Webb Dry Goods Company.

A new depot was promised Glendale officials last night at a committee banquet under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce which was attended by five executives of the Southern Pacific.

That the Glendale Parent-Teacher Associations have brought Glendale people into close and harmonious relation to the city schools was demonstrated last night by the large crowd of parents, teachers and friends that attended the reception given last night by the Glendale Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations in the high school gymnasium, where the teaching corps of the city schools were formally welcomed back from the summer recess for the 1922-23 term.

WOMAN WILLS $4,000,000 TO NEW HAVEN HOSPITAL SAN JOSE, Oct. 7.—The New Haven, Conn., general hospital will benefit to the extent of more than $4,000,000 through the will of Mrs. Sarah L. Winchester, widow of William Wirt Winchester, founder of the Winchester Repeating Arms Company. Mrs. Winchester lived for many years here in a great mansion on which building activity never ceased. More than thirty years ago she received what she believed was a "spirit message" commanding her to build the mansion and warning that should the sound of hammers cease she would die. From that time on carpenters and builders have been busy constructing or re-modeling. Much of her fortune, estimated at $20,000,000 ten years ago, was spent in this manner.

SEE COMPLICATIONS IN NEW BOOZE RULING, CLAIM WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—A flood of international complications, the seriousness and extent of which officials did not care to speculate on today, is confidently expected to follow the government's sweeping decision that no booze of any sort under any flag may come into the ports of these dry United States. An immediate world-wide howl of protest is anticipated by government officials, from President Harding down to the customs agents and dry sleuths, whose duty it will be to try to enforce the unprecedented order. Officials took the position today, however, that congress framed the law so as to give the executive branch of the government no other alternative, and it is now up to congress to change the law, if it wants it changed.

CARL MAYS HAS HARD LUCK IN FIFTH INNING AND LEADERS GO OVER BASES FOR ANOTHER WIN

Yanks Lose Because They Fail to Display Headwork; McGraw's Men Now Have Three Games; Need One To Win Championship

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Carl Mays, stocky, underslung right hander, played human pulmonot to the fast dying Yankee hopes for four innings this moist and lugubrious afternoon, but in the fifth inning the most unkind breaks ever accorded a pitcher in a world's series helped the Giants to come up from the rear, scoring four runs and finally winning the game, 4 to 3.

Pipp and R. Meusel also hit safely, two runs scoring, but Pipp was cut down at second, trying to move up on the throw in and Schang fanned ending the inning. The Yanks needed but one run to tie, and the Yanks climbed aboard McQuillan hard, but lost because they were guilty of base running that would have done credit to the headless horseman of Sleepy Hollow fame.

McQuillan was very good and equally bad in spots, retiring the Yanks without a hit from the first inning to the seventh.

DRY GOODS STORE TO GET NEW HOME

Emery-Webb Building to Be Built; Total Investment About $125,000

(Continued) ing bids, which will be let shortly and construction work will be begun by October 15 and the building completed within ninety days from that time.

The new building is to be a two-story, basement and mezzanine floor building covering a ground area of 50 by 140 feet.

Following the style of the Italian Renaissance architecture the front of the building will be of terra cotta tile, furnishing a highly artistic setting for the display windows. The window space is to be seventeen feet deep, affording splendid opportunity for displaying stock artistically.

Plan Large Basement
Plans as made by Mr. Priest and considered from the foundation up provide for a large basement, where the shipping and receiving departments will be housed and where there will be located a fully-equipped basement store, such as is conducted in the great department stores of larger cities.

Connecting the basement with the first floor, with the mezzanine and the second floor will be a passenger elevator. Mahogany is to be used in finishing the two floors and mezzanine.

In the first floor will be accommodated the men's furnishings and a dry goods department. From the floor a stairway will lead to the mezzanine, thirty feet in width and extending across the rear of the building and overlooking the first floor. On the mezzanine will be located the administrative offices, information desk, reception room and men's rest room.

Modern Equipment
On the second floor will be located the women's ready-to-wear, millinery, infants, art, lingerie and sport departments. Like the first floor the second will be finished in mahogany.

The first floor is to be entirely of hardwood and an uncarpeted, while heavy carpet will be laid in the second floor. The vestibule entrances are to have marble tile floors.

"It gives me great happiness to announce the erection of our new home," said Mr. Webb this morning. "I have been in Glendale six years and have seen the city in the height of its growth and sleep part in the development of its business life."

"I have long dreamed of a new home for my business, where I could more adequately serve my patrons and now that dream is to be realized. To the Glendale women, who have been my faithful patrons ever since I went into business six years ago, I owe my success in business and in increasing my staff and augmenting my business I am dedicating my new store home to the Glendale women."

"I am actively interested in the city's civic organizations and am heartily in favor of any movement for the growth of Glendale. My business represents a membership in the International Rotary organization and I can think of no better thought with which to greet my friends, on the announcement of the erection of the Emery-Webb block than the Rotary motto, 'He profits most who serves best.'"

Club Drama Section Opens Fall Season

The drama section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club opened its fall season with an enthusiastic meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of the curator, Mrs. E. A. Chase, 239 North Orange street. A very interesting article on "What is Acting?" was read by Mrs. Chase, who stated that the successful actor must possess that indescribable, magnetic force which compels the attention of the audience, whether it be called personality, magnetism or what, but which is a thing apart from technique or voice culture. Other points taken up by Mrs. Chase included the question as to whether the actor really feels the emotions which he is portraying and also the matter of naturalness. She said the ideal actor portrays the character he is playing as he believes it would be natural for that particular character to act. His knowledge and imagination display his degree of greatness."

Mrs. Chase also read two very delightful one-act plays, "The New Crusade," and "Women of History." This latter play was chosen by the section members for the program to be given by them and the music section for the opening of the new clubhouse at Lexington drive and Central avenue. Four new members were taken into the section yesterday, Mrs. Harry James, Mrs. Chester King, Mrs. Halstead and Mrs. A. L. Ferguson, making the total membership thirty-five.

The next meeting of the drama section will be held on Friday, October 20, at the home of Mrs. E. A. Bode, 138 North Orange street, at 2 o'clock. The topic for study will be "Pelleas and Melisande."

SACCO IS GIVEN DECISION IN BOUT

Lavigne Puts Up Terrific Battle, but Weakens In Closing Moments

After establishing a big margin in the first round of his fight with Jimmy Sacco last night, George Lavigne weakened during the closing moments of the bout to such an extent that Sacco was given the decision. The affair was a battle from start to finish, Sacco apparently "laying off" until the start of the second canto, when he tore in for blood.

The other half of the twin main event of last night's Hollywood American Legion boxing show was the spectacular battle put in the bout between Teddy Silva and Georgia Lee, bantamweights de luxe. Lee, who is a diminutive Sacramento Chinaman who has been making such an impressive record up and down the coast of late, came back strongly in the final round, overcoming a big handicap which Silva had created during the second and third.

After being knocked to the floor several times Joe Dunn of Oakland was stopped in the fourth round of his bout with Sailor Ashmore. The other matches resulted as follows: Alex Macdonald won from Kid Mende. Spec Wood was given the decision over George Gilmore when the latter was forced to retire at the end of the second round with an injured arm. Ray Lee, a brother of the bantamweight Chinaman, received a draw with Pete Herman. Joe Murphy defeated Willie Jackson in the curtain raiser.

The Vernon Tigers, who seemed practically out of the Pacific Coast league pennant race through their poor showing against Oakland the first part of the week, once more made the race a torrid affair yesterday by sneaking up to within one full game of the first place San Franciscans. Big Bill James was the pitcher who finally broke the ice for the southerners in Oakland, winning the first game of the week by a 3 to 2 score. The game was no walkaway, however. Ivan Howard's Oaks becoming dangerous in the last of the ninth inning, when their final run was shoved across the plate. Vernon's big inning came in the eighth, when Read, catching for the Oaks, heaved the ball into centerfield and allowed two men to score. Pete Schneider and Maderas each connected for home-runs.

Seals Lose Again
Los Angeles did its share in Los Angeles, defeating San Francisco for the third time in the past four games. Vernon has had every chance in the world to clinch the pennant this week, but their transitory opponents are apparently averse to this plan. Although Jim Scott of the Seals allowed the Angels but four hits against seven obtained off Tom Hughes, three of the four were bunched in the sixth, when all of the runs of the game were scored. The final score was 2 to 0.

Poison Defendants of Big Murder Plot

LEIPSIK, Oct. 7.—The trial of Warnicke, Guenther and three others charged with complicity in the assassination plot against the late Dr. Walter Rathenau, German foreign secretary, was suddenly halted today by illness of the defendants who had been poisoned with typhus bacilli contained in a box of candy sent from Berlin.

In 1920 the University of California football was considered, on the Pacific coast, one of the greatest machines among the colleges of the country. They were dubbed by a coast writer "The Wonder Team." January 1, 1921, this so-called wonder team defeated Ohio State 28 to 0 and the "wonder team" idea was emphasized and again on January 1 of this year when the same California team played Washington and Jefferson to a scoreless tie in the annual east versus west contest the adherents of the team for the first time realized that the term "wonder team" was sort of misrepresentation.

