guard,
For frantic boast and foolish word,
Thy mercy on thy people, Lord!

Timely Views

"The United States was a year and a half ahead of other nations in pursuit of flying observation airplanes, but we have no adequate bombing plane equipment," Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chief of the army air service, said in an address in New York.

General Patrick quoted General Duval of France, Admiral Kerr and Bomar Law of England, Marshal Foch and Prud'homme in support of the theory that adequate airplane equipment was indispensable.

"We have had a little commotion recently in Washington over our air service, and some of our people dropped some bombs," he continued.

"Then there was a broadside from the navy, a number of gas explosions, and even Admiral Sims got into the fray and cut loose with his own big guns. I'm in hopes that out of this mess will come some good ideas that will solve our national defense problems."

In order to keep things on a working basis all of defense agencies must function during times of peace—hence the need of appropriations. The time has not come for a separate department for aeronautics. I believe we should have a separate department for general defense.

The president is too busy to settle the minor questions which develop in the army and navy."

PETER HANSON TAKES PART IN CONTEST

Delivers Talk At Conference On 'Own Your Home' Held In Pasadena

Peter Hanson, past president of Glendale Realty board, was one of the speakers in the "Own Your Home" conference at Hotel Maryland, Pasadena, today. Realtors from various parts of California attended the conference and the competition for the trophy offered by the state chairman, Clifton J. Platt, was keen.

The address delivered by Mr. Hanson follows: "To own your own home is fundamentally sound. It satisfies a natural longing. There is an inherent instinct in all to own a little bit of earth. It is an inherent right to call your roof your own. It is a just due to which your wife and children are entitled."

"There is an aristocracy in the ownership of one's home. It fills the family with a justifiable pride, and puts them on an equal social plane with other home owners. It establishes credit and financial ratings so they can hold up their heads in their community. It forms habits of saving that insure against want in old age, and starts a safe, cumulative investment that dispenses with the landlord. The whole family shares in the common effort to acquire a home, thus cementing the family ties and stabilizing the family life."

Develops Pride
"Home ownership develops the finer feelings. The road from primitive cave to modern mansion is paved with the longings of the human heart. Beauty has its own appeal. Through the long years the battle for the beautiful has carried on, and all the home beauty we cherish and enjoy today comes out of the better home struggle of the centuries. It invades the realm of the sacred. It is the setting of life's finest moments. Around it cling the tenderest ties—the endearing promises of youth, the cherished hopes of mid-life, the abiding memories of declining years."

"Home ownership involves the moral and spiritual. No mightier force leaves its moral impress. It instills ideals. It moulds character. It directs destinies. 'As a man thinketh so is he.' Home ennoble the whole realm of thought. Over the croonings of the cradle, through the long night watches of the sickroom from skimping and saving and suffering—out of these God made the mother heart. And the first fruits are kindness, compassion and love. Heart and home is woman's heritage to humankind."

Fosters Initiative
"Home ownership fosters incentive and initiative. Creative ideas, long hidden and dormant, suddenly find expression. New ambitions spring up within. There is more to live for. He is working for home and family now. The urge to do and be brings out the best. The follower becomes the leader. He is a new creature, and just because he owns his own home."

"It inculcates civic pride. From tenant to owner enjoins a new duty. A new horizon expands. Self-respect impels an interest in civic affairs, and a new personality asserts itself in community life for the first time, and a better city is being builded, for another mind is centered there."

"Owning the home promotes national loyalty. The peace and quiet of home are vouchsafed to us only by the protecting arm of Uncle Sam. Our loved ones are safe and secure at home this day only because our government has underwritten that security. The home owner is the most interested in that security, and therefore the most loyal in its defense. The stronger the 'home feeling,' the greater the patriotic response for home and country. The home owner makes the best citizen."

Heritage of Home
"The heritage of home is our God-given institution. We can make it what we will. It is the foundation of our national security. It is the safety valve of our family ties. It is the balance wheel of our social fabric. It is the inspiration of our ideals."

"These then are the tokens of home-owning. Its influence is so far reaching, we can scarcely grasp its full significance. It touches every phase of human endeavor and profoundly affects our national life. Surely it is a challenge to realtor service, and with awakened conscience to our duty and responsibility, we accept the task that is ours to make every family head a home-owner."

Salesmen Urged For Associate Members

Vice-president Fred R. Caldwell of the Oakland-Berkeley district of the California Real Estate association has started a drive to enroll salesmen in the association as associated members. President D. Richard Ainsley has appointed Mr. Caldwell chairman of the salesmen membership division. He will make his first campaign to enroll the salesmen of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda under the standard of the state association. It will be the desire of my administration as head of the Oakland board to see every salesman become an association member, as well as the brokers who have just recently voted to come in," Mr. Caldwell declared. He will name his own committee.

State Realtors Name Flood Control Leader

President Ainsley has announced appointment of Carl E. Johnston Sacramento vice president, to be chairman of the Flood Control and Irrigation committee of the state association, for the Sacramento valley. Last month the Sacramento river went on the rampage, being higher than for many years. Vice-president Johnston is planning to visit all of his local towns and boards, and will be accompanied by President Ainsley and the state secretary on a tour from Sacramento via the east side highway to Redding, thence southward via the west side, closing with a rally at Woodland.

Keep Engineer's Gangs Busy

Purchasers of lots in Chevy Chase, the new 1600-acre tract adjoining Glendale, Los Angeles, Flintridge and Pasadena, are shown at the top, signing up for lots so fast construction crews cannot keep pace. Below is a glimpse of the new Chevy Chase bridge trail, and a few of the riders who participated in the opening ceremonies.

With construction crews and steam shovel gangs more than doubled and with all equipment working night and day shifts, it has still been impossible for the engineering force to open up new property in Chevy Chase as fast as it is sold, according to Bert Farrar, owner and developer of the new 1600-acre tract lying between the four communities of Glendale, Flintridge, Pasadena and Los Angeles.

"The great activity of the real estate market as shown by this unprecedented demand for Chevy Chase homesites has completely swept us off our feet," declared Farrar. "Eighty-four lots were placed on the market on our opening day two weeks ago and approximately fifty more the following Sunday and yet today less than a score remain unsold and advance reservations have been made for about $50,000 worth of homesites in the area immediately surrounding the first unit but not yet reached by our new roads. However, with our augmented construction force, we hope to have twenty or thirty new lots ready for sale tomorrow morning."

In addition to the road construction work in Chevy Chase a new force of laborers have just commenced the construction of new bridge trails in the upper portion of the property, which, according to Franz Herding, city planning architect, will be made a permanent part of the layout of Chevy Chase. Last Saturday over 200 members of the Riding clubs of Southern California, including prominent members of the Beverly Hills, Hollywoodland, Oakmont, and Flintridge organizations rode over the new Chevy Chase extension of the Flintridge bridge trails and participated later in a formal opening celebration at the Flintridge stables. Universal enthusiasm for the tree clad beauties of the Chevy Chase trails was expressed by these riders, who are familiar with all the most beautiful sections of the southland.

A score or more of wild deer were encountered by one group of riders and hundreds of grey squirrels and quail were put to rout for the first time in over fifteen years by this gay cavalcade. In addition to the construction of new bridge paths it is stated that the golf links, club house, swimming pool, tennis courts and other recreational facilities in the center of Chevy Chase will be commenced as soon as possible.

TWO-DAY MEET OF REALTORS AT OAKLAND

State Body Sets April 17 For Conference About Various Subjects

President D. Richard Ainsley of the California Real Estate association announces that plans are well under way for a big two-day conference of California realtors at the Hotel Oakland, Oakland, on the subjects of Industries, Multiple Listing of Property, and Own Your Home and Homebuilders and Subdividers, to be held on Friday and Saturday, April 17 and 18. The conference will be held under the auspices of the Oakland Real Estate board. President Fred R. Caldwell and Secretary Bevins Austin of the board are putting forth every effort to make the meeting a success, with the co-operation of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, acting through Director W. L. Miller. Welcome will be extended to all other local civic organizations who desire to participate and attend.

Members of the new industries committee of the Chamber of Commerce will be present at the industrial conference, to be held on Friday morning, the 17th, with luncheon. W. H. Dunn of Los Angeles is the state chairman of the Realtors' industrial program.

Friday afternoon and night will be devoted to the multiple listing of property, in co-operation with the Oakland board and the Oakland Multiple Listing association, of which Fred Howe is president, and O. C. Gould, secretary. Henry E. Nightingale of the Southwest Realty board of Los Angeles, is the multiple listing chairman of the state association.

All day Saturday will be devoted to the "Own Your Home" movement. Fred T. Wood, of Oakland, state chairman of the California Real Estate association Homebuilders' and Subdividers' division, will co-operate with the State Own Your Home chairman, Clifton J. Platt, of Pasadena. The national homebuilders' chairman, Bert L. Clogston of Los Angeles, will also co-operate with the State association.

It is estimated that more than 500 realtors from the San Francisco bay and adjacent territory will attend these conferences. All realty men and women are invited.

100 Assistants Named By National Realtors

The National association of Real Estate boards, in order to carry the message of the realtor to more brokers and to be more closely in contact with its member boards, has this year named more than a hundred men as assistants to the vice-presidents in their respective territories. These assistants will visit the local boards and bring to the attention of the members the work which the National association is doing, as well as its ideas and policies. They also will assist the local boards in activities which the National association is prepared to further.

The following have been named to assist Vice-President Fred E. Reed of Oakland: From California—A. E. Hargrove, Anaheim; C. A. Ricks, Martinez; Stephen Barnson, San Diego; St. George Holden, San Francisco; William H. Akin, Los Angeles; and Jesse J. Inman, Stockton. From Arizona: Herbert Drachman, Tucson. Mr. Drachman is a brother of A. P. Drachman, director of the California Real Estate association.

State Realty Man On Mediterranean Tour

W. I. Hollingsworth, chairman of the Irrigation and Reclamation committee of the California Real Estate association, is touring the countries bordering on the Mediterranean, and will not return to Los Angeles until late in May or early in June. Mr. and Mrs. Hollingsworth are aboard the steamer Rotterdam, and were at Alexandria on March 9. They will be in Naples on March 21 and in Rome until April 15. During the next thirty days mail addressed care Bankers Trust company, No. 3 Place Vendome, Paris, France, will reach the chairman.

The California Real Estate association news department is keeping Chairman Hollingsworth apprised of news events in the Golden state.

'Monte Carlo' Claimed Opposite Sacramento

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 21.—Alleging that a "Monte Carlo" second to none in the United States is located immediately across the river from Sacramento at Washington, and accusing the Yolo county authorities of tolerating law violation, City Councilman O. H. S. Bidwell was overruled by other members of the council when he asked that the Sacramento police interfere on the ground that local officers had no jurisdiction.

Gamblers' row, as it is called, immediately across the Yolo county line, consists of a long stretch of one-story structures brilliantly lighted and financed by Chinese. According to Councilman Bidwell the patronage comes entirely from Sacramento working men.

SAFETY MOVE

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The National Safety council and Secretary Herbert Hoover's committee on safety have requested the co-operation of the Playground and Recreation association of America in promoting the safety movement.

HOMESEEEKERS PLAN URGED BY STATE

Five Party Plan Needed Is Claim; Realtors' Body Told Of Scheme

The state of California needs the five-party homeseekers' rate to build up its colonist business, according to Herman Janss, who is in charge of the James ranch colonization, writing of his five months' experiences at the Chicago office, saying that sales of land were becoming quite active, that during the early part of February a large number of middle-western farmers visited his California holdings and made investments.

The Imperial Valley Farm Land conference adopted the five-party resolution and forwarded copies of it to the Western Passenger association and to H. H. Richardson of Jacksonville, Fla., chairman of the homeseekers' rate committee for the National association of Real Estate boards.

Dr. Janss declares that not since 1919 has there been such an opportunity for the farm land dealer as is presented now. It looks as if the farmer's economic position were going to be strengthened all the time, he wrote to the conference, that his buying power was going to increase very materially, all of which is reflected in the showing of the great mail order houses, big packing corporations and all those who deal directly with the farmer.

Good Business Seen
Forecasting an avalanche of buyers for California farm lands, Janss says this presents a wonderful opportunity for most profitable and constructive work for all realtors to lay the foundation and prepare themselves for a great rush of buyers that are surely coming. "California certainly does need farmers to produce the dairy products that we now are importing, the port products that we are shipping in and to replace the Japanese, who have handled so many thousands of acres of truck and fruit farming," he concluded. "There are many people going to California, more are to follow, and I see a great opportunity for great profit for the farm land dealer for the next three years."

VOTE FOR JAS. M. RHOADES Formerly Secretary of Glendale Chamber of Commerce For Councilman 'I Pledge Myself for an Economic Business Administration' Election Tuesday, April 14, 1925 Glendale, Calif.

Mr. Rhoades was mayor of Missoula, Montana, 1912 to 1914. The following letter from Mr. Frank Thomas of that city, a banker and big property owner, is self explanatory:

Frank Thomas, Hammond Building, Missoula, Mont. Glendale Evening News, Glendale, Calif.

Have just learned through friends in your city that Jas. M. Rhoades is a candidate for city commissioner of Glendale. When I learned that, my first thought was: 'Is there any way that I can help Jim?' I went to the Missoulian office, found the names of the papers published in Glendale and from the number selected yours.

I want to bear testimony to the solid worth, the sterling character and the splendid ability of Jim Rhoades. He was for a good many years one of Missoula's most active and most useful citizens. He senses, in an almost uncanny way, opportunities for civic development and improvement and he has a way of putting over his ideas with little fuss and splendid results.

For two years Mr. Rhoades was mayor of Missoula. He made good. That tells the story. His whole thought was given and his whole effort was put forth to further the growth and development of this city. The results were phenomenal.

The voters of Glendale know what they want. Certainly it is not for me to advise them. But I take the liberty of saying that if they elect Jim Rhoades he will give a good account of his stewardship. He will serve the city faithfully, intelligently and efficiently.

Yours truly, (Signed) FRANK THOMAS.

