Book Chapter

Book chapter topics: Tips

Make sure the topic and content:

- Relates to either motivation or emotion (and will allow you to draw on available psychological theory and research)
- Hasn't been sufficiently covered before on Wikiversity (search and then propose a topic that will build/extend on previous work – often means that you need to get more specific)
- Relates to the book's target audience and central theme – using psychological science to help explain how people can live more effective motivational and emotional lives

Book chapter

Author an online book chapter about a unique, specific motivation or emotion topic.

- Learning outcome: Integrate theory and research to explain and apply a specific motivation or emotion topic to everyday life
- Professional: Research, write, and share a publicly reviewable and improvable wiki page about an applied psychological topic.
- Global citizen: Work collaboratively and openly in an online global virtual space.
- Life-long learner: Develop personal confidence and skills in accessing and developing open educational resources and collective knowledge.

Anatomy of a great topic

The Title typically should contain a specific term and "motivation" or "emotion" (or a specific aspect of motivation or emotion)

Amygdala and emotion -
What role does the amygdala play in emotion?

Subtitle specifies an open-ended question and expands key terms

Amygdala and anger -   More specific
What role does the amygdala play in anger?

Book chapter topics

- Sign up to available topic:
  - Some new topics will be gradually added
  - Sign up by editing the page, adding your Wikiversity user name, and saving
  - One assigned author per topic
- Negotiate topic: Email the convener:
  - Title
  - Subtitle (in the form of a question)
  - Wikiversity user name
  - Related topics that have been previously covered
- Topic selection should be made by the end of Week 3.

Book chapter timeline

- Topic selection: (W1-3)
- Draft plan & seek feedback: (W4-7)
- Draft chapter & seek feedback: (W6-12)
- Submit chapter (W13)