There was only one man who objected to the term and that was Andy Smith, former great fullback of the University of Penn., later Penn coach and now coach of the University of California. College spirit, however, and support of the California team and hero worship was too strong for Smith to overcome and the students and supporters continued to laud the "Wonder Team."

The scoreless game with W. & J. brought about the opportunity that Smith was looking for. When the spiritless football honors gathered a couple of weeks ago at the California campus, Smith got his chance. He told that football gathering, a rally of thousands of students, that there was no such thing as a "wonder team." He told the students very pointedly that there was no wonder team and asked them to forget all about such a phrase. "We have

The idea of ever establishing, through actual competition, a recognized champion football team of the United States at the close of a season, is something that never can be realized. It is an impracticability for a good many reasons in which reasons of geography, time, climate and other considerations enter in. There still are many persons who entertain the idea that the thing can be accomplished, but their assumptions purely are theoretical.

In the first place there are too many football teams spread over too wide an area ever to allow of a process of elimination. The football season is too short to admit of such a series of elimination contests. There are scores of strong teams in every section of the country and it would be a physical impossibility for even the outstanding teams in their particular section to meet the corresponding teams of other localities.

A regular football season comprises a schedule of from seven to nine games. To determine a champion through actual contest would require at least the doubling of the number of games and twice the present length of the football season. Inter-sectional games have been played, and are being played every year, but the difficulty of securing the strongest team of one section to meet another already has become obvious to those who have ever tried to stage one of these contests.

Compromise on Near East Strife, Report

PARIS, Oct. 7.—Lord Curzon, British foreign secretary, and Premier Poincare of France were reported this afternoon to have reached a Near East compromise regarding the Turks' occupation of Thrace which will permit a resumption of the Mudania armistice negotiations unless the Turks balk at the terms.

Iowans Attention!

A PERSONAL WORD FROM SENATOR FRANCIS

To the Ex-Iowans and Others:

I am from Spirit Lake and Des Moines, Iowa—you who are from Iowa, therefore, read.

After an absence of two years I returned recently to California because of reports that city property in Los Angeles and vicinity was moving. You who have been here will know my astonishment as I saw the marvelous developments of two short years.

It required no superior wisdom to lead me into a deal. I found a good buy and bought. Before I could make my plat I was offered $500 an acre raise—and sold. Just then one of the most important events of my business life occurred—I met Wm. S. Sparr and he showed me his valley—Verdugo Valley.

Travel has always been my delight. Beauty in mountain and valley, sea and plain, appeals to me. And here was the most beautiful valley I had ever gazed upon. The valleys of Montmartre, of Mexico, and of the Hudson, much as they had thrilled me, do not excel the alluring beauty of the "Green Verdugo Hills."

Then it was I bought a half interest in "Sparr Heights"—that magnificent estate of 1500 acres extending across the valley from mountain top to mountain top.

To help me in its development—for here we will build a city—I have associated with me, Mr. Barnum and Mr. Walters, two of the best qualified and experienced men in California. We have built our main office on the property. There we will supervise its development, now beginning.

Since our opening, three weeks ago, we have sold approximately $400,000 worth. We are but beginning—the future holds wondrous certainties.

We have homesites that will satisfy every hope and every ambition—highly restricted where those who wish to build a great mansion may do so undisturbed, those less restricted meeting the needs of our great middle class and some where those less fortunate can afford to build.

We have mountain and hillside sites where the whole world lies at your feet; valley sites guarded by great green mountains; business sites where those who wish may enter the marts of trade and add honorably to their income while their investment with us doubles in value.

We offer you sunshine and beauty, elevation and freedom, pure air to breathe and glorious scenery to rejoice over—all with every lot, for rich and poor alike. If you are from the old home state—if the word "Iowa" still awakens the memory of happy days—if you are interested in beautiful things—come to Sparr Heights.

Go north on Glendale Avenue, drive up Verdugo Road. Look for our signs and office and, as every one told me as I drove through from Iowa, "You can't miss it."

I will be at the office all day Sunday—come and see me.

AUTUMN TOURING SEASON IS HERE

Auto Club Tells Motorists to Go Out Into Country and Enjoy Life

Jack o' lantern time is here, and the autumn touring season is coming with a rush. Motorists visiting Glendale, and local car owners as well, who claim that the southern and central portions of California have no "fall" should go out into the country hereabout and see the brilliant leaves of the wintering trees, says the Automobile club of Southern California.

Although this part of the state can't boast of "frost upon the pumpkin," still the pumpkin on the vine, as James Whitcomb Riley said, and some of the most gorgeous tours in the world are ready for inspection in the southern counties.

Many Autumn Tours
Practically every county has its own autumn tours. From San Luis Obispo on the north to Imperial and San Diego counties on the south and Riverside and San Bernardino counties on the east, there are canyons now which fairly glow with ripening autumn foliage. Red, brown and brilliant yellows mark the fall of the sycamore and poplar leaves.

Take your car out today, Mr. Motorist, advises the auto club, and learn something about your own part of the state. Tell your eastern friends that southern California offers every type of scenery in the world, and would prove it to them. Show them the little canyons where it is possible to picnic under the autumn leaves, even in October and November.

Inter-county touring in the southern sections of California should reach its height at this time, it is pointed out. Learn what your neighboring county has to offer.

Why Cars Balk

If a car when pulling hard in any gear or when running idle in high misses fire or goes dead, it may be a sign of fouled or leaking spark plugs. Make sure that the battery is strong and that you are getting a good spark. Also examine the carburetor float and the fuel line for clogging.

Interesting Variation of Stop Signals Used on Autos; Perhaps Jazz Will, In the Future, Also Be Tried on Traffic

An interesting variation of the latest device on motor cars has made its appearance, says a recent issue of the Ford Dealers News of New York. Most of the new machines are equipped with lighted letters at the rear which register "Stop" when traffic is brought to a halt by the traffic policeman.

Someone has foreseen possibilities in this device for a little more social intercourse with brother motorists than the prosaic word "Stop." One car recently noted on Broadway had taken on a real air of intimacy. When the driver pushed his brake the lighted letters registered "Halt, Kid." And when it started another set of lights on the other side informed the drivers behind the command was "Forward."

Another more complicated affair was recently noticed. It consisted of a metal box about six inches high and four inches wide and every time the car came to a stop the door of the box opened and out came a red hand that said "Stop" and a buzzer became audible. For all the world like a real Swiss "cuckoo" clock, only the size and noise it made were hardly harmonious. When the car moved on the "buzzing" stopped and the "red hand" withdrew to its shell, the door closed, and, until the next stop, once more appeared as an innocent box.

Before long, it may be possible, that "dancing" dolls may supplant the ominous red hand and a music box may play jazz at each corner, changing later in the evening to "Home, Sweet Home."

Set Park Record

A total of 100,506 persons, traveling by train, automobile, motorcycle, horseback, carriage, wagons and afoot, broke all records for National Park attendance in Yosemite during the travel year just closed, according to official figures compiled. The total was 9000 greater than in 1921.

According to W. B. Lewis, superintendent of the park, 64,737 persons arrived in 19,583 private automobiles. More than 1300 walked in, approximately 400 rode in on horseback, while besides the 33,651 who came by railroad, there were numerous others who arrived aboard motorcycles and horse-drawn vehicles.

The "travel year" which these figures cover is purely a statistical period, at the end of which the park records are closed.

To Measure Oils

Faucets that measure and record the oil or gasoline delivered from tank trucks to customers have been invented.

Accidents Increase

Despite the passage of numerous ordinances and the adoption of traffic regulations in the larger cities of the country in an effort to curb accidents from motor cars, reports from more than a dozen of the metropolitan cities of the middle-west show an increase in the number of accidents for the first six months of 1922 compared with the same period of 1921.

This increase has caused city officials to prescribe drastic rules in governing motor traffic in an endeavor to lessen danger in motor traveling. Several of the cities are shown to be waging war on the speeder, in many cases imprisonment being added to fines by municipal judges.

Need Inner Liner

The standard size inner tube should not be used in an over-casing, unless an interliner is used in the casing. Otherwise the tube when inflated will be expanded to a greater size than that for which it was intended, causing excessive strain and quick deterioration.

FIVE DRIVERS TO HOLD MATCH RACE

Stars to Clash October 29 on Cotati Speedway; Stock Contest Also

FRESNO, Oct. 7.—The Cotati speedway is to hold a five-cornered match race on October 29, according to a statement given out by J. Francis O'Connor, president of the Northern California speedway, after a conference with drivers and race track officials.

The five speedway stars whose names were attached to the match race agreement were all winners of one or more races this year, and their names as given to the press are as follows: Bennett Hill, who drove his Miller motor car into first place in the 150-mile race here; Jimmy Murphy, who won the Indianapolis classic last year, as well as events at Tacoma, Uniontown, Los Angeles and Fresno; Tommy Milton, 1921 speedway champion, second place winner here and first place man at the Kansas City meet last month; Harry Hartz, winner of the San Carlos race last spring and Frank Elliott, who by his sensational driving took first honors at the last Cotati race.