GIANT IS NEWEST CABINET MEMBER

Attorney-General Sargent Is Six Feet, Six Inches, Weighs 250 Pounds

By ROBERT T. SMALL Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925. WASHINGTON, March 21.—Another man with a sap-bucket has come to Washington, come from the green hills that nurtured Calvin Coolidge. The newcomer is a giant, almost as big as a full-grown male hippopotamus. Standing six feet six and weighing in the neighborhood of 250 pounds, John Garibaldi Sargent, the new attorney general of the United States comes to the capital with a physique that is said by those who know him well to coincide with his mental equipment and processes.

President Coolidge in an extremity has once more called upon his little circle of New England intimates and he seems never to call in vain. Mr. Sargent, however, is not a member of the so-called "Amherst block." As a matter of fact, he is a Tufts graduate and in his football days was an "enemy"—an enemy to be feared, for on the gridiron he was known as "Jumbo" and in those days of mass play, a "Jumbo" at center rush was a formidable specimen.

Typical New Englander John Garibaldi Sargent is typical of New England where he has spent all his life. He is as typical as Calvin Coolidge himself, and, if it could ever be said that the president had a chum, John Garibaldi Sargent was the person. He is twelve years older than the president, being now in his fifth year. But Mr. Sargent got a late start in the educational world and was still in the Black River academy at Ludlow, Vermont, preparing for college when Calvin Coolidge, an "elderly" youth, entered as a freshman. Sargent made himself a sort of guardian for "Cal" and kept the other boys from hazing the silent newcomer too much.

In growing to fuller manhood, Mr. Sargent became a friend and companion of both Calvin Coolidge and his father, Colonel John. He came to the inauguration with Colonel John and "set 'em up" to the Pullman and railroad tickets, according to the narrative as told in Washington today.

Good Fisherman The new attorney general owns a maple grove and knows as much about catching sap as he does about catching trout, and he is rated as one of the very first fishermen of New England. Just as he is called one of the ablest attorneys of that section. For four years he was attorney general of the state and while Vermont does not have many very big legal problems before it as a rule, Mr. Sargent is held capable of tackling the biggest things that come the way of the chief law officer of the Federal government.

The new attorney general is the hale and hearty type of New Englander. A lover of the great outdoors, he is a vigorous man and his more than 64 years sit lightly upon a massive frame. John Sargent looks like a man who would slap you on the back, but if he should ever let go with the full force of that great arm, you would find yourself in the middle of next week somewhere.

BILL DING SPEAKS ON LUMBER VIEWS

Service Manager for Bentley Concern Encouraged By Questions Asked

By BILL DING The most encouraging reports the week past have come to my attention that I must congratulate the folks of Glendale in their hearty co-operation in writing their building questions to the Bill Ding department of Bentley Lumber Co. as requested in the columns of The Glendale Evening News a short time ago. As my mail is entirely too voluminous for one person to read, I rarely personally see the many letters which I am told are coming in and which I suppose contain with the building information desired such phrases as: "Go to it, Old Man." "Don't give up." "Good work." "Fire."

The editorials I write for you are worth what one man thought (at the time he wrote them) and no more. The advertisements are facts. So kindly turn to the proper page, stop, look, read, then build a home. Buying building material from Bentley Lumber Co. is like buying a Packard automobile. You get the quality, service, satisfaction you pay for.

Aero Deos They had an aero deos out at the Glendale flying field, and I like other loyal Glendaleans attended. In fact my twin brother was there, if you saw us you know what I'm talking about otherwise you missed something. Well anyway when Al came tumbling out of the sky and did a little flip-flop for the amusement of the crowd I most had heart failure. If I'd thought in time I'd have given him my old left leg which is a wooden one anyway, and he might have had enough sticks to nail up the old boat and continue flying. Well anyway I'm glad everything was successful and everybody had their money's worth and no one appeared at the box office wanting their price of admission returned. That's one thing we like to

Candidate

M. E. PLASTERER, who has entered the race for city treasurer to succeed J. C. Sherer.

M. E. Plasterer of 1124 East California avenue, candidate for the office of city treasurer at the election of April 14, has had twenty-four years of accounting and business experience. For fourteen years he has been a Glendale resident and property owner, coming to this city in 1911. Prior to that, for ten years, Mr. Plasterer was assistant chief clerk to the division engineer, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad Co. Immediately after his arrival in Glendale, he entered the employ of the Pacific Electric Railway Co., in the office of the chief engineer.

Mr. Plasterer resigned from this position in February, 1912, and became a general office manager and cashier for the Los Angeles factory branch of the Olds Motor Works, Lansing, Mich. He remained with this company and its successors, as secretary-treasurer, until 1920, when the business was sold to San Francisco interests.

Long Experience Mr. and Mrs. Plasterer are well known in Glendale and have many friends. Mrs. Plasterer is a member of the Tuesday Afternoon club and was its treasurer during the period when the new building was being erected. They have two children in the city schools. It is because of his long experience as an auditor and treasurer that Mr. Plasterer's friends have urged him to run for the office of city treasurer. They recognize that he has had a thorough business training and feel that, if elected, he would fill the office efficiently.

"I am a candidate for the office of city treasurer because I feel that I am well qualified and because it is the kind of work I understand and like. I am neither a politician nor an orator and I can promise only that if elected, I will serve the city faithfully to the full extent of my ability and experience. Glendale has long been my home. My family here and my heart is here. It is my city and I believe in it 100 per cent. I would be proud to be treasurer of the city of Glendale."

W.C.T.U. Protests Use Of Girl Pictures In Ads

A resolution protesting against the use of pictures of women and girls as a commercial medium was unanimously passed yesterday at the all-day meeting of the W. C. T. U., held in the home of Mrs. C. W. Ingledue at 501 East Wilson avenue. Copies of the resolution will be sent to the county and state W. C. T. U. Mrs. C. W. Bacon, president, conducted the business meeting, which was held in the morning and during which time the resolution was passed. A picnic lunch was served at the noon hour. Mrs. Eva M. Hutton conducted the devotional service. Reports from officers and department superintendents were given during the afternoon.

The main interest centered in the report of Mrs. J. H. Daugherty, superintendent of scientific temperance instruction in public schools. Mrs. Daugherty reported that she had secured temperance essays from fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grade pupils of Glendale grammar schools, 150 essays being in the hands of the committee at the present time. Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, James F. McBryde and Rev. Leo C. Kline are members of the committee who will judge them. Local prizes for the two best essays will be given and the winning essays will be sent to the county and state W. C. T. U. for the awarding of prizes.

SHEPHERD, FAIMAN STRANGE FIGURES

Principals In McClintock Murder Mystery Stand For Opposite Types

By MARGARET DALE Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925. CHICAGO, March 21.—Two strange and diverse personalities will be the central figures in Chicago's next sensational murder trial—William Darling Shepherd, who, the papers charge, talked his way into $2,000,000 and Dr. Charles C. Faiman, who bought a university for $250. Their indictment for the murder of Young William McClintock, the "millionaire orphan," followed quickly on the heels of the man's confession that he furnished Shepherd with typhoid germs to feed to McClintock after the latter had made him his heir.

Seventeen years, the state charges, Shepherd had plotted to get the fortune that had been left to Young McClintock. Known in his company during the Spanish-American war as "Ananias Bill," the "most pleasant liar in the company," according to testimony of his commander, Shepherd had little trouble talking his way into the good graces of Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock, mother of Billy.

Product of Slums Shepherd was born in Southern Indiana and spent his early life in a tiny corner of the Indianapolis slums. His stepfather maintained a coal peddling establishment in his back yard and here young Shepherd worked, while his mother told fortunes. He puttered around law offices somewhat and finally drifted into the wholesale drug business, moving to Salina, Kansas. There he met and married his present wife, Julia Garf, the daughter of a Kansas barber. With this added responsibility he moved back to Indianapolis to learn that an old acquaintance, Emma Nelson had married William McClintock, a millionaire. Shortly after that McClintock died in an automobile accident and Shepherd took up his abode with Mrs. McClintock and her young son, William Nelson. When Mrs. McClintock died mysteriously, the Shepherds took the little boy, heir to the millions.

Lived On Income Through the years Shepherd has lived from his income as administrator of the estate of Young Billy McClintock. He has wanted for nothing, and was on the verge of coming into the entire fortune as the legal beneficiary of Billy's will, when trouble developed. Faiman, the other character in the alleged conspiracy, developed in about two years from a struggling young bacteriologist, graduate of a physicians' and surgeons' college of St. Louis, into a "universally president" with self-assumed authority to give degrees in almost anything. Faiman himself, and members of the alleged faculty of his school, are weighted down under a heavy array of distinguished degrees and titles such as befit some much honored professor of a leading university.

Diploma Mill His institution, operated in a three-story stone house out on South Michigan avenue here, is described by state authorities as a "diploma mill." But Dr. Faiman himself is spoken of as a genius in bacteriology, although he wandered considerably afield in his university works.

But even in his unlicensed institution, contagious germs in quantities sufficient to cause a serious outbreak of disease, were readily available. It was the possession of these germs, it is alleged that introduced Shepherd and brought together these aged collaborators in crime.

PREMIER LAUNDRY CONTEST IS PLAN

Glendale Concern To Offer Prizes For Number Of Customers A unique contest is being started Monday by the Premier laundry, corner of Pacific avenue at Arden street. It is open to school boys and girls of all ages, and the feature of the contest is that each boy or girl may win one or more of the premiums offered.

The rules of the contest make it imperative that each contestant register at the Premier laundry or at Cornwell & Kelly Hardware Co., 107 South Brand boulevard. The prizes have been selected with great care from the stocks of Cornwell & Kelly Hardware Co., and there is a great variety. The contestants are to get their relatives, friends or neighbors to send their laundry to the Premier laundry, and then the prizes are awarded on the number of new customers each contestant gets. He may get as many as he desires.

Display of Premiums A great many of the premiums will be on display in the show windows of the Cornwell & Kelly hardware store Monday and all next week, and the boys and girls are cordially invited to visit the store and see what is offered.

No credit will be allowed for customers who are already sending their laundry to this laundry; it is on new accounts only that credit will be allowed. The end of the contest is Monday, April 6.

CATHEDRAL PLANS By expenditure of $10,000,000, St. Paul's cathedral of London may be rebuilt so that it will be safe for another thousand years, says the city surveyor.

Buy or Build Right Now!

The accompanying plan is of a model small home. It is declared to be an ideal one. Right now is the time to buy or build, declare experts. The youth of today should plan for the future—and real estate will assure his future.

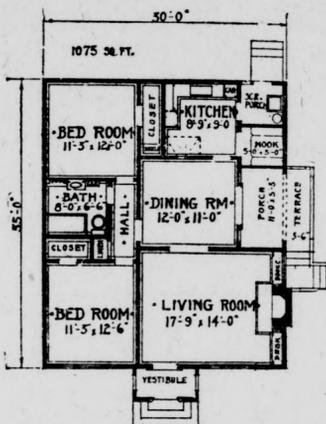

Opportunity is youth standing at every man's door year in and year out, urging him to leave the crowded quarters of the city and seek a little home surrounded by well kept grounds in the outskirts. Now is the time to buy or build the home that will bring happiness and more of living into life.

The accompanying plan is of a model small home in which is reflected detail and competent execution not usually found in home plans as small as this. Not only has every department of the exterior been considered but the rooms themselves are just as compact and convenient as possible.

The detailed fireplace with bookcases and writing desk, the spacious closets, the well arranged bath and modern kitchen are features which hold special appeal to the housewife.

Further information concerning these plans can be obtained from the building department of The Glendale Evening News.

CONCRETE SUPER-TILE WORKS HERE

Local Resident Enters Field Of Manufacturers With 'Wet Mix' Brand

Making Glendale a building material center seems to be the popular pastime of this city's manufacturers. One of the latest additions to our manufacturing area is the "Wet Mix," poured concrete Super Tile factory, 809 West Doran, owned and operated by F. F. McElman, who resides at 806 West Doran.

Although a concrete worker of long experience having twelve years' service in the concrete line, devoting the past four years in work around Glendale, Mr. McElman has been operating as an independent producer for only the past six weeks. "However," states Mr. McElman, "Production has been exceptionally good, and during the past week I have landed several large jobs which speak for the high-quality super-tile which we are placing on the market."

"The type of concrete tile is of the wet mix nature being dense, strong and water proof. We mold the concrete in steel shells until set, which insures a perfect, square, uniform and non-sagging concrete tile." This firm makes the tile in two standard sizes, namely: 4x6x12 and 4x8x12.

LIGHTING FIXTURE VALUE EXPLAINED

Mrs. V. V. Naudain Tells Of Value Of Electricity To Happy Home

By MRS. V. V. NAUDAIN
In charge of Fixture Department, Glendale Electric Co.

The decoration of a room has often told stories of culture or happiness, of tragedy or indifference, which the home-owners would never dream of confiding, and, particularly, the lighting decorations. Beauty in decoration of the lighting fixtures is as important as the great factor of correct lighting of the room of the space concerned. How pleasing it is to have the correct light wherever one needs it. The daintily-decorated wall light, properly shaded on each side of a dressing table is often the secret of the perfectly-dressed lady, so often envied. Semi-darkness of the mirrors has often caused misuse of the lipstick or brow-pencil.

Long Living Room
The long living room, which is so ideal would be a monotony to the home dweller were it not for the artistic bracket lights which break the long walls and add the comforts of the right light in the right place. And they can be harmonious and correct when selected to suit the details of the room. An occasional graceful lamp with a shade of colors selected after study of color tones in the room has a value of beauty and comfort, too.

The Glendale Electric Co. is always ready to assist in planning your lighting correctly. Their years of experience will guide you in obtaining the correct lighting effects and styles.

17,470 Register For Coming April Election

Over 2000 Glendale voters waited to the last minute to register for the forthcoming municipal election and, as a result, caused Glen E. Chapman, official license clerk for the city, a lot of extra work. The first list of registered voters has already been prepared and copies printed. A supplementary list, bearing the names of those who put off registering until the last minute is now being prepared by Mr. Chapman for addition to the general list. A total of 17,470 persons in the city have registered and are eligible to vote at the coming election. A. J. Van Wie, city clerk, announced.

