

X. A Copy of a Letter from R. P. Vicar of Kildwick in Yorkshire, to a Friend of his in those Parts, wherein he gives an Account of an Extraordinary Eruption of Water, which happened in June, 1686.

Worthy Sir,

I Have now drawn a full, though short, Account of the great Loss sustained by the Inhabitants of Kettlewell and Starbottan, in Craven, in the County of York; by a sudden overflow of Water. The Towns are situate under a great Hill on the East and West; the Country is very mountainous and Rocky. The Descent of the Rain was after a Thunder-Clap, for the Continuance of about an Hour and half, with extraordinary Violence, and by several Eye-witnesses, the Rock on the East side opened visibly, and Water they beheld thence into the Air, the height of an ordinary Church-Steeple; so that the Current of Water came down the Hill into the respective Towns, as in one entire Body, and with a Breast as if it would have drowned the whole Towns. Several Houses were quite demolished, and not a Stone left; others gravel'd to the Chamber-Windows; some Inhabitants driven, until this Day, from their Habitations, the Current of the Water running through their Houses; mighty Rocks descended from the Mountains into the Valley, and there lie immovable; many fair Meadows cover'd with Sand and Stones, that the Worth of the Soil will not regain the same. Household-goods taken away into the great River of Wharfe, and so loft ; besides many quick Goods. The lofs reputed to be many Thousand Pounds. Many Families quite ruined ; others in part only. Such an Instance hath not been heard of within Memory, confidering all Circumstances. Much more might be faid ; but, in fhort, this may fatisfy as an intelligible Account of what you requested from,

Y O U R F R I E N D,

R. P.

Since the firft Flood that I have related, there have been Two others, though not fo great and dangerous : For the Towns have either of them a great Beck (as we call it) or Current of Water runing through them, which by the firft Flood were gravel'd up ; fo that the Passage is much altered, and cannot be regained ; though there have been many Hundreds of Men fet to do it, and Hundreds of a Day.