Stock Car Race
In connection with this match race, which will be for the 100-mile distance, O'Connor expects to hold a stock car race. Speedway officials and racing drivers are today enthusiastic over the outlook for the racing game in California. The next national championship event is the Turkey day race at Los Angeles, and Manager A. M. Young of the southern speedway reports that the entry list this year will be the fastest and best ever signed up for a Beverly event.

MANY KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Insurance Companies Give Figures; New Brake Is Carefully Tested

After man invents an engine to surpass the powers of nature, his next job is to devise a machine with which to protect himself from his own inventions. Among the foremost inventions of recent times which relieve almost countless and varied needs is the automobile. Few inventions have become so useful, but they also have taken a heavy toll of human lives. During 1920, according to statistics of insurance companies, 1,500,000 persons were injured and 12,000 killed by motor vehicles.

If such a price must be paid for the benefits of motor transportation, it would undoubtedly have been advisable to confine our modes of transportation to walking, horseback riding, or simpler forms of locomotion.

Makes Motoring Safe
Fortunately, however, the same type of brain which conceived the automobile has been busy devising means to make it accident-proof.

While traffic laws have done a great deal to prevent accidents, they will never be able to entirely do away with them. The more nearly perfect control in the recent automobiles is also doing its part in lessening the number of motor accidents.

Among the more recent inventions along this line is an automatic brake invented by a resident of San Francisco, and which is being investigated by the police authorities of that city as to its practicability in preventing accidents. This is said to be the first automatic accident preventive device which has proved thoroughly practical.

A buffer with three three-eighths inch steel cables strung on a frame of pressed steel is applied to the front and rear of the car.

Contact Stops Car
When the car, traveling either backward or forward, strikes anything, an electrical contact is effected which automatically stops the car by applying the brakes, cutting off the ignition, and sounding the horn. Stopping the ignition supplies an additional brake in the form of compression in the motor, and prevents fire after an accident.

This particular invention has also a use when the car is parked, as it sounds a horn whenever pressure is brought against the car and continues to do so until the pressure is removed. Its features of most general interest, however, is the protection offered the pedestrian. Even the slight resistance of a human body against the cables will bring the car to a standstill and obviate the possibility of one of the most common kinds of accidents where cars are running at normal speed.

If the endorsement which it has been given by several public officials is of any significance, the brake may be expected to have an interesting future. Kosac, as the inventor has named it, seems to give promise of being the nucleus of a valuable new industry in San Francisco.

AUTO BUGS AND BUGGIES

By Morris

BAD HEADLIGHTS ARE BANNED NOW

Auto Trades Association Is Aiding Motorists to Make Adjustments

"It is a glaring fact that most headlights glare! While American newspapers are carrying accounts of accidents caused by "skidding," "defective steering gears," "poor brakes" and news stories under similar captions does the American motorist ever ask: of what use is a perfect steering gear, anti-skidding device or excellent brakes when a white, blinding glare snuffs out the road leaving the driver in miserable and dangerous darkness?"

"Will anyone venture that the comparison between a real blind man and a temporarily blinded motorist is far fetched? Unfortunately the condition is comparable—dangerously so," said Robert W. Martland, secretary-manager of the California Automobile Trade Association in a recent address before a large group of business men and car owners. Mr. Martland further stated, "Arrests for headlight law violations are entirely legitimate! The motorist now has a definite assurance that his lights will be properly adjusted. Official headlight adjusting stations of the California Automobile Trade Association are required to take a complete course in motor vehicle illumination. This in itself is proof of the association's unselfish efforts to make California highways free from blind drivers."

Worse in Summer

Conditions met in warm weather are generally the more harmful to tires. Road conditions being equal, tires will give more mileage in winter because of reduced frictional heat while driving. Although there is the same amount of air, warm air increases frictional heat, the chief enemy of tires.

Touring Records

An idea of the extent of touring during the season of 1920 may be gained from the fact that Salt Lake City registered approximately 2500 tourists from outside the state of Utah during the month of September alone. This is one-third greater than the previous year.

RESERVE ROOMS, FAIL TO APPEAR

Auto Club Points Out Bad Practice Followed by Careless Autoists

Thoughtless motorists are causing consternation among hundreds of hotel owners throughout this part of the state, according to officials of the Automobile club of Southern California.

They are also making the path very rough for eastern visitors who are flocking here at this time of the year. It is because motorists make reservations by telephone, very often through the various auto club touring bureaus, and then fail to register at the hotel.

"It is not fair to the many hotels and resorts in Southern California for auto owners to reserve rooms over the telephone and then fail to arrive at the time stated," says Fred Ross, head of the hotel department of the club.

May Refuse Reservations
"Many hotel proprietors have said that if motorists continue this practice they will have to refuse to make reservations for parties over the telephone or by wire. This would be awkward for visitors, to whom the hotels of Southern California are famous."

An appeal is made to the motoring public to make sure that they will take up their reservations when they request the auto club to make them, or when they make them personally. Local hotels and resorts are becoming as nationally famous as the caravansaries of Europe, and they occupy a very responsible position in the motoring life of Southern California, therefore it is the duty of local auto owners to help protect their welfare, it is pointed out.

Plan Free Information

The Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, in Minneapolis, Minn., are planning to give free information to the traveling motorist in every American city and community. Information stations are to be established in every state, having, wherever possible, no greater distances than twenty-five to fifty miles between stations.

Get High Taxes

Automobile owners who heap curses upon the taxes assessed against them in this country ought to pay taxes in Japan. On motor cars of more than 20 horsepower the local tax at Tokio is $422. There is no national automobile tax in Japan and the charges vary in the different prefectures.

HARVEST FROM AUTOISTS

Among the many interesting replies received by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce to a card questionnaire on motor camp sites in the United States, is one from Chillicothe, Mo. This city with a population of 12,560 has no less than twenty-eight national, interstate and state highways passing through it. About 23,520 tourists' cars carrying over 100,000 persons visited or passed through Chillicothe in 1921, purchasing merchandise and supplies amounting to over $241,000.

Kitchen Dishpan

An easy way to clean a tire for repairing or painting is to jack up the wheel and place a pan filled with water or gasoline on the floor under the tire. Drop the wheel a little and turn slowly while removing the mud and grease with a brush or sponge.

Tire Pressure

In hot weather the pressure of the tires should be watched more closely, or tires that have been in use for a long period because of the expansion. Use the tire gauge, especially when inflating the tires.

While Engine Is Hot

Push rods should be examined when the engine is still hot, after a run. If they are adjusted while the engine is cold, the valves may not seat properly when the parts are heated, due to their expansion.

Auto Metal Step Device

A new metal step plate for automobile running boards is hinged in such a way that it can be used as a baggage carrier.

Let Us Show You the Difference!

Vibration is destructive. It shortens the life of a car. It takes the pleasure out of riding because it causes rattles, squeaks and other irritating noises.

Vibration is particularly annoying in closed cars.

There is no perceptible period of vibration in the Studebaker Light-Six at any speed. This is due in part to Studebaker's method of machining the crankshaft and connecting rods on all surfaces. No other car, at anywhere near the price, follows this practice.

Lack of vibration and the quiet, smooth-running motor find quick approval from everyone who rides in the Light-Six Sedan.

And every driver is similarly enthusiastic over the way it throttles down to a walking gait in high gear—and the quick response that follows the touch of the accelerator.

Aside from its mechanical excellence, the Light-Six Sedan is notable for its sterling coach work. The substantial body, like the chassis, is built complete in Studebaker plants. Materials and workmanship are of highest grade.

Long, semi-elliptic springs and deep, restful, nine-inch cushions afford genuine comfort. Upholstery is of a rich, mohair velvet plush—good-looking and durable.

Today's price is the lowest at which the Light-Six Sedan has ever been sold.

NASH SEDAN WHICH MADE LONG TRIP, AND OWNERS

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Standen, shown in the picture, recently returned to Glendale after making a trip across the country from Ohio to California. Upon his return, Mr. Standen praised the car's performance to E. B. Sutton of the Glendale Nash Sales.

Is the Nash seven-passenger sedan a good car? Ask E. E. Standen, 201 East Garfield avenue, who with his wife, daughter and Charles Coleman (who acted as chauffeur) made the trip recently from Coshocton, Ohio, to Glendale.

In all of the 2876 miles traveled there was never a minute when the Nash failed to do what a good car should, Mr. Standen told E. B. Sutton of the Glendale Nash Sales, 112 South Maryland.

The car was delivered in Cleveland, and at the start of the trip registered just 238 miles. In spite of the fact that the car was a new one, the total average was 178 miles per day. The start was made August 28, and the party reached Glendale on the morning of September 12.

Care was taken at the start so that the car was driven not over twenty-five miles per hour at the start. Later it was increased a

The Santa Fe trail was taken as far as Winslow, Ariz. At Payson, the party made a brief stop, then going past Roosevelt Dam, taking the Apache trail to Phoenix.