CUSTER ROOFING ADVANTAGE TOLD

Rainy Season Keeps Local Concern On Jump, Owner Says

"Locking the barn after the horse is stolen, is just as foolish and useless, as trying to repair a leaky roof when it's raining," said Bailey H. Custer, of the Custer Pesch Roof Co., today, when he explained the importance of keeping roofs in first-class condition during the various seasons of the year.

Outstanding among the roofing materials which this concern highly recommended for Southern California roofs, is the composition shingle. This type of roof-covering has been found to be particularly adaptable for long service in California, withstanding the rigor of sunshine, rain and snow in a very satisfactory manner, it is pointed out.

The nearness of the spring rainy season is keeping our roofing department on the jump, Mr. Custer stated, but we are amply prepared to meet any service demands that may be made upon us. Special terms for payment of roofing charges is proving to be a popular feature of our service, he said.

VALUE IN ASPHALT SHINGLE IS TOLD

Artistic Effects Gained By Their Use Described By Pioneer Firm

Lending themselves to beautiful and enduring artistic effects, asphalt shingles are coming into widespread use in this territory for covering residences, schools, churches and other types of structures where permanent, artistic roofs are desired, according to C. F. Stepler of the C. F. Stepler Pioneer Shingle Co. of this city.

"Architects, building contractors and home owners are recognizing more and more the value of permanent, artistic roofs and are specifying in the majority of structures the use of asphalt shingles for covering roofs," Mr. Stepler said. "Asphalt shingles of the Pioneer Paper Co. of Los Angeles are manufactured in subduing tones of red, sage green, blue black and golden brown, harmonizing with the latest ideas in architecture."

"The manufacture of asphalt shingles is an industrial romance, in reality, old rags, gathered from all parts of the world, are imported every month by the thousands of tons for use in the manufacturing processes. More than 2000 tons per month of asphalt, which is a by-product in the refinement of petroleum and a former waste product, is made use of by the Pioneer Paper Co. in the production of its various manufactures. Distribution and application of asphalt shingles of the Pioneer Paper Co. is handled in this territory by the C. F. Stepler Pioneer Shingle Co. and the Custer & Pesch Pioneer Shingle Co., both independent concerns. The two firms are under license agreement with the Los Angeles company."

Unique, Original Design

These plans were submitted by John T. Bibb, the well known designer and builder. They make a home of unusual charm. Mr. Bibb will be pleased to give further information to any interested in these or other plans.

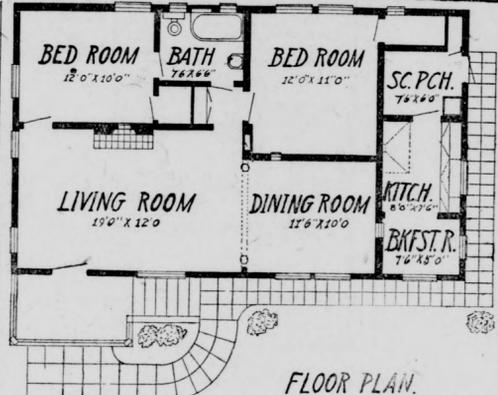

The accompanying plans were submitted by John T. Bibb, designer and builder. The plans shown are not of a large house, in total area, but the notable feature of the arrangement is the entire elimination of waste. An allowance is made for liberal size rooms, yet every square foot of the house is utilized.

All of the daytime rooms are on the front of the house, which is a very attractive feature.

This plan is particularly well designed for a hillside lot, as it permits a good view from the living room, dining room, kitchen and breakfast nook.

The exterior is very unique and original in design and makes a home of unusual charm.

Mr. Bibb planned this house so that it can be built on a hillside lot at only a slightly greater cost than on a level lot. And in either case the cost is surprisingly moderate. Mr. Bibb will be pleased to give any further information regarding these plans, or others, to those interested.

EDUCATORS PILOT INFANT PRODIGES

Over-Precocious Children in Certain Lines to Be Denied College

By EDNA MARSHALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, March 21.—If a campaign being waged in New York now succeeds there will be no more child wonders to be bragged about by fond teachers and parents and to startle the world with their infantile prowess. Youths still in short trousers and girls with braids hanging down their backs will vanish from the college campus. Books of verse and philosophy, pictures, statues and other works of art by nine, ten and eleven-year-olds will not appear on commercial markets or in masterful exhibits.

Whether school children, over-precocious in certain lines, should be pushed through the lower grades and into colleges or responsible positions at 14, 15 and 16 years old is a problem which has long faced school authorities. For years it has been allowed. College professors have boasted the brilliancy of their most youthful students. In the last year alone several hundred girls and boys have been graduated from this city's high schools at 14 and 15.

years old, supposedly ready to enter college.

Dean Paul Klapper of the college of the city of New York says that it is all wrong. He said so at a meeting of the New York Society for the Experimental Study of Education. And today a group of more than fifty teachers of the metropolis have rallied to the call, as it were, proclaiming undying opposition to speeding gifted children through school too rapidly, and insisting their intention of doing what they can to ban the practice.

Object in View

To keep the child in high school or its equivalent until he is able to assimilate as well as understand college study is the object of the move, and, if it stands in New York, other cities throughout the United States supposedly will follow suit.

"The 14-year-old high school graduate is a maladjusted child," Dean Klapper says. "He cannot play with 14-year-olds; neither can he play safely with college students who seem to be his mental equals."

"Education is no fixed quantity of subject matter to be forcibly fed to youth, a treatment to be done with, but it is a process of living."

The 14-year-old child in college, he maintains, no matter how brilliant he may be in learning his lessons, does not assimilate them properly and does not know how to work his learning into his plan of living. Eminent psychologists the country over have opined that the fact that Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, famous Chicago boy murderers, learned philosophy which was far beyond their powers of assimilation, led them to misconstrue it so that it ended tragically in the death of Bobby Franks last fall.

And then, again, the "revolutionists" proclaim, publishing the writings of children as great works of art, giving them the stage as fine musicians, is harmful in that it is a strain on their undeveloped strength; it may turn their heads from more thoughtful effort, and it gives them little future to work for. Better far, it is said, to allow a child to develop to maturity with no claim to fame, and when fully developed, to burst forth with all the pent talent, thought and learning of years, fully assimilated, to be used to the best advantage.

Dean Klapper maintains it is better to keep a superior child in school longer, to enrich its education by the addition of a variety of manual and trade experiences, by music, by physical activities, by club life, by visits to museums, by extensive reading of fiction, current events and biography, than to rush him into college or into the world, where work is so tense there is small time for these.

AUXILIARY HEARS REPORTS OF WORK

Woman Gives Account of State Meeting Held Last Month in Frisco

Mrs. James F. McBryde, ninth district committeewoman and member of the state executive committee of the American Legion auxiliary, gave a report of the meeting of the state executive committee held March 7 in San Francisco at the meeting last night of Glendale American Legion auxiliary, held in the home of Mrs. Charles Nagle at 221 West Maple avenue.

Mrs. McBryde reported that California sent 4 per cent of the men who served during the World War and that 14 per cent of disabled veterans were in California and 11 per cent of this number located in Southern California. She also told of Poppy Day which would be held during Memorial Day week. The poppies sold on Poppy Day are all made by disabled veterans and the proceeds of the sale are used for rehabilitation work.

Reports from the standing committees were heard. A fund was started for billet work. According to information sent out from state headquarters there will be approximately 30,000 children of disabled veterans in five years, who will need to be cared for.

Mrs. H. C. Smith was appointed chairman of the entertainment committee and Mrs. Charles Nagle was appointed on the refreshment committee. Mrs. E. W. Gilliland, president who directed the meeting, urged the members to assist Mrs. John Robert White, chairman of the Glendale Chapter, American Red Cross, in sewing for the Red Cross on the third Wednesday of each month.

Announcement was made of the installation of officers and initiation of Sierra Madre unit which will be held Thursday night at Monrovia. Mrs. James F. McBryde will install the officers. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held April 3. The American Legion Auxiliary county council will also be held April 3, at which time Mrs. O. D. Oliphant of Trenton, N. J., national president, and Mrs. Lillie Samuels, state president, will be present.

This Is One Way to Claim Train Berth

MANSFIELD, Ohio, March Eng., Mar. 21.—The Prince traveling salesman turned the rare trick of causing a woman to change her mind after it had been absolutely and concretely set.

A middle-aged woman boarded a Pullman sleeper after dark. Although her reservation called for an upper berth she centered her desire on a lower and all the pre-arrangements of the porter and the conductor could not prevent her from clambering into the bed of her choice and going to sleep. The stated fact that a "party down the line is scheduled to occupy this berth" did not deter her.

The traveling salesman who had reserved the lower in question boarded the train. He was confronted by the tale of woe of the porter and conductor. But he wasn't fazed.

Discarding his hat, coat, collar and shoes, he threw them in the berth and said, in effect: "Lady, that's my berth and I'm sure going to take it. You can do as you like about staying there."

Even the famed ladder was not necessary to aid the woman to the upper.

Local Foresters Take In Eleven Candidates

Initiation of eleven candidates was held last night at the meeting of Glendale Court, Independent Order of Foresters, held in the Odd Fellows' hall, 201 West Broadway. Gould H. Warren, chief ranger, presided. New members initiated were: Hugh Crandall, Ed Crandall, Ruth Ryan, Isabel Yates, Jack Grady, William Clark, Gertrude Brownwood, Mary Esther Jones, Thomas Greenwell and Edith Setser. Four applications for membership were read during the business session. Plans for raising funds for a Foresters' hospital in Los Angeles were made. Miss Ruth Ryan was elected recording secretary to fill the vacancy of Miss Norma Doyle, who recently resigned.

HUMAN HEIGHT IS CONTROLLED, CLAIM

California University Doctor Treats Pituitary Gland To Regulate Growth

By THOMAS HORGAN For International News Service. BOSTON, Mar. 21.—If you are a "sawed-off" little person, or if you are tall and husky, this story will interest you.

The "sawed offs" may become tall. Those who soar to an embarrassing altitude may stop growing.

In either case all you will have to do is call in the family doctor. He will merely increase or reduce the nourishment for certain glands of the body. Presto! You may be short or tall as your heart desires.

Dr. Walter B. Cannon explained it all at the Harvard university medical school. He credited Dr. Evans, of the University of California, with the discovery of possible future control of bodily height.

The scheme had been tried on rats. Dr. Cannon displayed lantern slides of two rat proteges of Dr. Evans. One, having had frequent injections of material from the pituitary gland of another animal, had grown one-third larger than the other, which had no injections. Both were of the same litter. The pituitary gland is at the base of the brain and controls the bodily size of animals and human beings, according to Dr. Cannon.

Pituitary Gland
Under-development of this gland causes dwarfish stature and abnormally slender legs and arms. Likewise, over-development reacts the other way. So watch the pituitary gland.

Dr. Cannon told of an eight-foot, six-inch man in Ireland who used to light his pipe at street lamp posts. He was found, after death, to have had an over-developed pituitary gland.

Two-thirds of the bodily substance is water, Dr. Cannon pointed out. "Adequate salts, particularly lime for forming bones, is derived from customary foods, especially wheat and milk," he asserted.

"Butter fat," he continued, "is essential for growth, also nitrogen, which it is essential the farmers

United Workmen Honor Fourth Anniversary

Glendale lodge of Ancient Order of United Workmen celebrated its fourth birthday Thursday night with initiation of nine candidates and a program in Hahn's auditorium, 109-A North Brand boulevard. E. T. Lisle, state manager, was guest of honor, giving the history of Glendale. Joe V. Griffin was master of ceremonies.

The program included saxophone and piano duet, Frank Howe and Mrs. Fatland; cornet and piano duet, Wilbur Abbot and Mrs. Fatland; reading, Robert Howes; reading, Lorena Davenport, 4 years old; recitation, C. A. Gallup, W. A. Bancroft, each past 75 years of age; novelty dances by Dorothy Phelps, pupil of Pearl Keller; musical reading, novelty dance by pupils of Bernice Sibek.

The lodge's five-piece orchestra, directed by Mrs. Mary R. Morrow, furnished music for dancing. Visitors were present from Owensmouth and Los Angeles.

Resident Formerly Of Storm Area, Gets News

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Rollins of 655 West Wilson avenue were fully convinced this morning that they are glad to be residents of Glendale and Southern California, for they received a telegram stating that the roof of the house they formerly occupied in Murphysboro, Ill., was completely blown off by the recent cyclone. The telegram was from the tenant, and said, "Roof blown off house in cyclone and windows out."

Mr. Rollins owns another and larger house in Murphysboro, and he is anxiously awaiting word as to how it weathered the storm. He had had a telegram from his nephew's family that they were unharmed. Mr. Rollins states that he knows many of those whose names appeared in the list of fatalities.

Whitney and son, Walter, Mr. and Mrs. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Green, Mr. and Mrs. Borchard, Ralph Sutherland, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Lambert and William C. Casselman, the latter two being daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Casselman.

Let It Rain

Nobody troubles to repeat "rain, rain, go away," if she has an English raincoat for the water-proofed garments can be and are most charming. The newest, according to London advices, feature faint, soft-colored overchecks with raglan sleeves, and loose rippling backs.

Long, sweeping narrow trains are a feature of the London season. Americans who have a part in the social life of the English capital say these are so long that they are frequently looped to the left wrist so that they can be handled in a crowded ballroom.

Bandeaux Reversed

Evening coiffures in Paris are being decorated in the back instead of in the front. The very newest bandeaux reverse the usual designs.

For example, a broad band of pearl embroidered velvet holds the back of the bob in place and fastens with a narrow band across the forehead ending in a jeweled clasp.

Another design is composed of three bands of pearls which pass around the back of the head and end in a medallion of black and white enamel in the center of the forehead.

Warren Episode

The Warren episode, however, has created an unexpected situation. Here at the very outset of the Coolidge administration a coalition of Democrats, western Republicans and Independents took control of the Senate. This means that Mr. Coolidge's conservatism will have to run the gauntlet of a combined opposition in the next Congress. It means that the real leader of the Senate is William E. Borah, of Idaho, and that men like Norris, of Nebraska, Hiram Johnson, of California, Howell of Nebraska, Consens of Michigan, McMaster and Norbeck of South Dakota, all re-elected on the regular Republican ticket by large majorities still consider themselves not far apart from the men who were "disciplined" by the Senate.

