OUT adj The English adjective "out" is usually a replacement of an adjective or adjective frase. Thus to translate "out" as an adjective, one has to translate the adjective or phrase replaced, so that a fire is "extingte", a secret would be "qognoscite" and the tide "basse"; adv foras; as an English adverb, "out" is often part of the verb, and is not therefore translated separately. Thus 'I go out' is "sortir", "hand out" distribuer" and the qommand "look out!?" would translate as "attenxion!". Sometimes a verb might translate "out", so workmen taking industrial aqxion "exopera" (= strike, are on strike); interj (sports) out!; MADE - OF fabriqate