The party camped every night except at Phoenix where they went to a hotel for the first time during the trip. Mrs. Standen and the little girl slept in the car by using a small folding table from which the legs were sawed off to a point which made the table even with the back seat. The men slept in a tent which the party carried.

From Phoenix the desert trip was made.

No trouble was experienced except two small punctures. The Nash was said to have been exceptionally economical in oil and gas.

It is announced no work has been done on the car except what was done upon its arrival in Glendale—that of tightening up the brakes, etc.

Ray E. Sherman on Tour of California in Interest of Auto Industry

"To further the sale of American made products abroad," says S. C. Packer of the Packer Auto company, 245 South Brand boulevard, local Studebaker distributors, "the United States department of commerce has produced motion picture films showing the manufacture of various articles made in the United States. These pictures will be shown in all foreign countries under the direction of the department of commerce."

"The plants of the Studebaker corporation were selected as representative of the automobile industry, and a six-reel picture was made in the South Bend factory showing the complete manufacture of a Studebaker light six. This picture, taken under the direct supervision of the United States department of commerce, is an unusual one for an industrial film, inasmuch as it was so planned that the technical operations incidental to building an automobile are easily understood by a person having no knowledge of mechanics."

"While the film will be shown in foreign countries," continues Mr. Packer, "the Studebaker corporation has secured permission to show them in this country provided no changes are made in them. They bear the official seal of the department of commerce. The Studebaker corporation has planned to send this film, in charge of competent men to California in the near future for exhibition."

Ray E. Sherman, merchandising director of the Automotive Equipment association, said to be one of the best known men of the automotive industry is now on a tour of California, delivering his message of better merchandising to automobile and business organizations throughout the west. Sherman is the man who originated the "Ask 'em to buy" campaign. Last year the Automotive Equipment association appropriated $40,000 for the work and this year $125,000 has been put aside. A new film "Shop Profits" is a part of the program. Sherman's itinerary includes Sacramento on October 7, San Jose, October 9, Oakland October 10 and San Francisco October 11. From San Francisco he will go north to Medford, Ore., and into Washington and then east.

Sherman has just completed a tour of southern California and spoke to many thousand automobile men there. He has a real message, and has told the men how their profits leak away from bad management and failure to use ordinary selling ability. The results of the merchandising campaign in the last year have added several millions in sales to the industry, according to figures from all parts of the country.

MAXWELL CLOSED CAR IS POPULAR

Increased Production Fails to Keep Pace With Big Demand of Public

Further increases in the production of closed car bodies have recently been made by the Maxwell Motor corporation through added manufacturing facilities recently installed in the company's large body plant in Dayton, Ohio.

In the one year which these closed cars have been on the market the company has been confronted with a demand never fully satisfied, even though production has been several times increased, according to the statement of Lyman P. Clark of the Glendale Motor Car company, local Maxwell dealers.

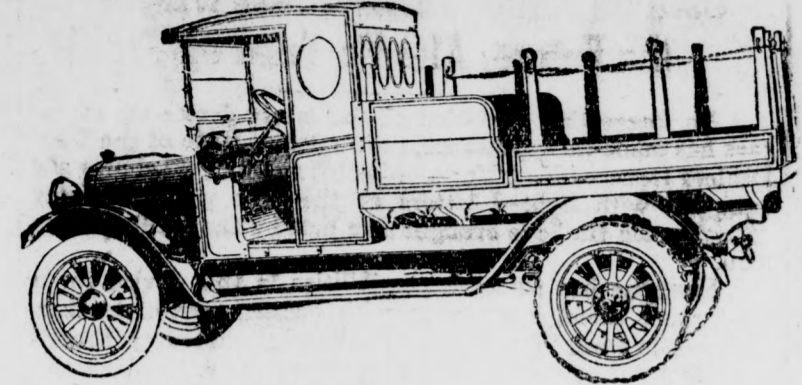

"The preference for the good Maxwell coupe and sedan has steadily increased since these cars were introduced ten months ago," said Mr. Clark.

"At no time has the factory been able to keep pace with the insistent demand. Greater production was several times achieved but buyers multiplied at an ever increasing rate.

"It is not difficult to see why the good Maxwell coupe and sedan were met with an instantaneous display of approval. For the first time a line of closed cars of moderate price offered all the utility and all the luxury of much more costly vehicles—beautiful, permanent closed-car bodies of steel, a quietness possible only with solid construction, broadcloth upholstery of highest grade, finished inside and out to de luxe closed-car standards.

Take Care on Jewett Six to Prevent Compression, and Oil Loss

There are four operations that constitute the best known method of finishing cylinder walls. This more or less technical matter of shop practice is of real interest to the motorist because it is so vitally connected with the efficient performance of his engine.

Even the layman understands what it means to "hit on all six" and he appreciates the importance of each cylinder doing as much work as its team mates, according to the salesmanager of the Sun-set Motor company, 208 East Colorado street.

"If he is purchasing a car—especially one costing less than $1000—he will be glad to know that the best practice has been followed to prevent a loss of compression or oil pumping."

"Two operations, one boring and one reaming, could turn out a cylinder wall of approximate standards," says Harry M. Jewett, president of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car company, "but in building our Jewett Six we have gone the limit that the best practice prescribes."

Hupmobile Series Interest Glendale Folk, Word to Bartlett & French

Do motorists read the automobile advertisements appearing in the various popular publications? According to Lanier Bartlett, of Bartlett & French, local Hupmobile agency, 107 East Colorado street, they evidently do.

For some time the Hupp Motor Car corporation has been running a series of advertisements covering the wide field where the Hupmobile is used. Each week in a magazine of over a million circulation the story of various European cities has been told.

So well have the advertisements interested prospective car buyers that a number of Glendale folk have mentioned the series to Mr. French.

A recent full page advertisement showing scenes of Bombay, India, and Milan, Italy, said in part:

"Wherever the Hupmobile has gone abroad—and it has penetrated almost to the farthest reaches of civilization—America, and thence American, are looked upon with favor."

Premier Lloyd George will receive 40,000 pounds for his memoirs.

Reo Speed Wagon Serves as Traveling Meat Market; Goes Out and Gets More Business

AUTO TRUCK SECURES MORE BUSINESS
Picture shows Reo Speed Wagon as traveling meat market. It gets business when trade is not brisk in the store, says Harry E. White.

The "Store at Your Door" or the truck store system of merchandising various commodities has, during the past few months, invaded many sections of the country, and groceries, clothing stores, department stores and many other lines of business are finding it a most satisfactory solution to some of their problems.

With the motor truck it is possible to cover any section or an entire city which could not be done before this unique method of merchandising was put into effect.

One of the most attractive things about using a truck for such a purpose is that if one territory does not pay, for various reasons, it is a simple matter to take the truck off the unpaying territory and re-route it to more fertile fields. If it is found that two or three of the regular stops are not paying, these stops can easily be eliminated and others added to take their place.

"If the falling off of business happens to the stationary store (and to what store does not that happen at times) it is a difficult matter for the store to change location," says Mr. White of the Harry E. White, Inc.

"But with the truck this is easily solved. The truck can enter one territory, acquaint the people in this territory with its goods and move on to other fields, leaving friends among the buyers and customers who will be waiting for the daily trips thereafter."

SIMPLE COTTAGE IS REGULAR HOME

Donald R. Gillin Tells of Compromises Necessary in Making Plans

"Simple little cottages make real homes; dream houses are only nice to think about and are seldom built," philosophizes Donald R. Gillin, service manager of the Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber company, 460 West Los Feliz Road.

"Most persons, and particularly those persons who have never owned a home, have their dream houses," continues Mr. Gillin, "but a dream house is a hazy confusion of disconnected ideas and bits of detail all jumbled together without consideration of the whole."

"A lovely stairway, the choice bit from a friend's fine old Colonial, a wonderful Dutch fireplace, a particularly pleasing group of easement sashes, two or three big plates, an entrance like Mrs. Brown's, a big roomy porch, a terrace, a sun room, a fountain, sunken garden, all of which are to be built into one small home to cost not more than a certain specified amount."

Must Compromise

"Building a home is a series of compromises. It is neither size nor ornate appearance that makes a home. The simple little cottage can be made just as attractive as its more pretentious neighbor and in addition the little cottage is so much easier to pay for."

"The National Builders Bureau of which the Bentley-Schoeneman company is a member, is an organization which provides building plans designed especially to meet the requirements of every home builder and in a most economical and satisfactory manner."

"The service department of the Bentley-Schoeneman company have for your inspection, beautiful photographic views of the ideal home. Plans may be had immediately without charge to customers."

Geo. T. Smith Displaying Car Which Is Answer to Public Demand

The new and commodious seven-passenger Willys-Knight is at last a realization, it is announced.

Geo. T. Smith, the distributor for Willys-Knight and Overland cars for the San Fernando valley, has received one of the new creations, and has the car on display at the salesroom in Glendale.

The demand of the public for a seven-passenger in the Willys-Knight, has at last been met by this beautiful and powerful car. The seven-passenger is larger in wheelbase and all items throughout the entire car follow.