In a word, the liberals or progressives as they style themselves, control the United States Senate. And President Coolidge will have

Political Expert Sees Rule Controlled By Crowd Of Progressives

The unanimous vote on the confirmation of John C. Sargent to be attorney general was intended to show President Coolidge that no motive of partisanship lay behind the recent rejection of Mr. Warren's name. The Senate accepted without question, Mr. Coolidge's appointment of his close personal friend. That has been the custom in the past in almost every case. The Warren case simply involved objections based upon sugar trust connections and the evidence was largely in Mr. Warren's own letters as read into the record of congressional investigating committees.

The senators who fought Warren would have confirmed almost anyone else without question. They hesitated about Harlan F. Stone for a little while only but confirmed him for the Supreme court bench almost by a unanimous vote for there was nothing objectionable in his record; in fact his very independence of politics and his willingness to go before the Senate judiciary committee won him their friends.

GLENDALE ART CLUB HEARS MRS. SMITH

Member University Faculty Recounts Modern Work To Members

"Recognition of Beauty" was the theme of the talk given last night by Mrs. B. Kirk Smith, of the University of Southern California before the Glendale Art association at the regular meeting at the Van Grove studio, 337 North Brand boulevard. She said:

"We cannot speak of anything new in art; we can only recall things you already know; art is simply the way of living, the matter of making choice. Art begins in the process of thinking; right thinking is militant; if you think right, you are moved to act; speaking from the standpoint of the teacher, if environment of home is such that a child grows up in an atmosphere of cultural beauty. As a community, we endure ugly things because sometimes we are lazy things; we do not think in the right way to bring about the changes we desire.

"The next step is feeling. Society does not want art, but wants something that gives the right feeling. Feeling creates ambition that is never satisfied but keeps striving to reach farther; beauty also means 'doing.' A writer recently said: 'Art is doing anything well.' The duty we owe to others that are to follow after us lies in doing all we can to create the right environment for them."

Speaking of the wrong use of beauty, and the difference between decoration and design she said: "I never think of a beautiful picture as a decoration but as something to be loved. Self-expression is the unconscious expression of personality."

Modern Art

She touched on "Modern Art" and the difference between motif and beauty in ultra-modern painting; the art of using as well as designing; the work in composition that means harmony, and loveliness, that is reached by these three steps, right thinking, right feeling, and right doing.

Mrs. Smith then had her talk with a number of designs from the brushes of her classes at the university, including many original designs for unusual pottery, wrought iron pieces, jewelry, mosaics, and many others, and spoke of the great variety of thought behind the patterns.

Mrs. Roy A. Ballagh, president, conducted the business meeting before the lecture; it was decided to make all nominations from the floor at the coming elections for officers for the next year.

Art Center Report

John W. Cotton, presented a gratifying report from the committee appointed recently to meet with the Chamber of Commerce in regard to the movement toward securing an art center in the city. Mrs. Ballagh announced an "Allied Art Evening" will be held at the Van Grove studio, March 29, for the purpose of bringing creative people of the city together, and recommending the exhibit by French impressionists now being held at the Biltmore, as well worth a visit from the club members, the musicals being conducted by the board of the Southwest Museum at the Biltmore, and the coming meeting of the Los Angeles district Estedford that is to be held in Glendale, April 26 to May 2, inclusive. Books containing rules for the contests are ready to be issued. At the social hour, refreshments were served by Mrs. H. J. Horn and Mrs. Lillian Housell.

Laguna Exhibit

A delight to the members of the Art association which came as a surprise to many at the meeting last night, was the Laguna traveling exhibit of beautiful paintings that were hung Friday in the Van Grove studio. This exhibit is open to the public and all art lovers should take advantage of this unusual treat. Among the prominent artists represented are: Karl Yens, R. HEAVY TRAFFIC IN ATWATER DISTRICT

Check by Auto Club Shows Popularity Of Boulevard for Travel; Seek Action on Lights and School

Figures just released by the Automobile Club of Southern California showing Glendale boulevard in the vicinity of the Los Angeles river where the boulevard spans the gulch to be the busiest thoroughfare in the San Fernando valley place the number of motor-driven vehicles crossing the bridge each day at approximately 16,000. On Sundays, it is pointed out, the travel is even much heavier.

A check of Glendale boulevard traffic was made recently by the auto club and it is from this check that the figures released today have been derived. From 6 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock at night the cars were counted by special scouts placed by the club. A total of 15,800 passenger automobiles and trucks passed the checking station during the sixteen hours.

Statements Not True

Printed statements to the effect that if the proposed pedestrian tunnel at Atwater avenue and Glendale boulevard is not provided for in a bond issue that residents of Angelus Park who have children attending the Atwater school will have to stand the cost of the tube are absolutely incorrect, executive officers of the Atwater Improvement association stated after a conference with City Clerk Robert Dominguez today.

Efforts to have bonds voted for the drilling of a number of school crossing tunnels will be made at the forthcoming election. In the event that the bond issue fails or that it is not placed on the ballot, the only way a pedestrian tunnel can be had will be through a petition signed by all residents of the Atwater district, it was stated. In this event the assessment district will include all parts of the tract and not the Angelus Park section exclusively.

A communication to P. E. Lipscomb, secretary of the Improvement association, from William A. Sheldon, secretary of the Los Angeles school board, contains the information that the board of education has already a pedestrian tunnel at Atwater avenue and Glendale boulevard. This recommendation has been forwarded to the Los Angeles Traffic commission, and in the event bonds for tunnels are voted the Atwater crossing will be one of the first to be taken care of.

Resolutions For Action

A dozen large property owners met at 3175 Los Feliz boulevard last night and with W. A. Kelley as presiding officer of the session passed resolutions calling for definite action on street lights and the proposed new school for the Angelus Park district. Those who attended the meeting were all property owners on the north side of Glendale boulevard, where a controversy over street lights has been waged for some weeks. A new school plant would be to the decided advantage of residents in this section, as children now have to attend the Atwater school, nearly two miles away, and across the Pacific Electric right-of-way.

The meeting went on record authorizing the chairman to present a motion at the next meeting of the Atwater Improvement association calling for reconsideration of the association's action in endorsing Marbelite electric light standards and requesting that all further efforts by the association to circulate protest petitions against metal standards be abandoned.

In a second resolution the representatives at the meeting moved to go before the improvement

CITY TO JOIN IN EASTER SERVICES

Community Club, Churches To Unite In Early Morn At Forest Lawn

The city churches and Glendale Community Service will join again this year for early morning services on Easter Sunday, April 12, when the rising of the sun will be greeted by beautiful devotional music on Mount Forest Lawn in the southern part of the city.

The people will gather around the newly-completed Tower of Legends on the hill and pastors of the local churches and singers and other musicians from Glendale and surrounding communities will unite in offering the numbers. A brief Easter message will also be given by an outstanding Christian leader of Southern California.

Musical Numbers

Musical numbers will include an anthem by a choir formed by the Glendale Choral club and church singers, accompanied by the Glendale Symphony orchestra, and by Harold Proctor, Los Angeles soloist. The rising of the sun at 5:20 in the morning will be greeted by a cornet solo, "The Holy City," played by L. E. Wilbur, accompanied by the orchestra. The audience will join with the choir for several hymns.

Buglers from the Boy Scout troops will wake the people in time for the service and special cars will be provided by the Pacific-Electric and the Glendale-Montrose lines. Large attendance from all surrounding cities is anticipated. Glendale's service being one of the largest and most centrally located in the district.

Committee Named

The committee in charge of arrangements is as follows: George J. Lyons, Elwood Ingledue, V. M. Hollister, Francis Gordon and R. Ernest Tucker.

The first of two rehearsals for the big chorus will occur in the Harvard High school auditorium at 8 o'clock on next Monday evening, March 23, with singers from many cities in attendance. Any Glendale residents experienced in choir work are urged to attend this rehearsal and the second, which will occur on April 6, at the same time and place.

LEGION NOTES

Glendale's fund to aid in the fight for securing for Burbank the proposed site of the University of California, southern branch, is rapidly increasing. Today's report on the fund showed that the contribution made by L. H. Wilson has been raised 100 per cent, and that other contributions have been added.

Church Secures Options

An option on three city lots on Boyce avenue near Appleton street has been taken by the Catholic diocese of Los Angeles and San Diego, it became known today. In the event that options on three other lots can be gotten, giving the church people control of the corner of Boyce avenue and Appleton street, the entire site will be purchased and a church plant erected. Rev. Father Murphy has established his residence in the Atwater district and has taken charge of efforts to organize the new parish which will serve south Glendale, Atwater Park and other adjacent localities. It will be the plan to erect a church building immediately, in the event suitable land is acquired.

Sewers And Sidewalks

Sewers over the entire Atwater district and completion of sidewalks and street paving on streets north of Glendale boulevard have been promised by the city engineer's office by June 1. Preliminary work on the sewer project has already been commenced. Representatives of the engineering department are now canvassing the district, making a check on sewer connections from all residences. Postcards to requesting information that have been mailed to all property owners regarding the sewer work should be filled out and returned immediately, they said. Plans and specifications for street paving and installation of sidewalks on all remaining streets north of Glendale boulevard are now ready and the work will be rushed to conclusion.

Voters Being Registered

Mrs. E. V. Bacon, 3202 Revere street, and Mrs. J. C. Gardner, 2460 Perilla street, have been sworn in as deputy registrars of voters and will make a house-to-house canvass of the Atwater district in an effort to register every eligible voter in the vicinity. All persons wishing to vote at the May election must register thirty days prior to the day of balloting, according to the state law. Registration since January 1, 1925, is required.

School Addition Assured

The proposed addition at the Atwater Grammar school on Atwater avenue is assured regardless of action taken to secure a new school in any other part of the district. Plans are completed and the board of education is now ready to order construction of the addition, according to word contained in letters to P. E. Lipscomb and C. S. Decker from Secretary William A. Sheldon of the board of education.

Mr. Sheldon stated in his communication to Mr. Decker that, although it is impossible to promise a new school for the northern section of the district at present, as funds are not available, further

Farmer Tells Wales He'll Break Neck

MILTON MOWBRAY, Eng., Mar. 19.—The Prince of Wales and Prince Henry drove into a Whitsunday farmyard to mount their horses and join the hunt with the Cotswolds hounds. They were met by the farmer, who entered into conversation with them, without recognizing them.

"I hear the Prince of Wales and his brother are coming here today," the farmer observed.

"I believe they are expected," the prince replied.

"The Prince of Wales will break his neck one of these days, you mark my word," said the farmer.

"I should not be surprised," replied the prince, and rode off.

and friends, snapped into eternity in a twinkling by the awful force of the cyclone.

Today's revised casualty list showed 638 killed by the storm in Illinois; 98 in Indiana; 34 in Tennessee; 10 in Missouri and 18 in Kentucky.

These figures vary but little from the figures of yesterday, and it is believed that the final death totals will bring only minor additions. The exact toll of the storm, Red Cross officials admitted, probably never will be known. There were some victims actually annihilated in the wind terror. Others were removed to different towns. And there may have been scores of visitors in the section who will not be missed for weeks.

There is a possibility that some of the towns will not be rebuilt. Rescue workers say that Parrish and Desoto, Ill., and Griffin, Ind., are virtually completely razed and they intimate that they will be left as they are—a permanent record of the storm.

Sisters Dead Side by Side In Storm Area

HURST, Ill., March 21.—When searchers entered the wreckage of E. Z. Bateman's farm house near here today, they found his two little daughters pinned together by a timber that penetrated both their bodies. Mrs. Bateman was found in a field nearby, every bone in her body broken, and Bateman's body was lying near the children, his skull crushed.

within the city of Los Angeles, offering metropolitan transportation, as it was only twelve miles from the city's center.

For Fullerton, Charles C. Chapman spoke. He said Fullerton offered a site without any strings and would provide for future development of the school.

Harry Cheney told the regents of the advantages of Palos Verdes, declaring it the most attractive site offered.

The Hastings site at Pasadena was praised by J. B. Coulston. He said Pasadena, Monrovia and other surrounding cities were offering the site and were prepared to build a greater school if the southern branch was located in Pasadena.

Coulston said the Huntington site at Pasadena was too small and did not ask that it be considered.

Twenty-one of the twenty-four regents were attending the session. Thirteen of the regents must vote for a site in insurance selection, it was announced.

Charles H. Scott addressed the regents just before noon on the advantages of the Beverly Hills site.

Mrs. Kellogg Given Gem By Queen Of England

LONDON, March 21.—Mrs. Frank B. Kellogg, wife of the secretary of state of the United States, can display a gift from Queen Mary of England.

Just before Mrs. Kellogg left London she received a small box from Buckingham palace. Enclosed therein was a note in the queen's own handwriting, asking her to accept a quantity of brooch, worth three big amethysts and a pearl. This brooch has been worn almost constantly for years by the queen and was one of her favorite jewels. The gift of it to Mrs. Kellogg was a mark of high personal regard from the queen.

DEATHS-FUNERALS

H. A. WILSON

H. A. Wilson died last night, Friday, March 20, 1925, at his home, 125 North Louise street, after an illness of nine months. He was born 58 years ago in Tippecanoe, Ind., and had lived in Glendale fifteen years. Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Nettie Wilson; two sons, Floyd W. Wilson of Hartford, Verne H. Wilson of Glendale; one daughter, Mrs. C. R. Lushy of Glendale; three sisters, Mrs. Frank Nye of Minneapolis, Minn., Mrs. Colton Whitcomb of River Falls, Wis., Mrs. Ida Tait of Yakima, Wash.; and one brother, Joe Wilson of Hamilton, Mont. Funeral services will be held at 10:30 o'clock Monday morning in the parlors of the Jewel City Undertaking Co., 137 North Brand boulevard. Interment will be in Grand View Memorial park.

EVERETT D. LEE

Everett D. Lee, well-known member of Lee Brothers' Shoe Manufacturers of Athol, Mass., who had lived in Southern California twenty-three years, died last night, Friday, March 20, 1925, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Amy Bannister, 4963 Serra Villa drive, Eagle Rock. He was 71 years of age at the time of his death. He had been ill five weeks. Besides Mrs. Bannister, Mr. Lee leaves another daughter, Mrs. Edith Richardson of 4345 Serra Villa drive, Eagle Rock; a sister, Mrs. Carrie Lee Brown; and two grand-daughters, Elizabeth Richardson and Loeta Bannister.