The body is finished in Willys-Knight blue with black enamel fenders, hood and radiator. The car on display at the Geo. T. Smith agency is one of the first two to reach the coast. Shipments of the new Willys-Knight will follow promptly. It is expected to follow in popularity its smaller brother, the Willys-Knight five-passenger car.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Here's a Loose Idea Reducing Cost of Travel Just a Few Frivolities Advertises Glendale Away

By Gil A. Cowan

EVERY DAY something new develops in the traffic situation until the motorist feels that conditions are almost unbearable.

The driver who is so indiscreet as to go a little too fast, parks too long in one place or violates some other regulation must pay a penalty which is usually unjust.

It is suggested that a registering machine be developed by the state as a part of all cars and accessible to officers only. This meter would show the number of miles, the speed and what time a car is parked.

At certain designated times the owner of the automobile would be required to "check in," pay so much a mile for the use of the highways, say a tenth of a cent, and a stiff surcharge for every mile above the speed limit.

In case of arrest for parking the clock would permit him to settle with the arresting officer on the basis of minutes he overstayed the limit. How does the idea strike you?

All things must be made more reasonable for the traveling public, it would seem, according to this dispatch from our Washington correspondent, the the U. S. Press association:

"Railroad representatives before the Interstate Commerce commission attacked proposals to establish a system of interchangeable mileage books for passenger transportation over all lines. By a recent act of congress the Interstate Commerce commission was authorized to require the issuance and sale of such books by all railroads and to fix a reasonable rate."

"Representatives of organizations of traveling salesmen, appeared and asked a reduction of 33 1-3 per cent in transportation costs by means of the proposed new mileage facilities."

"A. M. Loeb, president of the national council of Traveling Salesmen's associations, said the roads should sell coupon books at a one-third discount, and argued that the policy would increase the amount of travel materially."

David K. Clink, secretary-treasurer of Commercial Travelers' organizations, representing, he said, 676,000 traveling men, made a similar argument."

Just a few frivolities: Someone suggests that commencing October 16 the whiskers in Glendale will have an hour longer to grow as the barber shops will close at 6 p. m. instead of 7.

A real estate man comments on the paper boys calling, "Standard Oil cuts 200 per cent watermelon." "If we only had melons with 'two per cent' it would be near enough, he says."

S. Berman counted 750 cars on Brand boulevard in one hour yesterday. "Think what a lot of business that paying will promote," comments the merchant tailor of South Brand boulevard.

W. B. Kelly, president of the Exchange club, and realtor, did a great thing for Glendale at the national meeting of his luncheon organization at Louisville.

"All on his own," he distributed literature which should bring hundreds of homemakers to this city in the future. Oh, yes. He sold one party on the train coming west and got two other prospects.

SPEED UP FORD PRODUCTION NOW

Say Hard For Factory to Keep Up With Orders at Present Rate

As a result of recent exhaustive surveys of conditions in territory served by the Los Angeles branch of the Ford Motor company, B. L. Graves, manager of the branch, states that he is expecting a season of unprecedented prosperity.

In common with Jesse E. Smith, Glendale Ford dealer, other dealers through the Los Angeles territory, which includes Southern California, Arizona and New Mexico, are experiencing a unique volume of orders.

It is interesting to note the general trend toward what are known as "closed jobs," that is, coupes and sedans. Not only are they reasonable, but their comfort on the cool nights of the southwest, a ready adaptability to any condition of weather, and countless new refinements have marked them for a degree of popularity not hitherto observed.

Are Increasing Production

To meet the requirements, the Ford Motor company has initiated a scope of production that is amazing in extent and unparalleled in automobile history. Not only will this relieve the depression of delivery experienced during the sixty days past, but will amply provide for an incoming flood of orders that would swamp an organization less fitted to accomplish huge undertakings in a huge manner.

They are "rolling our way," says Jesse Smith, meaning that deliveries as well as orders are coming in fast. He adds that conditions have rarely been so favorable for the purchaser seeking early delivery, but suggests that if orders continue at the present

Ready-Made Trend Hurts Paris Modes

PARIS—"A tendency of Paris couturiers to cater to the American ready-to-wear trade demands has had a bad effect on the styles of many of the well-known shops," declares Charles Kurzman, head of the famous Fifth avenue establishment. "It has resulted in many cases in the cheapening of fabrics and of quality."

"Prices are still too high to be beneficial either to the French or American trade. They do not appear to have stabilized prices on this side. We could do twenty-five times as much business if the prices were right—that is, between twenty and thirty per cent lower than at present."

Buyers are many in Paris, but most of them are buying few lines. The French firms have a habit of charging the designers' cost price for each gown, no matter how many are ordered, which is about $200.

"Kurzman, who has had experience in buying Parisian models and who has a fine appreciation of French taste, says that it would be better for the whole world if more French goods were spread abroad. "French designers are the greatest artists," he says.

"Nobody can approach them. There is always something new in Paris, thanks to their creative genius."

rate the fortunate buyer will be the one who places his orders just a few minutes earlier than his neighbor.

"Every authorized Ford dealer is potentially a miniature Ford Motor company," says Mr. Smith, "and as such our obligation to the public, taking form in absolute integrity, equitable treatment and sincere service, constitute capital no less than actual cash."

WHEN the child makes a big unsightly blot on his school books or on the table cover, you are likely to give him a severe reprimand for his carelessness. But when the father or mother looks back over their past life and sees a big blot of failure — what then?

That failure may have been due to adversity and misfortune, those insidious foes of mankind which seem ever ready to leap upon us unexpectedly. They bring us severe disappointments, until at times life seems not worth living.

Now, we never would attempt to make the child's blot appear like a rose garden or a beautiful piece of furniture. But man's mistake, that's different. Out of the blot of adversity, misfortune and past disappointments, you can create a home—the most worth-while of all earth's material things.

"How can this be accomplished?" you ask. Listen, you have learned from the unfortunate past, real lessons. One of these is that rent receipts are of no value thirty days after they are written—another payment is then demanded, and another receipt is added to the unprofitable collection.

You have also learned that the landlord makes money—the renter does not. If the landlord ceased making a profit, he would drop the "landlording" business.

Now, by putting these two facts together, they tell you that THE WAY TO SUCCESS IS IN HOME-OWNERSHIP, and that disappointments are not so likely to visit those who own their own homes.

"But, you say, it's too late to begin now." On the contrary, now is the very time to make a fresh start. Now, while you are enjoying good health and your earnings will permit, is the time to make a reality of the home visions that have been denied you in the past.

We want you to appreciate fully that there is but one thing necessary to climb the high road to success, and that is DETERMINATION. Grasp it; incorporate it into your being; decide definitely that you will have a home in the near future—that you will make a new beginning Now, and automatically you will be mounting successward.

Ponder this well, if you are making enough salary or wages to pay rent, you are able to buy, or preferably, build a home. It isn't necessary to have all the money to pay down on a home. A small first payment, with the balance in monthly installments, like rent — and in a few years you are your own landlord, with all the privileges and benefits which come from that desirable position.

WHY MEN BLAME

"He had some of the most annoying traits you can think of. One of them was to think that everything bothersome that happened to him was my fault."—George Elliott

Once upon a time, I took that as a text to write upon the exasperating habits of certain of the male sex.

I ran across it in my scrap book while looking for another quotation this morning and, behold, it started a very different line of thought.

This morning, when I was hurrying (as, alas, I frequently am) to get ready for breakfast, I simply could not find a nail file. I keep three or four around because that is the best way to be sure of having one. I believe it is Agnes Repplier who in an essay on the cussedness of the inanimate object speaks of that method of foiling the cussedness of the typewriter eraser and similar small objects. If they know you have several in reserve they don't see any point in disappearing and, therefore, the surest way not to lose one eraser is to have three more in the drawer. And that is the method I usually follow with nail files.

Oh, For Someone to Blame! But, alas, this time it had not worked. All three were in temporary hiding. I looked in all the places they should be in, and in all they shouldn't be in and still I couldn't find them. I wasted between five and ten minutes searching and didn't find one at all until later on when I was looking for a handkerchief and found that one of them had somehow gotten into my top drawer. (I haven't found the other two.) And all the time I was getting more and more exasperated, and the worst part of it was that I couldn't blame anyone but myself, because no one else could be considered to blame.

But if there had been anyone that I could have blamed wouldn't I have just enjoyed laying off the steam I'd been generating, by blowing that person up?

Wouldn't We if We Could? And then I asked myself this question. Suppose I were someone's husband; suppose I could attach part of the blame for the missing article on my wife or, if I couldn't do that, suppose I could find something else about the house that didn't suit me, would I, or would I not, be apt to take the opportunity to blow off steam by scolding about it? I wonder. Even if I loved my wife a lot, I mean.

Am I justifying the habit of yielding to unreasonable feelings of exasperation? Not by a darn sight. It's an unjustifiable habit. But I just wondered if it would not make it easier for wives to understand the temptation to the man, which his position gives him, if they looked at it this way.

They Have to Stand It Many men in their business life have to put up with the boss's habit of working off his irritation on them when anything in his life has gone wrong. I suppose it is not so strange that when they get home where they can blow someone else up they sometimes do, even without just cause. Furthermore, I have seen women who turned around and took it out on their children, haven't you?