The deceased was a member of Lafayette lodge, F. and A. M., Rockbury, Mass., and at the time of his death was the only living charter member of that lodge. During his residence of six years in Eagle Rock Mr. Lee had made many friends there and in Glendale through his affiliation with Masonic orders. He was a member of Eagle Rock chapter, No. 313, O. E. S.; of Omar Shrine, No. 9, White Shrine of Jerusalem, Glendale; and of Ionic Court, No. 53, Order of Amaranth, Glendale. Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon in the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Memorial park. Rev. Guy McBride of Hollywood, will officiate. Lost Children Wander About Tornado Area

CARBONDALE, Ill., March 21.—A battalion of lost children, many orphaned and nameless, are wandering today about the debris-filled streets of southern Illinois towns, or lying, torn and broken, in emergency hospitals—pitiful offerings on the altar of the wrath of Wednesday's tornado.

They present one of the problems of re-construction. When the final reckoning is over and the cost of human life and property is known, their plight will still be unchanged, as no provisions have yet been made for them.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Anti-Milk
J.—Yes, it is true that the Japanese have practically no milk at all and they are a verile race, but do you know that Japanese children born in this country are uniformly taller and stronger than the boys and girls of the same age in Japan?

Do you know that some of the strongest peoples in the world are large milk and cheese eaters? The Arabs, for instance, are well developed, athletic and courageous, and according to McCollum, while their cupboards contain meat, cereals and dates, they live chiefly upon soured milk—goats', camels'—in the form of cheese, curds, etcetera.

McCullum generalizes as follows: "Where dairy animals are abundant in proportion to the population, a fine physical development is seen."

Fat and Operations
"Dear Doctor Lulu: Dear Helper: I was one of those fat-from-birth women (my age is 44) and had weighed 200 and up for fifteen years or more. I also inherited the tendency. I needed an operation for hernia of twelve years standing, but the surgeon told me I must reduce at least twenty pounds. I considered it hopeless as I had really tried hard to reduce, without success. Under your directions, I reduced thirty-five pounds in three months exactly. Later, when my hernia became strangulated and I had to have an emergency operation, I came through beautifully."

For a while I ceased trying to reduce, but managed to hold my weight for several months. Now, today, I have reached the goal I aimed for—129. As I am not quite five feet tall, I still am not normal weight, but I shall stop for a while now, as you advise. I never felt better, at least not for years. Your advice is so practical and easy for laymen to understand. I shall remember you all my life. Sincerely yours—Mrs. H."

I am glad you wrote, Mrs. H., that I have brought out a point that I have not discussed in the column for a long time—and that is, that fat people are not good operative risks. A surgeon hates to operate upon a fat patient because he doesn't take anesthesia kindly and because fat does not heat readily. He may, unless it is an emergency operation, you will find that a surgeon always advises an overweight patient to reduce before having an operation performed.

You were very fortunate to be where you could have the emergency operation when your hernia became strangulated. It is a very unwise thing to carry around a hernia because of its tendency to get out of the opening in such a manner that it can't be pushed back. Hernias are very easily remedied by an operation and this should be done if abdominal exercises fail to effect a closing.

Congratulations on your good results in reducing and your recovery, and many thanks for writing.

A. M.—Bleeding between the periods is abnormal and should be investigated immediately. It may be due to a very simple thing that can be removed easily, if treated in time. If the condition is very successful in certain cases, but you will have to be guided by what your surgeon advises.

My Dear Followers—When sending for material which we offer you stamped envelope bearing your full name and address, the pamphlet is for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters I receive from you, but it is impossible to give you individual answers in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest, I will endeavor to do so. If you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

MAKE-UP FOR PHOTOGRAPHS

Make-up is certainly legitimate when it is done for the benefit of the camera. You must remember, when posing for a picture, that you lose all color and color contrast in a photograph, for instance, the most glorious red hair will come out jet black, that you lose those tiny, fleet expressions which make up the charm of your face, and that you rely on luck that the camera catches something like a true or habitual pose or that you don't come out as stiff as a piece of wood. You have only features to photograph, so if features are not your strong point, you had better keep away from the camera. Or at least, go to high priced people who understand the gentle art of blurring and who will make you look pretty no matter what you are like in real life.

If you are to be photographed, these suggestions will be useful. If your eyebrows aren't prominent enough, make them up with a pencil. Lengthen them a little in any case, and if the lashes are blonde, use that black cream of mine to emphasize them. If your eyes are small, a wee red dot at the outer corner gives an impression of size and brightness without at all changing the natural expression of the eyes themselves.

Rouge is had, for it makes a shadow, or hollow. But thick powder will photograph well. Apply vanishing cream and then powder, and make it thick if there are freckles or skin eruptions. The center of the mouth can be touched with a lipstick, unless the mouth is too small, then the whole of the lips can be rouged. Otherwise, touch only Dates of the district convention of federal clubs were announced by Mrs. Greenwalt as April 14, 15 and 16 at Santa Barbara. Mrs. S. L. Martinez presented the club with a silk American flag and mahogany gavel, which her son made at high school. Mrs. Fanny McNutt assisted Mrs. Greenwalt in directing the study lesson on committees. Mrs. McNutt will conduct the lesson on nomination and election at the next meeting, April 3.

Drama Students

Recognized as one of the most active units of the Tuesday Afternoon club, the Drama department, with Mrs. H. C. Vandewater as curator, is doing some very worthwhile and interesting work this year. At the meeting yesterday afternoon Mrs. Beulah Wright, Costumock, instructor, continued her discussion of one-act plays given.

Mrs. Vandewater announced that plays written by Mrs. Max Lynn Green and Mrs. A. L. Bryant, members of the department, for the district contest, will be presented before the department before the close of the year. Mrs. Green's play received second prize and Mrs. Bryant's play the favorable comment. At the next meeting Mrs. R. E. Chase, former curator, who returned recently from New York, will review several plays she saw. Hostesses yesterday were Mesdames L. L. Craven, Charles Gowan and C. J. Newcomb.

Chapter Hostess

Mrs. Fern Clark of 246 North Louise street was hostess yesterday at the all-day meeting of Chapter BA, P. E. O., of which Mrs. Elizabeth Brown is president. Generous contribution was made for the relief fund for tornado sufferers in Illinois and neighboring states. During the day Mrs. Kate Parker was presented with a bouquet of daffodils and a shower of cards and handkerchiefs, in celebration of her birthday. Assistant hostesses at luncheon were Mesdames L. H. Houston, Alice Carter and Eva Cunningham. In the afternoon Mrs. Pearl Guthrie gave a talk on "Some Different Parts of Our Country," an account of an automobile tour taken by her and her family. Mrs. Edith Calderwood reviewed Ernest Poole's "Beggars' Gold." Guests were Mrs. Cora Webster of Chatter AH, and Mrs. Maffer of Parsons, Kansas.

Honor Visitors

Mrs. Melvin Cline of 332 Burchett street, entertained at dinner Tuesday night, complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Woods of Detroit, Mich., who are visitors in the city. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Sillers and daughter Lucille of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Woods, Miss Harriet Swayles, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Cline and son Leighton Taylor. Mr. and Mrs. Woods were also honor guests at luncheon Thursday at the home of Mrs. R. F. Siple, Doran street and Columbus avenue. The guests were Misses Clara and Harriet Swayles, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Sillers, Lucille Sillers, Mrs. Whiting, all of Los Angeles; Mrs. Melvin Cline, Mrs. Siple and family.

Entertains Club

The Jolly Workers club was entertained Thursday afternoon by Mrs. A. T. Winchell of 6000 Barton avenue, Hollywood. Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock and the afternoon devoted to needlework. Mrs. Philip Baynes of Pasadena, and Mrs. Russell Watson of Hollywood, were guests. Members present were: Mesdames Louis Grattias, H. Tweet and R. C. Francis. The club will meet next Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Grattias, 912 Osceola avenue.

Initiate Tonight

A class of candidates will be initiated tonight at 8 o'clock at the meeting of Glendale Chapter No. 422, Order of Eastern Star, Mrs. Nellie C. Jennings, worthy matron, will have charge. Mrs. Maude Evans has charge of arrangements for the card games following the meeting.

Class Meeting

Routine business was transacted last night at the meeting of the Live Cole class of Central Christian church in the church bungalow. Harley B. Yakel, president, directed the meeting. Twenty members were present for the session.

Birthday Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Kent of 107 Arden avenue were hosts at dinner Thursday night in celebration of the birthday of their son, Royal L. Kent. St. Patrick's colors and favors were used on the dinner table. The birthday cake was white with green and "wink can-dies." Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Royal L. Kent and children, Ethelyn, Howard and Wesley; Miss Clara Gross of Los Angeles; Gerald Rockford of New York; Mrs. Evelyn West of Glendale; Albert Metzzenbaugh and Miss Irene Metzzenbaugh of Cleveland, Ohio.

Bridge Hostess

Monday Afternoon Bridge club members will be entertained Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. I. D. Vinton of Hollywood. Luncheon will be at 1 o'clock.

MAIL CLASSES FOR BLIND INSTITUTED

Sightless Professor Stricken Devotes Efforts Gratis To Helping Others

By ARTHUR STREUWER For International News Service, WINNETKA, Ill., March 21.—

To her other laurels of having, as attested by a recent university professional survey, the best managed town of its size in the United States, as well as a school system that excels in methods and achievements most of the larger cities, Winnetka, a north-shore lake suburb, seventeen miles from Chicago, has added a third wreath of commendation. It has a correspondence school for the blind. Its pupils include residents of all sections of this continent and of far-off India and China. Twenty-four separate courses are taught. The pupils choose their own courses, with the aid and suggestion of the school. They include grade school, high school and college work. The pupils receive the instruction without cost.

The institution is called The Hadley Correspondence School for the Blind. It takes its name from its founder and head, William A. Hadley, an eminent educator, of Chicago, who was suddenly stricken with blindness in 1915.

Bachelors Hit Hard In Spain By New Tax Law

MADRID, March 21.—Bachelors over 25 years of age are taxed from 20 to 60 per cent under the provisions of a provincial statute passed here today.

Little Hope Held For Field Marshal French

LONDON, March 21.—The condition of Field Marshal French, the Earl of Ypres, who was operated upon two days ago, was still causing anxiety today. His physicians announced the patient had passed a bad night.

Jealous Suitor Kills Woman Carrying Baby

PATERSON, N. J., March 21.—Mrs. William Dempsey was shot and killed today by John Noonan, while she was carrying her baby in her arms. Noonan then committed suicide. Mrs. Dempsey is said to have spurned his attentions.

BOLSHEVIST PLAY

PARIS, March 21.—"Natchalo" takes us to Russia via the Theatre des Mathurins, to Russia of the Revolution, and it is an interesting journey. "Natchalo," which means the beginning of anything, features a group of high-class, intellectual Bolsheviks just before the revolution and later after the fall of Kerensky.

RAIL HEAD DIES

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 21.—Preparations were made today to send the body of Henry R. Suckling of the Canadian Pacific railroad to his home in Montreal. Suckling died last night. He had been in poor health since an automobile accident in Toronto in 1920.

DEPUTIES RIOT

PARIS, March 21.—Bitter reaction was reflected in the afternoon papers today on yesterday's riotous sessions of the Chamber of Deputies. Two adjournments were forced by the fiery reception accorded Premier Herriot's announcement that the government intended to make schools all over France non-sectarian.

Roster Grows

The response was an avalanche of replies. Dr. Hadley's friends in Winnetka were appealed to on the plea that in such a cause all who asked for it should be given the instruction. Winnetkans generously supplied the necessary funds.

For the first year there was necessarily some little haphazardness in the financing of the school. Since then, however, the organization structure, with some of Chicago's most eminent men, residents of Winnetka, serving as advisory officials. But the roster of pupils grows faster than resources. Steps are now being taken to remedy this. In this connection there is some discussion as to whether Chicago university I would choose my work."

Human Interest

There is a world of human interest in the personal letters exchanged between pupils and the school, which is located on the second floor of a small building at 534 Lincoln avenue, Winnetka. One of the first blind students to take a course in short story writing expressed her gratitude by writing:

"When the light went out of Professor Hadley's eyes, the windows of heaven were opened for the rest of us!"

And Professor Hadley himself recently expressed the thought behind his work when he remarked to the writer:

"If I had to choose between having my sight back or my work, as to whether Chicago university I would choose my work."

Flint paced to and fro for a moment before the cheerless, gaseous semblance of a wood fire, then paused in front of the portrait of the missing girl, whistling "The Last Rose of Summer" as he gazed—his trick when puzzled. After a few minutes Graham heard the tune change to a minor, dirge-like rendering of "The Campbells Are Coming." Had he known Flint's musical motifs better he would have understood that a faint light was beginning to glimmer in the darkness of the detective's mind. Had he understood that mind better, he would have known also that no hint of that light would be given him until it had proved itself, to Flint's satisfaction, an honest torch and not an ignis fatuus, for no one knew better than Flint how many false lights spring up in a detective's path, leading the unwary to quagmires. Facts—yes, these he would give without reserve; methods he would unveil; all steps taken he would communicate; but his conclusions Graham must draw for himself, helped possibly, by a suggestion now and then. Such was Flint's understanding of the promise he had made to the man who had saved his son's life. Consequently, when Graham interrupted his meditations before Estelle's portrait, to ask what it was they had already discovered, he hid that faint flicker of light which had called out the "Campbells," under a bushel, and spread out his array of facts—facts which seemed to Graham, as he listened, only to intensify the darkness.

To begin with, the telephone call at Colonel Sanford's had been traced, and had been located as coming from a nearby pharmacy where there was a public telephone booth. The night clerk, when questioned, had stated that several persons had used the telephone during the evening; he thought there had been a woman among them—nobody he had ever seen before. He might know her again, and then again he might not. The taxi which had taken Miss Hurst to her dinner had also been found. Its driver had testified to having driven her to the address given him. The young lady, he said, had paid him and gone up the steps. She was still standing there when he drove away. The only fact which gave any clue to her disappearance was that the steps up which Miss Hurst had gone were those of the house next door to the one where he had stopped. He had stopped, as ordered, at No. 78—there was no mistake about that, for the house was brightly lighted and he had seen the number plainly over the door. Miss Hurst had gone up the steps of No. 80. That house had been quite dark.