Some of which is justification, just explanation. The boss isn't justifiable when he blames unjustly; nor the husband when he blows his wife sky high over some little thing, nor the wife when she rants at the child for some minor fault. We have all got to fight the temptation, but perhaps it will help us if we realize we are fighting together.

Book Reviews

"Jauntily, jadedly, jubilantly," writes Jane, as she goes journeying on, busily pursuing a career and, incidentally, experimenting with life. But, whether she is the society belle of influential associations or playing the unfamiliar role of an unknown working girl with neither means nor background, Jane remains always divertingly Jane. Incidentally, as she journeys on, she makes light reading for the friends she leaves behind her.

Independent of her family, conscientiously clever and confidently capable, Jane enjoys perfect self-assurance. She loves to hear herself talk, to observe herself write and to see herself in the role of Lady Bountiful, acting always for the satisfaction of—shall we say her self-respect or her vanity?—until, at 28, love teaches self-forgetfulness.

Jane's letters, through which we come to know her, are nothing unusual. They are fluent and experimentally honest and clever in spots, but the inevitably recurring "I" gives an inescapable monotony to their expression. But Jane is a good example of so many of the young girls of her type who, lacking genius or the depth of any specialized experience, yet have the pleasant knack of being clever. Miss Mitchell's heroine presents one more aspect of the restless modern girl who, while not consciously a flirt, merely craves admiration and "a good time" needing only the firmness of the right touch to tame the shrew of her self-interest.

Colorado has a mountain area six times as great as Switzerland, with forty-two peaks exceeding 14,000 feet altitude as against eight such giants in the Swiss Alps. It has thirty-six mountains higher than Mount Fuenteraahorn, the highest peak in Switzerland.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember always to enclose a stamped envelope during your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose 4 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper and please remember that, on account of the hundreds of letters received in every mail, I cannot give individual advice except through the column and then only if it is of general interest. For the rest you must consult your personal physician.

"Dear Doctor: I am one of your F. F. F.'s and have reduced from 168 to 146 by following your instructions. Have taken in my dresses three inches in the waist and bust. I am trying to get down to 135, but did not know whether I should reduce more than that or not. Am 5 feet, 1 1/2 inches and 55 years old. It used to be said that one should weigh more as one grows older. I don't think I am counting my calories right for at 1200 I do not reduce and I have to get down to 900. My embarrassing moment was once when I stood in the entrance of a moving picture theatre and a little boy cried: "Oh, look, Mother! There is old Fatty." I turned around and glared at him and found that he was looking at a picture of Fatty. I thought my mind then that if I felt so fat that when anyone said "fatty" I thought it meant me, it was certainly time for me to do something desperate.

"I put myself on a strict diet and got rid of thirty pounds, but fell from grace and got a lot back.—Mrs. J. H." It is true that the tables of weight formerly allowed an increase of years, but these tables were taken from average weights of insurance applicants. When it was found by insurance companies that the individuals over 40 who were underweight according to the average were far healthier and lived longer than those who were the average, it was realized that they really were not underweight, but normal weight. So now we are not allowing an increase of weight with years. In fact, it should be the reverse.

Your ideal weight, according to our rule, should be about 120 pounds, but with a variation of 5 to 10 per cent, you probably would still be normal weight. I think if you get down very gradually it will be better.

It is surprising how very little some overweight individuals can eat and still not lose, especially the short ones. Perhaps you have been counting your foods too low in calorie value. One of our followers who reduced fifty pounds, told me that when counting her calories she always added 10 per cent to be sure she had counted enough.

I had a letter from one of our so-called sterner sex followers, who had reduced twenty-five pounds easily on 1300 calories a day, but he was very tall and perhaps more active than you. The question of the energy or calorie needs of the body has to be an individual one.

You remember, when our reducing series first was published I said not to be discouraged if you occasionally fall from caloric grace and gain. It is better to have lost and gained than never to have lost at all. We all fall occasionally. I know I do. Just now I am going through the stern necessity of losing five pounds that I picked up the last two weeks. The thing for us to do is to watch our weight, and when we find we have gained a few pounds, lose it again. I am very glad you remember me so pleasantly.

"My Dear Doctor: So I think of you with all your endearing charms. I was a member of the T. T. T.'s. Your message came to me in my house of need and, presto, change, flesh beyond my fondest hopes! Now I am beginning to worry for fear I will join the ranks of the F. F. F.'s. Please help me hold my own.—Gratefully yours, M." The letters from the T. T. T.'s are not so numerous as from our F. F. F.'s, but then, of course the T. T. T.'s are not so numerous, either. I am glad you have had such good results. My advice to you is the same as to the previous correspondent—Watch your weight!

Those of you who are interested in diet while nursing your babies and during pregnancy, please send the self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this paper.

It's a Fact

HERE'S UNIQUE SCHEME

A unique feature in the ventilating system in the council chamber of the London County council's palace at Westminster is that each member is able to control his own immediate atmosphere. A control button below his desk feeds cold or warm air from a maze of pipes beneath the floor which lead to noiseless fans, water sprays, thermometers, dynamos and a network of brass pipes. A sudden change in the outside temperature is automatically conveyed to sensitive instruments so that they promptly adjust their efforts toward maintaining an even temperature inside.

BEAUTY CHATS

FOODS TO MAKE YOU FAT

We talk a great deal in this space about foods for reducing and foods for clearing the skin. Last week we were discussing foods for those who cannot or should not eat meat, but who needed an equivalent in nourishment. Today I should like to suggest some foods to build flesh without overtaxing the digestion.

This problem of what to eat to grow fat is always a great one. It is easy enough to eat in order to grow thin. The answer to that is mostly "don't," for you cannot gain flesh on what you do not eat. But if you overeat to grow fat you overtax the digestion and do much more harm than good. But these foods are easily assimilated.

Eat thick soups always instead of thin, eat thin slices of bread thickly coated with butter, eat meat if you like it and digest it, giving preference to the fat rather than to the lean portions. Have your fish fried or served with a thick sauce, eat potatoes covered with butter or rich gravy, or mashed with cream, butter and seasoning.

Have your green vegetables served cold in a salad with thick mayonnaise, or done in the Italian style, which is to fry them a little after they have been cooked in olive oil, seasoning and sometimes grated cheese.

Have all fried foods cooked in olive oil or vegetable fat. These are as nourishing as lard and much more easily digested. In the matter of puddings, pies, cakes, ice creams or any such sweet your choice is restricted only by your inclination. All these dishes are fattening, as the stout woman knows to her great

SUNDAY DINNER MENU

- Canape of Smoked Salmon
- Celery Tomato Bisque
- Imperial Sticks
- Broiled Steak
- Boiled Potatoes
- Cold Slaw
- Ginger Cakes
- Orange Sauce
- Coffee

Canape of Smoked Salmon—Cut stale bread in one-fourth inch slices, then cut each slice into two-inch square pieces. Toast them to a nice golden color and lightly butter; cover them with very thin slices of smoked salmon, nicely trim and sprinkle with yolk of hard boiled egg which has been forced through a strainer. Garnish with lemon quarters and sprigs of parsley.

Tomato Bisque—Mix one and one-half cups canned tomatoes, one-half medium sized onion, sliced, four cloves, eight peppercorns, one sprig parsley and one bay leaf, bring to boiling point, let simmer twenty minutes, then rub through a sieve. Add one teaspoon sugar, one-fourth teaspoon soda and one teaspoon salt. Melt three tablespoons butter and blend with it three tablespoons of flour, and pour on, while constantly stirring, the hot mixture. Pour into one quart of scalded milk and serve immediately.

Broiled Steak—Select a porterhouse steak cut one and one-quarter inches thick. Lightly flatten and trim all around. Mix on a plate two teaspoons oil, one teaspoon salt and one-half teaspoon pepper; repeatedly turn the steak in the seasoning, arrange on broiler and broil for twelve minutes on each side. Remove to hot plate, place smothered onion over the steak and serve.

Smothered Onions—Peel and cut in halves four large white onions, slice very thin, then season with one-half teaspoon salt and one-half teaspoon white pepper. Heat three tablespoons butter in a saucepan, add the onions, cover the pan closely, cook over flame for five minutes, then set in the oven and cook for thirty-five minutes.

Boiled Potatoes—Cook six medium sized potatoes in their skins, cool, peel and cut them in halves lengthwise. Put two tablespoons melted butter on a plate, add one-half teaspoon salt, mix well and turn potatoes in the seasoning; sorrow. Cheese omelettes and cheese savories, by the way, are easily digested and very fattening. Drink milk whenever you can.

Beacon—Your red nose and pimples are a result of disorders in the system, which accounts for the reason why the local treatments are not helping you very much. A diet in which there is too much starch or too much meat would cause this condition, and a change to a more balanced one would correct the trouble. Often the digestion is improved and the skin cleared merely by changing from all white bread to that made from whole wheat flour.

G. M. R.—Dash cold water over the bust each day and dry through light friction from a coarse Turkish towel. This will make the muscles firm in a few months, unless the flabbiness is the result of drying up the milk by using camphor after nursing an infant, and in such a case it will take a longer time to effect a recovery.