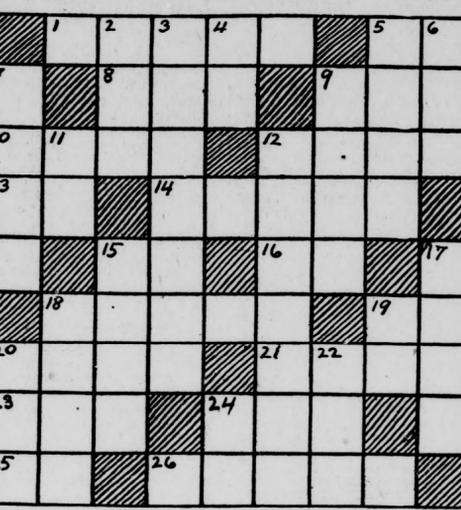

"The man is a reliable fellow. I guess his story is all right," said Flint, "but the whole thing looks queer. Miss Hurst may possibly have got into the wrong house by mistake, though how she could have made such a blunder, with a house she knew perfectly well, brightly lighted before her, gets me. But even saying she did, what harm could have come to her? The driver's report is just in and there has been no time to investigate No. 80 yet, but the neighborhood is first class. My man, Briggs, says he thinks the house belongs to Mr. Otto Blankensburg. He is one of the men in Schmidt, Kramer & Co.

"Blankensburg is all right," said Graham, "but he isn't home now, he's at Palm Beach."

"Then the house is probably closed; the driver said it was black dark. As I said, the whole thing looks queer. If the girl has

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE

The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram. Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black space to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterrupted. Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the square that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white squares remain uninterrupted.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S SPRING SONG

One morning, in the hollow stump bungalow where he lived, Uncle Wiggily awakened early, took his daily dozen exercise movements, and jumped into the bath tub. As he did so he began singing:

"Tra-la-la! Tru-lu-lu!"

"Why so gay thus early in the morning?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, who was getting ready to bake the pancakes, so they could go swimming in the maple syrup. "Why are you singing, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Because I am happy," answered the bunny, "and because this is the first day of spring. You are listening to my Spring Song, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy!"

Uncle Wiggily kept on splashing water in his bath and Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy said something about not thinking much of spring songs anyhow, in general, and his spring song in particular. But Uncle Wiggily didn't care, and when he had finished bathing he kept on singing. He even hummed while he was eating his breakfast, and at last it so got on Nurse Jane's nerves that she squeaked:

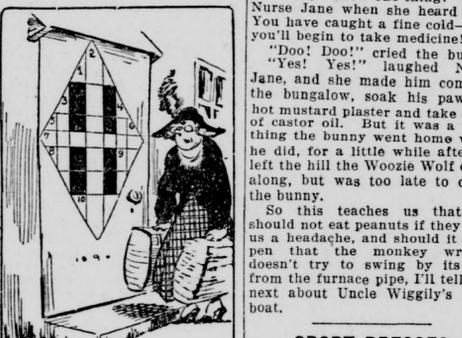

"Oh, why don't you go out doors and sing?"

"Thanks! A good idea! I'll do it," said Mr. Longears. "But listen to this, Nurse Jane, before I go," and he sang:

"March the twenty-first is Spring. The little birds begin to sing! And I, too, sing and dance about. For Spring has put Old Winter out!"

"I wouldn't be so sure of that," said Nurse Jane, as she began to let the breakfast dishes swim in the pan of soapy water for their morning ablutions, as a moving picture would call washing.

NEW STAR LOOMS ON BASKETBALL HORIZON

Radios, Climb Up Ladder, Have Chance To Tie Hull Trucks by Winning Contest on Monday Night

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

A new star looms on the basketball horizon as the fourth week of play in the second round of the Glendale Merchants' league approaches. This new star is the Radios, the team that finished in second place in the first round and will tie for first or second place in the final accounting.

The ascension of the Radios is accompanied by the falling of the M. E. churchmen, and the moving up of the Standard Oilers. The Calla Lily aggregation also slipped a little during the third week, but the milkmen expect to regain their former prestige before the season ends.

The start of the fourth week sees the Hull Trucks sticking at the top of the league, but once more in danger of having to move over and share the top round with another team, this time the Radios. The issue will be decided Monday night when the two teams meet at the Harvard High school gym.

It Might Happen
At the present time the Radios are on the second step, with six wins and two defeats, a percentage of .750. They have four games to play, two with the Standard Oilers, and one each with the Hull Trucks and Legion. They should win from the Oilers and the Legion. If they beat the Hull Trucks Monday night, and win the balance of their games, the Radios will finish with ten wins and two defeats, giving them a percentage of .833. If they do not beat the Hull Trucks, the Radios will finish with nine wins and three defeats, percentage being .750.

The Hull Trucks have nine wins and one defeat to their credit now, with two more games on their schedule. They meet the Radios Monday night and the M. E. church the following week. The churchmen defeated the truckmen in the first round, but it is not expected they will do so again. A victory for the Trucks Monday night, and a win over the churchmen will give them eleven wins, one defeat, percentage of .917 for the season. A defeat means a tie with the Radios for first place. Two defeats mean second place, and a tie with the Calla Lily.

Somebody to Tie
All of which indicates there will be a tie somewhere in the league standing at the end of the season. The milkmen lost their chance to tie the truckmen for top honors when the Hull Trucks defeated the creamery aggregation last Monday night, 28 to 25. The milkmen have the Christian church and Standard Oilers on their schedule, with seven wins and three defeats now. Victories

La Barba Beats Rivers In Hollywood Stadium

LOS ANGELES, March 21.—Aggressiveness, superior stamina and ability to give a punch were the forces that Fidel La Barba, bantamweight, credited today for his 10-round victory at Hollywood last night over George Rivers. It was a close battle all the way. Rivers made his best showing in the sixth round. Both men live in Los Angeles.

Johnny Grella won over Herman Auerback in the second round of the semi-windup when seconds for Auerback tossed in the towel after their man had been knocked down three times.

Flying Finn Entirely Recovered For Tonight

NEW YORK, March 21.—Claiming to have entirely recovered from the effects of his illness that caused him to leave the track in a 5000 meter race last Tuesday night, Paavo Nurmi, Finland's wonder man, will make his appearance in competition tonight in a special 1-1.8 mile race at the postoffice games.

New Glendale Club Appears For First Time; Gate Open To All

Spring descended upon Southern California at 7:13 o'clock last night, according to the astronomical calculations as set forth in the year books and almanac, but the spring season will open officially in Glendale at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, when the Glendale Merchants make their initial appearance and bow before the fan public at the park on San Fernando road.

On that memorable occasion the Buick Autos, one of the strongest semi-pro teams in Southern California, with a long string of victories under their belt, will be the opponents. Manager M. R. Bacon and his proteges will endeavor to revive in Glendale a baseball spirit that has become dormant since the passing out of the old White Sox.

The Glendale Merchants will be an all-Glendale team, with Walter Hydler doing the mound work for the home town boys. Hydler had a good season in the San Fernando Valley league, hurling the San Fernando team to eight straight victories. He performed on local diamonds two years ago, but since that time has acquired a lot of diamond experience.

Free Gate Sunday
Nobles is slated to work being the log. Lefty Harrison or Bacon will hold down the initial bag, Garcia will be at second, and Allen or Acosta will protect third. Parson will hold down shortstop position. In the gardens will be Harding at left, G. Harrison at center and Tanner at right.

Included in the Buick lineup will be several former White Sox stars. Cy Young, the home run hitting kid, will chase flies in centerfield. Frenchy Orsat will keep him company in right field. Reeves, who surprised local fans by his work around the keystone sack for the White Sox, will be in the same position Sunday, wearing a Buick overall. Aguilar will do the pitching, with McMullen behind the bat. Crowley will be at first, Burbank at third, Lopez at short and Rundell in leftfield.

In order to get Glendale fans acquainted with the new team, Manager Bacon announced admission will be free Sunday. New seats have been provided, he said.

Banty Title Passes In 'Butterfly' Exhibition

NEW YORK, March 21.—Charlie Rosenberg and Eddie (Cannon Ball) Martin fought last night for what might be termed the butterfly title, and when it was all over the thing had fluttered away again to the nearest flower, or rather from one milkweed to another. At the end of fifteen rounds Rosenberg was proclaimed the new champion of the world at the bantamweight limit and the officials could do no less.

Such as he is, Rosenberg proved himself to be a far better fighter than Martin last night. He left-handed the old champion crazy and after the fourth, carried every round with the possible exception of the tenth and fifteenth.

It was Martin's first defense of a title he won only three months ago. His was a short reign, but quite typical of the division. Not since Herman have the bantams had a champion of sufficient ability to hold his own over an unstained period. Mediocrity cannot survive competition.

Silver Outsmarts Utah Scrapper in 10 Rounds

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Jack Silver, San Francisco's best lightweight, told his friends today he was on his way to another try for the coast title following his decisive defeat here last night of Frankie Darren of Utah. Silver outsmarted Darren in eight of ten rather dull rounds.

FIFTY YEARS IN SPORT

Dawn of Century Sees Progress In All Lines

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Written for The Evening News

The dawn of the twentieth century marked also the dawn of a new organization that was to play an important part in the life and progress of baseball.

The debut in athletics of scores of men who were to set the sport world aflame and keep the fires burning with their deeds, their popularity and their guidance.

The placing on a firm foundation of the modern Olympic games, revived in the closing years of the previous century. And the establishment of a supremacy in those games that has never been relinquished.

It was typical of all such endeavors that the formation of the American league under the direction of Ban Johnson, Charles Comiskey, Clark Griffith and their followers should cause the backers of the old National league to predict the early death of baseball and the sliding of the diamond game into disrepute and oblivion.

On Blacklist
It is worth the space to recall for the dyed-in-the-wool fans the men who were "outlawed" by the National league heads in their futile endeavor to "scare off" further jumping.

The players listed and the clubs which they jumped were: Boston—Stahl, Hemphill, Freeman, Jimmy Collins, Criger, Schreckengost and Cy Young. Chicago—Sullivan, Griffith, Callahan, Jones and Mertes. Milwaukee—Garvin, Duffy and Anderson. Cleveland—Bradley, McCarthy and Scott. Detroit—Barrett, Yeager, Buelow and Gleason.

Athletics—Cross, Fultz, Lajoie, Bernhard, Frazer and Geier. Baltimore—McGraw, Robinson, Howell, McGinnity, Keister, Williams and Donlin. Washington—Mercer, Clarke, Grady and Carrick. These men formed the backbone of the new circuit until new material was developed. From their ranks sprung future managers who are familiar to even the younger generation.

FORT MYERS, March 21.
The most radical move made by Connie Mack this spring has been the rounding out of the infield of his athletics by playing Dykes at third base. On general principles that should give the team more stability than it has had since he lost Frank Baker. Baker, in his best days with Connie Mack was not the most sensational infielder who ever played baseball, but he could make up for any lack in fielding by walloping the ball.

With Hauser at first, Bishop at second, Galloway at short and Dykes at third, the Athletic infield has more motion and vigor than any infield the veteran manager has shown in years.

But all is not baseball down here in Florida for the Athletics. When the writer arrived he was greeted by a tall, stately gentleman in immaculate white flannels, white buckskins and a naval coat, whose kindly eyes peered out from beneath bushy eyebrows.

"Good evening, Admiral, how do the waves roll?" the writer inquired.

"Over and over, up and down," responded the admiral, "but mostly down. This year, however, we are going to turn the A's on their heads so they will catch water instead of having it run off the peak of the roof all the time."

The "Admiral," of course, was Connie Mack. Connie has plunged himself and his club into the vortex of society down here and the young men, who have been removed from the surroundings of a commercial hotel, are so smitten with the novelty of things that they are arranging all kinds of "cocoanut parties, fishing expeditions and real estate soires. It is a popular pastime in Florida for the ball players to buy lots in the morning for $300 and sell them in the afternoon for $3,000 or thereabouts.

Having embarked upon the gay whirl of life, Connie, by the way, has been introduced to bridge, but he hadn't got to the point where he can think of it to the exclusion of baseball.

"What is the lowest bid?" Connie asked as he was being initiated into the mysteries of the game.

"Clubs," was the reply, "and spades the highest bid."

"I'll bid them both," quoth Cornelius. "They have been clubbing me for years and digging me in. I'll play both for luck. And the other bids?"

"Diamonds and hearts," "I'll have my young men bid their stout hearts and then they will wear diamonds."

"You bet they will, and right on Broadway, too," put in Tom Shibe. "The Athletics are no longer the bashful inexperienced crowd they were."

Mack is full of praise for his boys and the pep they are showing. But then all the American league managers are prone to sing of pep this spring. Perhaps it is the heat—and for some of them it may be the improved surroundings.

Hitherto, the Athletics have been confined during spring training to the heart of a city where they went to sleep to the music of an automobile sonata and woke up to the sound of a trolley car rattle. Down here where the end of Florida runs into the sea, they are lulled by the music of singing palms and wakened by the chattering of cockatoos and the songs of mockingbirds.

The two most talked-about young men on the team are Cochrane, the catcher, and Groves, the pitcher, who has been called everything from a muller to a whale. The clubs that did not get him call him a muller and the Athletics see him as a whale. Connie Mack was asked his opinion and replied:

"In my time I have caught good pitchers and I am sure I am getting in Groves. It may take a little time to break him into his new surroundings, but when he gets his bearings he will lay a course due north, to the pennant pole, if you will excuse my nautical language."

"That is one reason why we are increasing the seating capacity of Shibe park. We are getting ready for the rush. As for Cochrane, well, the young man has much to learn about catching, but he can hit so hard that they will think there is another earthquake in New York when he gets up that way."

RINGSIDE GOSSIP BY FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Jack Renault must have received a hot tip. And it looks as though Jack Kearns was the author of it. Anyway, all the talk among the white lights here is that the Canadian champion is being steamed up for a summer match against Dempsey.

Jersey men are talking as though they think they have a chance for the bout, but they have not. The likelihood is that Hollywood will be the scene of the encounter. And if Mount Lowe, which will probably overlook the ring, hides its face in clouds to shut out views of the battle, a lot of fans will call it a pretty wise old mount.

Renault is a rood second-rater and a picturesque battler who will ably fill the role assigned to him. Said role will be to furnish the champion an opportunity to show his stuff to all his movie friends and his Pacific coast admirers generally.

The former mounted policeman has not a chance to beat Dempsey—unless the champion gets beaten the way Nurmii did by Ritola the other night. Anything, of course, may happen in the ring, but unless the titleholder gets sick or goes blind or breaks a leg, the Canadian's chance is nil.

In the meantime Renault is entering upon a strenuous building-up program. Friday night he met Jack Sharkey and Monday night he tackles Romero in Newark. This is crowding things pretty close, but you can trust Renault's manager, Leo Flynn, to know what he is doing.

Romera rained a decision over Renault in Boston last winter and later punished Sharkey so badly that the referee stopped the fight. If Renault can beat Romero handily in Jersey next week, he will be entitled to a great deal of credit and make clear his right to serve Dempsey in the capacity of a conditioner for more important bouts which the champion has lying ahead.

As much as a sparring partner can learn of another man's style, Renault ought to have learned about Dempsey's methods of mugging since he served as one of the champion's punching bags at Atlantic City when the titleholder was preparing for Carpentier. But this may not help Renault much. Experience of that kind seldom does.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

NEW YORK, March 21.—Hugo Quist, president of the Finnish-American Athletic club, and Willie Ritola were standing outside the Grand Central restaurant one day this week, when Al McCall of the Yale track coaching staff happened by.

"Where is Nurmii?" asked McCall.

"He is still down in the restaurant," replied Quist.

The American coach smiled, shook his head and said that Nurmii should watch his diet more carefully. Quist coughed at the remark.

"The trouble with you American trackmen is that you think too much about your stomachs and not enough about your legs," remarked Quist. McCall replied that both should be considered.

Not twenty-four hours later Nurmii's stomach triumphed over his legs in the most important indoor meet in which he has participated. No great man was ever so completely bowled over by a dietary as was Paavo by the yeast pie.

It looks now as though Nurmii would end the indoor season with less of an advantage over Jole Ray than seemed likely up to Tuesday night, when the Chicago flier tied the Finn's world record for the mile.

While experts believe that Nurmii has it in him to do the indoor mile in better than 4:15, there is very little time left for him to make the record, as the indoor season has practically reached its end.

Basing judgments upon Nurmii's record for the two-mile run, experts figure that what he will do to the mile when he really concentrates on it, will result in an extraordinary and a remarkable figure. They estimate that 4:03 is not too great a feat to expect of the Flying Finn.

Jury Decides Woman's Leg Is Worth $65,000

NEW YORK, Mar. 21.—A verdict for $65,000 damages in favor of Miss Anna L. Wallace, was returned by a jury here against Walter J. Salmon, lessee of an office and store building.

Miss Wallace alleged she received injuries necessitating the amputation of her right leg when she was struck by a keystone falling from a window in the building in February, 1922.

The building, owned by Elbridge T. Gerry, founder of the Society to Protect Children From Cruelty, was being cleaned by a sand-blasting company.

Woman, 119, Never Married Because First Lover Was Denied Her

By CHARLES LEAVELLE For International News Service. OKMULGEE, Ok., March 21.—Cherishing for more than a century a love of her girlhood, Miss Nancy Boyd of Okmulgee, has lived 119 years without marrying. Her life has been a round of disappointments; but as she sits in the deepening twilight of life she is happy in the thought that soon she and her lover will be reunited.

The daughter of a rich Tennessee plantation owner, her lover for Jim Turner, the son of a poor man, was frowned upon by her father, who visioned for her a marriage into the ranks of the old southern aristocracy. Turner's persuasion that she not defy her father caused Miss Boyd to put aside hopes of an immediate marriage.

"I didn't stop loving him, though," she says. "Jim and I loved each other more than ever and began planning how we could get married later, when father might soften. You see, I refused to marry anyone else."

Proposals Refused "Father thought I had forgotten Jim, and had entertained after entertainment in my honor, and for some miles around attended them. I received many proposals of marriage, but refused them, to the great anger of father."

"Every week-end our big plantation house would be thronged with guests, and I was sure to get at least one proposal at each party, but no one could take the place of Jim."

"Finally my father asked me why I continually refused to marry. I told him. He vowed then that I should not marry Jim during his life. But we continued to hope."

This was in 1824. Years passed, then came the year that began the southland's greatest tragedy—1861.

Both Had Hopes But Nancy and Jim still hoped. She was considered an old woman and he an old man. One evening, as the war shadows were deepening, they stood on a small bridge near the Boyd plantation discussing the seemingly inevitable conflict. Suddenly a barelegged negro boy dashed past on a mule, shouting at them as he went:

"De wah is stahed! Dey's killin' ev'body!" "Nancy," said Jim, "I am going to marry you."

"I felt then—instinct maybe," Miss Boyd says, "that I would never see Jim again. I told him so, but he laughed."

"That is not a very cheerful thing to say," he told me. But it was a true prophecy. I never saw him again. Throughout that bitter war I never heard from him."

Father gave all we had to the southern army, and in the last days of the war he was killed by a negro he once owned."

Jim Killed "The war ended, and I learned Jim was killed three days after he left Nashville in 1861. I was the last of our family, and as all our property was gone there was nothing for me to do but go to an aunt that had a small farm in Arkansas."

There she remained, working hard for a living from 1865 to 1918. She was off the farm but once.

Miss Boyd rode on a train for the first time in 1918, when she came to Oklahoma, and she has never been in an automobile. "I'd rather like to ride in one of those automobiles some time, when I feel better," she said. "I don't like them as well as I did our fine coaches, drawn by beautiful horses. Ours were among the best in the south," she adds with pride.

STAGE AND SCREEN

THE GATEWAY "The Gateway theatre is playing 'The Dixie Handicap' the last times today and tonight. While holding all the intense dramatic appeal of the stage play, the screen version of 'Cheaper to Marry' Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Gateway theatre is far more colorful than Samuel Shipman's original story. This is because the motion picture takes advantage of wider latitudes, and Robert Z. Leonard, in making this picture for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has brought a lavish production of society and near-society life to the screen. In addition to an exceptional cast, Leonard brings into the film noted dancers for his cafe scenes, and fifty of the most beautiful bathing girls in California to the sequence devoted to showing intimate happenings in an exclusive women's athletic club. Limitations of the speaking stage make such elaborate settings impossible. The cast includes Lewis S. Stone, Conrad Nagel, Paulette Goddard, Marguerite de la Motte, Louise Fazenda, Claude Gillingwater and Richard Wayne. As the cynical Jim Knight, who does Miss Boyd's part in marriage, Lewis Stone adds to his fame as an actor. Paulette Duval of 'Monsieur Beaucaire' fame, is seen as a modern vampire for the first time, gowned in beautiful creations and jewels. Conrad Nagel, always a capable actor, plays his role with rare accomplishment, as does Miss de la Motte, seen opposite Nagel for the first time. The comedy is handled most admirably by Louise Fazenda and Mr. Gillingwater, while Richard Wayne is the 'other man' in the love affair between Mr. Stone and Miss Duval. Frederick and Fanny Hatton are given credit for bringing this powerful Shipman indictment against social realism to the screen without a change in the original plot. Alice D. G. Miller did the continuity. Today Richard Talmadge will be seen for the last times in 'On Time,' a fast-moving, comedy-melodrama with a cast that includes Billie Dove, playing the leading female role, George Siegman, Stuart Holmes, Tom Wilson, Charles Clay and Douglas Gerard. Big Vaudeville Program Tom Wilson, as Casanova Clay, the ebony-toned valet of Harry Willis, played by Richard Talmadge, is responsible for a great many of the uproarious situations. Especially humorous are the antics when rapped in the house, mystery, where upstairs his master is undergoing thrilling experiences with the insane doctor with gorillas' brains to human beings. Casanova's business with the strange dwarf in this house is worth many screams. Five Orpheum acts sent out by the Western Vaudeville Managers' association are on the boards today at the Glendale theatre. The feature act is the three Weber Girls, in an attractive song and dance act. Thursday, accompanying 'Charlie's Aunt,' Kirby and De Gaze in 'La Freluche,' a Spanish dance, headed by Priscilla Dean as one of the best numbers of its kind she has ever seen.

TRAFFIC INCREASES Because of growing traffic, the state highway department has ordered 1870 cars to be sold in 2800 more cars and forty locomotives.

Thomas E. Stevenson of the Presbyterian church at Burbank and Dr. John Anderson spoke to the boys on plans for this year's camp, to take place from July 15 to 25. Secretary Rex C. Registrations for this summer's camp were being accepted at the "Y" headquarters in the Security building. Only a limited number can be taken to the camp.

Roadster Stolen From Local Man In Burbank Malcolm Walling, 426 West Ivy street, reported his small roadster stolen from Angelus street, Burbank, last night, between 7:30 and 8:30 o'clock. The report was made to the Glendale police department. A bicycle belonging to Charles Milken, 512 West Wilson avenue, was taken from the Broadway High school grounds early yesterday afternoon, he told police.

'Scooter' Waits Owner At Police Headquarters Will Dorothy Perry, whoever she is, call at the Glendale police department in the city hall and claim a "scooter" bearing her name? The scooter was picked up at Brand boulevard and Broadway some time ago, according to Desk Sergeant Cole, but, to date, efforts to locate the owner of the toy vehicle have failed.

Big Comedy "Charlie's Aunt" is the big comedy picture which opens Sunday at the Glendale theatre. Five fine vaudeville acts are on the program for tonight. German Insurance Man Has 10,000 Cases to Prove His Contention By WALTER DIETZEL For International News Service. BERLIN, March 21.—You can tell a lucky bird by his handwriting. Business men may save millions by having graphologists examine their employees' handwriting to ascertain whether any of them are apt to cause accidents incurring heavy material damage, says Bruno Kurth, insurance agent. "Careful study of about 10,000 handwritings of insurance applicants enabled me to detect an ill-fated person from the start. It should be of the utmost importance for business men and owners of plants and factories to eliminate such persons by not giving them jobs where they might cause accidents. "Psycho-technical tests alone do not guarantee a 'selection of the fittest.' Apart from their costliness and the fact that they take a considerable length of time, such tests prove nothing but facts about certain qualifications technically indispensable for some sort of a job. Fitness Determined "However, man also owns certain outstanding psychophysical qualities, not generally covered in such tests, but equally important in determining a person's qualifications—love of work, contentment, etcetera. These qualities you can see in a person's handwriting with almost 75 per cent accuracy. They are the psychological mirrors, so to say, reflecting a person's character. Here is an example: Strong will is required to keep all short letters, like 'm' or 'n,' levelled—that is, to make all down-strokes equally long and separate them by regular intervals. You have to concentrate in doing so, in spite of your doing it subconsciously. The inescapable conclusion is that, while your handwriting does not betray a strong, inherent, subconscious will, you are lacking a strong will in things that have to be done consciously. Selected as Fittest "Thorough investigation of about 10,000 handwritings helped me discover certain characteristics essential in those worthy of 'selection of the fittest'; lack of these characteristics leads to the elimination of the unfit; for instance: (1) Intervals between down-strokes in proportion to the length of down-strokes. (2) Short, middle and long-sized letters in proportion to each other. On the basis of these characteristics I found out that: (1) The more narrowly a person writes, the less he is apt to have accidents, and vice versa. His writing reveals self-control, steadiness and reliability. (2) The more a person keeps distinct letters at the same length, the less he is apt to cause accidents, and vice versa. His characteristics are contentment, modesty, love of work, unpretentiousness. "Business men of all categories should avail themselves of this quick and cheap method of ensuring their present or future employees."

'Scooter' Waits Owner At Police Headquarters Will Dorothy Perry, whoever she is, call at the Glendale police department in the city hall and claim a "scooter" bearing her name? The scooter was picked up at Brand boulevard and Broadway some time ago, according to Desk Sergeant Cole, but, to date, efforts to locate the owner of the toy vehicle have failed.

TRAFFIC INCREASES Because of growing traffic, the state highway department has ordered 1870 cars to be sold in 2800 more cars and forty locomotives.

BALLOON ASCENSION While experimental balloons carrying nothing but instruments have risen twenty-two miles, those with human freight have gone only four.

'Y' Boys Hear Plans For Summer Camp Two hundred boys of Glendale who have either been at Camp Shaw, Y. M. C. A. summer camp at Catalina Island, or plan on going this summer, gathered at the Glendale Presbyterian church last night at dinner. Warren Slater, physical director of Pasadena, Y. M. C. A., Rev. Thomas E. Stevenson of the Presbyterian church at Burbank and Dr. John Anderson spoke to the boys on plans for this year's camp, to take place from July 15 to 25. Secretary Rex C. Kelley showed motion pictures of the boys at camp last year. The dinner was served by Mrs. W. G. Boyd, Mrs. Thomas G. McDougal, Mrs. C. M. Retts and Miss Muzial V. Gambrell. Registrations for this summer's camp were being accepted at the "Y" headquarters in the Security building. Only a limited number can be taken to the camp.

Roadster Stolen From Local Man In Burbank Malcolm Walling, 426 West Ivy street, reported his small roadster stolen from Angelus street, Burbank, last night, between 7:30 and 8:30 o'clock. The report was made to the Glendale police department. A bicycle belonging to Charles Milken, 512 West Wilson avenue, was taken from the Broadway High school grounds early yesterday afternoon, he told police.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS
BOUGHT - SOLD - RENTED
 I will buy for cash or will help you sell or rent your piano, player or Grand. I will take your piano, even if it is old, and sell it for you. I have many clients wishing to buy or rent a good used instrument for private parties.
 Why pay a dealer $100 to $200 more, just to help him pay his store rent, salaries, office help, discounts to finance companies, etc. when he will sell your piano to a dealer, when he must buy at a price that enables him to add his enormous selling cost to the sale and still make a profit.
 I am not a dealer nor am I in any way affiliated with one, but my 25 years' experience with them enables me to show you how to dispose of your instrument without serious loss. I will sell your piano for $200 below the price asked by dealers for same quality goods.