T. M.—With a height of 5 feet 2 inches your weight at 113 is all right. If your proportions were correct your bust and hips should each be 34 inches with the measurement of 24 inches for the waist. Increase your chest and bust through deep breathing, and reduce the hips by taking the following exercise: Stand erect, hands on hips and bend the outside forward at the waistline. Swing in the upper part of body around to the right and then to the left as far as is possible, aiming to describe a circle with the upper part of the body, while the lower part remains stationary.

then arrange on broiler and broil for three minutes on each side. Cold Slaw—Remove the outside leaves from a small, solid, white cabbage and cut off stalks close to leaves. With a sharp knife shred finely; place in ice water, let stand one hour to crisp, drain, and wring in double cheesecloth. Serve with dressing and serve in lettuce cups.

It is a choice piece of property and recognizing this fact, we have cut it into 50-ft. lots, but are selling on approximately the same terms that have made all of our previous tracts so popular. It lies between Fourth street and Glenwood road, with Alameda street on the east and Valencia street on the west. Although we have not been offering these lots, a dozen or more reservations have already been made, which is evidence of its desirability. Come out and see it today or Sunday. The MUCKER by Edgar Rice Burroughs

Billy Byrne, the arduous labor of making sail over for the time was devoting his energies to the task of piecing out from what Theriere had told him and what he had overheard outside the skipper's cabin some sort of explanation of the work ahead.

As he pondered Theriere's opposition he saw the wisdom of it. It would give those interested a larger amount of the booty for their share. Another feature of it was underhanded and that appealed strongly to the mucker.

When the mucker had explained the possibilities of profit that were to be had by entering the conspiracy aimed at Simms and Ward the two seamen were enthusiastically for it.

"Bony" Sawyer suggested that the black cook, Blanco, was about the only other member of the crew upon whom they could depend, and at Byrne's request "Bony" promised to enlist the cooperation of the giant Ethiopian.

From early morning of the second day out of Honolulu keen eyes scanned the eastern horizon through powerful glasses, until about two bells of the afternoon watch a slight smudge became visible about two points north of east.

The new course of the brigantine was held as long as it seemed reasonably safe without danger of being sighted under full sail by the oncoming vessel, then the head was brought into the wind, and one by one her sails were lowered and furled, as the keen eyes of Second Officer Theriere announced that there was no question but that the white hull in the distance was that of the steam pleasure yacht Lotus.

"Upon the deck of the unsuspecting vessel a merry party laughed and chatted in happy ignorance of the plotters in their path. It was nearly half an hour after the Halfmoon had come to rest, drifting idly under bare poles, that the lookout upon the Lotus sighted her.

"Sailin' vessel lyin' to, west half south," he shouted, "flyin' distress signals."

"That's right," replied Harding; "do anything you can for them."

"How exciting," exclaimed Barbara Harding. "Of course, it's not a real shipwreck, but maybe it's the next thing to it. The poor souls may have been in danger about here in the center of the Pacific without food or water for goodness knows how many weeks, and now just think how they must be lifting their voices in thanks to God for His infinite mercy in guiding us to them."

"If they've been drifting for any considerable number of weeks without food or water, hazarded Billy Mallory, "about the only thing they'll need'll be what we didn't have the foresight to bring along—an undertaker and a preacher."

PRISONS OF UNITED STATES BEING STUDIED BY JAPANESE

Ideas of America in Penal Reform to Be Adopted in Nippon, Declared

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—"There were terrible punishments for criminals in old Japan, the Japan before Commodore Perry opened her doors to the west," said Taichi Hara, the young Japanese who is in Boston to study American courts and prisons, "but, terrible as these punishments were, they were dictated by very strict, if primitive, ideas of honor."

"Nothing distinguished the old Japan of the samurai more, for example, than their conceptions of the inviolability of the marriage code.

"I could sometimes wish, alas, that this early purity of conduct had not been weakened, as it has, by contact with modern civilization.

"If the penalty for infidelity was terrible, it accompanied an era that was, in many respects, of exceptional morality. When a wife had been proved untrue to her husband, she and her paramour were led out together and publicly beheaded."

"The idea of torture came first into existence, perhaps as a means of extorting confessions from guilty persons.

"It was pursued with a terrible ingenuity. There was the famous old method of the prisoner bound and gagged while water, a drop at a time, fell on his forehead. An intellectual species of torture, as one might say!

"Then there was the machine so constructed that the individual could neither stand, sit nor lie down in it. A milder variant was the iron stocks fastened about the ankles of offenders.

"One of the most terrible instruments of torture was the broad platform from which projected a series of sharp, long wooden points. The prisoner who would not confess had to stand, then kneel, then sit on these points, and if that did not bring the desired confession, weights were hung on him, with such results as you can imagine.

"The worst of it was that these things did not always bring the truth. Sometimes an innocent man, unjustly suspected, would confess to a crime he had not committed if only he could escape those frightful points.

"One of the legends about the famous, wise and honest Judge Oka of old Japan was his intuition in the case of a certain prisoner forced by the torture to confess, in that in which the judge's heart told him the law was making a mistake. Moved by the expression of the prisoner's face, he had him relieved of the torture. He called a constable, and said: 'Go into such and such a quarter. Watch for the man who is bragging, carousing and condemning the law. Bring him to me.' And that man proved to be the criminal!

"But all nations know now that judgments which are based on terrorization or on individual decisions of judges are likely to be untrustworthy. There is now in force in Japan, and has been for many years, the Roman law, which forms the basic principles of the courts of Europe and America, the law in whose eyes all men are equal, the law which judges and penalizes, but seeks not revenge.

"You have examined our prisons," he was asked. "How do they compare with the prisons of Japan?"

"Many Japanese prisons are older," he said, "and for that reason behind the times in sanitation and everything that pertains to it. Indeed, they should be destroyed. Most of the prisons we use today in Japan have been recently built, and they are a decided improvement."

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

UNCLE WIGGILY AND DOTTIE'S DRESS

Dottie Flufftail, the little girl lamb, had a new dress. It was bright red in color, and as pretty a gown as you would meet with if you hopped around all of one day and part of the next to cry.

"At least this is what Uncle Wiggily said when he saw Dottie's new red dress, and the bunny gentleman ought to know, if any one did.

"Dottie was very proud of her red dress—not too proud, you know, but just proud enough and not a bit more.

"Be careful not to tear your new red dress," Dottie bleated Mrs. Flufftail to her little girl lamb, as Dottie strolled over the meadow one day.

"I'll be careful," promised Dottie. "I'm only going over to see Uncle Wiggily Longears. Maybe he'll take me adventuring with him."

Uncle Wiggily was just starting out from his hollow stump bungalow as Dottie reached it.

"My goodness! I didn't know it was sunset so soon!" cried the bunny gentleman, shading his face with his paw. "My, what a bright red sunset! It makes my eyes blink!"

"That red isn't the sunset—it's my new dress!" laughed Dottie. "Oh, so it is!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "My, it's prettier than I thought it would be."

"How?" asked Dottie. "I'll use the thorns for pins and fasten up the rips and slits," said the bunny. "After you get home your mother can sew the dress."

"That will be good!" bleated Dottie. Uncle Wiggily picked some apples from the tree, giving them to Dottie to eat. Then he picked off some long, thin sharp thorns, taking care not to stick himself.

"Now sit down on this smooth stone, Dottie," said the bunny "and I'll pin up your torn dress with thorns for pins."

And just as Uncle Wiggily closed the last long tear in the dress, up sneaked the Bob Cat, shaking the tassels on his ears at the bunny.

"I want ears!" howled the Bob Cat, looking at Uncle Wiggily's long ones. "I want ears!"

And so on. "I want ears!" he cried the bunny. "I want ears to pin up with these sharp thorns. And I want your ears!" he cried to the Bob Cat. "I'll pin your ear tassels back to your tail if you don't let me alone!"

RECEIVER LOAD COILS The illustration herewith depicts a high grade, compact and efficient coil made in three different values, namely, 35, 50 and 100 millihenries. These coils consist of two bakelite-dielecto side pieces, between which is mounted a highly efficient wire wound coil of high frequency cable. The electro-static capacity of the coil is extremely low. The side pieces are finished square, forming a base for the coil. Close coupling between two or more load coils is possible, as their rear surfaces are plane and close to the central plane of the coil. A couple of these coils, used in conjunction with two suitable variable condensers, can be made into an excellent receiver.

RADIO EXPLAINED BY LIEUT. JOHN R. IRWIN INSTRUCTOR U. S. AIR SERVICE

EFFECTS OF ELECTRIC CURRENT In the preceding articles we attempted to show that our senses are not directly impressed by the phenomena of electricity, and hence it is necessary to depend upon certain effects which are associated with the flow of current through a conductor when it is desired to determine whether or not a current exists. Some of these are as follows:

(a) A wire with a current passing through it will be at a higher temperature than the same wire before the current flows. This can be readily detected by a sensitive thermometer, and under the same conditions as in an ordinary incandescent lamp the rise of temperature is so great as to cause the filament to glow.