GLENDALE NEWS
RELIEF FUND IS RAISED

Glendadians Are Generous In Donations For Tornado-Stricken Area

Sympathy of Glendadians for tornado sufferers in the five mid-western states, swept by devastation on Wednesday, is being substantially expressed by generous donations being received by The Glendale Evening News. All contributions received by The News designated for the tornado relief fund, are to be turned over to officials in Los Angeles, agencies named to aid in the work. All funds are to be rushed to the storm-swept area.

There are many Glendale residents who formerly lived in the stricken states, many of them having lived in the stricken cities. They have contributed, as well as many of their friends. Contributions have come in from individuals and organizations.

Included in the list of donations are:

Freight Cars Sent to Keep Storm's Dead

ST. LOUIS, March 21.—Ten refrigerator cars went forward from St. Louis today to the storm areas of Illinois at the request of undertakers to be used for storing the unidentified dead and the bodies of those who will be buried in other states. One hundred cases of embalming fluid and a hundred coffins were also sent from here.

WOMEN CLAIM OWN AMONG JAPANESE

Statistics Show Female of Species Prominent in All Industries

By LUTHER A. HUSTON For International News Service.

TOKYO, March 21.—Modern woman certainly is coming into her own in Japan.

It was not so very many years ago that the idea of women in industry was not only unknown, but more or less repugnant to the thought of the times. Now, there is scarcely an industry or a calling in the Sunrise Kingdom that has not been invaded by women.

And the invasion, the women say, has only just begun.

An illustration of the extent women have penetrated industrial life of Japan is afforded by statistics assembled by the bureau of social affairs. These statistics show that there are 3,531,183 women wage earners in the country, ranking all the way from manual labor to the higher professions.

Out of this total 1,315,000, by far the larger number, are engaged in agricultural work. Women in Japan do much of the work in the rice fields and vegetable gardens of the country.

In the factories and mines there are 980,000 women employed; there are 429,544 in government service, teaching, medical, semi-medical and other professions, and 400,000 in commercial activities.

Three Groups
In Tokyo alone, the figures show, women workers are classified in three groups, the first including teachers, doctors, pharmacists, journalists, authors, composers, business clerks, guides and detectives. The second group includes dentists, masseuses, hair dressers, nurses, typists, stenographers, telephone operators, actresses, artists, musicians and teachers of the polite arts.

The third group includes those who engage in physical labor, such as domestic servants, charwomen, etc. This list, although only a partial one, is sufficiently inclusive to show that there are few lines of activity which women have not penetrated.

Wages paid to women workers, although slightly lower than the standard for men, are nevertheless fairly high as judged by Japanese standards. It is estimated that the minimum is about $25 per month. The highest incomes are earned by women physicians, who average from $100 to $350 per month.

Pay Averages
Dentists make $75 to $200 per month; stage and film actresses get $50 to $400 per month and beauty experts from $60 to $150 per month.

Teachers, stenographers, women in government service, women journalists, etc., usually earn from $35 to $75 per month. Salaries paid to women in the "lower" classifications of labor range from $7.50 to $50 per month.

With their position in industry now firmly established, the women of Japan are now seeking greater participation in the political affairs of the nation. A strong suffrage movement has been organized and an active campaign for the vote is in progress.

Vote Far Off
Since universal manhood suffrage has only just come to be generally approved in Japan, it is probable that votes for women will be deferred for several years.

But the women are active in every scheme that will enhance their positions. They are clamoring for more education, better working conditions, better factory and sanitary laws, and better wages. Recently a waitresses' union, the first in Japan, has been organized and its first demand is for abolition of tips, and higher pay.

Women, it is questioned, have entered Japanese commercial and political life to stay and, like their sisters in other countries, they show no disposition to be content with second place.

DISPUTE OVER DIRECTORY'S FIGURES

Total Set For Population Not High Enough, Is Answering Claim

The city directory for 1925 has just been published and is now for sale by J. Fitzgerald, Postoffice Box 93, Glendale. Alphabetical arrangement of names, display advertisements and classified business directory fills a book 50 per cent larger than the directory published last year. Data included in the covers of the new book have been carefully compiled. In an explanatory word from the Glendale Directory Co., publishers, it is stated that "the alphabetical section contains 20,214 names of adults, excluding that of the wife's name, which appears on the same line as that of her husband. Using the multiple two and one-fourth, which has been always considered very conservative by directory publishers, we find the population of Glendale to be 45,482."

Dispute Figured
"Glendale, a city of 45,482," as advertised on one of the cover pages of the new city directory just off the press, did not go unchallenged by persons in Glendale who are in a position to estimate the actual population of the city today.

Secretary Howard I. Wood of the Chamber of Commerce declared that the figure given in the directory is short of the actual population by from 5000 to 10,000 persons. He said that recent checks made by public utilities in Glendale prove conclusively that the city has a population of from 50,000 to 55,000 persons.

Information placing the population at this number is backed by the chamber, Mr. Wood said. He questions the accurateness of the multiple used by the directory concern in arriving at the population, declaring two and one-fourth persons per family was not a high enough average.

Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson said the multiple was entirely too low. The United States government calculates four persons to the average family in all its official estimates, Postmaster Jackson said. A recent survey completed by the Glendale postal authorities in October 1924 placed the population at approximately 57,000 persons, Captain Jackson pointed out. He flatly challenged the lower figure given in the directory.

That the directory figures are considerably off was the opinion of Fred Deal, manager of the Glendale division of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. Mr. Deal said that, although in their figures they have always included Casa Verdugo and several other small tracts not actually in the city, nevertheless the figure given in the directory is too low. He said conservatively estimated he judged from telephone company records that Glendale is a city of from 52,000 to 55,000 population.

Recent surveys of the Southern California Gas Co., showed a considerably larger count for the city than the directory also, it was stated, although S. C. Singer, manager of the local office could not be reached.

Family Quarrel Hinted When Phone Falls Off

BOSTON, March 21.—A telephone receiver that had fallen on the hook was the means of settling a domestic quarrel in a home on Massachusetts avenue.

"Hubby" and "wifey" were engaged in a bitter quarrel when an operator at the University exchange noticed a light on her switchboard. She plugged in and heard someone crooning.

Police were notified and hurried to the house. They found a family quarrel in progress, the wife sitting on the floor, crying, the telephone receiver beside her. "Hubby" was in another room.

A little friendly advice, and the couple made up.

BUNCO OPERATORS
LOS ANGELES, March 21.—Investigators of the district attorney's office are searching for the bunco men who obtained $600 from Lee Wilder, retired poultry dealer by persuading his victim that a few bits of glass in a very decorative plush case were diamonds.

FRENCH TIME
PARIS, March 21.—That time is not money in the French capital is very easy to believe from the number of stopped clocks one finds around the city. A certain American has just been wandering about making a note of them and has found there are at least 215 timepieces in public places which do not run.

NEW YORK CLOSING
By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, March 21.—Forward movements in the oil and specialty stocks was the principal feature of the stock market today. A few of the railroad and industrial stocks made further progress under the stimulus of short covering, as also did public utility stocks and the copper shares.

Pan-American continued in the leadership of the oil stocks, its rise to 83 being accompanied by rumors that Standard Oil interests had bought substantially into the company, with Standard Oil of New York taking an interest in the California properties and the Standard of Indiana in the Mexican fields.

The independent oil shares continued the rally which started in Friday's session.

Grain and cotton markets were slightly lower at the opening and continental exchanges showed a shrinkage in early quotations. Trading in the Ash stocks and in some cases the decline in the price of the railroad stocks. Demand for the former is based on expectations of the inauguration of dividends next Thursday.

Cast Iron Pipe, American Safety Razor, Universal Pipe and other specialty stocks which were handled roughly by the bears in the first part of the week, continued to improve. Cast Iron Pipe at 195 showed a recovery of 15 points for the week, while Safety Razor, which declined a general 7. The higher level of prices invited both profit-taking and short covering and stocks were offered for sale more liberally in the second hour. The market was again reactionary and prices of the market leaders declined a point or more from the high level of the day, in some cases the decline also wiping out a part of Friday's rally.

Selling pressure increased near the close of the short session, and price declines were sufficient to more than wipe out the whole of the week-end rally in the industrial leaders.

Baldwin broke to 125 for the first time this year and recorded a new low for 1925 at 123 1/2. Pan-American Petroleum lost all its buoyancy and dropped more than 4 points, to 7 1/2. Savage Arms lost 4; Texas Gulf Sulphur 4, and United States Steel 1 1/2. Liberty bonds showed a slight improvement and prime industrial and railroad bonds reflected the easier trend in the money market. Foreign government bonds were steady, including German 7s and Argentine 7s. American Telephone & Telegraph and

FLORIDA REALIZES ON ADVERTISING

Four Years Of Newspaper Publicity Now Bearing Profitable Fruit

By J. C. ROYLE

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925 TAMPA, Fla., March 21.—Florida is now reaping the benefit of four years of splendid newspaper advertising and of effective operation of the citrus exchange.

The advertising has been done largely by cities, counties and communities which have raised the necessary funds through taxation, direct or indirect, or through individual contributions. When winter visitors commenced to arrive in numbers, they saw the commercial, industrial and agricultural opportunities presented and started to invest. This stimulated both the imagination and activities of the all-year-round inhabitants and they too put their money into the land and its resources. The present tremendous real estate boom has been the result.

Big Citrus Crop It is expected that the citrus fruit crop, up to the end of the shipping season July 1, will range between 19,000,000 and 22,000,000 cases. Peter O. Knight, banker, capitalist, merchant and fruit grower, estimated today that the crop will sell at an average of between $1.50 and $5 a case. Certain it is that it will be more profitably and adequately marketed than for many years since approximately 55 per cent of the growers are disposing of their products under direction of the citrus exchange with headquarters here.

Markets have broadened for citrus fruits as never before. Arrangements have been completed to export large quantities to England and other north European countries. This will involve pre-cooling plants at standard Florida shipping points and aid the marketing of fruit in good condition in this country. English imports have increased full 100 per cent in the last year.

INDIAN RAILWAYS

When the Indian government took over a number of railway lines this year, each line was split into four divisions and a divisional superintendent placed in charge, in place of the system of all management being from the central office.

Three thousand birds, including 1,500 canaries, were exhibited at London's recent feathered pet show.

FARM SCHOOL NOW TEACHES BY RADIO

First National Institution of Its Kind To Give Five Lectures Weekly

By ROBERT MACK Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Broadcasters and would-be broadcasters on New York City's crowded air have been asked by the department of commerce to immediately submit in writing a plan for adding a new wave band for the metropolitan area. If a practicable scheme results, the department probably will assign a wave length close to 340 meters. This action by the government, disclosed today, is in line with the general policy of permitting the broadcasters to do most of their own regulating and grew out of conferences held in New York last week by Judge Stephen B. Davis, solicitor of the commerce department, with the interested parties.

Three Bidders It seems that when Judge Davis broached the idea of a new band, one active station, one semi-active and two proposed plans immediately put in their bids for the assignment. WGBS, the Gimbel Brothers' station, which claims to have experienced difficulty in obtaining broadcast distance for its transmitter because of its low wave length, was the first to ask for the higher wave. WMAA, the new Mt. Alpin station, whose debut on the air brought about the present crisis, was the second claimant and the Paulist Fathers and the People's Pulpit association followed with requests for a chance to get on the air.

Radio Farm School The first national radio farm school will open its aerial doors next Monday when the initial lectures of the spring semester will be broadcast by WOC, Davenport; WMAQ, Chicago; WJIK, Cleveland; KFQV, Omaha and WDAY, Fargo, N. D. On its staff of instructors the school, which is to be sponsored by the Blue Valley Creamery Institute will be leading agricultural authorities from many of the state universities of the west and the middle west. Lectures will be delivered on five days every week. Monday will be "hog day"; Tuesday, "poultry day"; Wednesday "dairy day"; Thursday "legume day" and Friday, "question box day."

PARAGUAY TRAFFIC Paraguay's only street car line has seventeen miles operated by electricity, seven miles by steam, and two miles by animal power. prayer service Tuesday night, 7:45 o'clock; special service Wednesday morning 10 o'clock; young people's meeting Thursday night, 7:45 o'clock; revival service beginning March 2 in tent on North Glendale avenue, between Broadway and Wilson avenue.

Tropico Presbyterian "The Gateway Church," located at 1500 South Central avenue. Dr. James F. Winnard, pastor; Miss Carol Duncan, superintendent of Sunday school. Sunday school 9:30 o'clock; morning worship 11 o'clock, sermon by Dr. Winnard. Other services as usual.

Central Avenue M. E. Church at South Central and Palmer avenue. Rev. Leo C. Kline, pastor; Dr. Joseph Marple, musical director; Mrs. Casper Tuttle, pianist; D. C. Bear, superintendent; L. B. F. Brennan, manager of the Glendale Swimming and Athletic club, announces that he is organizing a basketball team to represent the club in a series of games to be staged in the club gymnasium upon the completion of the building. According to Mr. Brennan, it is the intention of the management to make the Athletic club of general attraction from the standpoint of athletic sports as well as from swimming and dancing and as a means of stimulating interest in sports this plan of holding basketball games has been adopted.

Women's Team It has also been suggested by some of the members that considerable interest could be stimulated by the organization of a women's basketball team. Mr. Brennan states that he would be glad to hear from women who

BASKETBALL TEAM PLANNED BY CLUB Manager Of Organization To Promote Series Of Court Games

B. F. Brennan, manager of the Glendale Swimming and Athletic club, announces that he is organizing a basketball team to represent the club in a series of games to be staged in the club gymnasium upon the completion of the building. According to Mr. Brennan, it is the intention of the management to make the Athletic club of general attraction from the standpoint of athletic sports as well as from swimming and dancing and as a means of stimulating interest in sports this plan of holding basketball games has been adopted.

Women's Team It has also been suggested by some of the members that considerable interest could be stimulated by the organization of a women's basketball team. Mr. Brennan states that he would be glad to hear from women who