(b) If the wire through which the current was flowing is cut and the separated ends are attached respectively to two metallic plates immersed in a solution of some substance like copper sulphate there will be a chemical change in the solution accompanied by a deposition of the metal copper on one of the plates.

The attention of the student should be fixed upon these effects of the current rather than upon the current itself. It is in terms of these effects that electric currents are detected, measured and applied. Thus the magnetic effect is the basis of dynamo-electric machinery and radio communication; the heating effect makes possible electric cooking and electric lighting; the chemical effect makes possible electroplating. All effects are utilized in making electric measurements.

They Say That

One often hears the question, "Does advertising pay?" An answer to that query appears in a recent issue of Printers Ink in the shape of a list of the fifty leading advertisers together with the amounts of their expenditures in the thirty-six publications of the Curtis Publishing Company during 1921.

The United States bureau of standards at Washington announces that current investigations have just been made covering the following: Testing of automobile engines under service conditions; motor lighting of vehicles, problems; tests of tires; specifications for dry cells; comparison of the bureau's and manufacturers' tests for dry cells; the tarnishing of silver; redetermination of secondary standards of wave length; practical spectrographic analysis by ultra-violet rays for bleaching low-grade wheat flour; gases in embrittled boiler plate; new method for determining total nitrogen in steel; inun-dated sand investigation; special test for grain hopper scale; large cast iron scale levers; soap specifications.

Negroes own and direct 113 newspapers and fourteen magazines in the United States. Nearly 1300 employees, of whom sixty-one are white workers, manage the publications. The papers include ninety-six secular, twenty-three religious and eight fraternal papers.

In the early eighties at a charity bazaar in Baltimore, patrons were allowed to talk over Mr. Bell's telephone for 10 cents. Only $10 was realized, however, as most people ridiculed the invention.

The T. D. & L.
Today is the last time Rodolph Valentino will be seen here at the T. D. & L. theatre in the sensational photodrama, "The Delicious Little Devil," with beautiful and fascinating Mae Murray. "The Delicious Little Devil" is considered one of the season's best hits and not to see this delightful film is to have missed a great deal. Remember—the dashing Valentino is here seen to very striking advantage. It is "some show," says Manager Allan.

Katherine Macdonald portrays an unusual role in "The Infidel," her latest Associated First National release which will be the feature attraction at the T. D. & L. theatre, commencing Sunday.

The story deals with the South Sea Islands copra trade and was written especially for Miss Macdonald by Charles A. Logue, who has written over two hundred photoplays, serials, "originals" and adaptations.

"The Infidel" gives Miss Macdonald an excellent opportunity for the display of her dramatic ability, and it is said that by far the best emotional acting of her career is shown in this picture.

The Glendale
There are five exceptionally appealing new acts on the big vaudeville bill that is booked to open at the Glendale theatre, today (Saturday). The Milano Four, offering "Italian and American Singing, Violin and Piano Accordion Selections," is one of the finest musical aggregations now in vaudeville. They have been a remarkable success in every house along the circuit, chiefly for the reason that their numbers are such that they make a tremendously strong appeal to every class of audience and are rendered with consummate skill.

Lorraine & Hazelle entitle their clever contribution "Story Book Fun." It is cute and packed with entertainment. Alberto offers "Comedy Magic" which is a novel and unusual skit of its kind.

The Two Artists offer "Acrobatic Surprises" which is all that the name implies.

Ford and Cunningham from the Orpheum circuit present "Even as You and I," an eccentric offering, completing an exceptionally strong bill of varied entertainments.

A short report of the program given Thursday night in the San Gabriel Country club under the auspices of the Alhambra Kiwanis club was given by Albert Perry of 1619 South Glendale avenue. He expressed his regret that more members of the local club had not been present.

The usual "pep" prevailed during the luncheon. Mayor Spencer Robinson, the singing mayor, and Cameron DeHart Taft, "the shouting realtor," boldly waged a battle of biscuits across the tables in the presence of Caterer William Herzog.

Mr. Thom was "protected" as usual, by E. P. Hayward of 142 South Brand boulevard and Ray Galvin of 237 South Brand boulevard.

Brand boulevard tried hard to lead "My Old Irish Rose" Pianist, Herb Henning had other ideas, however, and insisted upon playing "Lil Liza Jane."

The usual laugh was provided by Allan N. Fairchild's attempt as master-at-arms to count noses correctly and collect the price of the luncheon from each nose owner.

However, he was so pleased with this city and the opportunities here that he purchased two lots on Laurel street just west of Brand boulevard and has built an eleven-unit bungalow court. Mr. Schmoll is returning east to settle his business affairs there and will take up his permanent residence in Glendale early next spring.

The staff at the Harrower Laboratory on East Broadway, received a letter from Dr. Harrower yesterday telling of their trip east. He writes of ideal weather and pleasure in sightseeing and renewing acquaintances.

In Chicago they were joined by J. Howarth, manager of the Glendale laboratory, who has been in the south and east for several weeks, and he accompanied them to New York City and remained with them at the Hotel Astor until they were ready to sail today. Mr. Howarth expects to arrive in Glendale in about two weeks.

Across the street in the driveway at 403 North Central avenue he found a baby boy about eight months' old wrapped up in an old sweater.

The child was brought into the Goertz home, warmed and given nourishment. It is being cared for by Mrs. Goertz while the case is being investigated.

Although the child seems to be a healthy specimen of babyhood, the rags with which it was clad indicate the poverty of its mother, the police say.

POSSIBILITY OF NEW POSTOFFICE

Postmaster General Outlines Policy to Members of Postal Commission

upon to leave such cases to the leasing plan.

"Many reasons can be given in support of the government ownership plan among which are the following:

"The government can borrow money on a 4 per cent basis to build postoffices whereas when it leases it pays a rental sufficient to permit the lessor to borrow money at 7 per cent and in some cases as much as 10 per cent.

"When the government owns a postoffice building, it is free from taxation. When it leases an office, it is indirectly paying taxes at the rate of about 2 per cent on the investment and many times at a much higher rate. When a building required for postal uses represents an investment of a big amount of money. It is readily seen that the taxes alone, which the government must pay to the lessor in the form of rent, is a very considerable sum.

"If the government owned the property, it would be costing the government about one-half as much as it is obliged to pay in the form of a lease for the use of the building.

"If the government adopted the policy of owning its postoffice buildings, it would be in a position to take the property by right of eminent domain, whereas it can not take a leasehold interest by such right.

Cannot Build
"In our negotiations for leases with prospective lessors we are confronted with the fact that we can not build and, therefore, we must pay what they ask. If we could say to bidders, 'Unless you bring your rental down to a certain reasonable figure, the government will put up a building of its own' we would then have a powerful weapon of negotiations where we now have none. But that is only possible when the government has adopted a policy of ownership and provided funds to carry out such a policy.

"Leased buildings are constantly being outgrown, confronting the department with the necessity of either adding additional space or seeking an entirely new location. With a lease policy and without the right of condemnation the additional adjacent space is often held at unconscionable figures. We are often compelled to pay far more than we know to be reasonable on account of the situation.

Increases Property Values
"When a government postoffice or postal building is erected by a lessor, in a very large percentage of cases it enhances the value of all property in the vicinity. It becomes necessary to renew such lease at much higher figures. If the government owned the building, it would receive the benefit of the enhancement of values which it has created.

"Is the present plan giving the best postal service results? My answer is in the negative. It frequently is impossible to lease a building having satisfactory working conditions such as natural light and ventilation. In erecting government owned buildings ideal working conditions would be provided thereby insuring the health and comfort of employees which should always be given first consideration.

"Then, too, such buildings would be erected in accordance with plans and specifications either made or approved by the postoffice department based on its experience with a view to efficiency of service as well as to cost of service.

Unbusinesslike Plan
"I regard the present plan of leasing as unbusinesslike and in view of this present practice, I hope congress may enact the necessary legislation to effect the change.

"There are at present 5836 postoffices in leased quarters and 1119 postoffices in buildings owned by the government. The aggregate annual rental paid for the occupancy of these leased quarters is $9,262,515.47. This does not include the amount paid for quarters not under lease which when added makes a total annual rental bill of $11,660,056 not including garages.

"There are at present five government-owned buildings actually under construction and eleven under contract for construction in which postoffices will find quarters.

"The earnings of the postoffice department have doubled in the past ten years. This ever-increasing postal business demands and must have space in which it may be efficiently and economically carried on.

"During the last holiday season several cities handled heavy parcel post business on the sidewalks under protection of guards, but without protection against the weather.

"This increased volume of postal business has forced the use of basements and sub-basements and has brought about a congestion in workrooms in some of our larger cities. This condition, caused by inadequate and unsuited quarters is detrimental to the comfort and physical well being of many postal workers, is subversive to efficiency of service and from any viewpoint is wholly undesirable.

"Renewal leases entered into from March 4, 1921, to August 5, 1922, show an increase in space of 71 per cent over the space in the expired leases.

"There are seventy-six garages throughout the country under lease for which the amount of $588,921 is annually paid for rental."
